Winchester Votes Trend; Reagan, Prop. 2½ Win

President-Elect Ronald Reagan and Proposition 2.5 both swept to easy victories in Winchester on election night.

Reagan captured 47 percent of the vote in Winchester while President Jimmy Carter finished a distant second with 34 percent and Independent John Anderson grabbed 17 percent of the vote.

Turnout was very high, as it was across the state, with more than 82 percent of the registered voters going to the polls in Winchester. Of 13,299 registered voters, 11,415 went to the polls.

The unofficial vote tally showed Reagan with 5,447, Carter with 3,884 and Anderson with 1,979.

Libertarian candidate Edward Clark polled 84 votes while Barry Commoner grabbed five votes and Sen. Edward Kennedy received three write-in votes.

In the other big race that brought out much of the vote, Winchester voters gave the tax-slashing measure, Proposition 2.5 a resounding victory.

The referendum question, which had been labeled as being "disastrous" for the town by school and town officials, passed by a 2-1 margin in Winchester as it did across the state.

The question, which will now go before the Legislature, received 6,609 votes to 4,443 votes in opposition. Town officials have estimated that the measure, sponsored by Citizens For Limited Taxation, will force the town to reduce its budget by $3.7 million.

School officials claim that Prop. 2.5 will require a $1.9 budget reduction out of a $10 million budget.

In the other referendum questions, the Constitutional Amendment dealing with rights of handicapped citizens passed by a 1,600 vote margin.

Question 3, the Mass. Teachers Association alternative tax cutting measure, was defeated by more than a 2-1 margin.

The voters made very clear what they thought of the legislators Halloween pay raises by repealing them by a margin of over 7,000 votes.

The referendum question limiting the state's power to implement mandated programs passed by more than 3,400 votes.

In a non-binding question voters rejected a measure that would put a moratorium on the construction of nuclear power plants by less than 1,000 votes.

The other local ballot question, that would allow no more than three liquor licenses in town, also won an easy victory.

In the only local contested race, Edward Henneberry won an easy victory for Sheriff over Philip T. Razook by a 2,000 vote margin. Former School Committee Chairman Mary Pronski also received a write-in vote for the position.

Other write-in votes received was one of actress Jane Fonda for U.S. Rep. Edward Markey's congressional seat.

Town Employee, Police And Teacher Contracts Approved By Town Meeting

In an all but unanimous vote Monday, Town Meeting approved police, teacher and town employee contracts calling for a total of $571,228 in appropriations and transfers.

The contract approval vote was 126 favoring, five opposing and followed urgings by Selectmen Edward F. O'Connell that Town Meeting honor "good faith" understandings reached with the three groups in agreements negotiated earlier this year.

Monday night's vote calls for an appropriation of $138,405 and a transfer of funds totaling $432,822.

Selectmen signed agreements with police and Winchester teachers at a meeting immediately preceding Town Meeting Monday.

O'Connell's remarks concerning "good faith" followed those made by Finance Committee Chairman Bob Frank concerning the effects of Proposition 2.5 on the contract agreements.

Saying he thought failure to approve funding for the contracts would comprise a "breach of faith," O'Connell urged Town Meeting not to view 2.5 as the "burglar under the bed."

Selectman Chairman Wade Welch agreed, and urged Town Meeting to vote on the pacts.

Under the terms of the police contract, first year salary increases amount to six and three-quarter percent. As a result, the maximum patrolman's salary would be $15,415.

Second year increases under the police agreement also amount to six and three-quarter percent and brings the

An Historic Turning Point

Massachusetts joined America on Tuesday in lending its voice to the strong endorsement of people and principles whose label "conservative" was not long ago considered an indecent word.

For the first time since 1952, a Republican carried the Massachusetts presidential vote. And not just any Republican, but Ronald Reagan, for 12 years this country's most outspoken champion of the conservative viewpoint.

Coupled with the overwhelming approval of Question 2, the property tax limit law, Massachusetts' vote for Ronald Reagan should get the attention of even the most liberal legislators and officials. The message is clear: People want restraints on government.

The era of the free lunch is over.

The people have said they just can't afford it.

We must look for other answers to social problems. Throwing mountains of money at them for a quarter of a century just hasn't worked. In fact, since 1960, America has created a generation of people who are solely dependent on government-funded programs for all their needs — housing, health care, education, employment and recreation.

The time is now to start moving away from this. It is time to start rebuilding incentive, independence, integrity and self-esteem by putting forth challenges with attainable goals and just rewards. Eventually the long lines of those waiting for government handouts will disappear by themselves.

But this will take time — a long time — and the process must be orderly. It took 20 years for the social services departments of the federal government — HEW, HUD, and now ED — to grow to the point where they employ over five million people who spend 60 percent of the budget. It may take 20 years or more to get them under control again.

One thing is certain: This election is a beginning.

The people who pay the bills have spoken.

The silent majority has become the vocal majority. Defeat of several nationally known liberal senate leaders should in itself indicate that the mainstream of American political thinking has changed.

They are tired of a welfare economy and they are tired of a system which sees our basic industries fall into disrepair because of a tax burden which dulls incentive and investment. They are tired of excessive and inequitable taxation and government intrusion in our daily lives.

A new president and the passage of Question 2 in Massachusetts won't change anything overnight, but our elected representatives are on notice that the people want to see basic changes in the philosophy of government.

In Massachusetts we will be faced with legislative modifications which will be necessary for the implementation of Question 2 in an orderly way. But let no one mistake the vote: the public voice is loud and clear: The people are demanding not only a change in their tax structure, but less government and less from government.

The opponents of Question 2 — public officials, the unions, the municipal employees — spent huge sums and many hours to deliver the word that a vote in favor was a vote to cut services and cut government. But the mood, and the vote, was overwhelmingly one of "we can get along with less." And we can.

The people knew what they were voting for on Question 2. It is not up to the legislature to just replace the property tax system with another tax plan designed to generate revenues from other sources to fund the existing level of government.

It is time to listen to the people.

Massachusetts has decided to get in step with America. Make no doubt about it.

Neighbors Block Medical Building

By STEVEN AUSTIN

Cross street residents won their battle to block the construction of a medical building in their neighborhood Monday when Town Meeting voted down a bid by the developer to rezone a portion of the site from residential to light industrial use.

The vote to defeat Article 9, 67 favoring and 46 opposed, fell nine votes short of the needed two-thirds majority for passage.

The developer, John Lane, has proposed the construction of a 20,000 sq. ft. building to house doctors' offices on a 3 acre site he has an option to buy from the Boston Gas Company.

Through public hearing with the Planning Board and again Monday at Town Meeting, neighborhood residents protested the plan due to the increase in traffic they feel would result.

In his presentation before town meeting Monday, Lane called on his attorney, Harold DuLong, George Wilcox of the Erdman Company, the firm which would construct the building and traffic engineer Bob Vanasse, of the Boston-based engineering firm of Vanasse and Hangen Associates.

In the article, Lane had asked that a piece of land just in front of the three acres be rezoned to light industrial use in order to provide an entrance to the facility.

Attorney DuLong said Lane had reached an agreement with the Planning Board in the form of a covenant which restricted the uses of the site. Those restricted uses were termed those which would be "most obnoxious" to residents in the area. In addition, DuLong said Lane would further agree to have the use restrictions further expanded to include restaurant use.

"We have agreed to absolutely everything," DuLong told Town Meeting.

Vanasse, the engineer who made the traffic study in the area, said traffic would increase nine percent on a daily basis, bringing Cross street to only 45 percent of its capacity. Currently, the engineer explained, the street is operating at approximately one-third of its traffic capacity.

He said he based the study on a 70-person staff density at the building and a patient load of 400 per day.

The proposal drew support from a majority of Selectmen and the Planning Board.

The Finance Committee also supported the proposal, with Chairman Bob Frank pointing to an increase in the tax base the building would provide.

"The benefits of the tax base outweigh the detriment to the neighborhood," Frank said.

He said the building, if constructed for $1.5 million, would yield from $40,000-$50,000 a year in tax revenue for Winchester.

Despite this support, residents held firm in their objections. As one resident, Town Meeting member John Harris put it, "There are too many unknowns."

"We ask Town Meeting members to respect the wishes of the neighbors and vote negatively," Harris said.

There had been some discussion by neighbors Monday that Lane's article was in direct conflict with Article 8, which rezoned portions of the Cross street area from light industrial to residential use.

Other residents asked that the area be converted to conservation use.

In an interview with The Star Tuesday, both Lane and DuLong expressed an interest in continuing with the project despite the negative rezoning vote by Town Meeting.

"He's committed to putting the building there," DuLong told The Star. In discussing the alternatives now available, DuLong said Lane could have a public road built in the area to provide access to the site.

Such action, DuLong said, would remove the town's control over what is constructed on the site. The attorney said had the rezoning article been approved by Town Meeting, the covenant his client had agreed to would have run with the land so that those uses which would be particularly objectionable to residents, such as a warehouse, restaurant or lumber yard, would have been eliminated.

Some residents had based their objections to the project on the fact that Lane had no completed plan to show them.

Lane said Tuesday he had no completed plan because it was difficult to get doctors to comment to moving into the building without approved rezoning for the entrance.

Calling industrial uses in residential areas "a cancer," Lane said he didn't think Town Meeting examined the proposal in a logical manner.

He cited an increase in tax revenue, the fact that the traffic generated by the building would be car rather than heavy truck traffic, the central location of doctors in town and the fact that he's a local businessman with roots in the community as reasons to back the project.

DuLong emphasized that the covenant concerning uses had been agreed to by Lane prior to Town Meeting Monday.

Some discussion had centered around the article's relationship to Article 32, calling for an 18-month moratorium on the issuance of building permits for non-residential uses in Winchester.

Town Meeting has yet to consider that article.

Residents based their opposition to the project on the impact of traffic, the image of single-family homes and the fear that a new owner of the property might put the site to traditional industrial uses.

The Fund Winchester's Future Committee announced this week that they had reached their goal of $16,000. The funds will match a town appropriation toward the hiring of a community development officer. The committee from left to right: Marcia Saltmarsh, Co-Chairman, The Saltmarsh Agency; R. J. Selectmen Support Move

In a sense of the board poll Tuesday, Selectmen gave their unanimous support to a move by the Bartlett School to the Parkhurst School.

The issue of school re-use is expected to be addressed by Town Meeting Nov. 13 and Selectmen and resident attending the board meeting Tuesday are seeking what Selectman Alan Macdonald called a "permanent" rather than a temporary solution for the re-use of the Parkhurst, Bartlett and Wyman Schools.

Macdonald's remarks followed a report by Planning Board Chairman Charles Tseckares which alerted Selectmen to a proposal submitted by a Somerville developer to turn the Parkhurst into single-family house lots.

The Taurasi Company has submitted a proposal to turn the site into nine single-family house lots. The firm, builders since 1948, offered $150,000 for the structure and the land it sits upon.

The plan calls for a price of ranging from $135,000-$150,000 per lot and house constructed. The company would do interior demolition of the building this winter and would complete leveling of the structure in the spring. The firm plans to re-use much of the material from the Parkhurst structure, Tseckares explained.

Tseckares said such a proposal would yield approximately $27,000 per year in tax revenue for Winchester.

Selectmen Chairman Wade Welch offered his support to a possible move by Bartlett to Parkhurst after the attorney for the Bartlett group said the option to buy clause could be eliminated and a five-year lease substituted in its place.

Selectman Edward F. Connell suggested that residents of the Wyman School neighborhood, the currently location of the Bartlett school, be consulted as to their feeling on the use of this school should Bartlett move to Parkhurst.

Macdonald agreed, saying, "we don't know how to deal with Wyman until Town Meeting tells us how to deal with Bartlett."

The concept of using any of the three structures as a "holding school" was also discussed.

Selectman John Williams expressed a concern that a permanent resolution be reached as soon as possible.

"The Parkhurst situation has been dangling for a year," Williams said.

O'Connell, who called the holding school concept "a red herring," asked that the School Committee submit vacancy, enrollment and projection figures "for the next five to ten years" in order to give a clearer picture of the approach to be taken for school re-use.

The School Re-Use Committee has set a meeting with Wyman area neighbors for Nov. 12 to discuss their concerns.

As one Wyman resident said Tuesday, "We don't want to unboard one school (the Parkhurst) just to board up another (the Wyman)."

Hearing For Final Robbery Suspect

The trial of the last of three Charlestown men arrested in connection with the March 22 robbery of the Winchester Savings Bank is scheduled for this afternoon in Middlesex Superior Court in Cambridge. IPD Mark Gianino, 17, is charged with armed robbery while masked, assault with intent to murder and breaking and entering in the daytime.

The other two suspects, Salvatore Montiero and James Chambers, both pleaded guilty in Superior Court and were sentenced to terms at the Mass. Correctional Institute in Walpole.

Montiero, the driver of the getaway car, was sentenced to eight to 10 years at MCI Walpole on armed robbery charges. Montiero is already imprisoned at Walpole, having begun a six to 12 year sentence for his role in a Marshfield bank holdup in May.

Chambers was sentenced to two five to 10 year terms at Walpole for armed robbery and assault with intent to murder and two three to five year terms for receiving stolen property and illegal possession of a firearm.

The noontime Saturday holdup, the first in Winchester's history, was foiled by off duty Winchester Police Officer James Pierce. All three suspects were captured within three days of the heist and all $28,440 taken was recovered.

Revaluation Work Begins

Appraisers this week began the process of house to house inspections to set the new values property in Winchester.

Three employees (two men and a woman) from Patten Appraisal Associates of Portland, Maine began the property inspections in the northern most part of town earlier this week. Among the streets being canvassed this week are Sunset road, Hines road, Forest street, Forest circle, Bellevue avenue, Laurel Hill lane, Churchill road, Churchill circle, Dean road, Ware road, Grant road, Sawmill Brook road and Royalston avenue.

The 100 percent property revaluation is part of a statewide mandated program that will uniformly set property values around the state at fair market value.

The field appraisers that will be visiting homes (generally from 8 a.m. to dusk) will examine each property inside and out to determine and record the size, type and quality of the structure and the facilities such as heating, plumbing and the age and condition of the property.

The inspections generally take just a few minutes to complete. The three field workers will all carry a blue card identifying them as employees of Patten Appraisal Associates with the name of Winchester typed on the front of the card and the stamp of the Winchester Board of Assessors on the back.

The workers will also have picture identification cards and anyone questioning the authenticity of the worker may call the Assessors office or the police station for verification.

There are some repairs and additions that will increase the valuation of the property. Adding porches, garages or sheds, finishing off basements or attics, enclosing open spaces, remodeling, additional plumbing, added fireplace or swimming pool and an increase in land size will boost up the value.

Other maintenance procedures such as painting, roofing, paving of driveways, lawn and landscaping, insulation, addition of combination doors and windows and electrical improvements do not affect the valuation, according to a Patten pamphlet given to all property owners in town.

Once the information is collected from the field workers it will be fed to a computer for checks of omissions and accuracy.

Then verification will be sent out to homeowners to check the accuracy of the field inspections. Property owners will receive when all is completed a comparative notice showing old and new assessments.

The last town-wide revaluation was done in 1968. The new values will be mailed to each property owner in the summer of 1981 and will be applied to the tax bills for next fall.

Anyone with questions are urged to call Richard Mirick, project supervisor, at the Assessors office in town hall.

New Course

On Mental Health

Muriel Ellman, Coordinator of Elderly Services at Mystic Valley Mental Health Center, will teach a nine-week course on "Aging and Mental Health" as part of the Middlesex Community College Continuing Education Program.

Aging brings many losses; loss of career, family members and friends. The course will discuss the depression which accompanies these losses, how people adapt to aging, and current theories on growing older. Family issues, community resources which are available to the elderly, the issues of alcoholism and sexuality will also be discussed.

Ellman, a specialist on geriatric issues who has led several workshops on "Understanding Your Aging Relative", will use case discussions, films, as well as lecture in her presentation.

If you are interested in more information about the course or about aging, call Muriel Ellman at Mystic Valley Mental Health Center Association's Woburn Branch, 935-8150.

Glaucoma Cases Found

Nine highly probable cases were discovered at the recent Glaucoma Screening Clinic sponsored jointly by the Winchester Rotary Club and the Jenks Senior Center.

In addition, seven possible glaucoma cases were detected with nineteen of those showing some form of eye diseases or refractory errors. Of the 102 persons screened, 34 percent of those were referred to their ophthalmologists.

Results of this year's screening program showed an increase over last year in the number of persons referred because of suspected glaucoma findings. In 1979, 14 percent of the total number screened were referred. This year that percentage increased to 15.7 percent.

This was the sixth Rotary-sponsored Glaucoma Screening Clinic. Physicians' assistance was provided by Dr. Paul A.

Vernaglia, Winchester Ophthalmologist and member of the staff at Winchester Hospital and by three residents in ophthalmology from the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston. Assistance was also provided by nurses from the Visiting Nurse and Community Health, Inc.

The purpose and objectives of the screening of the glaucoma clinic are:

To assist in the detection of undiagnosed glaucoma in those persons, age 35 and over, with increased intraocular pressure. Through referral of suspicious cases, to give ophthalmologists the opportunity to make early diagnosis and prescribe appropriate treatment. To assist in the detection of other pathological eye disorders with early referral to the patient's ophthalmologist, and to assist in the detection of refractory errors.

Friends Elect Officers At Meeting

Election of officers for 1980-81 was the primary business of the annual meeting of the Friends of Winchester Hospital on October 16. Held at the home of Mrs. Peter Sarmanian, the meeting also featured a short talk by Jack Hunter, president of the hospital, and a film about beautiful living.

First on the agenda was Mr. Hunter, who discussed issues involved in the hospital's expansion plan. He was followed by Mrs. Paul Anderson, Winton Club Gift Shop Chairman, who expressed appreciation of the Friends' assistance in running the hospital's gift shop.

Mrs. Phillip Johnson, president of the Friends, thanked retiring board members and introduced Mrs. Joseph George, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, who presented the slate of officers for the coming year. The following were duly elected:

President, Mrs. Phillip Johnson; Vice-President, Mrs. George Hunter; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Ronald Skates; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Chester Dawes; Treasurer, Mrs. Paul Gleason; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Richard Ogden; Directors, Mrs. Frank Gumbly, Mrs. Carl Morse, Mrs. John

Bernard, Volunteer Services Chairman, Mrs. George Neuner, Vice Chairmen, Mrs. William Merry, Mrs. Gustav Kaufmann; Health Education, Mrs. Donald Chipman; Hospitality, Mrs. James Ryan; Legislative, Mrs. Michael MacDonald; Nominating, Dr. Edna Parks; Publicity and Newsletter, Mrs. Winfield Knopf; Public Relations, Mrs. Richard Malatesia; Reading Chairman, Mrs. Robert Grieve; Ways and Means, Mrs. James Menucci.

Other business included distribution of the new Community Health Directory by Mrs. Donald Chipman, Chairman of Health Education. Published by the Friends with the assistance of John Burgoyne, Winchester Hospital's Director of Community Relations, the directory contains a list of health-related meetings and services available to Winchester and Reading residents. In Winchester, it will be distributed through the Newcomer's Club, Senior Center and Welcome Wagon.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Stuart Carswell, outgoing vice-president, introduced the film, "The Wellness Revolution," which was followed by a lively discussion led by Mrs. Richard Pharo.

Robinson Called To Serve Church

The First Baptist Church of Winchester has called the Rev. Earl B. Robinson as interim pastor while the church is in the process of finding a permanent pastor to follow the Rev. Howard Krueger, who accepted a call to the First Baptist Church of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Rev. Robinson is a retired Baptist pastor living in Salem, N.H. Before retirement he was pastor of the Andover Baptist Church for over 13 years, and previously taught Bible and Greek at Gordon College in Wenham, for 19 years. He has also pastored churches in Somerville and Brockton, and since retirement has had interim pastorates in North Reading, Tewksbury and most recently in Woburn.

His educational training includes Amherst College with graduate degrees in theology from Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia and Harvard Divinity School.

A team ministry is being formed with Aram Marashlian, a senior at Gordon College Seminary to assist in visitation and Bible study groups, and a Gordon College student to work with youth and young adults.

Town Meeting

Sign By-Law

Town Meeting Monday approved Article 7 which provides for changes and revisions in the town's sign-by-law ordinance.

The new by-law retains the "grandfather clause" as it deals with signs in the area and drew support from the Chamber of Commerce, Selectmen and the Finance Committee.

Zoning Changes

Town Meeting approved Article 8, which provided for zoning changes in the Cross street area Monday.

Following a presentation by Planning Board Chairman Charles Tseckares, Town Meeting approved the article 116-3. Tseckares said the town was currently operating on a 1924 zoning map in that area in which there was strip zoning with some parcels zoned light industrial while others were zoned residential.

Tseckares said the zoning changes approved by Town Meeting would bring the zoning map up to date.

Ad Level

Town Meeting approved Article 5, which raised the level for the compulsory newspaper advertisement from $2,000 to $4,000.

Town Manager, who supported the measure, said that level was last raised in 1976 from $1,000 to $2,000.

School Repairs

A request for a $61,000 appropriation for repairs to the High School building was deferred until tonight at a Town Meeting Monday evening.

The request is listed as Article 4 on the town warrant.

Estate Gift

Town Meeting postponed consideration on a gift from the estate of Mary Linnane to the Winchester Library.

Out Of Order

Town Meeting Moderator John Sullivan ruled Articles 21 and 22 out of order Monday.

Article 21 dealt with amending the Charter to remove control of Wildwood Cemetery from the Department of Public Works. A separate board would be established to supervise the cemetery.

Article 22 would have amended the Charter to have an elected Public Works Board supervise the Department of Public Works.

Both articles were submitted as citizen's petitions.

Red Cross Sets Disaster Course For Nurses

RNS, LPNs, and EMTs should take note of this special Red Cross course being offered Saturday, Nov. 15, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. It's called Disaster Health Services Workshop and it provides you with certified 6 C.E.U.s or 6 contact hours towards recertification. It is being offered without charge.

The Eastern Middlesex Region of the Red Cross is putting this course on at the Melrose Red Cross Offices, 786 Main St., Melrose. The Winchester Red Cross urges any RN, LPN and EMT to take this course. It deals with health related problems and how to handle them at Red Cross disaster operations. This training can be of critical importance to our community in the event of a major local disaster.

League Sponsors Job Re-Entry Talk At Bartlett Nov. 18

In response to the greatly increased interest in the job market by women, the League of Women Voters of Winchester will hold a public action forum Tuesday, Nov. 18, at the Bartlett School on Church Street.

The Job Re-Entry Forum for Women, a first in Winchester, will welcome representatives of job counseling agencies, job training and internship programs, temporary employment agencies, and those services which specifically serve women interested in re-entering employment.

The forum will begin at 7:45 p.m. with a brief keynote address by Annina McCully. Mrs. McCully, who re-entered the job market after 20 years at home is now the Administrative Assistant to the Personnel Director of Atex, Inc. A 1953 graduate of UCLA majoring in French Literature, Mrs. McCully, who "re-entered" two years ago, has "been there" in many ways. After her remarks, the audience will be welcome to circulate and receive information from the represented services.

A $2 pre-registration fee (payable to LWV - Winchester) may be sent to Mrs. Marcia Wood - 384 Main St. Registration at the door will be $3. For further information call: 729-8184 or 729-4976.

Unitarians Set Church Fair For Mid November

The Winchester Unitarian Church Fair sponsored by the Women's Alliance will be held on Nov. 19 from 12 to 9 p.m. at the Winchester Unitarian Church, corner of Main and Mystic Valley Parkway.

As in the past there will be separate tables for white elephants, co-chaired by Molly Davis, Hazel Rich and Sylvia Jones; arts and crafts, co-chaired by Eleanor Dutoit and Rachael Harding, featuring such items as pot holders, aprons and children's items; Christmas decorations, chaired by Maryann Crockett; books, chaired by Mary Aubrey; mittens, chaired by Elinor Walker; food, co-chaired by Janet Hall, Elaine Chipman and Ruth Lowell and mens, chaired by Rev. Bob Storer, featuring such items as wooden toys and crossword puzzles.

Also two special tables not present at most other Christmas Fairs have been donated again this year by Mrs. Priscilla Kidder of Priscilla of Boston. These tables, chaired by Betsy Ewing and Maggie Kock, feature a selection of gowns and fabrics.

For the first time there will be a .99 cent luncheon co-chaired by Janet Higbie and Joanne LaPointe.

The traditional church supper will be served from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. The turkey tetrazzini supper will cost $4 per adult and $2 per child.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Middlesex, ss. September 29, A.D. 1980

Taken on execution and will be sold by public auction, on Wednesday, the third day of December A.D. 1980, at three o'clock P.M., at my office, 98 First Street in Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, all the right, title and interest that Michael Moriarty and Mary Beth Moriarty of Winchester in said County of Middlesex, had not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution, on the twentieth day of September A.D. 1980, at nine o'clock and no minutes, a.m., being the time when the same was taken on execution in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A certain parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Winchester being shown as lot D on a plan recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds Book 10176, Page 407. Subject to building line established by the Town of Winchester.

The said premises are bounded and described as follows:

SOUTHEASTERLY, by Cross Street as shown on said plan One hundred eighty-two and 09/100 (182.09) feet;

SOUTHWESTERLY, by lot C as shown on said plan One hundred sixty-five and 19/100 (165.19) feet; and NORTHERLY, by lands of Sullivan, Santa and Comila, as shown on said plan Two hundred forty and 19/100 (240.19) feet.

Containing 15,920 square feet according to said plan.

Being the same premises conveyed to me by Frank A. Giammatteo and Anne Giammatteo by Deed dated August 11, 1977 and recorded with the Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 13282, Page 55.

Hospital Forum Addresses Topics Of Teen Interest

An Open Forum for Teen Questions, sponsored by Winchester Hospital was held Wednesday, Oct. 22, in Winchester High School.

The panel of four doctors from the hospital staff answered written questions from the audience for over two hours while Pat Skehan, community health education coordinator, read the questions aloud. In the capacity of registered nurse as well as a parent, Skehan also answered some questions.

Students who sat in chairs, on tables and on the floor wrote out questions, unsigned, on cards which were collected and read. The doctor whose field embraced the question asked answered the question directly and informally.

Because of the number of questions, the meeting which was scheduled for an hour and a half continued. The meeting ended with verbal discussion with the panel and teenagers.

The panel members were Dr. Andrew G. Guthrie, a pediatrician who has specialized in adolescence and who formerly worked in Boston with teenagers involved in drugs; Dr. Donald E. McLean, also a pediatrician and co-author of the book "Fit to be Tied"; Edward T. Heck, Ph.D., psychologist; and Dr. Stuart G. Pesin, gynecologist.

Skehan said after the meeting, "The audience was so enthusiastic, and there was such a wide range of questions asked, it might be a good idea to hold another Open Forum — perhaps in the Spring". The questions included many on sexual activity, alcohol use and abuse, emotional problems, physical problems and family relationships.

St. Mary's Students Introduced To Opera At Program

The students at St. Mary's School were entertained recently by members of the Introduction to Opera group, under the auspices of Young Audiences.

The program included a demonstration of the opera voices, soprano, mezzo-soprano, tenor and bass. The children were instructed to listen for the emotion portrayed to understand the meaning, even in languages other than English.

Many children participated in the program, which dealt with subjects and operas of particular appeal to young people, such as Hansel and Gretel, by Humperdinck and The Bewitched Child, by Ravel.

The Introduction to Opera program and Young Audiences is funded in part by the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a state agency whose funds are recommended by the Governor and appropriated by the State Legislature.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For 100 Years

Steven Austin: Music, Reality And Life On Ten Wheels

After the first set, the drummer adjusted the stand so that you could see his forehead and eyes when he hit the cymbal.

The bar they played in was long and high-ceilinged and the dark-stained panelling made the walls seem closer than they were. The music made talking impossible so my friend and I listened and sipped our drinks and watched the singer, a tiny woman with pink gloves and eyes like round, brown nickels.

We had our backs to the bar so we didn't see the couple behind us until, turning around to order new drinks, we found fresh ones waiting for us. Our hosts, a man with a leather jacket and a woman in a tweed coat and skirt, raised their glasses toward our faces.

We smiled at the two of them and turning back to the band, watched the singer twirl a baton while she sang a song about American girls. Later, after the song was over, we left the noise and the smoke with our hosts and stood for a time talking on the sidewalk.

"I'm Bill," he said, after we'd stood for a while under the soft orange glow of the bar's neon sign. He introduced his friend as Susan.

We asked one another the questions you always ask people at cocktail parties or bars: what they did or if they came here often. And we talked about the music that, even with the heavy wooden and metal door closed, still managed to filter its way through to the outside.

"I can relate to punk," Bill said, squinting past the wind that made our eyes tear. "Punk's not reality." I watched him light a cigarette and snap the brass buttons on his jacket.

Bill drives a bus for the T to and from Lynn.

"Reality is traffic at five o'clock on a Friday and I'm stuck behind the wheel of a bus and everyone in the cars around me is going to the Cape for the weekend," he said. "Reality is heat in the summer and cold in the winter and drunks who get sick in the back of the bus."

I didn't say anything, waiting instead until the last possible sound his words made blended with the music.

"I don't need reality," he explained. "That's why I like this music. It swallows you, takes you away from the traffic and the cold and the heat and the drunks. You can get lost in it. Reality has ten wheels and weighs more than a ton." He flipped his cigarette away. It arched up and landed on the yellow line in the middle of the street.

When we got back inside, the band was still playing and, after we'd stood with them and had another drink, we were separated in the crowd. For a while, my friend and I watched the band and I lost sight of Bill and Susan.

When I saw him again, he was dancing, his eyes screwed shut, his body jerking slowly to the bass players strings. He danced unaffectedly, as if, for that moment, there was nothing that mattered but the music and how he danced to it.

I ordered another drink and when it came, my friend nodded toward our hosts and smiled when she caught their attention. She said something to me but I couldn't hear her at first over the music. I pressed my ear against her mouth.

"He's right, you know. Reality does have ten wheels and sometimes, it weighs more than a ton."

Editor's Note: The following letter was written to Catherine Alexander, Chairman of the Winchester School Committee.

Dear Mrs. Alexander

Recently I was pleased to see your announcement of a school committee meeting which would direct its attention to the status of the Winchester inter-scholastic athletic program. My interest in such a meeting was such that I prepared a set of comments which I had hoped to personally submit to the committee.

Such is not to be, since I will not be able to be in Winchester next week.

I am submitting my comments via this letter and am enclosing enough copies so that distribution may be made to any interested parties. I hope that you and your committee will be able to devote enough time to this subject so that a coherent balanced policy emerges which will benefit the entire town.

Several years ago an article appeared on the Sports Page of the Boston Globe, in which a Winchester school official was quoted as saying "After our scholars, our athletes are the first to go to college." There are several things wrong with that statement; the inference that there is a difference between scholars and athletes is most obvious; that no clear statement of athletic policy and its place in the educational plan of Winchester Schools has been published since the above quoted statement is worse.

I believe inter-scholastic athletics do have a place in education and should be encouraged. I also believe there are abuses that are common to most such programs. And finally that there are technical weaknesses in our Winchester program which need strengthening.

I am not in a position to write a policy, but I wish you and the committee would consider the following thoughts in your review of present and future school athletic policy.

Only a schoolboy football field in New England on Saturday afternoons in the fall provide the proper setting for the 156 students and their truly wonderful "Miller Time." I just wish that there were still lazy spring Saturday afternoons with a track meet, a baseball game, a lacrosse game etc. In other words the Athletic Program can have a major impact on the community and its relationships.

Who are the players? As a coach exposed to a program in another town I can tell you about the "designated athlete." No others need apply. This syndrome can affect an entire program by limiting participation and what is worse, creating "the star." A specific; Our football program seems to have turned around. Was it the demise of the Pop Warner Program? Was it neckties on the freshman team? Was it a changed outlook by some of the coaching staff? Anyway we are winning and most important participation is up.

But what happens after high school? The role of the coach and college applications is historic. Whether it's Cambridge, Woburn, Brockton or Newton coaches are proud of their ability to place their players in excellent college situations. This too has a place in the Winchester athletic program.

Example: Our coaches are role models for our students, and they should be first to abide by all the rules. Current policy "only verbally expressed" is that it is up to the "referees" to enforce the rules. A very small but easily observed violation of this "example" ethic is Manny Marshall and where he stands on the football field, almost always eligible for a penalty.

How do you evaluate winning and losing and the coach? When McCall and Lynch played I always wanted to know who won the second game of the season. Similarly most of the Middlesex Leagues have two full rounds of games. Does the record improve in the second half and why not?

Do coaches teach skills or do they just handle the teams? Do the junior varsity teams and freshman teams prepare the students for varsity level? These teams should provide real learning experiences. Promotion to varsity should be a reasonable and encouraged goal of every student involved.

And last there must be coordination of effort between the Athletic Department and the Department of Public Works. The Directors should meet and work together to make the fields safe and properly prepared for each sport. A specific: Grass is cut differently for football and field hockey. But unless there is communication one sport or the other will suffer. Shortly there will be a new D.P.W. Director. A joint tour of the facilities would seem appropriate.

All That Glisters

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

A few years ago, when the U. S. cut the final tie between the dollar and gold, a prominent politician said the precious metal would decline to $6 an ounce. He was wrong because the unlimited printing of paper money to fund Federal deficits and reward special interests - was now possible.

The price of gold is a thermometer for the health of the U. S. dollar. $8-8.00 an ounce indicates a sickening surge of price inflation ahead.

Since the last official connection between the dollar and gold was severed, the money supply has more than doubled and, as a result, prices have done the same, with no end in sight.

Politicians dislike gold because it is people's money, which protects the purchasing power of wages and savings accounts, and can't be manipulated. Paper money, which can be printed at will, helps only big government, big banks and big corporations.

With a gold currency and a free market economy, prices fall as the economy grows. Paychecks buy more every year, instead of less.

Our present paper dollars, combined with coins that contain no silver, have allowed the politicians to run wild. To stop inflation and the economic troubles it causes, we need a dollar redeemable in gold.

For more than forty years, the government has told us that gold isn't money. But gold is the best money: the most honest, the soundest, the least corruptible. That's why the Founding Fathers insisted on gold and silver money in the Constitution.

During the war for independence, the Continental Congress issued unbacked paper money that continually fell in value. This action by Congress which wasn't entirely trustworthy even in those days, led to the phrase "not worth a continental."

If we want to prevent a similar fate for the dollar, we will back it with gold, the money that has proven it's value through eight thousand years of human history. Unbacked paper money always leads to an inflationary calamity, because no politician can be trusted with a printing press.

We cannot allow our country to go through an economic wringer powered by government inflation. Our prosperity would not survive, and neither would our freedom.

"Not yet, O Freedom! Close thy lids in slumber, for thine enemy never sleeps."

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

For years we, as residents of North Border rd, considered ourselves the forgotten citizens of Winchester.

Rainstorms meant that gravel from our road would wash down the intersecting hillsides, leaving us with automobiles up to their hubcaps in ruts that remained for weeks.

In the wintertime, town equipment broke down over and over again when efforts were made to plow us out. Frost heaves caused our road to resemble an obstacle course.

Of course, we pleaded for relief. Some of us had been gathering signatures on petitions for 30 years to present to town and state officials. However, we reaped only promises until we delivered a petition to Rep. Whip Saltmarsh. For four years, Whip labored to get the legislature to pass a bill that would provide us with a decent road to live on. Through his efforts, the MDC appropriated monies to construct North Border Road which abuts the MDC Fells, and to build curbing on both sides, plant new trees and sod, and install adequate drainage and modern lighting.

We invite our neighbors to view the transformation of our neighborhood which we feel has immeasurably enhanced our property. We also want to publicly thank Representative Saltmarsh. As long as we have a go-through guy such as Whip representing us, we know Winchester will never be short-changed.

The Circus: Who's Watching Whom

By TERRY MAROTTA

The Greatest Show on Earth has recently completed its annual fall pilgrimage to our area. For 12 days in October, the cement vault euphemistically known as the Boston Garden was permeated by the smells of elephants and the non-foods that make up in day-glo color and rococo configuration what they lack in nutritive value.

The place has been returned to the rock-concert enthusiasts and the beer-drenched sports fans again, and you'd never know that 30 tigers and a score of gibbering primates recently cavorted on Center Ice.

If you didn't catch Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey's extravaganza this time, you've missed a real experience. Let me tell you what I mean.

First there are the animals. A hundred years ago, the average American was doubtless amazed by the very presence of a real leopard or a living ape. Today, of course, the mere sight of such a beast has become a ho-hum affair, accustomed as we are to the local zoo, Marlin Perkins and all the insurance-industry-sponsored wild kingdoms brought to us on the tube.

So in today's circus, the animals are tricked up to look like people. There are poodles with pink afros who look a lot like Barbra Streisand. There are monkeys in polyester leisure suits, some riding motorcycles, some acting out sporting events. There's one sequence where the chimps engage in some frantic activity below while four airplanes stuffed with dummy-monkey counterparts circle menacingly overhead.

This is particularly grotesque, as the artificial airplane pilots have a shot look, bodies slumping out of the cockpit and limbs slack. It's like when the enemy finally gets the bombardier in the World War II movie. Or it's as if Joe Green, Officer Bill and Boston's other airborne traffic monitors have suddenly expired at the controls of their helicopters as they continue to describe peppy little orbits over the Southeast Expressway.

The bears, who are no less than ten feet tall and wear muzzles, are marched in on their hind legs and made to sit in a schoolroom circle of chairs around their trainer. Because of the adaptations of their spinal columns, they are unable to sit erect, as one might guess, and so they slump, facing away from their "teacher", one arm hung over the backs of their chairs, the picture of slothful inattention. They look like high school students on a substitute day or the members of the Massachusetts House during the course of debate.

The tigers, thank God, are uncostumed and non-anthropomorphic. They climb up on stools and do some fake menacing of their trainer, who is himself the surreal element in this act. Gunther Gebel-Williams looks like a cross between Englebert Humperdinck and Cher: oversize gleaming teeth, sequins and a bare midriff, crowned with a puff of straw-blond cotton candy hair. He is a living tribute to sit-ups, the blowdryer and the sunlamp.

The "people" acts are just as bizarre as the quadrupeds'. Two South American fellows stand on wobbling chairs on a high wire. One lady hangs by her hair 75 feet above the floor and juggles fire. Dolly Jacobs, clad in the merest bikini, tries to split herself in half by hanging one foot from one ring and the other from its fellow ten feet away. It's heart-stopping.

How can they do this for a living? The awareness of sudden death tickles the base of your brain.

And for some reason the women are made up to look like Elizabeth Taylor on the eve of another birthday's publicity shots: fake eyelashes three inches long, punk-rock eyeshadow, push-up chain-mail bras and teensy G-strings. Not only are they up there with no nets, they're dressed like strippers. Old P. T. Barnum knew what sells all right; give the people a few laughs, then sneak in their twin obsessions of sex and death. You'll pack 'em in.

Add to this the sensory overload common to any circus. There are three rings, don't forget, not to mention the clowns cavorting among them. The ringmaster marvels aloud in capital letters through it all, and as if that weren't enough, Boston Garden hawkers pass endlessly up and down the aisles, obstructing the view.

The thing is exhausting. It's also profoundly existential.

Going to the circus is like looking into a fun-house mirror at ourselves. We thrill to the sights and sounds not for their strangeness but for an eerie familiarity. The trainer's "mastery" of his animals is a metaphor for our belief that we humans are the crown of creation, with some inalienable birthright that allows us to manipulate nature and bend our fellow creatures beneath our domination.

There's that and sex, the world's favorite pastime if a global population in excess of 4 billion is any index.

And there's the imminence of death.

Well, death we don't talk too much about in this culture, but it's there all right, every morning next to your coffee cup. Death, as the fella said, is the mother of beauty. Because we can conceive of darkness, we celebrate the light. Because these winy fall days are doomed to descent into the bitter gall of winter, they are the more beautiful.

And as for the sensory overload you feel under the Big Top, what could be more familiar? Modern life is often described as a three ring circus. There's too much going on, too much to know about.

Think: the Mideast, the SALT talks, inflation, the baby's ear infection, the leaky boiler, advancing age, the loss of physical beauty, the ozone layer, Mary Tyler Moore's dead boy and your immortal soul.

There's all this descending on us, synopated by the catchy tune of commerce, a Coke and a smile.

The circus is wonderful but it's no escape. It's home; it's who we are. It's all of us out there on the sawdust.

I wonder then; who is our audience?

Janice Padula Marries Bruce Bardsley Recently

Janice Marie Padula, daughter of Mrs. Ellen Padula, formerly of Winchester, and Henry Padula of Everett, and Bruce Wayne Bardsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Bardsley Sr. of Waltham, were married recently in a North Reading garden ceremony. The Rev. P. Dale Neuler of the Old South Methodist Church in Reading officiated. The wedding was held at the home of the bride's sister, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Moda.

The bride wore an off-white, voile gown with a front lace panel insert and long lace sleeves. Wearing a garland of baby's breath in her hair, the bride carried a nosegay of daisies and baby's breath.

Maid of Honor was Barbara Stoddard of North Reading. She wore a dress of stawberry print in Qiana silk with off-white lace cap sleeves. She carried a bouquet of baby's breath and pink daisies. Best man was Anthony Pilla of Waltham. Leonard E. Bardsley Jr., brother of the groom, served as attendant.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and a secretary at Hooker and Holcombe, Inc. Actuarial Consultants in Newton. The groom is a graduate of Waltham High School and is a construction foreman with P. Gioioso and Sons of Hyde Park.

Following a wedding trip to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the couple resides in Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bardsley

Nancy Regan Will Wed Paul Cormier In May Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Regan of 100 Mill St., Burlington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Eileen, to Paul Jerry Cormier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aurele Cormier of 12 Berkshire Dr., Winchester.

Miss O'Regan graduated Burlington High School and attended the University of Lowell. She is currently employed by All State Insurance Company in Burlington.

Cormier is a graduate of Winchester High School and self employed as a general contractor.

The couple plans a May wedding.

Ellen Burns Weds James Haley At St. Mary's

Ellen Abigail Burns and James Gerard Haley were married Oct. 4 at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Church in Winchester with Father Sereno officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Burns, 49 Wedgemere Ave. She graduated from Winchester High School and attended Aquinas Junior College.

The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert W. Haley, 46 Grayfield Ave., West Roxbury. He graduated from Boston Latin School, Bentley College and Suffolk University. He is an account executive for AT&T Long Lines.

Miss Burns was given in marriage by her father. Alice Burns, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Beth Burns, Winchester, Jeanne Haley, West Roxbury; Martha Kinton, Winchester, and Eileen Russell, Cambridge.

Best man was Paul F. Haley, brother of the bridegroom, West Roxbury. Ushers were Dennis Haley and Robert Haley, brothers of the bridegroom, both of West Roxbury; Chris Harney, Nashua, N.H., and Edward Burns, Winchester.

Other attendants were David Haley, Kathleen Haley, Helen Haley, Anne Burns, and Chris Burns.

After a wedding trip to West Palm Beach, Florida, the couple will live in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Haley

Valerie Mears To Wed Hank Petrillo

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Mears of Ellenton, Florida, formerly of Saugus, announce the engagement of their daughter, Valerie Jayne, to Hank Petrillo of Winchester. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Petrillo of 52 Allen Road in Winchester.

Miss Mears is a graduate of Salem State College, and is employed by Eastern Uniform in Allston. Mr. Petrillo is a graduate of Boston College and Boston University, where he received a master's degree in business. He is an International Accounting Officer for the First National Bank of Boston.

The couple plan a candlelight ceremony at St. Mary's Church in Winchester in March.

Martha Phillips Marries Michael Dupuis Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dupuis

St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Rockport was the setting for the Sept. 14 wedding of Martha Crosby Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Phillips of Yale St. and Rockport, to Michael Robert Dupuis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Dupuis of Lewis Wharf, Boston, formerly of Winchester.

The Reverend Richard A. Bamforth officiated at the two o'clock ceremony. Wedding selections for viola were played by Miss Jeanne Bamforth accompanied by Mrs. Louis Steele Clapp, organist.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a gown of white crepe which featured a high neckline and blouson bodice, sculptured Venice lace accented the neckline, bodice, and cap sleeves; grosgrain ribbon ties accented the natural waist, and the A-line skirt terminated in a chapel length train. Her matching headpiece was a derby hat covered in sculptured Venice lace with scalloped lace trim. A cluster of organza flowers held the veil in place. She carried an arm bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and Boston fern.

Judith Phillips Morrison was her sister's maid of honor.

Miss Dana Dupuis, sister of the groom, and Miss Daria Vacca of Winchester were bridesmaids. They wore navy blue wrap-style sheer crepe short gowns with overlay graduated petal hemlines. They carried wrist bouquets of red roses, babies breath, and Boston fern. Mrs. Patricia Phillips attended the guest book.

Peter Dupuis served his brother as best man and W. James Smyly and Cary Donahue of Winchester were ushers. They wore navy blue blazers, gray flannels and striped ties.

Following a reception at the Ralph Waldo Emerson Inn, the couple left on their honeymoon to St. Croix and Florida and are presently making their home in Somerville.

The bride attended Plymouth State College and graduated from the University of Massachusetts in Amherst. She is employed by the Utica Mutual Insurance Company in Burlington.

Mr. Dupuis is a graduate of Austin Preparatory School, he attended New Hampshire College in Manchester, and is associated with Faulkner Brothers, Inc. in Somerville.

Couple Honored

On Saturday, Oct. 11, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Muraco of 8 Irving St. were honored for their 40th wedding anniversary.

Given by her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tighe of Winchester. At their home about 75 guests attended. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Muraco were both born in Winchester and have lived in Winchester all their lives. They have two grandchildren, Christine and Michelle Tighe.

For a little bit of Russian mixed in with American, Sitka is the place. Sitka was the capital of Russian Alaska for many years and there is still a section of town called "Old Russian Sitka." Alaska's oldest museum, the Sheldon Jackson, is located there. It contains some of the finest native arts and crafts. There is also an historical park that shows the site of the Battle of Sitka between the Russian, Alexander Baranof and the Tlingit Indians. St. Michael's Cathedral was built in the 1800's. You will also be able to see Tlingit Indians practicing their native dances.

Charles Streff Lectures On Death On Recently

Thirty-three parents, teachers and community members explored children's ideas about death recently during a lecture sponsored by the Neighborhood Cooperative Nursery School.

The lecture featured Dr. Charles Streff, an associate professor of psychology at Fitchburg State College and a counselor for the dying.

Dr. Streff gave a brief description of the concerns about death that children may have at different ages. He then offered some guidelines on how to handle this topic with children.

Dr. Streff said that when answering a child's questions about death, consider the kinds of experiences he has had with death and his relationship to the person who has died. Also try to avoid "fairytales" about death because children find inconsistencies in them at a later age.

What can a parent say to his child about death? "It's a matter of how we say something that's most important," Dr. Streff said. "We have to let the child know we're available to talk."

The lecture, part of a series sponsored by the Neighborhood Cooperative Nursery School, was held at the First Congregational Church.

Making Choices

Books! The prime material at the Public Library. How are they selected?

For many years, it has been the function of the professional staff to select the books. The policy for the selection of library materials is established by the Board of Library Trustees.

The professional staff is guided by this policy in the areas of education, information, and recreation for library users and takes into consideration six specific points: current usefulness or interest, or permanent value; authority and competence of presentation; importance as a historical record; comprehensiveness of presentation; relevance to the existing collection; and requests from users of the library.

About 80 percent of the adult books are selected on the basis of reviews and those requests from library patrons are also scrutinized in the review media.

What about the other 20 percent of adult books? These are the ones that are on standing order. They come automatically and include such items as the Fodor guides, the "Thomas Register of Manufacturers," the encyclopedias, the Doubleday crime club books, the U.S. Code, Mobil guides, Mass. Acts & Resolves, and many, many more.

When the professional staff sits down on a Thursday morning in one of the offices, it has already prepared itself for submitting its selection in the book review media to the consensus of the group. A number of different journals are used such as "Kirkus Reviews," "Library Journal," "Booklist," "School Library Journal," "Publishers Weekly," "N.Y. Times Book Review," etc.

The requests left by borrowers, special announcements sent by publishers, and at times, replacements for books lost, are considered.

At times, some of the esoteric titles that are published provoke hilarity. Or maybe it is just in the nature of things. Who said Library work was dull!

Local Veterans Announce Plans

The Veterans' Day committee extends to all Winchester veterans' an invitation to participate in the observance of Veterans' Day Tuesday Nov. 11.

Commander John Wilband of the veterans of Foreign Wars and William Stevenson of the American Legion welcome all veterans of the town of Winchester to participate. Uniforms are optional. Vets are to meet on Laraway rd. by the Winchester Common at 10:30 a.m. to depart for the War Memorial at Main St and the Mystic Valley Parkway at 10:45.

The group will then proceed to the honor roll at the town hall and will disband at the honor roll after the service.

Participating in the line of march will be members of the Board of Selectman state Sen. Samuel Rotondi, State Rep. Sherman W. Slatmarsh Jr. members of the police and fire departments and members of the veterans' of foreign wars, American Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary.

The high school band will play taps at the war memorial and honor roll. Also appearing this year will be the Winchester High School Band and the Immaculate Conception Drum and Bugle Corps.

Rev. Earl Robinson pastor of the First Baptist Church will deliver the benediction.

Need For Garage Explained

...Editor's Note: The following is the eighth in a series submitted by Winchester Hospital concerning construction plans at the Highland Avenue facility.

For more than 10 years, Winchester Hospital has consistently identified adequate on-site parking capacity as one of its priority needs.

In adopting the 1980 long-range site and facility development concept, the Board of Directors authorized inclusion of a parking structure as an integral and essential element. At present, the Hospital has a total of 302 surface parking spaces. Our consultants have concluded that, by 1985, the Hospital will require a minimum 440 on-site spaces, and they recommended that these spaces be provided within a parking garage and in surface parking lots.

Since 1972, all master plans prepared by three independent Hospital consultants have included a parking garage. In late 1975 and early 1976, the Hospital submitted and amended an application for a Determination of Need to construct a parking garage. This application identified a need for a total of 464 on-site parking spaces. The original October 1975 application proposed a 386-car garage; the amended January 1976 application requested 274 garage spaces, retaining 190 spaces in surface lots.

In its January 1976 review of the original application, the Health Planning Council for Greater Boston concluded that "the need for additional parking at Winchester Hospital appears necessary."

However, on January 8, 1976, the Council's Board of Directors voted to recommend to the Public Health Council denial of this application, suggesting instead that "an application submitted for expansion of services and facilities in conjunction with expanded parking facilities would more appropriately allow for determining the need and size of additional parking capacity for Winchester Hospital."

In its February 4, 1976 review, the Determination of Need Program Staff recommended conditional approval of a 274-car garage. This review stated "The current inadequacy is paramount" and "that 464 spaces is within the range of projected need for hospitals of Winchester's size and lack of public transportation. Thus, the applicant's 464 spaces constitutes an appropriate number of spaces." Nevertheless, this amended application was also denied.

As part of the current planning for this new construction and renovation project, Arthur D. Little, Inc., evaluated their findings and recommended a minimal 1985 on-site parking capacity of 440 spaces for Winchester Hospital.

Parking requirements vary considerably not only among community hospitals in general, but also among those with identical bed complements. Variables which significantly influence these requirements include the extent of ambulatory care of training programs, the presence of physicians' offices, the availability of public transit, the distances that staff and employees must travel, visiting hours, and the urban, suburban or rural setting of the Hospital itself. Winchester's requirements are, for example, increased by the extent of its ambulatory care and training programs, the lack of public transit and distances its employees travel; off setting these are site limitations, the absence of physicians' offices and variable visiting hours.

One measure of need applicable to Winchester Hospital is the current zoning ordinance. It specifies a minimum of 1.5 parking spaces per bed or a current total minimum of 287 spaces based upon the Hospital's present 191 beds. For the proposed project, local zoning requirements would call for a minimum of 329 spaces.

The recommendation of 440 spaces made by Arthur D. Little, Inc., fits well within guidelines established by the Massachusetts Department of Health and Human Service's minimum requirements for hospital and medical facilities and Federal standards reflected in Hill-Burton survey data.

To minimize its requirements for on-site parking the Hospital, as a matter of policy and necessity, has long encouraged employee car pools. On-site spaces are reserved for cars carrying three or more employees. As with any hospital, however, the maintenance of three shifts, seven days per week, plus the combination of part-time full-time employees, limits the effectiveness of car pooling.

The fact that the nearest MBTA station is more than one and one-half miles from the site militates against alternative forms of travel. A July 1980 survey shows that, of the Hospital's 849 total employees, 530, or more than 62 percent, come from 51 Massachusetts towns, as well as 4 New Hampshire towns and cities other than Winchester and Woburn. Thus, a significant proportion of Winchester's employees are necessarily dependent upon automobile transportation to and from work.

Winton Club Fair Set At Hospital Lobby Nov. 12

The Friends of Winchester Hospital invite everyone to visit their Friendly Crafts Table at the Winton Club Christmas Fair in the lobby of the hospital Nov. 12-14.

Handmade articles for Christmas giving will be on sale at the Friendly Table, along with tickets for the raffle of a few special items which have been donated for this event.

These include two hand-knitted afghans and two three-foot-tall hand-made Raggedy Anne dolls. Local merchants have donated a gift certificate for women's clothing and two pounds of chocolates of the winner's choice.

The drawing for the raffle will take place at noon on Friday, Nov. 14, in the hospital lobby.

Co-chairing the Friendly Table are Glennie McLaughlin and Carolyn Ryan.

Vinson-Owen Sets Auction For Hall Nov. 14

An auction to benefit the Vinson-Owen Scholarship Fund will be held Friday, Nov. 14, at St. Eulalia's Manion Hall, Ridge st., with viewing at 7:30 p.m., auction at 8 p.m.

The Parents' Association, under the direction of Mrs. Janice Coakley, has collected an array of quality items to be auctioned off, consisting of professional services, arts and crafts, household items, furnishings, homemade dinners, special desserts, gifts, spirits, and gift certificates.

Wine, cheese, coffee and dessert will be served. The public is invited to attend.

Athletic Philosophy

All residents interested in the state of and philosophies behind interscholastic sports in Winchester are invited to attend the School Committee meeting Wednesday night where Athletic Director William Colella will be on hand to answer questions.

School Committee member Mary Jean Weylman, the committee's liaison for athletics, said it was the first such public forum she can recall on the subject of athletics and the philosophy adhered to in Winchester.

"I don't think it's something that's ever come before the School Committee and it's something that many are interested in," Weylman said.

Weylman added that anyone attending the meeting may ask questions of Colella and the School Committee, who have the final say on any athletic policies to be implemented.

Some of the areas Weylman said people have asked her about include:

Win At Any Cost? What is the philosophy in Winchester. Is the emphasis on winning or in getting as much participation as possible?

Which Get Cut? In an era of declining enrollments and tax slashing referendum, how is the decision arrived at in cutting one sport over another? Is the newest sport the first to go when reductions have to be made? Or is the level of participation the deciding factor.

Whither the Middlesex League? Is it to Winchester's benefit that it is a member of the Middlesex League? Would there be better competition elsewhere? What does it mean to be a member of the Middlesex League?

The Coaches? How are the coaches selected? What criteria is used? Who does and doesn't have input?

Grades? If a student flunks a course should he be able to continue playing? What does the league say about it? What does Winchester say about it?

Money? The budget. Is too much being spent? Too little? Should extra curricular activities receive as much emphasis as interscholastic sports? In 1970 the athletic budget was $89,000. In 1978 it rose to $161,020 and is now over $200,000.

"The School Committee has always thought the town is very supportive of athletics," Weylman said, for those who wish to affirm that support or question the direction of the athletic programs, Wednesday night is your opportunity.

The meeting starts at 7:30 at the Sanborn House.

Commission Approves Pact For Water Removal

The Metropolitan District Commission has given its approval to a contract for the Normac Construction Company to remove the dense salt water trapped at the bottom of the Lower Mystic Lake, according to Rep. John F. Cusack, chairman of the Committee on Urban Affairs.

Before construction of the Craddock Dam in 1908, the water level of the Lower Mystic Lake fluctuated with the ocean tide and the resulting salt water accumulated at the bottom of the lake. The salt water is devoid of oxygen and contains large concentrations of hydrogen sulfide, a toxic foul smelling gas, which has been released in the air during extremely low river flows.

"The removal of the salt water will revitalize the Lower Mystic Lake and give the Arlington end a much greater recreational potential," says Cusack. "In addition it will eliminate the possibility of nearby residents being bothered by the foul odor."

The removal project involves pumping about 100 million gallons of salt water from the Lower Mystic Lake; precipitation of hydrogen sulfide from the Lower Mystic Lake; precipitation of hydrogen sulfide with the use of ferric chloride in a temporary building on the Medford side of the lake; and final discharge to a nearby MDC sewer.

The temporary building will be removed after this phase of the project is accomplished with a smaller building housing compressors for the aeration system remaining at the site.

The total cost for the MDC project is approximately $870,000. Matching funds for the project are being obtained by a grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency with final approval from that agency expected within two months. Completion will take from five to nine months.

'Sleeping Beauty' Performance Set In Lexington

Adventures in Music begins its 1980-1981 season with the Pickwick Puppet Theatre's production of "The Sleeping Beauty" by Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky at Lexington High School Auditorium Sunday, Nov. 9, at 1, 3 and 5 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the door for 5 p.m. only.

The Pickwick Puppet Theatre has been commissioned four times by Thomas Sherman's Little Orchestra Society to create puppet versions of musical masterpieces; the ballet "Sleeping Beauty" is one of these and was performed for the first time at Lincoln Center.

Advanced reservations this year were so large that new concert times have been added. Contact Liz Masseling at 729-9473 or Ann-Marie Casey at 729-7246 for more information about the performance or times when seats are available.

Watertown Prevails

Sachems Halted

By BILL BARON

The Sachem football team awoke last Saturday to the realization that they were mortal, that they were not invincible, that they could lose.

From the start, the Sachems lacked the intensity against Watertown that had led them to victories in each of the first six weekends. And when it was all over, when for the first time all year Winchester didn't dominate a second half, the Red Raiders had a 19-10 victory to knock the Sachems out of first place in the Middlesex League.

Sachem Coach Manny Marshall tried to downplay the fact that star running back Gary Errico did not play at all.

"We played the best we could. It wasn't that Gary didn't play. They might have beaten us even if we'd had Gary. You've got to give Watertown credit, they were just better than we were today," Marshall said.

The Sachems got off to their typical slow start when they could go nowhere the first three times they carried the ball and had to punt it away.

On Watertown's first play from scrimmage, quarterback Steve Brackett hrew downfield to Peter Yerardi, who cut inside a Sachem defender to snare the poorly thrown pass and ramble down to the Winchester 10-yard-line.

Several plays later Brackett took it himself into the endzone from the five-yard line and the Red Raiders were up 7-0.

The Sachems were stifled again on the next drive despite Bill Ferry's return to the Winchester 37 when Brackett intercepted quarterback Rich Fennell's pass.

Winchester's Mark Micciche picked off a pass to start the second quarter, but again the Sachems couldn't get untracked and had to punt. Bruce Campbell came on to unleash a punt that rolled out of bounds at the Watertown 22-yard line.

The Red Raiders then moved upfield on a drive that would eat up more than seven minutes off the second quarter. But the defense held that time and again near the close of the first half as sophomore tackle Tom Porell made another of his six first half tackles before leaving the game with an injured knee. On fourth down Brackett went back to punt but instead threw to Tom Parschley for a first down at the Winchester 35 yard line.

But the Red Raiders could get just two plays off before time ran out and the Sachems went into the lockerroom with a seven point deficit to make up.

The third quarter looked like re-runs of Sachem highlight films. The Red Raiders took Chris Cahill's opening kick-off and were stopped cold by bone-jarring tackles of Paul Manganaro and Co-Captain Jay Gill.

Running back Steve Costello took Brackett's punt at his own 30 and raced up the right sideline and into the endzone as the Sachem sidelines went into an uproar.

But sitting back at the 30 yard line was the yellow flag for the clipping call. The touchdown was nullified and the Sachems had to start deep in their own territory.

It was then the offense finally came to life.

Fennell was getting more protection. Holes were opening up for the runners. The second half had arrived.

At about midfield, Costello took a handoff, ran left through a big hole, stumbled through the secondary and sprinted into the endzone again. Except this time there were no penalty flags and Campbell's ever consistent extra point was good to tie it at 7.

The defense, led by Manganaro's 15-yard sack of Brackett rebuffed the hosts again which forced a punt from the endzone. Costello returned it 10 yards to the Watertown 40.

Fennell and company moved it to the 15 before Campbell had to come on for his first field goal of the season, a 32-yarder that just cleared the crossbar.

"It really felt good at the time," Campbell said later of his boot that put the Sachems up 10-7. "But I wouldn't care if I had all the field goals in the world if they didn't help us win."

The Red Raiders fumbled on their next possession and the Sachems started driving again for what would have been a big third third score, when suddenly they were shut down. Halfback Jim Gibbons was stopped on a fourth down attempt and it was Watertown's turn to step on the gas.

And they simply took control. Rushing four and five yards a pop (always away from Jay Gill) they roared right down the field and regained the lead.

Parschley put the nail in the coffin on the Sachems' next possession, picking off another Fennell pass with Gill saving a touchdown. But it wasn't for long as it took just a few plays for running back Gregg Poillieci to push it across to give the hosts a 19-10 lead.

The Sachems are still in excellent position to win the Middlesex League crown. If they get past a tough Burlington team Saturday at Knowlton Stadium and get past hapless Reading the next week, it will set up another Thanksgiving Day showdown with Woburn who moved into the top spot Saturday with a 6-0-1 record.

And if Costello's attitude is any indication, the Sachems are not so down that they won't get back up.

"You can't count us out yet," Costello, who had another superb day with 94 yards, said. "Every team in the Middlesex League has a loss except Woburn and on Thanksgiving Day they'll get theirs, too, you can bet on it!"

Booters Gear Up For The Play-offs

Unbeaten Sachemettes Look To Reverse State Tournament Jinx

If any team has lived for post season play it has to be the Winchester girls' soccer team.

For the third consecutive year, the first three years in existence, the Sachemette booters have strolled through the Middlesex League without nary a loss — and many a rout.

"This is the third year we've had a team and the third year we've won the league championship and we've gone undefeated every year," Coach Chris Scanlon said matter of factly.

The final two contests of the season were like many of the others — no contest. After whipping Lexington, 4-2 last week to rub out the last of the challengers, the Sachemettes breezed past Wakefield 11-0 and Burlington 4-0 to finish the year at 14-0-2.

"They were both pretty easy matches to finish up the year," Scanlon admitted generously.

The Sachemettes had trounced hapless Wakefield by a 10-1 count earlier and this time was no different. The hosts took about "50,000 shots" with Ann Porell (four goals), Kim Donlon (three goals, one assist) and Andrea deMars (one goal, four assists) leading the way as they have done all year. Alison McPhail, Maria Montouri and Jeannie Powers added the other scores as the Sachemettes were never threatened.

Against Burlington it was more of the same as Porell added a pair of goals to clinch the league scoring title with 27 goals and 12 assists. Donlon (19 goals, nine assists) and Melissa Meade notched the other scores.

"They (Burlington) really came out to play hard and hustled the whole game,"

Sachems Hope To Avoid Tourney Letdown Following Long Layoff

By Julie Derry

"They seed the teams on numerical value, purely on numerical value — not on toughness of league or teams. Considering our record, we should be seeded pretty high," said Sachem Coach Gene Bouley.

Bouley was commenting on the Sachems' upcoming playoff games in "the States." Though their season ended last week, the North Regionals won't start until Monday or Tuesday. The Sachems' schedule will be decided Saturday when all the teams are seeded.

The Sachems' strong record, 14-1-3, earned them a second place standing in their league. Despite their 3-0 victory over Wakefield two weeks ago, the Sachems are still a half point behind Wakefield, whose record is 15-1-2. However, their fine record will guarantee the Sachems a high seeding in the States.

The games are played on the home field of the higher seeded team; this means that the Sachems will be playing their first game in Winchester.

"It really depends on the game this week. Most teams are still playing games this week. The teams' standings at the end of this week will really determine how we are seeded in relation to other teams," said Bouley.

Bouley was upset about the week lapse between the end of the season and the start of the regionals. Finishing off with strong wins against Melrose and Woburn, and before that their Wakefield victory, the Sachems have built up momentum and Bouley doesn't want to break it.

(Boys - Page 19)

This New Team Is No Joke

Let's face it. In this era of expansion teams, some of the new entries have been absolutely laughable.

How 'bout those Tampa Bay Bucs and I don't care if they won their division last year or not. They lost 28 straight. Ha, ha.

And those lovable old Washington Capitals. The new boys on the NHL's block jumped into double figures in the win column in just their second season. That's not bad in an 86-game schedule. Yuck, yuck.

And, oh my, what a chuckle we all got out of watching those amazingly inept Mets. Ah, humor can never die as long as sports keeps expanding.

That's what makes the accomplishments of the Sachemette soccer team all the more remarkable.

In just their third season, the Sachemettes hee-hawed their way to a 14-0-2 record, including two trouncings of defending state champ, Concord (all right, the second didn't count when it got rained out at the half but it was chock full of one liners).

But the real amazin' thing is that it's nothing new. The Sachemettes didn't lose a league game last year, either. Ditto for their debut three years ago. The team has not lost a league game in their three-year history.

"We really feel, girl for girl, that we have more talent than anyone," said Coach Chris Scanlon, the architect of what has become an awesome offensive machine. "We have players that are just good soccer players. We have people playing defense that were halfbacks. They're just really good soccer players. This is the third straight year we've won the league and gone undefeated. That's not bad. But because of that people expect us to go further."

Ah, the rub. Most third-year teams would be glad to simply make the play-offs. Since the Sachemettes have made it every year the novelty has now worn off. They haven't moved past the quarterfinals in either of the first two years.

Both times they were eliminated in one-goal losses. Last year missing from the Needham quarterfinal match was goalie Kate McCarthy and All-Scholastic forward Christine Driscoll.

The 12-1 Swimmers Journey To Medford High Friday And Saturday For The Northeast Sectional Championships And Coach Vin Palumbo Is Confident.

The Cross Country Teams Are Off To Franklin Park For The Eastern Mass. Tournament Saturday. Both Teams Are Coming Off Impressive Showings In The League Meet Last Week.

See Page 16.

Swimmers Ready For Northeast Showdown

By MARY CRESSE

Elizabeth Porras blankly stared at the vacant pool area of the Northeast Regional Vocational Pool and waited for her teammates to return from the locker room.

Poking the last of the usual post meet brownie into her mouth, she remarked, "You know the practices weren't all that bad. You get used to getting up that early." Smile, roll of the eyes. "Well sort of. I thought the meets were kind of fun, too, except that one. You get used to them too."

But despite that "one", the loss to Lexington, the season is far from over for the Sachemette swimmers. This Friday and Saturday they travel to Medford High School for the Northeast Regional play-offs. Coach Vin Palumbo, Sr. is very optimistic.

"We're hoping to be in the top four in the Northeast and then hopefully finish in the top six in the state. And they'll be 70, 80 teams from around the state there (at Boston College) for that," Palumbo said.

Qualifying for the Northeast play-offs this weekend are tri-captains Julie DeCarlo, P.K. Porter and Carla Gulino (diving) and Michele Bowen (diving). Ann McCann, Porras, Sheryl Powers, Lynn VanUmmersen, Alison Sughrue, Beth Melilli, Anne Donahue and Carol Schneller.

Two of that group, McCann and Powers, are freshmen, a fact that delights Palumbo and bodes well for the future of Sachemette swimming.

"We are hoping for a lot from Ann McCann which is remarkable for a freshman," Palumbo said. "And Powers is another freshman who has done very well."

But the season was a very satisfying one as depth played a major role in the team's successes. Never before has Palumbo done better than this year's 12-1 final record.

And it didn't take long for the swimmers to get untracked. The first four meets, against Lawrence, Malden, Arlington and Belmont set Winchester at the head of the class with Belmont posing the only threat.

After the tough Lexington defeat, the Sachemettes got it back together again — quickly.

After swamping hapless Woburn Winchester disposed of usual state powerhouse Bedford. An annihilation of Burlington followed that to set up the one remaining "real" contest of the season, against powerful Marblehead.

And this time the Sachemettes whipped the North Shore power and coasted the rest of the way to produce the most optimism any Winchester swimming club has had heading into regional and state competition for many years.

St. Eulalia's Hoop Tryouts On Nov. 16

Basketball tryouts for the St. Eulalia's 12 and under basketball team will be held from 7 - 9 p.m. Nov. 16 at McCall Junior High School. Harriers Eye EMass. Meet

Sachemettes, Glynn Whip League Runners

By PETER DELGRECO

The Girls' Cross Country team travelled to the annual League meet at the Woburn Country Club last week and came up victorious, soundly trouncing the rest of the League.

For many of the younger runners, it was a new experience, racing against a field of over 100 participants.

Taking first place was — who else — Laurie Glynn. She proved once and for all that she is by far the best runner in the League. Glynn outdistanced her Reading rival, Gail Saunders, by well over a full minute. Laurie's time of 14:08 set the Girls' record on the 2.5 mile course.

Running to third place was Lauren Fryklund. Her time of 15:47 allowed her to edge teammate Mary Boland by two seconds. Boland took fourth place to continue the Sachemette domination of the league.

The next hometown runner to cross the finish line was Eileen Conley. Her time of 16:09 was fast enough to capture seventh place.

Coach Joe Cantillon is expecting great running from Fryklund, Boland and Conley in the upcoming winter track season.

Cantillon was correct in his prediction that Jean Senna would finish in the top 10 runners at this meet. Senna finished right behind Conley in eighth place at 16:11. For a sophomore with little experience, Senna has run very well this season.

A few other sophomores ran well in their meet. Sandy Jordan and Maria Doocey took 32nd and 37th places, respectively, with times under 18 minutes.

The Sachemette runners were invited to run in the Coaches' Invitational meet at Franklin Park. Each race featured a large field of some of the best runners in the state. Winchester ran the Division I and they produced some strong finishes.

Several girls placed highly in the 9th-10th grade race. Superstar Glynn took second place with a time of 11:50. She lost to a Cambridge runner by about 20 seconds in the two mile race.

Senna took 21st place and Sandy Jordan took 36th place in the same race in which Glynn ran.

Running a different 3.1 mile race was Eileen Conley. She out-kicked a late challenge by several other runners and attained 17th place.

The Girls' Cross Contry team is quietly waiting for Saturday, when they will travel back to Franklin Park. This will be the site of the Eastern State Meet. Winchester will be among the leaders and is probably the team to beat.

Soccer Cosmos Blank Medford And Wakefield

The Cosmos rolled along recently with a pair of shutout victories in road contests against Wakefield and Medford.

Conditions made the Wakefield game difficult, as the heavy winds made passing nearly impossible. But the Cosmos offense still managed to score five goals and the defense stopped all of Wakefield's offensive thrusts.

The Medford game was a brutal one. Three Medford players were ejected for fighting. Jay Rice was struck in the face and Peter DelVecchio was also hit.

After a scoreless first half, however, the Cosmos came out flying and scored five times while the fullbacks shut down the Medford attackers.

Sachems Surprise At The League Meet

By PETER DELGRECO

At the end of the regular season, the Winchester High School Boys' Cross Country team finished with a 3-6 record.

But the boys could look forward to a chance to run against the other teams at the League meet last week.

Well, the boys gained revenge on many of the teams they had lost close meets to during the year. The Harriers finished an outstanding third place in the League.

Pat Kennedy continues with his consistent great racing. He ran to fifth place in the league. There were over 80 runners in the race. Kennedy, a junior, has one more chance next year to improve upon his already superb placing.

Hugh Murray was three seconds behind Kennedy in the race. He took seventh place with a time of 13:09. Murray is a great all around athlete with a potential to run well against the top runners in the state.

Barry Sirchis continued his torrid pace in quest of the number one spot on the team. Sirchis placed 10th in the league with a time of 13:15. It was a remarkable accomplishment considering that Barry is a freshman in his first running season.

Joe Callahan ran a very respectable race and finished in 20th place with a time of 13:30.

Senior Mark Schwartzmann ran one of his best races of the season. He placed fifth on the team and 55th in the race with a time of 14:22.

Peter Quine and John Provenzano both ran times of 14:33 to finish sixth and seventh on the team.

John Wiseman and Richard "Duck" Rooney rounded out the varsity scoring with times under 15:20.

The freshmen, sophomores and juniors travelled to Franklin Park on Saturday to compete in the Coaches' Invitational Meet. Several racers turned in fine efforts.

In the freshman race, Sirchis had to settle for second place with a time of 11:02. A runner from Methuen was able to outlast Sirchis by seven seconds on the 2 mile course.

Competing in the sophomore race, and running at a very quick pace, was Murray. His 12th place finish did not surprise Cantillon, who has been working the promising sophomore hard.

Kennedy ran the junior-senior race and captured 24th place. Callahan crossed the end line in 17:37. His finish, 37 seconds behind Kennedy, was strong enough for 42nd place.

The varsity squad is competing as a team in the Eastern Mass. Tournament this Saturday. Racing starts at 9 a.m. at Franklin Park in Dorchester. Cantillon has said all along that the Harriers were "an improving team." He looks to Saturday as the peak of their improvement.

Freshman runner Barry Sirchis has been a pleasant surprise.

Sachem, Burlington Tilt Will Test Scoreboard

By RICHARD McSWEENEY

It could be a busy day Saturday for the Knowlton Stadium scoreboard.

When the 5-2 (5-1 in the league) Burlington Red Devils storm into Winchester Saturday it will be a match-up of possibly the two best offenses in the Middlesex League.

Behind sophomore quarterback Sean Maguire electrifying halfback Steve Strachan and a host of slick receivers, the Red Devils have more than enough firepower to score from just about anywhere, anytime.

Winchester was stopped for the first time offensively last week in their first loss to Watertown, but that was done with halfback Gary Errico sitting on the sidelines with a sprained ankle. It is still questionable whether he'll be ready for Saturday's match-up. But make no mistake, he'll be needed. The Sachems are going to have to put some points on the board.

"They have the best skill people we've seen all year," said Asst. Coach Dave Berman, who has scouted the Red Devils twice in wins over Wakefield and Reading. "They're a very confident team. They can break it open anytime they want to with Maguire and Strachan."

Plus Burlington is coming into the game as healthy as they've been all season. The "other" running back, Brian McSweeney, is back after missing a couple of games. The Red Devils third back, ohn Jay is no slouch either.

"The way he stepped in Saturday (for McSweeney) was no surprise," said Burlington Coach Bill O'Donnell. "He's scored five touchdowns. He's no stranger to the endzone."

As good as the running game is, Maguire is equally capable of throwing the ball. And in receivers Mike Sabatino and Chris Torto, Maguire does not have to hold anything back.

The Sachems, meanwhile, are entering the game in the worst physical shape they've been all season. Big sophomore tackle Tom Porell, with a bruised knee and halfback Bill Ferry, with a hip pointer are both questionable along with Errico.

But O'Donnell doesn't buy any of the Errico-won't-be-there-stuff. "He's as tough a football player as there is. I expect the Errico boy will be there," O'Donnell said.

Errico or no Errico, Sachem Coach Manny Marshall expects his team to improve dramatically from last week's 19-10 loss.

"If we have any kind of pride at all, and I know we do, it won't be hard to get up this week. Last week, I don't know, we were just flat. We played a good football team and had a poor showing," Marshall said.

A big boost for the Sachems has been the re-emergence of Steve Costello as a fine runner after an early season flu. The last three outings has seen the junior halfback perform the way he did in the pre-season when he opened a lot of eyes.

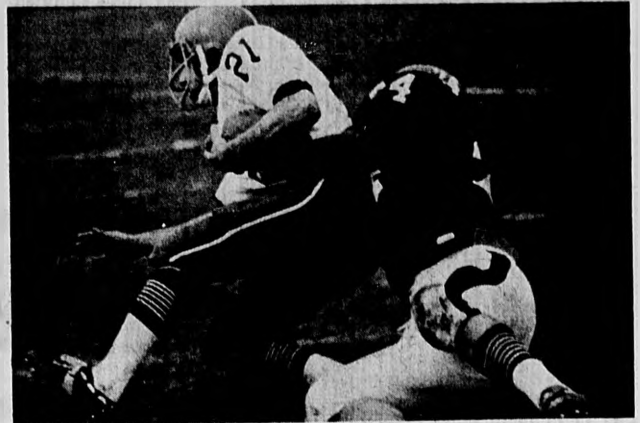

O'Donnell sees many similarities in the offenses of both squads. "They do a lot of the same stuff we do," O'Donnell said. "They run well wide but can go just as well inside. And the Lexington game proved when push comes to shove they can pass the ball. We've got to be prepared for a barnburner."

The contest will also go a long way to deciding the Middlesex League champion. Both teams have just one league loss, to put them a half game behind once-tied Woburn (who beat Burlington 22-21 after the Red Devils had jumped out to a 14-0 lead).

The Sachems have the better of the scheduling, however. Winchester travels to Reading to face the winless Rockets before the Thanksgiving Day re-enactment of WWII.

The Red Devils, meanwhile have to battle Watertown next week and then close with Lexington.

This week's tilt is what you call your bona fide Big Game.

It was a long afternoon for the Sachem gridders last Saturday as they went down to their first defeat of the season, a 19-10 loss at Watertown as their record dropped to 6-1 and they fell to second place in the Middlesex League behind Woburn. (Staff Photo by Noreen Murphy)

But this year everyone is healthy so far and Scanlon is confident that history will not repeat itself.

"Sure the players will be nervous. In a single-elimination tournament if you make just a couple of mistakes you're gone. But it's going to take a better team to beat us. We're not going to make the mistakes to beat ourselves and I don't think there is a better team. But we'll see," Scanlon said.

If there is not a better team anywhere don't be surprised. Just a casual observation of the Sachemettes in action reveals their mastery of all phases of the game.

With Ann Porell (27 goals, 12 assists), Kim Donlon (19.9) and Andrea deMars (12.16) lodged in three of the top four scoring spots in the league, offense has certainly not been a problem.

Defensively one just has to quickly peruse the shots on goal. The Sachemettes were never outshot at any time during the season. And the fullbacks play deeper in the offensive zone than most. They're strong.

And in goal, McCarthy has been as good as expected as has back-up Julie Sullivan. When both were out of action early in the season, freshman Amy Peluso came on and the beat never stopped.

"We feel the best defense is a good offense," said Scanlon. "Once in awhile they will get a breakaway when they can get it over the defense. But we'd much rather get beat that way than wait for the dam to burst. We like to pummel them and just break down the defense."

And Scanlon is perfectly suited to lead this club. If the team is confident of its ability he certainly deserves a lot of the credit for making them that way.

"We feel no matter who we play we can beat them," he says simply and nobody in the Middlesex League has been able to prove otherwise.

Now it's on to the rest of the state and I wouldn't advise betting the new house against the Sachemettes.

"This is unnecessary," Bouley said, referring to the week lay-off. "We should have had our schedule readjusted - we had several weeks where we played three games a week."

Bouley is not letting his team just sit around, however. The Sachems will be hard at work practicing all week.

"We'll keep practicing, of course. Still it's not the same. I don't like to sit around. I hope to arrange a scrimmage for Thursday," said Bouley.

Last Wednesday the Sachems whipped Melrose, 7-1. The game was as easy as predicted for Winchester.

The Sachems dominated the entire game, scoring several goals a quarter with the exception of third quarter. They gave up the one goal to Melrose late in the fourth quarter.

The Sachems scored the first three goals almost immediately, not giving Melrose time to think about what happened.

Paul Williamson scored the first goal on a pass from Steven Driscoll right in front of the net. Minutes later, Scott Bowen received the ball in the right wing from Neil Frink. Bowen took the ball straight through Melrose defense and scored on any shot.

Jimmy Fallon scored the last goal of the quarter unassisted. He dribbled the ball down the middle of the field and booted the ball past the goalie into the far corner of the net.

The second quarter started off with a goal by Driscoll. A penalty was called against Melrose and Winchester was awarded a direct kick on goal.

The shot was taken by Michael Grassi, but the ball didn't go in. Eric Paskerian received the ball, however, and passed it to Driscoll waiting by the left corner of the net. He shot and scored.

On the next play, Williamson charged the Melrose goal and shot again, but the goalie caught the ball. David Suvak received the ball immediately afterwards and passed to Fallon, who booted the ball into the net, scoring his second goal of the game.

The final goal of the game was scored by Bruce Houllahan on a pass from Michael Driscoll. Houllahan received the ball in the middle of the field in front of a fairly open net. He dribbled the ball close to the net and booted it straight in.

The game ended with a second Melrose player being thrown out of the game for poor sportsmanship on the field.

The Woburn game was another easy win for Winchester.

"We were not worried about Woburn - although we had the upset of last year to think about," commented Bouley, referring to Woburn's surprising win over Winchester last year.

Moving

This year, however, Winchester dominated the field in their last Woburn-Winchester game and came away with a 4-1 win.

Winchester scored their first three goals in the beginning of the first quarter. Williamson scored on a short pass from Suvak two minutes after the game started.

Lowenstein scored the second goal, with the assist again from Suvak.

Towards the middle of the quarter,

Sachem forward and leading scorer in the Middlesex League, Paul Williamson (number 8), moves ahead in last week's action. (Staff Photo By Noreen Murphy)

Williamson charged again, scoring on a pass from Suvak.

Winchester continued to dominate the field, only giving up one goal to Woburn in the second quarter.

In the end of the fourth quarter, Williamson scored his third goal, giving him a hat trick. The goal was scored after a corner kick taken by Fallon. The Woburn goalie tipped up the ball, but Suvak regained control of it and passed to Williamson who headed it into the goal.

If the Sachems continue playing as strong as they finished the season, they're sure to do well in the States.

Scanlon said. "But there was no doubt (about the outcome), for sure."

So now it's on to the Eastern Mass. sectional tournament which begins Nov. 10 and 11 at the home fields of the higher seeds. Scanlon, who is a member of the seeding committee that is scheduled to announce the pairings Saturday, said he expects the full 16-team contingent to make the play-offs.

The quarterfinals will be held Saturday at Curry, Harvard and Dean Junior College fields. The semi-finals are set for Nov. 18 at MIT and Babson and the finals (probably at Boston University) on Nov. 22.

As impressive as the booters have been in Middlesex League competition, they have run into hard times in the play-offs. They have yet to advance past the quarterfinals the past two years. Wellesley stopped the Sachettes, 2-1 two years ago in a superb game and last year the Sachettes were eliminated by Needham, also by a one goal margin. But last year the Sachettes were missing goalie Kate McCarthy and forward Christine Driscoll.

This year Scanlon is confident it will be different.

"We're in real good shape as far as I can see," Scanlon said of the injury report. "We've lost the last two years in a row and we're going to use it this year to motivate us."

Offensively, the trio of Porell, deMars (12 goals, 16 assists) and Donlon finished in three of the top four slots in the league. But just as important to Scanlon, 16 players notched points.

"That's pretty good," Scanlon said. "A lot of teams don't even carry 16 players."

And defensively Prudy Horne led a group of fullbacks that played superbly all season. And in goal, McCarthy, Julie Sullivan and freshman Amy Peluso all performed efficiently, even if they weren't tested nearly as much as some of the more heralded goalies in the league.

This Week's Sports

FOOTBALL - The gridders host Burlington in a 1:30 contest as they try to get back on the winning track.

SWIMMING - The swimmers travel to Medford High School Friday and Saturday for the Northeast Sectional Championships. The swimming events get under way Friday afternoon at 4. The diving events start Saturday at 9 a.m. and the finals in all events will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday.

SOCCER - The boys' and girls' soccer teams kick off tournament play, probably Monday at 2 p.m., depending on what the seeding committees decide Saturday. Both Winchester teams figure to open at home in the preliminary rounds because of their high records.

CROSS COUNTRY - The harriers head to Franklin Park in Dorchester for the Eastern Mass. sectionals Saturday.

Winchester High School girls basketball coach Donna Tanner showed she can match the best of the kids in Halloween finery last Friday.

Halloween 1980

The trick-or-treating was hot and heavy throughout the town Friday night. While bands of ghouls, monsters and assorted characters roamed the streets in search of goodies, others headed for the Jaycees Haunted House (below).

Jim and Rose Reardon (in rear) got into the Halloween spirit with a group of ghouls last Friday night.

Mrs. Woodward Honored On Her Retirement

Twenty ladies gathered for a luncheon at the Woman's City Club recently to honor Mrs. Philip Woodward (Sally) of Winchester on her retirement from the board of Doric Dames.

Polly Logan of Hingham read an ode she had written for the occasion. Mrs. Stuart Hall, Executive Vice-President of Doric Dames presented a gift to Mrs. Woodward.

She has been on the board of Doric Dames since it was founded in 1969 by Jesse Sargent to provide Volunteer guides to give guided tours of the State House to the public.

Those participating included: Mrs. Daniel Nugent of Wellesley, Mrs. Guy Nichols, Needham, Mrs. Roland Brassard, Mrs. Leonard Johnson, Mrs. Charles Pearce, all of Hingham, Mrs. Ralph Davis, Temple, N.H., Mrs. Robert Wills and Mrs. Paul Plakias of Westwood, Mrs. Dominic Mele, Mrs. John Haverly, Mrs. Philip Paquet and Mrs. Essie Scott, all of Boston, Mrs. Duncan Harris, Brookline, Mrs. James Fannin, Concord, Mrs. Philip Morin, Marshfield, Mrs. Edward Britt, Medfield and Miss Susan Pond of Winchester.

Ambrose Fifth Graders Sponsor Disney Film

On Friday, Nov. 14, at 7 p.m., the fifth grade class of Ambrose School will present Walt Disney's The Incredible Journey at the Lincoln School auditorium.

Tickets will be sold at the door for $1. Proceeds from this film will help finance the bus transportation to a camp where the class will spend four days in May.

DPW Meeting

This morning at 10 at the Arlington State DPW district office on Appleton st. state transportation and DPW officials, including Barry Locke and Dean Amidon, will meet with area officials and DPW personnel.

The meeting is one of several being held in districts around the state to allow state officials to learn about local transportation issues and concerns.

Players

The production of "Never Too Late" at the Unitarian Church will be offered November 7th, 8th, 14th and 15th. Appearing in the play will be: (Back row), Martha Foster, of Woburn; Shirley Puffer, Bill Mahoney, Arlington; and Jack Guilderson; (Front row), Lee Bouton; Dick Wilcox; Felecia Hall; Bob Storer, Director; and Karen Barton. Missing were Nancy Summers and Ken Astill. (Photo by Noreen Murphy)

Senior News

The Winchester Seniors Association is giving a reception Sunday, Nov. 9, from 12 to 2 p.m. for people who have reached the age of 60.

All are invited to the Jenks Senior Center to meet the officers of the Council on Aging and the Winchester Seniors Association. There will be an opportunity to hear about the functions of both groups. Refreshments will be served.

Call 729-2111, the Jenks Senior Center, to say that you will be attending the reception. You will find that members are energetic, enthusiastic, and eager to welcome new members. A varied program provides for varying interests.

Republican Women To Meet

The Winchester Woman's Republican Club will hold its Annual Meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 12 in the Winchester Country Club. The meeting will start promptly at 11:15 a.m., conducted by the President, Mrs. Charles Perenick, followed by social hour and luncheon.

The guest at the luncheon will be Marion Boch, Vice-chairman, Massachusetts Republican State Committee, who will speak on "Election Highlights."

For reservations call Mrs. Perenick, 729-0163.

Putnam To Speak In Symmes

On Saturday, Nov. 15 at 8 p.m., the Winchester Ecumenical Association will sponsor an open meeting on the subject, "A Matter of Life and Death."

The meeting will be held in the Symmes Room of the Unitarian Church at 478 Main st. (corner of Mystic Valley Parkway). Featured guest will be author and lecturer Dr. Peter Brock Putnam of Princeton, speaking on the subject of questions of personal worth and the special terrors of drifting and dead end feelings.

Dr. Putnam is a college lecturer who has written extensively of the kind of self-inflicted injury that in his own case resulted in blindness.

The Ecumenical Association is gathering support for this occasion at the Unitarian Church. Rev. Charles Reinhardt will introduce Putnam and colleague Rev. James Haddad of St. Eulalia's church, who will moderate the discussion among invited panelists and the audience.

Driving Tips

Fearing that last winter's unusually mild weather in many areas may have lulled Winchester's motorists into a false sense of security about what can be ahead this year, Chief of Police John McHugh issued early season warnings to unprepared motorists who could become hopelessly stuck or skid into accidents.

According to the Chief and the International Association of Chiefs of Police, it's every driver's responsibility to be aware of the type of driving conditions he will encounter throughout the winter and to equip his car to protect his passengers and other drivers, as well as himself.

He referred to tests conducted for many years by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards which have shown that the tires or traction aids used on your car are of vital importance under winter's snow and ice conditions.

VA LOAN LIBERALIZED

Thanks to the latest Veteran's Housing Law, the GI loan has become an even more useful and versatile source of home financing. One of the biggest breaks is that veterans can now renew their guarantee entitlement — in other words, buy another home with the VA's aid if the veteran paid up his first GI home and sold his home or sells to another GI who takes over the loan using his own entitlement.

Prior to 1975, the guarantee limit was either 60 percent of the loan or $12,500. This guarantee has now been raised to 60 percent of the veteran's loan or $25,000, whichever is less.

Other favorable terms are no minimum down payment at some banks, no top mortgage and the mortgage can run up to 30 years. For the vet, this adds up to low move-in cash and, thanks to the long payoff, lower monthly payments.

Big Bigger BIGGEST

Why not? Have your ad set in larger, darker, bolder attention-getting type! Yes, it does cost a little more. You can save a few little cents on your ad and lose many big dollars in sales. Now that really isn't economy, is it? It is especially important to have a big, attractive ad if the items you are selling are perishable or have a short season. Call us at 643-7800 to place your CPI Classified ad. Remember, one places your ad in all three of our publications.

THEATRE FOR CHILDREN

Colorful costumes and delightful scenery adorn the stage as Boston Children's Theatre presents the Pied Piper of Hamelin. Taking place at New England Life Hall, all performances are at 2 p.m. The scheduled performance dates are as follows: Nov. 1, 2 and 8.

Music and laughter are interwoven throughout this classic tale, the "Pied Piper of Hamelin". The Boston Children's Theatre adaptation of the "Pied Piper" is directed by George Roland. Set designs are by Kim Sammis, costumes by Ida Redfield, lighting by George Giglio and make-up by Paula Sutor.

Youngsters chosen from the theatre's own creative drama classes are the cast who offer a professional performance of this old-time favorite. David Lerman of Newton is playing the role of the Pied Piper. Other cast members include Adam and Rachel Thorburn, Jennifer Lerman, Val Holmes and Ariel Tallock. Jennifer Revas, Toni Senecal, Adam Shershow, David Mittel and Phil Senecal of Brookline; Danny Parker of Lynnfield; Kirsten Getz of Quincy; Elisa Erali of Jamaica Plain, Michael Daly of West Roxbury; Adam Dugas of Weston; Stephanie Seery of Needham; Anne Marie Heir of Brighton; Judy Diamond of Belmont and Paul Tulipano of Watertown. State Manager and assistants are in order listed, Michelle Keenan of Stoughton, Jennifer Scanga of Dedham, and Jon Lerman of Newton.

Group rates are available to temples, churches, scouts, PTA organizations, clubs, birthday parties, etc. For information and reservations, write or call the Boston Children's Theatre, 124 Holland Road, Brookline, 02146; 277-3277.

Players Open With ‘Never Too Late’

The Winchester Players announce the first play of their 1980-1981 season: NEVER TOO LATE by Sumner A. Long, directed by Robert A. Storer. This play is a comedy which centers around a middle-aged couple who receive an unexpected visit from the stork. The plot unfolds as the audience watches how this unplanned arrival significantly alters the lives of four closely related people.

The cast includes Dick Wilcox, Felicia Hall, Karen and Lee Barton in major roles with Nancy Summers, Ken Astill, Jack Guilderson, Bill Mahoney and Larry Smith in supporting roles.

The director, Robert Storer and the production staff, headed by Alice Gross, promise an entertaining evening for the entire family.

Dick Wilcox, who has been a resident of Winchester since 1934, is cast as Harry Lambert, the bewildered and reluctant father-to-be. Dick's first part with the players came in 1960 in the play LIFE WITH FATHER, also directed by Robert Storer. Wilcox has had many leads in some thirty plays, his most memorable being: THE CRUCIBLE, THE FANTASTICS, TIGHT LITTLE ISLAND, TWELVE ANGRY MEN THE POTTING SHED and INHERIT THE WIND. Felicia Hall who is cast as Edna, the excited expectant mother, has most recently been seen in Winchester productions of INVITATION TO A MARCH and Neil Simons SIX ROOMS RIV VU.

Karen and Lee Barton, real-life husband and wife, play daughter and son-in-law, Kate and Charley, whose lives are drastically changed by the new addition. They met during a production of the MIT Community Players. They have appeared together in the past in: WHO'S AFRAID OF VIRGINIA WOOLF and HAMLET and have had varied experience in musicals and back stage crew work. Karen was last seen as Marian in the Winchester Players' production, THE HEIRESS.

Jack Guilderson, Ken Astill, Nancy Summers, Bill Mahoney and Larry Smith cast in supporting roles have also played major parts in past productions. Shirley Puffer, who gave a moving performance of the Mother in THE GLASS MENAGERIE, is the stage manager.

For further information, tickets, or reserved seating, contact Cathy Alexander at 729-0224.

This year, the Players are offering season tickets. THE RAINMAKER is scheduled in March and HAY FEVER will be presented in May. General admission is $3.50. Senior Citizen and students tickets are $2.50. Season tickets for all three productions are $10 and $7 for students and senior citizens.

Robert Storer Directs ‘Never Too Late’

The director of the Unitarian Church production of "Never Too Late" next month is no rookie and no stranger. Robert A. Storer, minister emeritus of the Unitarian Church, has been a self-admitted "ham" since the day he choreographed his first temper tantrum as a child.

Storer's theatrical career preceeded, paralleled and has followed his active ministerial career. As a youth, he played parts in school and church productions. His first professional experience was with the Keith Albee Stock Company in Boston where he played juvenile roles at the old St. James Theatre.

From there he went on to act with the Lutteringer Players in Wollaston and Waltham and Freeport, New York. After two seasons with the Wright Players in Michigan and Hamilton, Ontario, and with the Broadway Players in Ashville, North Carolina, Storer played a season on the road with "The American Tragedy." Storer went on to study at the University of Chicago where, for four years in the early 1930's, he directed the University Blackfriar Show, similar to Hasty Pudding at Harvard.

In 1937, he was ordained for the ministry. At the time, his mother was asked how she felt about Robert leaving the theater for the ministry. Her answer: "Who said he had?" It is true that during his ministry Bob directed young people in church dramatics. He has been directing the Unitarian Players since 1951 when he revived the group.

Since his retirement from the active ministry, he has directed the Arlington Friends of the Drama and the San Antonio Little Theater in Texas. His first love, however, has been the Winchester Players, which he feels is a serious group who enjoy each other, work together and produce plays they are proud of. Storer believes that community theater is the answer to the unreasonably high prices of Boston legitimate theater. Robert Storer directed "Never Too Late" this past summer in Texas.

Frosh Girls' Soccer Team Finish Unbeaten

The first girls' freshmen soccer team ever at Winchester High School concluded their season last week with a 6-0 record. The team coached by Pamela Rufo, played two teams from Lexington and one from Burlington. They played each team twice.

Although there were enough girls for three teams, Rufo insisted that everyone play at least one quarter.

In six games, the freshmen had only two goals scored against them, while they scored 34 goals.

The girls had the team spirit and the determination to be the best in their league. They often would say to one another, "Go for it." They had what it took to go undefeated, and they did.

"This was an outstanding group of girls with tremendous determination and drive. They made my first year of coaching a real pleasure. Special thanks to three terrific captains: Paula Ricciardi, Liz Rowley and Karen Serieka. Their leadership and guidance were outstanding," Rufo said.

Rotondi Officer

John V. Rotondi, son of Roger H. and Jean V. Rotondi of 78 Westland ave. is participating in the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) program at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

He is a 1980 graduate of Swampscott High School.

Music Not For Cruising

By MARY CRESSE

Dressed in soft cloth shoes clasped at mid-ankle, white tights underneath shockingly striped balloon knickerbockers, a cloth shirt gathered at the waist by a scratchy leather strap, the man with the yellow duck feather falling out of his scarlet velvet cap greeted the forty-five members of the WHS Humanities class as they entered Durgin Hall, University of Lowell, for a performance of Renaissance music.

Who was this 20th century clone of William Shakespeare who directed us to the small theater at the end of the hall?

After murmurings of "Ummm, Ms. Austin, are you sure we're in the right place?" we found ourselves acquainted with a man who obviously loves his job as Musical Director, Professor Robert A. White, (a resident of Winchester).

After being given a short summary of the play, a story of a wedding party, we were instructed to sit back and relax. To Renaissance music. Ahem.

Yes, being 17 years old, I must admit that the doors and the kinks do take precedence over the Artis Musica of the 1400's. I'm not, and I think I can safely say my peers are not in the habit of switching on the Marantz four-speaker and tuning in the phones to "Hearts Ease from Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet." Yes, I am well aware of these things.

Anyway, I sat back, and decided things weren't that bad. I was missing Latin and Math, which was a fairly nice deal, I thought, and I could try to "blow off" 7th.

So I closed my eyes, turned my thoughts to Christopher Atkins and the Blue Lagoon, and was presently interrupted by something. Something good. I liked what I was hearing. It was pretty, it flowed, it was pleasing. The show had begun, and I was soon caught up in the performance, where the bride and groom walked into to a fanfare and grand processional containing continuous pavans and almans. This was followed by light melodies, ballads, and songs of happiness. A good part of the appeal of this production was the personality the players invoked in their speaking parts as well as their songs, and the light (though occasionally suggestive) humor.

Next on the program was "Monophonic Songs of Love from the Medieval Era." (wait, what?). Well, for those of you unmusical people, a monophonic song is a single unaccompanied line of melody. Because it is performed alone, it gives a performer a chance to spotlight his talents.

In each set of music, I was to find, there would be a song from a composer from the most developed areas in the Renaissance period, France, Spain, Italy, Germany, and England.

From this music we entered into "Polyphonic Songs of Love." Though the latter phrase is self-explanatory, the former may confuse people. Polyphonic melodies are those which have two or more interwoven melodic lines, as in a canon or a fugue. This involved more group singing.

Next on the agenda was a series of music winding up the play. Within this different types of music were heard.

The buttoned, bangled, and brocaded band of costume performers put on a decent show. And as I looked at them, I realized a good number of them weren't much older than I am. If I can like Supertramp and Styx, I can manage to find a little room for the Renaissance vibes. Maybe its not "cruisin' music," but is something to take the time to listen to.

Obituaries

Herbert Mullen

Herbert Stanley (Babe) Mullen, 74, of 8 Park rd., died Nov. 2 in Winchester Hospital following a short illness.

Born in Winchester, he was a life-long town resident who was educated in Winchester schools. He served for 40 years as a special police officer for the town of Winchester and was also a former call fireman. He was Superintendent of Parks for 29 years, retiring in 1976. A member of the Winchester Rotary Club, he served the town for 41 years.

Survivors include his widow, Claire E. Hodgkins Mullen; a daughter, Mrs. Joseph (Irene) Cioni of Winchester; a son, Rev. H. Stanley Mullen Jr., Pastor of the Central Baptist Church in Tiverton, R.I.; a sister, Mrs. Ruth J. Meskill of Winchester and six grandchildren.

The funeral was Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Earl Robinson officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be made to the Minute Man Council of Boy Scouts of America in Stoneham or to the Heart Fund of Boston.

Jeannette Silvey

B. Jeannette Silvey died at home Oct. 26 following a brief illness.

She had been a resident of Winchester for the past eight years. She was a former resident of Medford for 55 years. She was born in Nova Scotia, Canada. She was a member of the Wesley United Methodist Church of Medford and a member of the Linnell Circle of the Church.

She is the wife of the late Ernest H. Silvey and is survived by her daughter Helen A. Smith of Winchester, a sister, Elsie Morrell of Winchester and two grandsons.

Services were held at the Beals-Geake Funeral Home, Medford on Oct. 29 with the Rev. Harry Soper of the Wesley United Methodist Church officiating. Burial was in Puritan Lawn Cemetery, Peabody.

EnKa Society Has Fall Luncheon

The fall luncheon meeting of the EnKa Society of Winchester was held on Oct. 28 at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church with Mrs. Henry R. Delaney, Jr. presiding.

The meeting stood in remembrance of Mrs. Paul Dunn who had been an active member of EnKa and has recently passed away.

The business meeting included reports from many chairmen, including Mrs. George Paccetti, Exchange Co Chairman who reported on the future of the shop.

Mrs. Robert Keefe, Civics Committee Chairman, reported that the Winchester Meals on Wheels Program was being included in her committee responsibilities and that they had voted to give financial aid so that the Meals on Wheels program could continue.

The 1981 Street Fair Chairmen are Mrs. Richard Pharo and Mrs. Roy A. Monsen, with Co-Chairmen Mrs. Martin O'Donnell and Mrs. Noel Thyson. Plans are underway for this annual project.

Mrs. William Everett, Finance

Chairman, recommended the following groups be recipients of gifts: The Winchester High School Drug Program, The Winchester Historical Association, The Winchester Police Department and the Auxiliary Police Department, The Winchester Fire Department and the Auxiliary Fire Department and Winchester Youth Hockey.

The afternoon concluded with the presentation of EnKa's Annual Fall Fashion Show, Mrs. Winthrop S. Knox, Jr., narrator. The following provisional members of EnKa modeled clothes from the EnKa Exchange: Mrs. Kenneth Binding, Mrs. Richard A. Clarke, Mrs. Lawrence De George, Mrs. William Fincke, Mrs. John Furey, Mrs. Aram Mouradian and Mrs. Robert White. Mrs. Winthrop Pearl was assistant to the models and Mrs. Sherman Saltmarsh accompanied on the piano.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Percy Hill and Mrs. Charles Stebbins, Co-Chairmen, and their committee.

Re-Use Committee Slates Meeting On Bartlett School

On Wednesday, Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. in the Selectmen's Office in Town Hall, the Alternative School Use Committee will meet with neighbors of the Bartlett (formerly Wyman) School.

The Committee, in charge of examining and recommending potential re-uses of Noonan, Parkhurst and Washington Schools as well as Sanborn House, has been extended by the Selectmen to include the Wyman School and has invited interested residents to participate in an open discussion about the future of the Wyman property.

All residents, especially those in the immediate area surrounding the Wyman School, are urged to attend this meeting.

On Wednesday, Nov. 12, the following institutions will be represented: Agnes Scott College (Georgia), Bard College (New York), Boston College, Boston University, Bridgewater State College, Central New England College, Georgetown University School of Nursing (Washington, D.C.), Hartwick College (New York), Lawrence Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Maiden Hospital School of Nursing, University of Miami (Florida), Moore College of Art (Pennsylvania), New England College (New Hampshire), North Bennet Industrial School, Trinity College (Vermont), Tufts University and Wentworth Institute.

On Wednesday, Nov. 19, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend: Fisher Junior College, Maharishi International Academy (Iowa) and United States Army Reserves.

Local Garden Club Holds Meeting

The Winchester Home and Garden Club opened its fall season recently with a meeting at the Crawford Methodist Church.

Mrs. Lucile Grassi provided the tea table with a fall flower arrangement. The program was presented by two members of the Museum of Fine Arts.

The slide and lecture presentation by Mrs. Peter Brooke and Mrs. William Haskins of Concord reviewed the popular Arts in Bloom Festival which was seen at the Museum last May. Floral arrangements were coordinated with paintings and other art objects on display.

The Club has recently been involved with a beautification program for the Winchester Public Library. Many new evergreens are giving the entrance walk of the Library a new "spruced up" look.

The December Green Sale with luncheon and boutique will be held the first week in December.

Drive Success

Marcia Saltmarsh and Neil Harte, Co-Chairmen of the 'Fund Winchester's Future Committee', announced recently that the committee has accomplished its goal of raising $16,600.

The money will be used to employ a community development planner for Winchester. Working with the guidance of the Chamber of Commerce, 'Fund Winchester's Future' is the result of a proposal made at last May's Town Meeting.

At that time, it was agreed that ten years of study was enough and that positive business revitalization would come about only through the efforts of a professional coordinator. In the proposal, it was suggested that the business community and citizens at large should participate with the town on a matching funds basis to finance the project. The Winchester Chamber of Commerce established the 'Fund Winchester's Future Committee', drawing on members from a broad cross section of the town and representing a variety of interests.

Rotondi To Sit On Faculty Of Citizens' Seminar

Sam Rotondi, Winchester's State Senator, has been appointed by the State Legislative Education Office to the "faculty" of the Ninth Citizen's Legislative Seminar.

Introduced in 1976, CLS provides an instructional setting for dialogue between citizens and legislators. This is the fourth time Rotondi has been a participant.

Forty Massachusetts citizens from labor, business, education, citizens' groups, the arts, and media will attend sessions once a week for five weeks beginning Oct. 30 at the State House.

Rotondi expressed his enthusiasm for the Citizen Seminars saying that, "good government can only be achieved when citizens understand the mechanics of effecting change and the CLS program teaches interested citizens how to best channel that interest into the legislative process."

Senator Rotondi will make a formal presentation on two of the seminar topics which include a wide spectrum of legislative and budgetary processes. He will also take part in the informal sessions. He has served as Chairman of the Public Service Committee and Vice Chairman of the Taxation Committee.

Red Cross C.P.R. Volunteer instructor David Thompson will be conducting the class Thursday, Nov. 13, Tuesday, Nov. 18 and Thursday, Nov. 20 from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Red Cross offices.

A formal reception and official presentation is planned for the many contributors on Thursday Nov. 13, which will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall from 6 till 8 p.m.

Also invited to the reception are Congressman Edward Markey, Representative "Whip" Saltmarsh, Senator Sam Rotondi, Secretary of Massachusetts Office of Communities and Development, Byron Matthews, and Secretary of Massachusetts Department of Commerce, James Carlin. A brief presentation ceremony is planned for 7:00 P.M. Expenses for the reception have been privately donated.

According to Saltmarsh and Harte, response to the fund came from all segments of the community showing a broadbased concern for Winchester and its economic revitalization. Both large and small businesses contributed. Especially notable however was the strong support and response from the Ecumenical Council of Churches and private citizens. According to the committee, it was truly a "community" effort.

The five month fundraising program was spearheaded by Marcia Saltmarsh, the Saltmarsh Agency; Neil Harte, CPA; R.J. Ted Allen, Allen & Elektra Realty; Clarence Borggaard; William Caci, Winchester Realty; Carolyn Gunby; Kenneth Henderson, Henderson Stationers; Daniel LaGatta, Geotechnical Engineers; Lawrence Murray, Murray & Quill; Robert Nickerson, Winchester Savings Bank; Salvador Porras; Dr. Richard Stiles, Jr.; Robert Zirkel, Bay Bank Winchester Trust, and Rita Spence, Winchester Chamber of Commerce, and the Rev. John Bishop.

Belmont School Slates Open House Nov. 18

Belmont Day School's Open House event will this year be held on Nov. 18 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and in the evening from 7 to 9.

Belmont Day School, founded in 1927, is a small coeducational elementary school with four-year-olds through sixth graders. The Open House is an opportunity for parents who are interested in learning about the local school to visit either during the day when school is in session or in the evening when faculty will be available to talk with visitors.

Director of Admissions Jan Stewart plans on having a number of Day School parents available to give tours of the facility during the Open House and chat with visitors about the school.

A continuous slide presentation will show many aspects of the school's program as well as its special activities.

Parents Talk Curriculum

The new director for curriculum development in Winchester public schools, David Ackerman, spoke on trends in school and community relations at the general meeting of the Mystic School parents and staff Oct. 22 at 8 p.m.

Following an hour-long period in which parents had the opportunity to visit their children's classrooms (where teachers and their assistants explained their in-class programs for reading, writing, mathematics, science and art), Ackerman talked about the current level of hostile criticism in the country of teachers by the media, legislators, and community members, including some parents.

In the course of addressing this subject, he examined the role of the school in the community and the role of special interest groups in community decision making.

During a question and answer period which followed the talk, Ackerman fielded a variety of questions from the audience concerning subjects such as closer communication between teachers and parents, the evaluation of the quality of education in the schools, measuring the effectiveness of school curriculum materials, improving student learning skills, how teachers develop professional credentials, the level of community support for the town schools and relationship between educational programs and the local tax structure that funds them.

Ackerman suggested that there has been too much "stridency" and exaggeration from those criticizing the nation's school systems in recent years, and he implied that there should be more of a dialogue between educators and non-educators.

He said that criticism needn't always be negative and that mutual respect is essential.

He pointed out that the numbers of students in classrooms have increased, and yet, Ackerman said, "...most teachers are doing a good job" of getting information across to students. He added that most students (nationally and in Winchester) show scholastic improvement as they progress through the grades.

"The job of the schools," Ackerman said, "is to inform students and train them how to think." As to the challenge of how to generate an enthusiastic love of knowledge, he suggested that the home and the community have a share in communicating a respect for knowledge and culture to young people.

"The schools cannot solve a community's problems," Ackerman said. He said that moral and spiritual values must be formed in the home and reinforced by such community institutions as the churches and people of good character in the local governments. He suggested that these areas could stand strengthening.

As for the role of special interest groups, particularly those advocating special needs programs for the gifted children or for the children with learning difficulties, Ackerman said that the integrity of school programs should be based on the needs of all children and that the average achievement-level child should not be neglected in a rush to over-emphasize the legitimate needs of the "special" child.

During the question and answer period following the talk, one parent suggested that the parent-teachers association approach to community-school dialog might be reinstated to increase the occasion and kind of discussion between parents and educators.

When asked to suggest a way to measure the effectiveness of the schools in educating children, Ackerman said that the follow-up questionnaire of graduates as they pursue higher learning and careers could be one approach.

In order to determine the quality of curriculum materials, Ackerman said that the classroom materials must be capable of challenging the child, including the gifted achiever. He noted that innovations in teaching methods are found provided they are first examined, tested and evaluated. At this point one member of the audience noted that she considered the library resources of the town's private schools to be superior to those of the public schools.

Ackerman encouraged parents to take an active interest in what their children are studying and to talk with their children about what they are learning and to let the children sense an enthusiasm about their studies from their parents. "Basic skills," Ackerman said, "can be made interesting."

The Mystic School teachers, it was pointed out, have the opportunity for professional improvement through workshops at Lesley College, where they are studying economics and the Middle East.

Ackerman suggested that a willingness to maintain quality educational programs through the local taxes can be a measure of a community's consensus on the value of educating their young people

Hospital Lecture On Adults Continues

Selectman Welch Is Town Dogs' Best Friend

By RICHARD McSWEENEY

It is an interest group possibly unparalleled across the country and here in Winchester they have rabid support in the highest echelons of local government.

Yes, dogs in Winchester have the solid backing of none other than Selectman Chairman Wade Welch.

The chairman's undying devotion to the Canine Lobby was unknown until last week's Town Meeting when he came to the forefront in opposition to a pair of warrant articles aimed at forcing restrictions on dogs and their owners.

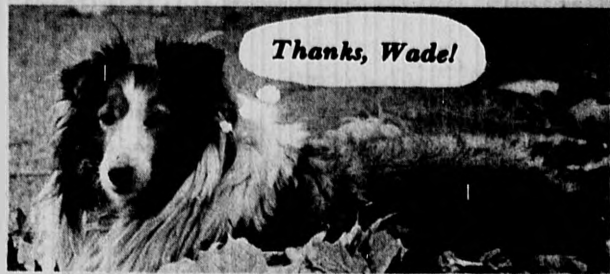

How much it helped the dogs' cause to have Welch in their corner is hard to gauge at this point.

One motion (both were submitted by Vincent Carroll), the notorious "Pooper Scooper" was resoundingly defeated after Welch asked Town Meeting members, "what do you do after dark?"

But Carroll's other motion, requesting that fines for leash law violators be increased by $5 for each violation was passed over Welch's impassioned plea for understanding.

After hearing the motion read by Town Moderator John Sullivan,

Medical Building Proposal Draws Town Meeting Approval

By STEVEN AUSTIN

Over the "violent objections" of Cross street residents, Town Meeting Monday approved a rezoning request which would allow John Lane to construct a $1.5 million medical building on a site formerly occupied by the Boston Gas Company.

The proposal was initially defeated by Town Meeting members Nov. 3. The motion to reconsider the zoning change, which would have rezoned a small strip just in front of the 3 acre site from residential to light industrial use and allow Lane to construct an entrance to the property, had 101 favoring and 39 opposing. The reconsideration motion required a two-thirds Town Meeting vote.

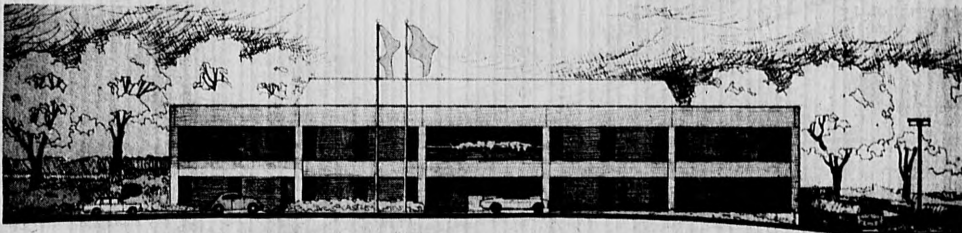

The vote to approve the zoning change was 102 favoring and 39 opposing.

Town Meeting member Harrison Chadwick said he brought the proposal, Article 9 on the warrant, up for reconsideration because he felt there were a number of unanswered questions concerning the plan.

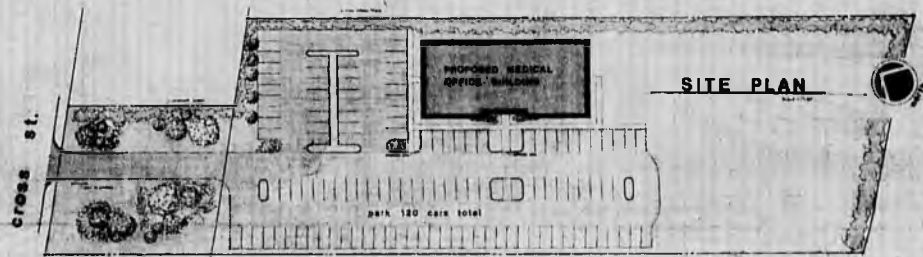

Saying he thought the facility would be "an asset to the whole town," Chadwick told Town Meeting members he did not want the proposal to "join the long list of missed opportunities."

The proposal had drawn support from the Planning Board, the Finance Committee and a majority of the Board of Selectmen.

Lane currently has an option to buy the property from the utility. He proposes a 20,000 sq. ft. building and has,

at the request of the Planning Board, increased planned parking on the site to one space per 150 sq. ft. of building.

Lane has also signed a covenant which restricts the uses of the site and eliminates what his attorney, Harold DuLong, has labeled the "most obnoxious" uses.

However, residents of the Cross street area held firm in their objections to the project. They cited an increase in the traffic flow and the creation of another access Prop. 2 1/2 What Now?

Mini-Bus, Garbage Cuts Forecast

Mini-bus service and garbage collection might be eliminated in the wake of the passage of Proposition 2.5 last week.

With an expected shortfall of approximately $650,000 in the auto excise tax alone turning the current fiscal year, town officials are looking into areas which can be cut or eliminated to make up for the loss in revenue created by 2.5.

"We're going to have to make cuts," according to Selectmen Chairman Wade M. Welch. "The question is, where should they come?"

He pointed to both the mini-bus service and garbage collection as areas which might be cut, saying both areas had been "hot issues" during past Town Meetings.

"The longer you wait," Welch said, "the more cuts you must make."

Town Manager Tom Groux agreed with Welch's assessment of possible areas to be cut and said the town must decide either to "eat" the loss of revenue during the current fiscal year and make up shortfalls with surplus funds. However, such an approach would mean the town would suffer a corresponding loss in the level of surplus.

Barring that approach, the town could make what Groux termed "spending modifications," eliminating services like the mini-bus, leaving some vacancies unfilled and eliminating non-essential purchases.

Welch support advocated having Groux meet with department heads to come up with "a hit list as to what we can cut."

Groux agreed with that group approach and suggested that Selectmen, the Finance Committee and the School Committee meet with him to examine areas where cuts might be made.

"This would lay the groundwork for next year's reductions," Groux explained.

However, any cuts that are made would not come without consequences.

Schools Await Definite Figures

School officials are awaiting definite dollar figures before they begin looking at areas in the budget that must be cut because of the passage of Proposition 2.5.

School Committee member Sandra Rodgers said the first step in dealing with Prop. 2.5 would be to determine the immediate impact of the excise tax reduction.

"We don't have any specific figures in terms of what the reduction will be," Rodgers said. "It's been a week of let's wait and see what happens."

Because of the complexity of the referendum question, Rodgers said long range planning for reductions will be difficult. Instead, it will have to be done in stages, in a step by step process wherever possible.

And the excise tax reduction will be the first area because that will affect the 1980-81 school year budget. "It will be less substantial but it will be within our working budget. In the fiscal 1982 budget there will be larger impact in terms of reductions. We are going to feel it more in that budget," Rodgers said.

School officials estimated earlier this year that Prop. 2.5 will force the schools to reduce their $10 million budget by as much as $1.9 million.

Among the areas targeted for reductions include teachers' layoffs, administrative layoffs, elimination of specialist teachers and aides and elimination of intramural and extracurricular activities. Other possibilities include elimination of the entire athletic program or closing of more schools.

Rodgers maintained however, no determinations have been made yet,

"If we eliminate garbage collection and lay four guys off," Welch said, "that might not leave us with enough men to take care of ice and snow removal this winter."

Groux said the State Legislature might provide a form of relief by delaying the date when the auto excise tax is reduced from $66 per thousand to $25 per thousand until July 1 of next year or Jan. 1 of 1982.

There are other areas of concern. With revaluation just underway in Winchester, "we don't really know what the property levy loss will be," Groux said.

Welch concurred, saying the town will be in "a very difficult situation" next June since he doesn't expect revaluation to be complete at that time.

Town Meeting will examine possible courses of action in dealing with the effects of 2.5 tonight at 7:30 in the high school auditorium. That examination is covered under the warrant Article 36.

Cumberland Farms Case Robbery Suspect Arrested

A 32-year-old Arlington man charged in connection with the August robbery of a Winchester convenience store was arrested Monday by Brookline police after failing to appear in court to face armed robbery and receiving stolen property charges.

Patrick O'Connor, formerly of Arlington, was picked up on a Winchester warrant by the Brookline squad and is currently in custody in lieu of a $500 cash or $5,000 surety bond, according to Lt. Andrew Crawford of the Winchester Police Department.

O'Connor is charged in connection with the Aug. 8 robbery at the Cumberland Farms convenience store on Washington street. Crawford said O'Connor is wanted in a number of other towns and cities in the area, including Acton, on similar charges.

O'Connor, who was arrested by Winchester Police on the day of the robbery, had been scheduled to appear on Woburn District Court on Aug. 18 but failed to appear. Crawford said the suspect had turned himself in to the Veteran's Hospital in Bedford and after being released there, was arrested by the Brookline unit.

He was scheduled to appear again in the Woburn court Wednesday, Crawford said.

onto Cross street. Lane proposes to create a 40 ft. entrance to the building from Cross street.

Resident Peggy Schleider summed up the feeling of most residents in the area, citing the existence of an adjacent private way, Conant Road, and asked that Town Meeting respect "the wishes of the neighborhood. She said residents had not seen a copy of the covenant limiting uses at the site until Monday evening.

"We have been duped before by so-called local businessmen," Schleider told Town Meeting. Citing the Parkview Apartment complex as an example, she said residents had been told town houses would be built on that site. "What we got was a coliseum," she said.

Town Meeting members learned that a River street access, owned by the Lafayette Realty Company, could not be used as an access because Lane couldn't reach his property by this route.

Town Meeting learned last week, following a report a traffic study done at Lane's request by the traffic engineering firm of Vanasse and Hangen Associates of Boston, that traffic on Cross street would increase by nine percent on a daily basis, bringing the road to 45 percent of its capacity.

Town meeting member Mike Connelley also voiced opposition to the plan, saying he objected to "things being rammed down my throat."

SITE SECTION

The Erdman Company, a Connecticut based firm, will construct the facility.

Town Meeting members learned that Conant road, the access currently used to reach the skating rink, was a non-conforming use. Town Counsel Douglas Randall said that access had been created over privately owned residential property in the time before the state Supreme Court "said you couldn't do this."

One of the best ways to sight-see upon arrival at your destination is to rent a car. You can move at your own pace and take time to really see things. Here are a few tips. Work expenses out ahead of time to avoid problems later. Take turns driving and map reading. Perhaps you can work out a schedule whereby each person will drive for so many hours. Give each other a certain amount of time alone. Perhaps one person can go sightseeing while the other takes scuba lessons. Too much togetherness can be irritating as well.

Let the professionals at McGRATH TRAVEL SERVICE, 14 Eaton Ave., Woburn, 935-0600 handle your complete travel arrangements from booking your airline and hotel to arranging for a car rental. We specialize in planning trips to suit every budget requirement. Open: Mon. - Fri. 9-5, Sat. and evenings by appt.

TRAVEL TIP: When driving at a vacation destination, spend a little more on a hotel. You will want to be as comfortable as possible on your return each day.

Multicultural Head Resigns Suddenly

By RICHARD McSWEENEY
Multicultural Specialist Grace Yong Madsen, hired just two weeks ago, turned in her resignation to School Superintendent William MacDonald last week, effective immediately.
She is apparently being considered for another school job, MacDonald said.
The resignation letter said she, having been on the job for two weeks, found the work to be more administrative than she would have liked. She wrote that she preferred working more closely with children and faculty than what the position provided for.
MacDonald said he was a little mystified by the reason. "I talked with two of the people that interviewed her, David Ackerman and Lee Behnke, and they said based on the job description, very clearly she should have known exactly what the job was. She was going in with her eyes open."
MacDonald added that the Personnel Department of the Winchester school system had received inquiries from another school system about recommendations for Madsen.
Whether she got the job he did not know but said most towns "are quite ethical about stealing someone" from another system and were probably unaware that she was under contract with Winchester and instead thought she might have been part-time.

He did not identify the other town.
The position will be re-advertised again, MacDonald said, adding another committee will be formed from school and community representatives to interview the candidates.
But MacDonald did not totally rule out the possibility that the position could become a victim of Prop. 2.5. "With 2.5 I'm not sure we're going to have the money for any supportive positions. And that's too bad because I think we made great strides under Lee Behnke."
Madsen, an Arlington resident, could not be reached for comment.
Born in China, Madsen was educated in Japan and later attended graduate school at Boston College. She taught for two years at the now defunct Graham Junior College. More recently, she had worked in the Brookline school system as an English as a Second Language instructor and Multicultural Specialist.
The Winchester position paid a salary of $10,078 a year.

★ Dogs

Finance Committee Chairman Robert Frank stunned Welch by asking the fines be increased even more.

By doubling the fines from $10, $15 and $20 to $20, $30 and $40, there would probably be "stronger deterrent for violators of the leash law. Our only objection (to Carroll's proposed $5 increases) is that it does not go far enough," the Fin Com head barked out. He argued that it was "presently cheaper to leave the dog home for the weekend (outside). I think there should be incentives to do otherwise."

Welch leaped up, aghast. Sullivan, nodded in recognition, "And now, to represent the dog population, Mr. Welch."

"As an owner of dogs and lover of dogs, I rise in protest," Welch exclaimed, arguing that the increased fines would simply create a large enforcement problem and mounds of additional paperwork.

But, alas, nobody was biting for Welch's arguments. By voice vote (which effectively barred any dog input) the motion was passed into law.

But if that was the low point for the Canine Lobby, Welch and company quickly regrouped and squashed the "Pooper Scooper" article.

The article ordered that "no person who owns, possesses or controls such dog shall appear with such dog on any sidewalk, street, park or other public area without the means of removal of any feces left by such dog...For the purpose of this section, the means of removal shall be any tool, implement or other device carried for the purpose of picking up and containing such feces, unexposed to said person or the public. Disposal shall be accomplished by transporting such feces to a place suitable and regularly reserved for the disposal of human feces, specifically reserved for the disposal of canine feces, or as otherwise designated as appropriate by the Director of the Board of Health."

The article further explained that violation was punishable by $50 fine and that handicapped people were exempt from the law.

Even anti-dog spokesman Frank agreed with Welch that enforcement after the sun went down would be difficult at best.

Whatever, the efforts of the Canine Lobby to obtain the support of Welch seems to have worked out. Sure, the fines have been increased for leash law violators but yet another Carroll article asking for a part-time Dog Officer who would be paid on a commission basis by the number of violators he collars was unanimously defeated.

Thanks, Wade, Ruff, Ruff.

Parkhurst Fate Will Be Decided Tonight

The long-awaited disposition of the Parkhurst is expected to come at tonight's fourth and probably final session of Town Meeting.

As it was at Spring Town Meeting, the choices will boil down to a lease of the school to the private Bartlett School or a sale of the land for nine single-family house lots.

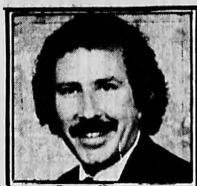

The Bartlett proposal calls for a five-year lease beginning Aug. 1, 1981 with rents increasing each year from $16,000 to $24,000. The school pays the town $12,000 a year now for use of the Wyman School.

The alternative is a proposal submitted to the Alternative School Use Committee for nine single-family house lots by the Taurasi Company. The firm, builders since 1948, offered $150,000 for the building and land.

The proposal calls for house lots to be sold at between $135,000-$150,000. Demolition of the building would be done by the company this winter with plans to re-use much of the Parkhurst materials.

Town Meeting

Town Meeting overwhelmingly voted to grant Continental Cablevision a license to put a receiving antenna near the Transfer Station.

Town Meeting also approved an amendment to the Zoning Bylaws to allow the antenna to be constructed in a school conservancy district, which is where the Transfer Station is located.

The town is expected to officially sign a deal with Continental that would give them a 10-year Cable TV lease on the 1200 square foot property with an option to rent for five additional years in the event the license is extended to the full 15 years.

Rent will be $2,400 a year at a rate of $200 per month. And in addition to the antenna the company will build an eight by eight foot shed for storing of equipment.

Continental will be responsible for all security and will have 24-hour access to the property through the Police Department.

Finance Committee Chairman Robert Frank estimated that the site would yield $1,000 a year in tax revenues for the town.

High School Repairs

Town Meeting voters appropriated an additional $62,290 from surplus funds to complete repairs on the Winchester High School roof.

The additional money was made necessary when the first firm chosen to do the work, TLT Construction, defaulted and the work was re-bid by the town.

When it was rebid the second lowest bidder, Wexler Construction, was chosen at a higher figure. The low bidder the second time around was the firm who had actually done the construction of the roof in the first place.

Washington School Condos

The Codman Company of Boston was the unanimous choice of Town Meeting voters last week to turn the Washington School into an 18-unit condominium complex.

The site was sold to the Boston firm, which was the choice of the Alternative School Use Committee and was supported by the Finance Committee and Selectmen, for $305,000.

The Washington School was one of three schools closed in town last June because of declining enrollment. The Noonan School was sold to a Westwood firm that is expected to turn that site into a government subsidized, elderly housing complex.

The fate of the final school, the Parkhurst, is expected to be decided by Town Meeting tonight. The choices have been narrowed to a group of single family house lots or a move by the private Bartlett School from its present location at the Wyman School to the Parkhurst.

Part-time Dog Officer

A motion submitted by Vincent Carroll that would have added the position of a part-time dog officer whose salary would be based on a percentage of fines collected, was unanimously defeated by Town Meeting.

Public Works Board

Town Moderator John Sullivan ruled out of order a motion by Vincent Carroll that would have amended the Charter to create an elected Public Works Board to supervise the functions of the Department of Public Works.

Sullivan said the motion was not submitted in time for the Government Regulations Committee to accurately gauge the affects of the charter change.

Personnel Board

A citizens' petition submitted by Vincent Carroll that would have abolished the Personnel Board was indefinitely postponed at last week's session.

Town Meeting Members listen during last week's session.

Town Employee Salary Listings

Town Meeting voters overwhelmingly defeated a citizens' petition by Vincent Carroll that would have the salaries of town employees listed in the annual Town Report.

Calling it "an overexposure of information," Frank said the information was easily available if anyone was interested at Town Hall.

Out-of-Town Water Rates

A citizens' petition by Carroll that would have raised the water rates for out-of-town users of Winchester water was defeated handily by Town Meeting voters.

Frank warned that the move would "invite retaliation" by other towns who allow Winchester residents to use their water system and in the end would not save the town any money because of that reason.

School Committee Designates

Town Meeting members voted two of three articles that will allow the School Committee to send designees in their place to represent the committee on other town boards.

Town Meeting agreed with School Committee spokesman Constance Papas that there is "a wealth of talented people in this town who are quite capable of communicating and willing to serve," on various town boards, at least in reference to two boards, the Capital Planning Committee and the Human Services Committee.

Town Meeting, however, voted to leave the bylaw alone that instructed the School Committee send a member from its group to meetings of the Committee for Equal Opportunity because of its involvement with school activities.

Papas said the School Committee was concerned with the rationale of having one of its members be in communication with those boards but asked Town Meeting to "appreciate the time constraints and burden of our office. I suggest to you it is too much," she added in reference to the number of meetings the committee is required to go to, particularly during the budget season.

Spring Town Meeting

Next spring's Town Meeting will start on the fourth Monday of April instead of the usual first Monday in May thanks to a vote of Town Meeting last week.

The change is expected to get the spring session over earlier in the year and received support of the Finance Committee and the Selectmen. Both groups, however, warned that money articles may have to be postponed until later in the meeting because of the time necessary to study the articles and make recommendations.

Energy Conservation Projects

A $4,000 appropriation from surplus funds was approved by Town Meeting that will be used to make energy conservation audits which will hopefully allow the town to be eligible for matching federal funds on local energy projects.

The Technical Energy Audit which is required by the government before matching funds can become available will cost approximately $16,000 but the town has $11,000 left over from a $23,000 appropriation from an earlier town meeting for the same purposes.

Food Workers Pact OK'd

The maternity leave provision equivalent to the state statute was also added to the contract.

The vacation policy was changed to give employees with five years service three weeks of vacation and employees with 10 years of service four weeks vacation. This change brings the vacation clause into line with most other town and school employees.

The contract was signed by the union (Local 1073, Council 93, AFSCME, AFL-CIO) and the School Committee Nov. 3.

The Town Meeting's vote last week provided funds for the first two years of the contract. The third year of the pact will go before the Spring Town Meeting for appropriation.

Depression Subject Of Hospital Talk

"Many people experience depression rather than elation during the holidays," according to Dr. Edward T. Heck, psychologist, "and they feel guilty because they are down."
Dr. Heck will discuss "Depression and Holiday Blues" on Wednesday, Nov. 19, at Winchester Hospital from 7:30 - 9 p.m. He will explain the natural relationship between the season and holiday times, and the effect this has on people.

Teen Coping Series Continues

Parents of teenagers listened to advice from Dr. Donald E. McLean, pediatrician, and Dr. Edward T. Heck, psychologist, Nov. 5 when Winchester Hospital presented the program "How Can I Cope With My Teenagers?" This was the first in a series for adults sponsored by the hospital.
Pat Skehan, community health education coordinator, read unsigned questions from the audience on a range of subjects involving the concerns and problems parents have with their teens.
Dr. McLean and Dr. Heck gave answers to parents based on their experience dealing with adolescents. Both stressed the point that family ground rules should be made during periods of calm, and enforced during periods of conflict.

Used Toys Asked

The Walter Fernald School in Waltham is in need of good used toys for its retarded residents. They would particularly like good used pre-school and Fisher-Price-type toys and nursery level books.
Winchester Jaycee Women will have a box at Woburn Plaza branch of the Winchester Savings Bank from Nov. 24 till Dec. 15, for donations.

Education Group Slates Plays For McCall Jr. High

The Winchester Education Association has announced the Children's Hour Touring Players will visit Winchester, with their production of "Rumpelstiltskin" and "Pinocchio" which met with great success.
Rumpelstiltskin and the Witch will be performed on Nov. 15 at 11:30 a.m. at the McCall Junior High School Auditorium. Tickets are $1.50 each and may be obtained in advance at the schools or on the day of the performance. Proceeds will benefit the W.E.A. Scholarship Fund given to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation. Organizing this performance is the W.E.A. Public Relations Committee.

the BOARD OF HEALTH CLINIC ROOM of the TOWN HALL, on the following matters:

(1) PETITION NO. 2588 - That of
BERNARD REALTY, INC. by JON HESLIN, GENERAL MANAGER
concerning the property at 200
SWANTON STREET, WIN-CHESTER, MA. (PARKVIEW APARTMENTS). The petitioner seeks a Special Permit in accordance with Section 8.5 of the Winchester Code of By-Laws so as to be permitted to erect a sign larger than permitted by the By-Law. The property is located within the RA (Multiple Family Residential) zoning district and contains 8,530 S.F.

(2) PETITION NO. 2589 - That of
JAMES A. JOHNSON III by LAWRENCE M. MURRAY, ESQ. concerning the property at 120
CROSS STREET, WINCHESTER,
MA. The petitioner seeks a Special
Permit in accordance with Section 3.45 and/or a Dimensional Variance from Section 6.1 of the Winchester Zoning By-Law so as to be permitted to erect a second floor addition to an existing non-conforming

Steven Austin: The Philosopher, The Architect And The Detail

In the dark, the screen looked silver and we sat in the middle row of seats, half-way down the room, and waited for the movie to stop.

The concession stand was a table to the right of the screen and in the last minute rush before the film started, a line of people made a snake that crawled beyond the front of the table and up the stairs toward the exit.

It was a student crowd, flannel-shirted and blue jeaned and their voices blended together to make a hum rather than distinct sentences. Most of them were majors in the sciences, engineering or architectural students.

One of the people I was with, himself an architectural student, looked around the hall and said, "We're not a very handsome bunch, are we?"

I looked around when he said that and found he was right. No one I saw could have been called "classically handsome."

My other friend, a philosopher of sorts, said, "Yes, but you have to remember, they're not concerned with the external. They're interested in other things."

The architect didn't seem satisfied with the explanation. He is a young man with shoulder-length sausage curls of blond hair. He is only faintly handsome but it is enough, in the environment in which he finds himself, to suffice.

"I don't know about that," he said, slipping his arms from the sleeves of his leather flight jacket. "They don't seem to give a damn about how they look."

Something between disgust and dismay edged his voice.

"They could at least dress a little better."

The philosopher looked at the architect. He was dressed in faded blue jeans, gone white and ragged at the knee. His shirt was torn just below the pocket.

"You're not exactly the Arrow shirt man," the philosopher said, hiding the words behind a smile.

The architect looked suddenly as if he wished the film would start.

"Besides," the philosopher said, "these kids aren't interested in being clothes dummies."

I watched the architect squirm.

"It's a matter of degrees anyway," the philosopher continued. "Your uniforms are basically the same. You possess a chicness that missed the others."

The architect turned to me for relief. I wasn't willing to provide any.

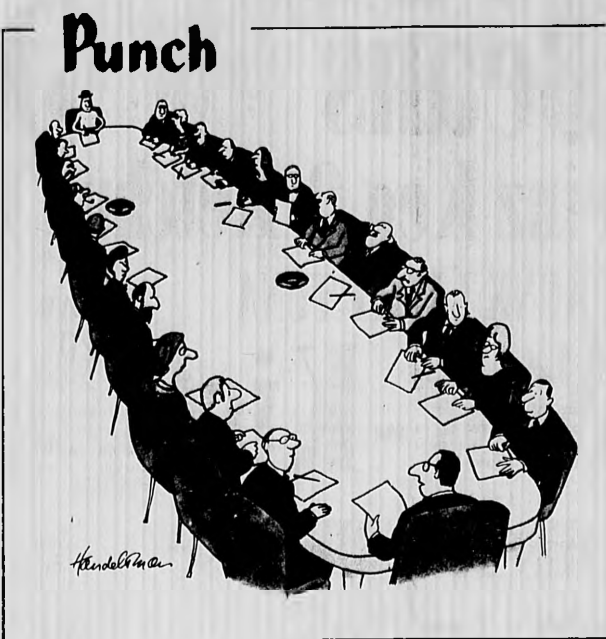

"All right," he said finally, "maybe it is a matter of degrees. All I'm talking about is attention to detail."

The philosopher smiled her philosopher's smile again.

"Details," said the philosopher in a teasing voice while she pulled on the white, vine-like strands at his knee. "So you want to talk details?"

The screen came alive with figures then, a cartoon moose and squirrel. The architect made a face, sour and long.

"Never mind," he said.

"Harris, the little chap at the end appears to be wearing nothing but a bowler hat. Try unobtrusively to find out why this is."

Voters Thanked

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I want to thank the residents of Winchester for their support of my candidacy for the office of Middlesex County Sheriff.

This campaign represented my first endeavor into the political world and I feel an overwhelming sense of accomplishment in terms of peoples' support, financial contributions and voters' recognition of issues raised during my eleven month campaign.

Knowing, full well, the size of Middlesex County, much credit deservingly goes to Ed Henneberry for his political prowess.

I met many people I shall never forget and I look forward to one day reseeded their thirst for political activism.

My defeat, in the September Democratic Primary should in no way be considered a failure on the part of those who assisted my campaign effort. We brought hard, unpopular issues forward and received 20,000 votes in the process.

Considering that correctional practices, like our prisons, are least on peoples' minds, we did extremely well. Once again, thank you.

Blankets Asked

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am begging for warm blankets or warm packed pieces for our Winchester Animal Shelter. The nights are bitter cold for dogs and puppies who have to be kept in the outside runs and any kind of warmth from a blanket you no longer use would bring comfort to a four-footed friend.

No matter how small the pieces are, or how moth-eaten or torn, they are very welcome. Even the cats in their cages love the little blankets for there is no heat at night and little kittens especially feel the cold.

Whatever you can spare will be most welcome and I will gladly call for your donation, or if it is more convenient, it can be left at my home. Either knock at the front door or leave it at the back door where there is a large cement table.

You will be thanked by knowing an animal, who has no home but an excellent chance for one from the Shelter, will be grateful. So will Mrs. Yvonne Brown, the volunteer director and I.

My phone is 729-3607, and the address is 403 Main St.

Loan Blasted

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The largest truck plant in the world, on the Kama River in the U.S.S.R. is notable for more than its size. It produced many of the trucks and armored vehicles used in the invasion of Afghanistan and it was built at the expense of the American people.

The government's Export-Import Bank loaned the Communists $154 million at an average interest rate of 6.5 percent, with the first payment not due for ten years.

The rest of the $342 million financing, loaned at market rates by a syndicate headed by the Chase Manhattan Bank, was insured by the taxpayer through another government agency, the Overseas Private Investment Corporation.

This kind of deal is justified as helping our economy. Let's see if this is true.

The Soviets benefit, because they get a magnificent industrial complex with only 10 percent down, below market rates, and many years to pay.

The giant U.S. auto company that built the Kama River Truck Plant gets a big contract and your money, so it also benefits.

The banks that loan the private funds are pleased, because they can't lose. If the communists (Soviets) default, the U.S. Treasury will repay the banks all principal and interest due.

Only one group (not counting the people of Afghanistan) gets stuck; the U.S. Taxpayers.

The Export-Import Banks funds come from the U.S. Treasury, and the outlays cause our taxes and inflation rate to go up.

The Soviets get the goods. The big banks and companies get the profits and the U.S. taxpayer gets the bill.

Crosswalk Peril?

Editor's Note: The following is an open letter to Winchester's Town Manager Tom Groux.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Picture this in your mind: You're standing on a corner in the center of town and you notice an elderly man going across a crosswalk during a drizzle. As you look, you notice that he appears to be very nervous.

No, it's not the speeding cars that makes him nervous nor is it the groups of youngsters that hang on all the corners.

Let me tell you what it is. It's the pretty green paint that the town put in between the crosswalk for decoration. It may look nice but it's more dangerous than any speeding car.

An elderly gentleman friend of mine found out what it was like to be at the bottom of this matter, if you know what I mean. He was bruised and embarrassed but he'll survive. How about getting on top of this matter before someone important falls and thinks a law suit is in order.

In closing I have a few ideas for you. For one, how about a sign at both ends of each crosswalk saying "Caution, Town has determined that crossing here is dangerous to your health."

No? How about putting down some of those scuff flowers that people put on the bottom of bath tubs.

Better? Well how about just getting the paint off the crosswalk. You may save more money than you think.

Job Forum

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

More women are re-entering employment now than ever before. Many of them have been working for years as housewives and mothers. They are unfamiliar with today's job market, often unsure of what kind of job they want or are suited for, and how to find the right job and get hired.

Many services are available to such women ranging from free to expensive, involving a day or a month or perhaps a six-month internship.

Any interested woman may register for the Job Re-Entry Forum scheduled for 7:45, Tuesday, Nov. 18 at the Bartlett

School (formerly Wyman School) by sending $2 to me. Personal representatives from several temporary employment agencies will be available that night for consultation, as well as those from various career counseling agencies.

This meeting is sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Winchester but it is not for our own members only. It is intended as a public service to the entire community.

Car Damaged

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On election day morning, Tuesday Nov. 4 between the hours of 7:30 and 8:15 a.m., someone racing up Tufts road, as cars sometimes do struck my car which was legally parked beside my home in the front left side, ripping the bumper and smashing the fender.

This person never stopped to acknowledge his or her irresponsible act.

I shudder to think of the children who sometimes play in the street or walk to school. Perhaps it was a neighbor or someone driving their children to Muraco School.

Whoever it was, that someone is now riding around with a newly dented fender on their right side.

The Hello Behind The Smile

By MARY CRESSE

"You say goodbye, and I say, hello, hello, hello. I don't know why you say goodbye, I say hello," Lennon & McCartney

Open your mouth as if you are about to protest against something, and make a small "e" sound.

Exhale. Put your tongue up against the roof of your mouth and continue to exhale.

Then form your lips as if you were about to kiss someone who suddenly turns away. Continue exhaling.

It's so simple. Courteous. Takes a second. Yet as insignificant as it may seem, that little guttural effort to form the interjection, "hello", can cause a fight, make a person's day, or even contribute to form an opinion of someone.

Every 45 minutes, before and after lunch, approximately 1,470 teenagers march, strut, stroll, wander, plod and sometimes float through the orange-lined halls of WHS, bellowing at teachers, calling to their friends, rating girls on a scale of one to ten, and calmly walking to their lockers, among the reverberation of wooden doors and intensified conversation.

The manners by which people use this form of address can almost be brought down to a somewhat humorous science.

First of all, there's your fellow Play-Doh partner whom you met in Miss Zellensky's second grade, who is now a distant acquaintance and spends most of his time concocting new formulas for the Chess Club. It's the middle of fourth, and you've gone back to your locker for a book, and-smack, in the middle of hall, you just can't appear as a snob-ummm, a nod of the head with a polite, close-mouthed smile will do in response to his soft polite hello.

What happened to the relaxed expression and fairly loud "hi" you give to your lab partner or lunchtable companions?

Could it be that, when you tell yourself you don't care what your very old "friend" thinks of you, you really want to show them that you have taken different paths in life, and you still like him, but you don't really need him?

What would happen if you turned from your book and said "Hey, what've you been doing all this time?" What if you found out that he has other interests, and that some of them might coincide with yours? Or are you afraid that he might not want to renew a friendship with you?

Then, of course, there's the seemingly menacing, but really more cute football player who kind of "hulks" around in the hall with his second skin, the Sachem football jacket shouting something like "Bud, 98," who usually gives you the friendly, but "cool," "Eh, how 'ya doin'," followed by a Crest smile and a toss of the head which almost compels you to smile back. You have to be friendly, he's got a nice body and after all, there's next Friday night to think about...

Ask yourself if you ever go out of your way to address the not-so-athletic, not-so-all-American-looking guy who passes you in the hall, even though you know he's a good kid. A lot of the time he's got the best personality of any guy you know, and may have other interests. Most of the time, you find yourself smiling and talking with him instead of saying just "hello."

And then you see "The Group." Marcia, Alissa, Anna, and "them."

Funny, none of them say "hi" all that much when they're together, but they all seem pretty friendly when they're alone. Maybe because they don't really have to worry what others think of them as long as they're flanked by two other people.

Lastly, you can't forget the teachers. You're coming out of the girl's room third period, and you see your Math teacher-whom you have third period. Sometimes that's not a "hello," it's more of a cough and a sneeze, and "I was on-cough-my way to the nurse."

The chemistry teacher whose class you dropped out of last spring: "So, ah, how are the ummm...wife and electrons?"

The assistant principal who asked you why you weren't in history yesterday: "I'm on my way to class, honest to God!"

It's only a word. A little two syllable word. You can accept as just that, too. This isn't "Let's Play Psychologist." But you can tell a lot about a person by how he goes about saying that one little word. Maybe the next time you see the President of the Chess Club, you can give him the same smile with as much enthusiasm as you would give your friends. After all, it's only "hello."

The news of pregnancy comes as a bit of a shock to Winchester Player Dick Wilcox, as Harry Lambert, when Felecia Hall, as Lambert's wife Edna, spills the beans in last weekend's production of "Never Too Late." The performance, at the Unitarian Church, continues this Friday and Saturday with shows at 8:15 each evening. For information, call Cathy Alexander at 729-0224.

Hospice Lecture Topic Of Meeting

Easing the pains and pangs of the terminally ill, aiding the families of those involved both before and after the death of the patient and the training of volunteers to assist in these goals are all parts of the Hospice movement.

These concerns will be covered in a slide presentation given by Patricia Dunn, R.N. and Marjorie Purves of the U. of Mass. Medical Center in Worcester when they speak to the Open Meeting of the Women of Epiphany at Hadley Hall in Winchester Thursday, Nov. 18.

The Palliative Care Service conducted by the Medical Center in Worcester uses both professional and volunteer teams to provide the services needed both in the hospital and the home.

More popularly known as "Hospice" care involves keeping the patient within the home whenever and wherever it is feasible, so that the family may have as much time as possible in nearly normal surroundings with the terminally ill patient.

When medical conditions make it imperative that the patient return to the hospital, the atmosphere is far more home-like than that in a usual hospital unit.

A special kitchen enables family and volunteers to prepare food that the patient likes or is accustomed to. The rooms are cheerful and special areas make family visiting less constrained. The family itself is counseled on how to keep the patient happy and how to prepare for and face death without fear.

The speakers have worked with social agencies within the Worcester area.

Dunn served first as Consultant and is now Director-Nursing coordinator for the Palliative Care Service, Medical Center, Worcester.

Purvis, Co-ordinator of Volunteers brings experience in Community service to the training and education of the volunteer program.

The meeting is open to all persons interested in the Hospice movement. It will begin with a social hour at 12:15, followed by luncheon, served by Marti Crawford, Jackie Leonard and Janet Beal at 12:45.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made by Saturday, Nov. 15 through Doris Hills, 729-1165 or Edith Knoetner, 729-0792.

At 1:45 the speaker will be introduced by Hilde Zerwekh, of Church Women United. Chairman of Women of Epiphany, Virginia Bird, will preside over the general meeting.

Preceding the luncheon from 10 to noon, the Post Fair sale will take place at which those articles left from the general fair and Flea Market of Epiphany will be sold at bargain prices.

Red Cross Sets Pressure Clinic

"Now that the excitement of the election is over, it is time to check your blood pressure," said Mary Fowle, chairman of the Winchester Red Cross chapter.

The Winchester Red Cross monthly Blood Pressure Clinic is scheduled for this Saturday, Nov. 15 at the Chapter House on Church street.

"Whether you are a newcomer or a repeat patient, you will be welcome. The clinic serves all comers from 10 to 12," said Mrs. Fowle.

The nurses in charge will be Carol

Town Meeting

Committee Approved

A three-member citizens committee to advise the Board of Selectmen on the care and maintenance of Wildwood Cemetery will be appointed following a vote Monday by Town Meeting.

The committee concept, which grew out of an earlier article calling for the creation of a board to supervise the cemetery, thus removing its control from the Department of Public Works, drew support from Selectman Michael Saraco who termed the idea "a terrific" one.

The earlier article, number 21 on the warrant, had been ruled out of order by moderator John Sullivan.

In the committee concept before Town Meeting, Harrison Chadwick, who had introduced the earlier article, stressed that the committee would serve in an advisory capacity only without authority to act.

Selectmen Chairman Wade Welch said a majority of the Board of Selectmen did not favor the concept. Finance Committee Chairman Bob Frank said his group also recommended unfavorable action on the committee concept.

However, Saraco said Selectmen didn't have the time to do the planning on the cemetery and the voice vote on the concept approved the creation of the panel.

Goal Reached

In a report to Town Meeting concerning the Fund Winchester's Future Drive, a move to match a $16,600 appropriation voted last fall to employ an economic development coordinator to study the revitalization of the downtown area, drive co-chairperson Marcia Saltmarsh said the goal of matching the appropriation had been reached.

She said the effort had exceeded its goal and that officials hoped to hire the coordinator by the first of the year.

Funds Appropriated

Town Meeting voted Monday to appropriate $600 for use in a study of the Holton street area.

That appropriation drew support from Selectmen and the Finance Committee.

Mystic Students Introduced To Opera Program

The Mystic School Parents Association recently presented an enrichment program called "Introduction to Opera."

Performed by young audiences, the program was funded in part by the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a state agency whose funds are recommended by the Governor and appropriated by the State Legislature.

Four singers and a pianist demonstrated the range of the voice (in duet, trio and quartet) to express dramatic emotion in excerpts from such operas as Hansel & Gretel, Cremen, Rigoletto, Porgy and Bess.

The children in the audience helped improvise an opera "scene," making up music and plots featuring folk-tale characters, among them, Superman and Wonder Woman.

November Diabetes Month

By JOHN KENNEDY
Community Relations Department
Winchester Hospital

It's the nation's third biggest killer, yet the symptoms and effects of diabetes are misunderstood by many of the 10 million diabetics who live in the U.S.

To try to heighten public awareness of this complex disease which annually kills 300,000 Americans, the American Diabetes Association has declared November Diabetes Month.

Diabetes is a major health problem that is rapidly growing, with experts predicting that as many as 30 million Americans may have the disease by 1995.

Diabetes affects people of all ages and is basically brought on by the body's inability to make proper use of foods — especially carbohydrates found in the form of sugars and starches. Caused at least partially by heredity, the root of diabetes lies in the body's lack of insulin production, a hormone generated by the pancreas — a large gland located behind the stomach.

The insulin hormone is a vital ingredient in the physical process required to convert glucose sugar received from food into the energy needed to maintain a healthy body. Without enough insulin, glucose accumulates in the blood until some of this surplus is eliminated by the kidneys through urine, explaining why the most simple medical detection procedures for diabetes involve blood testing and urinalysis.

Dr. Donald Colantino, an internist at Winchester Hospital says, "Despite its prevalence, certain opinions on the nature and cause of diabetes remain controversial. Though there's no doubt that diabetes is directly related to heredity factors (if your parents or a close relative had diabetes, then there's an increased chance of your being diabetic) many people can develop diabetes without having any previous incidence in their family. Disease of the pancreas, an inherited virus, and a tendency toward diabetes dormant from birth are additional theories on the origins of the disease. Around 80 percent of diabetics are overweight, and this prompts discussion on the possibility that the disease may be brought on by the pancreas' being forced to overwork in compensation for body size or, inversely, whether a deficient supply of insulin makes a person eat more to get nourishment and energy. There's many 'chicken or egg' type theories surrounding why people get diabetes," Dr. Colantino concludes.

There are basically two forms of diabetes, the most common being the "adult-onset" variety. Some symptoms of this slow developing disease are drowsiness and easy fatigue, blurred vision, numbness and pain in the extremities, and the slow healing of cuts and scratches — particularly in the feet.

Frequently developing in overweight individuals 35 and older, "adult-onset" is a milder strain of the disease caused by the blockage of insulin flow and by the pancreas' resistance to insulin action. As a result, the absorption of glucose into muscles and tissues is disrupted, causing a damaging accumulation of glucose in the blood. Half of those who develop diabetes after age 35 can control the disease through following a well balanced diet designed to maintain a proper blood sugar level.

Exercise is another effective technique which helps the body's insulin do its work, as well as shedding any excess weight. Oral medications, whose effectiveness is questioned by many, and insulin injections are used when diet and exercise alone do not sufficiently control diabetes.

The more severe and less common strain of diabetes is "juvenile diabetes" seen in about five percent of diabetics and generally developing between the ages of two and forty. The first signs of "juvenile diabetes" usually include constant urination, abnormal thirst, hunger, rapid weight loss, weakness and nausea. The physical causes of this diabetes, similar to those seen in the "adult-onset" variety, are more dangerous mainly because they appear abruptly and can develop rapidly with acute symptoms. Juvenile diabetics are almost always insulin dependent and, if their condition goes untreated, the sugar build-up can lead to a poisoning of the system, causing possible coma and death.

Ellen Mulvey, a patient education coordinator in Winchester Hospital's "Diabetic Teaching Program", an education and follow-up series for diabetic patients and their families, cites that, "Diabetes is present throughout the Winchester community at about the same ratio as seen in the national statistics. Last year we had over 100 area patients participate in our teaching program."

The diabetes program at Winchester Hospital is structured to encourage patients toward self-care as a learning experience and is aimed at the educational needs of new diabetic patients and as a monitoring supplement for diabetics who have learned to live with their disease. "The whole point of the program is for the patient to get actively involved in their care inside the hospital and at home," says Mulvey.

To enhance the diabetic's personal care, the Diabetic Teaching Program features discussions on exercise — how much to do and how it affects blood sugar; diet — what to eat and how to handle a restricted diet; insulin — how to give self-injections and the use of oral agents; what to do on sick days — including the kinds of things that should be eaten and how much insulin to take; and general hygiene and preventive first aid aimed at avoiding damaging infection.

Though, as yet, there is no cure for diabetes, with proper care and early detection, the millions of Americans affected by this hidden disease can expect to live long and healthy lives. Spurred by the efforts of the American Diabetes Association, research is constantly going on throughout the world scientific community toward finding preventive techniques and possible cure for diabetes, with some of the most important research presently lying in the areas of insulin development, artificial pancreas and beta cell (insulin producing cells) transplantation.

Women Set UNICEF Sale At Two Locations

UNICEF time is here again; the time to think of helping the children of the developing countries in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

UNICEF's (United Nations International Children's Education Fund) primary goal is to provide basic human services such as modern medical care, proper nutrition and access to education to these millions of underprivileged children. Proceeds from the sale of UNICEF greeting cards help the United Nations Children's Fund operate long-term and emergency assistance programs in 110 countries.

In Winchester, Church Women United sponsors the Sale of the UNICEF greeting cards and novelties. The 1980 UNICEF sales begin Thursday, Nov. 13 and continue through Saturday, Dec. 13. The sales will be at Swanson Associates Realtors (Main st. and Mt. Vernon) Thursday, Nov. 13 through Saturday Dec. 6 (no sales on Nov. 27) and at the Woburn Star Market (400 Cambridge st.) Monday, Nov. 24 through Saturday, Dec. 13. (No sales on November 27)

Hours at both places are 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

General coordinator of the Winchester sale is Mrs. Charles Zerwekh. Ladies in charge of Swanson's location are Mrs. Vincent Berger and Mrs. Arthur Duffy. Star Market will be chaired by Mrs. Donald Cullivan and Mrs. Jenness Bugley is coordinator of Sales Volunteer.

The following nine local churches will be participating: Parish of the Epiphany, Unitarian, Crawford Memorial Methodist, First Baptist, St. Eulalia's, St. Mary's, Immaculate Conception, Second Congregational and First Congregational.

This cause helps children in need, regardless of creed, nationality, race or political pressure.

Mrs. Frederick Connor, President, is general chairwoman assisted by a large committee which has been working during the past months preparing for their various tables, which will be stocked with hand knits, aprons, home-baked goodies, jewelry and Christmas gift items as well as the attic table.

Mrs. Charles McLaughlin, chairwoman of the luncheon and snack bar has arranged a luncheon menu, which will be served from 11:30 to 2 p.m.

Miss Mary McLaughlin is Chairwoman of the attic table, assisted by Mrs. William Wadden as Co-Chairwoman. Mrs. Andrew Guthrie, Jr. is Chairwoman of the Christmas table. Mrs. J. Raymond Murphy is Chairwoman of the kitchen table assisted by Mrs. Richard Keating and Mrs. Henry Valcour as Co-Chairwomen.

Miss Mary Cummings is in charge of the jewelry and periodicals table, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Viger. Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Martin Titilash are in charge of the knit table. Mrs. Charles McLaughlin is Chairwoman of the luncheon and snack bar, assisted by Miss Alice O'Leary and Mrs. Patrick Curley as Co-Chairwomen.

The pantry table has Mrs. Jeremiah McCarron as Chairwoman, assisted by Mrs. C. Philip O'Rourke and Mrs. Walter Crotty as Co-Chairwomen.

Local Students To Visit Europe In April Vacation

A group of Winchester students is presently making plans to travel in Europe during the April school vacation week.

The eight-day trip includes visits to London, Amsterdam and Paris, with side trips to Brussels and Cologne. Students will see London theater, an Amsterdam canal ride and the medieval "Grand Place of Brussels."

The program is offered in conjunction with the American Leadership Study Group, Worcester.

Coordinating the program locally is Marie Franklin, an English teacher at Winchester High School.

Interested students or parents should contact her at 729-9303 (days) or 731-9844 (evenings) for additional details.

Jaycee Women Set November Meeting

The Winchester Jaycee Women will hold their November meeting at the home of Pam Jervey, 22 Stone ave., Wednesday, Nov. 19, at 8 p.m.

Cynthia Kazanjian, of Winchester, will give a slide presentation and answer questions about Boston Children's Services, which is the oldest child welfare organization in New England.

Since 1800, Boston Children's Services has been helping children in need, those who are abused, neglected, emotionally disturbed, in financial need or those waiting to be adopted.

Music Society Sets Fall Meeting

The Winchester Music Society will hold its fall meeting Friday, Nov. 14 at 8 p.m. at the home of Paul Kelly, 1 Taft Cir. Anyone who is interested in the activities of the Music Society is invited.

Works by Schubert, Beethoven, Gounod, Durante, Carissime, Kreisler, Turina, and Joplin will be presented. The Nursery School Sets Nutrition Talk

The most common nutritional problems in pre-school children and how to deal with them is the topic of a lecture by nutritionist Nancy Brinch on Wednesday, Nov. 19 at 9 a.m. in the Vinton Room of the First Congregational Church.

They are presently engaged in "Operation Santa Claus," through which they hope to collect enough gifts so that approximately 1,000 children they are currently serving will each receive a present at Christmas. Each member of the Winchester Jaycee Women will be bringing a gift for a child, in lieu of the gifts they normally exchange within the club.

Anyone wishing to attend the meeting or to contribute a gift for the Boston Children's Services, should contact Diana Deering, 22 Kenwin rd.

program is comprised of vocal solos, a violin solo, and piano works. Performers will include John Baxter, William Beck, Carol Fieleke, Paul Kelly, Lori Lerman, Carol Mawdsley, Phyllis Meserlian, and Edward Verdon.

The music will follow a brief business meeting during which plans for the year will be discussed.

Library Offers Children's Films

The Winchester Public Library will present the following films Nov. 16 and Nov. 18:

"The Gingerbread Kingdom" - This fairy tale is the story of Princess Margaretta who is carried off to the Gingerbread Kingdom.

"Over the Meadow" - This film is a sing-a-long film of an old country song.

"The Mole & the Lollipop" - It takes a while for the Mole to discover that a lollipop is to be eaten.

"The Shout It Out Alphabet" - In this visual game, children try to see how many words they can identify from the collage of animated happenings on the screen.

On Sunday afternoon, the family film program will be at 2:30 p.m. It is requested that at least one adult accompany each group of children. The Tuesday afternoon film program for school-age children is at 3:30 p.m. Both programs will be in the Meeting Room of the Library.

Th3 films for our Library programs are provided through the Eastern Massachusetts Regional Library System, a program funded by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Bank Exhibits Work Of Three Local Artists

The Cambridgeport Savings Bank in Winchester Center is currently displaying paintings by members of the Winchester Art Association.

Bill Miga has two detailed still lifes, one is an arrangement with a copper kettle while the other is feathers with dry flowers.

Irene Cannara offers a still life "Jack O'Lantern" and a winter landscape entitled "Icy Stream."

Dr. Ken Buckley also works in oils on canvas. He is displaying a harbor scene and an autumn country scene. The paintings will be on view until Nov. 29.

No Surprise - Laurie Glynn Best In EMass Meet

By PETER DELGRECO

It didn't take long for Eastern Massachusetts runners to learn what Middlesex League runners have known since September. That freshman Laurie Glynn is good.

With over 150 girls competing, Glynn again walked away with a first place finish, helping the team to a second place finish overall in the Division 2 competition.

The Winchester High School Girls Cross Country team, fell just short of their goal of winning the meet. They lost to North Quincy, which, on this particular day, was the better squad.

All morning long, a soaking rain drenched the three mile course. As the girls' race started, the sun came out, but muddy conditions still prevailed.

At the mile mark, Glynn had opened a 14-second edge on her nearest competitor. And when she broke the tape, at the finish line, her time of 18:40 gave her a 21-second victory over the next finisher.

Asst. Coach Lorin Maloney had nothing but praise for Glynn. "She ran a super race," adding he was proud of the fact that she went out and ran her own race.

North Quincy helped their own effort out by taking second, third, and fifth place. Their combined score of 68 was a solid 20 pts. better than Winchester's 88.

Senior tri-captain Mary Boland took 17th place in the meet. She lead a pack of three Winchester runners which helped assure them the second place showing.

Junior Eileen Conley ran a strong race. She came three seconds behind Boland, and in 18th place.

Sophomore Jean Senna placed eight seconds behind Conley with a time of 20:52. "Jean hung right in there," Maloney said in appreciation of Senna's 19th place finish.

Lauren Fryklund was hampered by a painful leg problem, but still managed to finish in 33rd place. Maloney said it was a "courageous feat that she could run." He said that during practice she had been shrugging off the fact that a problem did exist.

Another sophomore, Sandy Jordan, also turned in a good performance. She ran to 55th place, and she will be looked at to help the team again next year when seniors Boland and Fryklund depart.

With their second place showing, the team qualified for the All-State meet. This race will be held at Franklin Park on Saturday. It is questionable whether or not Fryklund will be able to compete in this meet.

Booters Conquer Wind, Methuen, 4-2

By JULIE DERRY

"I thought we were the better ball-handling team, but the wind hindered us some there. I've never played in so much wind - it makes it much harder," commented Sachem Coach Gene Bouley after Winchester's 4-1 bone-chilling victory over Methuen Tuesday in their first game of the North Regionals.

"But the big difference between the two teams was that even with the wind against us, we had some good offensive playing. We scored that second goal," said Bouley referring to Paul Williamson's second goal of the game for Winchester while the Sachems were going against the 40-mile an hour winds.

But the big difference was two fourth quarter goals for the Sachems that deflected off Methuen players to give Winchester the victory.

With the score tied at two and just four minutes left, Laszlo VonLazar let go with a blast from about 15 yards out on the left. The Methuen fullback headed it and the shot caught goalie Joe Lacroix going the wrong way as the Sachems went on top for good.

David Suvak closed out the scoring minutes later when he and Williamson broke in on Lacroix with just one fullback back for the Rangers.

Sachemette Booters Also Win Opener

The Sachemette booters also kicked off their regional tournament play with a 5-0 trouncing of Lexington yesterday at a packed Leonard Field.

"We put it all together today and let me say again that it (Lexington) is one of the best teams to play soccer in but we wouldn't let them do anything," Coach Chris Scanlon said.

Goal scorers for Winchester were Ann Porell (two goals),

Kim Donlon (two goals) and Andrea deMars.

Before the biggest crowd Scanlon has seen this year, the Winchester defense sparkled, allowing just eight Lexington shots on goalie Kate McCarthy.

Winchester advances to the quarterfinal round on Saturday against Foxboro at a yet to be determined site starting at 1 p.m.

Lacroix went after the ball and was pressured into kicking it. He bounced it off his fullback, however and it rolled past a sprawled Lacroix into the goal for the clincher.

"We really were only able to get this goal because of the pressure on the Methuen goalie to act quickly," Bouley said afterwards.

The Sachems strong skills in ball control were obvious from the start of the game, when they began the first quarter running against the wind. This was a considerable disadvantage because of the tremendous winds Tuesday afternoon. However, the tables would be turned during the second and fourth quarters when Winchester had the wind at their backs.

Methuen, despite the advantage first quarter, was unable to score. The Sachems on the other hand, played tough offensively inspite of the wind.

The second quarter was dominated by Winchester. The Sachems kept pressure on the Methuen defense with numerous shots on goal.

"It was just a matter of time before we scored the first two goals - we kept pressing," said Bouley.

With two minutes left in the second quarter, Eric Lowenstein dribbled down the left side of the field and passed to Paul Williamson standing by the center of the net. Paul trapped and shot the ball into the lower left corner of the net.

At the beginning of the second half, Methuen was able to use the wind to their advantage. On a Winchester goal kick taken by James Ellis, the wind was so powerful the ball was blown back towards the goal. A Methuen player capitalized by trapping and passing the ball to another forward who headed the ball into the net, scoring Methuen's first goal.

A few minutes later, Eric Lowenstein received the ball and headed it to Suvak.

Suvak dribbled the ball up the field on a breakaway when a Methuen player fell down claiming he was hurt. The play was stopped and the injured player was replaced by a substitute. When the ball was put back into play, Suvak took the kick, but the three Methuen fullbacks were in place, ready to protect their goal. So much for the breakaway...

Halfway through the third quarter, Methuen charged again. Steranka attempted to save the ball, but the forward charged over him. Ellis tried to boot the ball out, but didn't have time to turn around as the Methuen player charged towards the goal and by accident tipped it in. The credit for that goal was given to the Methuen forward who charged the net.

Towards the end of the third quarter, he charged again but Matt Groux stopped the forward by booting the ball out. Methuen then threw the ball in, but it went out off the end of the field.

Brian Donnellan took the goal kick. In spite of the wind, it traveled pretty far down field. Methuen brought the ball up a second time and shot. Steranka made one of many beautiful saves seen throughout the game.

VonLazar then received the ball from Steranka and dribbled up the left side of the field. He passed to Michael Driscoll, who continued up the field practically alone.

Matt Groux received the ball from Driscoll and passed to Williamson right by the goal. Williamson shot and scored tying the game at 2-2 with forty-five seconds left in the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter, with the winds at their backs, the Sachems became fearless. Their determination to win was strong and Methuen finally cracked under the offensive pressure.

Suvak was all over the field during the first quarter and never let his aggressive playing lag for a minute. On a pass from Frink, Suvak charged the Methuen goal, but the goalie saved it in the last minute.

Suvak charged again, this time closely following a great shot on goal by Williamson. Suvak dribbled the ball close to a practically open net and shot... but it went wide by inches.

Winchester kept its pressure on the Methuen goal throughout the quarter. Key to this pressure was Frink whose aggressive playing went almost unchallenged throughout the game. Without the plays made by Frink at mid-field, Williamson's and Suvak's plays in front of the win wouldn't have been possible.

On the Sachems next attack against the Methuen defense, Scott Bowen crossed the ball in front of the goal and shot, but the goalie stopped it from scoring. That set up the two big goals at the finish to send the Sachems to the next round.

With the Methuen Rangers disposed of, the Sachems are off to Boston University's Nickerson Field to play their next game in the North Regionals. The game will be Saturday at 9 a.m.

This game is to be played on Astro-turf, which in coach Gene Bouley's mind poses several problems.

"We don't know if we'll be playing in cleats or sneakers yet," said Bouley. "Although there are special shoes for playing on Astro-turf, we don't own any."

Shoes aren't the only problem connected with playing on astro-turf, though. Considering very few members of the team have played on it before. The Sachems will have to become accustomed to the bounce of the ball and knowing when to trap and pass.

"There is a tendency to over run the ball when you're not used to playing on astro-turf. Everything is different - the bounce, the passing, the dribbling. Everything," commented Bouley.

Bouley thinks that it will be advantageous to the Sachems to practice in the gym this week with sneakers, in case they should decide to play without cleats Saturday.

Perfect Weather If...

It was perfect weather if you were, oh, a native of Minnesota and liked it because of its winters.

It was perfect weather if you were a Sears Roebuck battery salesman and you wanted to prove a point.

It was perfect weather if you were Bruce Schwoegler, Dick Albert or any of those types that revel in other people's discomfort because of the weather.

It was cold Tuesday afternoon and it was real cold if you were a member of the Winchester and Methuen soccer teams or some of the true-but-ice-cold-blue fans who sat through the Sachems 4-2 win.

What made the day reminiscent of a football game in Buffalo a few weeks ago wasn't the temperature - it was in the low 40's - but the gale force winds estimated at about 40 miles an hour.

"It was the windiest I've ever played in," said Sachem fullback Chris Wagstrom. "You lost concentration it was so cold."

To say the wind had some effect on the game one would not have to be very observant. Five of the six goals scored came while the teams had the wind at their backs. But the wind behind you didn't make it that much easier.

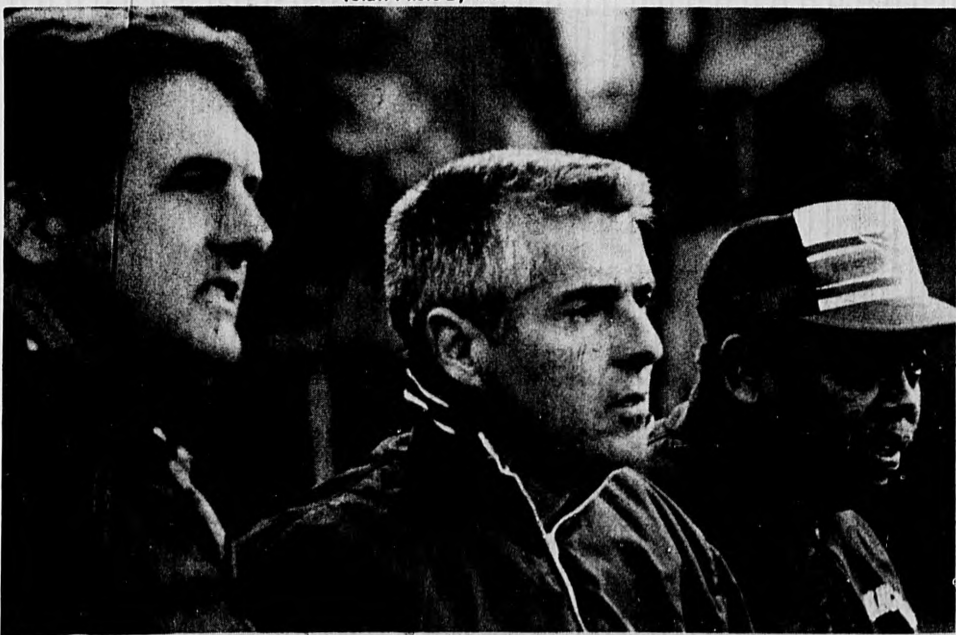

"When the wind was at your back it would roll ahead of you," Coach Gene Bouley, bundled up in a heavy jacket, sweat pants and a woolen cap yanked down over the ears, said. "The minute you touch it it rises. We tended to have to reach for it because you're always behind the ball. You usually like to be on top of the ball but the wind made it very difficult," Bouley said.

David Suvak, lying flat on his back on a locker room bench after the triumph, admitted the conditions were not ideal. "It was hard to breathe because your lungs froze up," the clever junior passer explained. "You just had to keep yourself warm."

A Long Day For The Gridders; Burlington Passes Them By, 24-7

By RICHARD MCSWEENEY

There was no pounding on the walls, no kicking in the doors.

There were no cries of bad officials or protestations of "if only..."

The Winchester football team got beaten Saturday by Burlington. Plain and simple.

"There was no turning point," Coach Manny Marshall shrugged afterwards. "Last week we got beat by a team (Watertown) that was sky high for us, but a team I still think we were better than. This week we got beat by a better team."

And, indeed, the Sachems were never in the game, not really. The final was 24-7. It was 14-0 at the half and 21-7 after three quarters. The statistics showed Burlington with 307 yards total offense and 18 first downs to 234 yards and 10 first downs for Winchester.

But it was not that close.

The Red Devils, now at 6-2 (6-1 in the league), dominated this game offensively and defensively. It made the big plays, it made the little plays.

Offensively, the stars for Burlington were not surprises. Quarterback Sean Maguire was eight for 10 passing for 124 yards, two touchdown passes, one touchdown rushing and a three-yard completion for a two-point conversion.

Halfback Steve Strachan piled up 145 yards on 21 carries, 130 of those yards coming in the first half as he became well acquainted with the Sachem secondary. Very well acquainted.

And the receivers did their bit, as advertised. Randy Brown pulled in three tosses for 47 yards and one touchdown. Mike Sabatino added two catches for 59 yards and a 28-yard catch for the first Burlington score.

And defensively, it was the roughest treatment the Sachems suffered all year. By far.

Seven of the Sachems first downs came after the Red Devils had rolled up a 21-0 lead. The vaunted outside running game of the Sachems never got untracked as the Burlington secondary shut out the wide stuff with impunity.

A healthy, or relatively healthy Gary Errico couldn't make the difference either as he gained just 23 yards on 11 carries. He did score the Sachems only touchdown (his 11th of the season) on a one-yard plunge in the third quarter.

"They didn't do anything different from anybody else," Marshall explained afterwards when asked how the Red Devils had so much success shutting out the Sachems wide running game. "They just had a great defensive secondary. They came up and did a hell of a job. They didn't do anything different. They just had better people."

It was Burlington's day from start to finish. The Red Devils took the opening kick-off and marched from their own 21 to the Winchester two-yard line before Strachan (who had gained 66 of the yards) fumbled into the end zone where Doug Goodlatte pounced on it to spare the Sachems.

Neither team did much for the rest of the first quarter but it didn't take long for Burlington to get it going in the second.

Starting at their own 42, Maguire hit Chris Torto for 11 yards and a first down. Strachan then rambled 18 yards on a draw to the 28. Maguire hooked up with Sabatino in the left corner of the end zone

Sachem Runners Do Well In EMass Meet

By PETER DELGRECO

The Cross Country team continued their fine end of the season running by taking sixth place in the E. Mass. Divisional Championship last weekend. The team ran in the Division 3 race at Franklin Park. Winchester runners placed well in the meet which consisted of 27 teams and about 150 runners.

The Sachems' number one runner, Patrick Kennedy placed 12th. His time of 16:44 was very competitive for the three mile course.

Freshman Barry Sirchis out-duelled sophomore Hugh Murray for second place on the team. Sirchis had a time of 17:02, good for 18th place overall. Murray ran a 17:07 for 22nd place. He explained, "I died on the hill," a lament shared by many other runners.

Junior Joe "Dude" Callahan notched 42nd place with a time of 17:35. The Dude, as well as the first three runners, will be returning to next year's squad.

Mark Schwartzman was able to run another strong race. His 88th place, and a time of 18:18, gave him a fifth place finish on the team.

Sophomore Peter Quine followed tri-captain John Provenzano who finished the Sachem scoring.

Asst. Coach Lorin Maloney attributed "much improvement" and "super performances from the top runners" as some reasons for the Harriers' good showing.

Spring Soccer

Registration Forms Out

The Winchester Soccer Club will sponsor boys' teams in the spring of 1981 in all age groups. Boys born in 1962 through 1966 should fill out registration forms at the Winchester Sports Shop by Nov. 30. Team rosters will be selected in early April.

Boys in other age groups, who wish to play on Spring 1981 teams, may be placed on rosters in their age group based on their attitude, attendance and ability as judged by the selection committee familiar with their play during the current season.

Boys will be notified as to team assignments as soon as possible and registration fees will be collected in early December.

Swimmers Break School Records In Sectionals

It was not a good day for Winchester High School swimming records at Medford High last weekend as six were shattered by the Sachemettes enroute to the highest Northeast Sectional finish ever by a WHS girls' team.

"We did a lot better than we expected," said Coach Vin Palumbo. "We're a young team, with four freshmen so I'm very pleased."

The Sachemettes finished third overall, behind winner Acton-Boxboro and Lexington, the only team to defeat Winchester during the regular season. Starting the assault on the school record books was the 200 medley relay team of Alison Sughrue, Ann McCann, Elizabeth Porras and P.K. Porter with 2:02.6, good for a fifth place finish.

It continued in the 200 freestyle as Lynn VanUmmersen captured fifth place with a school record 2:05.8. Porras followed in 10th place with a 2:07.8.

McCann, who has been exceptional in just her freshman season, shattered the school record in the 200 IM with a seventh place finish in 2:22.3.

In diving, Michelle Bowen garnered 279 points, good for fifth place and another school record.

Porras added another school record to her collection with a 1:06.8 finish in the 100 butterfly, good for eighth place. The final record-breaker came in the free relay with the group of Carol Schneller, Sheryl Powers, Porter and VanUmmersen roaring to a 3:59.5 finish, good for third place.

Some personal bests were also realized with Powers having her best effort in the 500 freestyle in 5:37.1 (eighth place). McCann finished fifth in the 100 breaststroke with a personal best of 1:13.2.

VanUmmersen and Porter also performed well in the 100 freestyle, grabbing eighth and 10th places, respectively.

Basketball Applications Available

The Winchester Youth Basketball Association, in cooperation with the Winchester Recreation Department, will again sponsor a basketball program. The program is open to Winchester residents attending grades three through eight and will be held at the Lincoln and McCall school gyms on Saturdays beginning Dec. 6, 1980. Applications will be available at the Winchester Sport Shop beginning Saturday, Nov. 15, 1980. Registration is limited, and applicants will be accepted based on the timing of registration. A fee of $10 will be charged.

Now it's on to the final weekend of competition for the swimmers, the state championships. It begins Friday night at Boston College and continues Saturday with the trials in the morning and the finals in all events kicking off at about 4 p.m.

Powers, McCann, Porras, Porter, VanUmmersen, Schneller, Bowen (diving) and Carla Gulino (diving) all have qualified for Winchester.

"This is going to be a lot tougher than the sectionals," Palumbo said. "If we can come in 10th place we'd be very pleased."

One need only to have seen the Patriots-Bills game from a few weeks ago to appreciate the effect the wind had on the game. Balls kicked high into the wind never traveled more than 15 yards. Balls kicked high with the wind rarely traveled less than 40 yards.

Going against the wind in the first quarter, Suvak had a break-in on the Methuen goal and beat goalie Joe Lacroix to the ball about 15 feet in front and the ball deflected high towards the empty goal. Suvak jumped over a fallen Lacroix and went to head the ball into the goal.

That is, he tried to. First appearing to float there tantalizingly, the wind took care of that and Suvak promptly overran it. The play was offside anyway but it showed what the wind was doing out there.

The strategy was to kick the ball low against the wind and high with it, but strategy on this day was confined to not spitting into the wind.

"It didn't change what you try to do," Bouley said. "It didn't."

Sure, and that's what Dallas Cowboy players used to say after their annual championship journey to tropical Green Bay during the Pack's heyday.

Shouting

on the next play and the Sachems were down 7-0. The next series sort of indicated what the rest of the day would hold in store for the Sachems. Errico entered the game for the first time on a fourth and one situation at the Burlington 49 and twisted two yards for the first down.

"Three plays later, on a third and 16 Quarterback Rich Fennell (seven for 15, 115 yards, one interception) scampered 23 yards to the Burlington 30. But a clipping penalty called it back and the Sachems never really threatened the rest of the day.

And the Red Devils didn't waste any time taking advantage of the break, driving 85 yards in the final 2:40 of the half to go up 13-0.

The Sachems appeared to have them stopped at the Winchester 40 after Jay Gill batted down a Maguire pass with 32 seconds left to set up a fourth and three.

Strachan then blasted his way for 15 yards and a first down to the 25. Two plays later Brown pulled in a pass at the three while squeezed in between two defenders. Someone in the Sachem defense blew an assignment and Brown was all alone in the end zone one play later for the score with three seconds left.

The second half was more of the same as they took all of two plays to go 43 yards for a touchdown their first possession of the second half.

First Maguire hit Sabatino for 31 yards to the Winchester 11 and the junior quarterback followed that with an 11-yard keeper around right end for the touchdown. He hit running back John Jay in the end zone for the two-point conversion and it was 21-0.

The Sachems finally got on the board on their next possession with the key plays being a 21-yard toss to Goodlatte and an 18-yard run by Fennell to the Burlington 10-yard line.

Three plays later they got a Burlington defender for interference on Ken Jacobsen to set the Sachems up with a first and goal from the one. Errico took it in two plays later for the score.

After Maguire fumbled and Jeff Lavey recovered at the Burlington 48, the Red Devils defense rose up again and put the lid on this game real tight.

First Brown had one of his three sacks of the day, this one for seven yards. Errico got four of them back on the next play but, faced with a third and 13, Fennell couldn't get a pass off on either third or fourth down and it was mop up time from then on.

Ji. Travaglini added a field goal for Burlington to close out the scoring with 5:37 left.

"They were better than that's all," Marshall said later. "And I hate like hell to admit that sometimes but they were better. There are times I come back and I want to punch a wall I'm so mad. But not this time.

"The sad part of this is we should be 7-1. It was Watertown that really hurt us. Some of the fans might say, 'ah, look at that,' but what they don't understand is where we were when we started. If someone had told me earlier in the year that we'd be 6-2 right now... That's the sad part. We've come so far."

Emotion To Play Role In Reading-Winchester Game

It is a difficult game to predict. One team is coming off a victory, its first in eight tries.

The other is coming off its second consecutive defeat, after winning its first six.

When Winchester travels to Reading Saturday afternoon (1:30 kick-off) emotion is sure to play a major role in the outcome. Naturally, both coaches feel the circumstances helps his opponent and is something his team must overcome.

"They're coming off their first win (over winless Wakefield). They'll be sky high. And we could be feeling sorry for ourselves," Winchester Coach Manny Marshall said. "It's got to help their confidence. They won the first and now they'll say, 'let's go out and get number two,' and this time against a team that's won a few."

Reading Coach Jack White agrees the first triumph did a bit to mend the kids' psyche, but doesn't like the idea of facing a Winchester squad that's dropped two straight and should have a completely healthy Gary Errico back after missing all or part of three games.

"It scares me," White said, "that they've lost two in a row. I'm sure Errico will be ready this week and I know he wasn't there for the Watertown game and probably wasn't 100 percent last week."

The Rockets also will have their best running back in top shape for just the second time all season. Halfback Peter Michelini went down with a back injury in the team's opening loss to Marblehead and has played in bits and pieces since then, literally.

But last week against Wakefield he was in good health and bruised his way to a 107-yard game.

With Michelini out most of the year, White's club has gone to the air an average of about 21 times a game, he said. He added he doesn't expect this week to be any different. Last week Burlington's Sean Maguire had a brilliant afternoon passing and White is very aware of that.

"Yeah, that's what we hear, that they can be thrown on," White said. "We'll be working on it."

Calling the signals for the Rockets has been Junior Bob Macaluso, who has completed almost 50 percent of his passes this season. And like Burlington last week, Reading has a decent group of receivers.

Swingback Kevin Healey, split end John McKenna and tight end Joe DiPietro are all capable of fine efforts. White is especially pleased with DiPietro's work this season.

Defensively, the Rockets have had trouble, particularly in preventing the big play. "We've been giving up the long runs, the long bomb," White explained.

As for defending the Sachems, who can still grab a piece of the Middlesex League title if everything falls into place, White says he expects everything.

"We expect their power, we expect their option and we expect them to throw to (tight end Ken) Jacobsen," White said.

They weren't the most talented junior varsity soccer team Coach Donna Tanner had had in her three year coaching stint but they were the hardest working. And it paid off.

The Sachemettes once again won the Middlesex-Merrimack League title, finishing with a 14-1 record. They clinched the title with a pulsating 2-1 overtime win over second place Belmont a few weeks ago. Belmont was the only club to beat Winchester this season.

"In the three years I've been coaching here, they were definitely the hardest working team I had. They were probably the least talented but they worked harder and probably ended up more talented," Tanner said. "That's what makes it more satisfying for me and for them too, to see that their work paid off."

Offensive star of the squad was Patty Ricciardelli, who tied the JV scoring record with 20 points on 12 goals and eight assists. She scored the winning goal again against Belmont and added the hat trick again against Burlington in a 7-0 romp to finish the season.

Other keys to the team's success definitely rest on the shoulders of the goalie tandem of Erica Johanson and Michele McCarthy. The Sachemettes scored 52 goals to their opponents' nine as both goalies compiled a 1.7 goals against average.

Kathy Mangano got the nod as most improved player in Tanner's eyes. Mangano, playing just her first year of organized soccer, scored six goals, two coming in the Burlington rout.

Co-Captain Kathy Fitzgerald also had her usual consistent performance, scoring seven goals and adding three assists. "She was consistent. She was just always there," said Tanner.

A pair of freshmen also made some key late season contributions. Laura Accardo and Karen Serieka both played superbly with Serieka scoring a goal and assisting on the game winner against Belmont.

Karen Kirk and Karen Twichell backed up the defense which was tough from the beginning.

Tanner also cited Kathy Leonard, Mary Fiorillo and Namoya Nelson for the fine passing game in midfield that often got the Sachemette attack started.

Kate Mitchell:

Law Led To Wood

By STEVEN AUSTIN

The line Kate Mitchell's career has followed seems anything but linear.

Law led to carpentry.

Warrants to wood.

Her work life now centers around her Winchester-based carpentry service.

It has been four years now since she was a practicing attorney. The switch from working with words to working with wood is one she's glad she made.

"I practiced and taught for five years," she explained, "but I really wasn't happy. I decided it was more important to do something you like. One day I just said, 'Wait a minute.'"

Undergraduate work led to law school at Boston College. Boston College led to law practices in Boston, New York and Vermont.

Kate was five years into her practice when she decided to become a carpenter.

"It's weird," she said, "lots of people drop-out and get their act together in college. I didn't."

Law led to carpentry.

"I took courses along the way," said Kate of her work with wood.

"When I lawyered, I really lawyered."

She brought the same fervor to her work with wood.

Her major introduction to carpentry came at the Shelter Institute in Bath, Maine, which provided a three-week, intensive, hands-on course.

Kate then built a garage for North Shore Community College.

Then came an apprenticeship with two other women, working under the name of Women's Woodwork.

What followed was restoration work, "cosmetic work," Kate calls it, on houses in the area. That work included the restoration of a porch, circa 1880, in Cambridge.

Kate is now an independent carpenter who subcontracts work from Women's Woodwork.

Her work with wood is something beyond a job; more than a place to spend eight hours a day.

It's the process of creating.

"I just love the element," she said. "One of the wonderful things about working with wood is that it's concrete. It's tangible enough that I can look at it when I'm done and say, 'I did a good job. I created something.'"

Such tangible evidence of creation is not so apparent in law.

"It's difficult to do that sort of thing in law," Kate explained.

"Whatever the judge tells you is not always a good indication of the sort of job you've done."

Kate sees herself as a builder, but of shelters rather than industries.

"I'm really committed to New England," she said. "I'd like to see all of us be able to live here for the next 100 or 200 years."

Her reactions to her career in a non-traditional role have been varied.

"They range from 'Women can't do this sort of work' to others," Kate said.

Women, she has found, react much better.

"Women usually have a great deal of respect for the work," Kate explained. "They know I'll do a good job and they feel safe with me in the house."

Some of the calls Kate receives are in the vein of "women must do the work cheaper."

It is a reaction she has learned to handle.

"I charge for estimates," she explained. "If people are acting in good faith, if they give me the job, the estimate charge is refunded."

Kate works alone and with crews of one, two, three or four women.

While she says she has no regrets concerning her career switch, there are times when the security her law practice offered seems attractive.

"I don't have any regrets," Kate said. "I can have bad times, though. It was so easy to be on salary. And, it's hard to create everyday."

Bad days aside, what remains is what Kate has discovered about working.

"I think we as women can do just about anything we want. We can become builders."

And she's discovered something else; something much more basic.

"Every human being has a right to be satisfied in their work," she said.

And Kate Mitchell is satisfied, with her work and with herself.

Law led to carpentry.

Carpentry led Kate to Kate.

High School Offers Patrick's 'Savage'

The Winchester High School Curtain and Cue Society is now in its final week of rehearsal for "The Curious Savage."

John Patrick's comedy will be presented in the high school auditorium on Friday, Nov. 21, and Saturday, Nov. 22, at 8:00 p.m.

Playing the lead role of Mrs. Savage will be Lisa Hirschhorn, known for her portrayal of Anne Frank in last year's fall play.

Mrs. Savage's crazy desire to give away ten million dollars causes uproar in the quiet lives of her children, and they decide to have her unjustly committed to a home for the mentally ill. Mrs. Savage's chic but obnoxious daughter, Lily Belle, will be played by Valerie Kolligian. Brian Milauskas and Joe Reid play her two famous sons, Titus the Senator, and Samuel the judge.

Although it is evident to Dr. Emmett (Peter Gittleman) that Mrs. Savage is not really senile, he and his assistant, Miss Willie (Margie Johnson) are forced to keep her there because of the influence of her three children.

Mrs. Savage's stay at "The Cloisters" proves to be both emotionally upsetting and hilariously funny. The patients who live there all have strange quirks and idiosyncrasies, but they add love and happiness to the life of this lonely old woman.

First, there is Hannibal (Dan Schutzberg), who honestly believes that he is a virtuoso violinist. Unfortunately for the others, he only knows two notes. Jeffrey (Kevin Merritt) is a magnificent pianist, but won't play because of the awful scar on his face, which no one can see but himself. And then there are Fairy Mae (Pilar Pittas) who does not see what the mirror should tell her and Florence (Sarah Hunter) who believes that a plastic doll is truly her five-year-old son.

And last but not least, Mrs. Paddy (Melissa Eugley) who refuses to speak and who gave up electricity for Lent.

"The Curious Savage" is being directed by Joanne Stevens, well-known for her work with The Arlington Friends of Drama. It is being produced by Burton O. Cowgill. The sets were designed by senior Marina Sartori. Stage manager is Will Moore, and Chris Potts is in charge of set construction. Other students are also involved with different aspects of the production, costumes, props, publicity and stage crew.

So where did Mrs. Savage hide the ten million dollars? Why was Lily Belle arrested? Why don't the patients of "The Cloisters" ever say goodnight? Who turned off the lights? And what valuable message did the patients teach Mrs. Edith P. Savage?

For the answers to these and hundreds of other questions, come to the Winchester High School's fall production of John Patrick's "The Curious Savage." Tickets are $2.50, and are available from all cast members as well as at the door.

Putnam Lectures On Death In Symmes Room Nov. 15

The Winchester Ecumenical Association will sponsor an open meeting Saturday, Nov. 15 at 8 p.m. in the Symmes Room of the Unitarian Church.

The subject will be "A Matter of Life and Death," with guest speaker will be author and lecturer Dr. Peter Brock Putnam of Princeton.

Dr. Putnam is a college lecturer who has written of the kind of self-inflicted injury that in his case resulted in blindness. He will speak on the subject of questions of personal worth and the special terrors of drifting and dead end feelings.

The Ecumenical Association has gathered support for this occasion. Rev. Charles Reinhardt will introduce Dr. Putnam and his colleague Rev. James Haddad of St. Eulalia's Church, who will moderate the discussion among invited panelists and the audience.

There will be representation from the schools, church and community. Among those serving on the panel are Dr. Leo Lieberman, Joanne Morgan, Rev. David Purdy and Rev. Rachelle Birnbaum.

Young people of Winchester are especially invited to participate in this evening of discussion

Chamber Music Concert Set Nov. 15 At 10 Church St.

A concert of baroque chamber music for recorder, violin, and harpsichord will be presented at the Parish of the Epiphany, 10 Church St., Nov. 15 at 8 p.m. The public is invited. A donation will be requested.

The performers will include Sheila Beardslee, recorder, Stanley Silverman, violin, and Frederick Surr, harpsichord. They will play trios by Telemann and Pepusch, a violin sonata by Vivaldi, recorder sonata by Handel, and harpsichord suite by Froberger.

Beardslee, holder of a Master's Degree in the performance of early music from New England Conservatory, teaches recorder at Tufts University. She was heard here in last summer's Cloister Garden Series when she performed with the New England Baroque Ensemble, a group which she also directs.

Harpsichordist Surr received a Master's Degree in music from Boston University, where he studied with Mark Kroll.

Silverman is concertmaster of the Concord Symphony and plays violin with the Vermont and New Hampshire symphony orchestras. He earned both Bachelor's and Master's Degrees

Judith Gaughan Engaged To Arthur Warren

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent M. Gaughan of Palm Beach, Fla. and Hamburg, N.Y., announce the engagement of their daughter Judith Ann, to Mr. Arthur Warren, IV of Winchester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Warren, III of West Yarmouth.

Miss Gaughan received her law degree from Suffolk University Law School in Boston in June.

She is currently an associate with the law offices of Kahn and Associates, Boston. She received her B.A. degree from Manhattanville College, Purchase, N.Y. She later received her Master of Arts degree from Harvard University and then attended Trinity College, Dublin Ireland where she was awarded a Master of Education degree with honors.

Mt. Holyoke Club Members Attend Meeting

Returning to Mount Holyoke College recently were local club president Mrs. Webster B. Brockelman Jr. and council board member, Mrs. Robert Oppenheimer who attended the college's annual alumnae council meeting as delegates.

Mount Holyoke, an all women's college, has been sensitive to the rapidly changing environment of the educated woman who, today is not only in volunteer work, but is more and more seeking paid employment and advanced degrees.

In order to help in the job market and educational sphere, the association, jointly with career services, has embarked on a new project to encourage the development of a nationwide network of alumnae who are willing to share their experience in various fields of work with other alumnae and undergraduates.

Susan Norris Marries John Carr In Needham

On Saturday, Oct. 18, Susan Elizabeth Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Norris of Needham, was married to John Patrick Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Carr of Winchester.

The 10:00 Mass was celebrated by Reverend Thomas Casey at Saint Joseph's Church in Needham. A reception followed the ceremony at the Towne Lyne House in Lynnfield.

Serving as Matron of Honor was the Bride's sister, Mrs. Barbara Mullen of Needham. Her husband, Thomas Mullen was also an attendant.

The groom's brother, Arthur F. Carr, Jr. of Winchester was the Best Man, and his wife, Kathleen Carr served as an attendant. Christina Norris-Mullen was the flower girl.

Additional members of the wedding party included Thomas Carr and Michael Carr, brothers of the groom from Winchester, Charles Rotondi and Alexander Muley, Jr., both originally from Winchester and presently residing in Newburyport and White Plains, N.Y., respectively. Mary Ann LaBrie of Holyoke, Mrs. Cheryl Dugre of Chicopee, Mrs. Janice Geyer Clark and Mrs. Diane Titus Risko, both former Needham residents presently residing in West Roxbury and Millis, respectively.

Miss Norris is a graduate of Needham High School and Framingham State College. She is presently employed by Massachusetts Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti.

Carr is a graduate of Harvard University and Suffolk University School of Law. He is currently an Associate with the Boston law firm of Lyne, Woodworth and Everts.

Having recently returned from a honeymoon in Bermuda the couple will reside in Newton Highlands.

Power Boy

Mr. and Mrs. Barry John Power of Woburn announce the birth of their first child, a son, Justin Alexander, Sept. 28 at the Boston Hospital for Women.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Power of Woburn and Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Cullivan of Winchester.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William M. Cooke of Woburn.

In 1886 Winchester saw its first street cars. The horse drawn cars jingled through the center of town about once every hour. But, even that disturbance of the peace was resented by some citizens who made a valiant but unsuccessful attempt to persuade the Selectmen to refuse permission for the trucks to enter town.

Lang Boy

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lang of Acton announce the birth of their third child, a son, Mark Charles, Oct. 28 in Winchester Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. D.C. Lang of Woburn and Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Maggioro of Winchester.

Thoms Boy

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Thoms of Chatham announce the birth of their first child, a son, Christopher Damon, Oct. 31 at Cape Cod Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. David B. Thoms of Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Harris of Clearwater, Fla.

Llanso Boy

Steven L. and Linda E. Diksa Llanso announce the birth of their son, Peter Diksa Llanso, Oct. 3 at Waltham Hospital. The Llansos, formerly of Medford, now reside at 11 Norwood st. Grandparents are Captain F. J. and the late Jane Wason Llanso of Westwood, N.J. and Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Diksa of Walnut Hill Farm, Middletown, Del.

Parking Spaces Examined

Editor's Note: The following is the ninth in a series submitted by Winchester Hospital on planned construction at the Highland Avenue facility.

The proposed construction and renovation project is intended to provide by 1985 two parking spaces per bed for a total of 440 spaces. This objective is consistent with federal standards and is less than the number requested in the application filed in 1976 with the Public Health Department.

The 440 space objective is also conservative when contrasted with typical community hospital standards. Yet it is especially appropriate considering the limitations of the existing site, the capacities of the surrounding residential streets and the intent of the local zoning ordinance.

Planned on-site parking will be provided as follows:

Users
Planning Criteria
Spaces Provided

Employees	235
Medical Staff	50
Outpatients	25
Volunteers	20
Visitors	90
Students	20
Total	440

1 space per 3 FTE (fulltime equivalent employees)
1 space per 5 active-courtesy staff
1 space per 4 visits per day
1 space per 1.5 volunteers
1 space per 2 occupied beds
1 space per 1.5 students

This parking capacity is equal to 2.55 spaces per medical-surgical bed for the number of beds proposed in this application. In August, our consultants surveyed other Health Service Area IV community hospitals whose medical-surgical bed complements are similar to Winchester's, with the following results:

Hospital	Medical-Surgical Beds	Parking Spaces
Spaulding	161	263
Milton	196	362
Norwood	205	622
Leonard Morse	210	731
Framingham Union	210	731

Milton Hospital reports its current capacity is inadequate and is planning an additional 107 spaces; the resulting ratio would be 2.48 spaces per medical-surgical bed.

Norwood Hospital also reports inadequate capacity and is planning a total of 550 spaces, producing a ratio of 2.80 spaces per medical-surgical bed. Framingham Union Hospital is planning increased parking capacity as part of its current development program.

Winchester Hospital and its neighbors share an interest in addressing an intolerable parking problem.

Moreover, both residential and hospital interests will benefit from increased on-site capacity and the resulting relief from curb parking within the adjacent neighborhood. Letters received from many local organizations indicate a significant public interest in alleviating the congestion now plaguing the Hospital and the surrounding neighborhood.

The garage with a capacity of 305 cars, will be constructed on the site and will contain a total of 98,190 gross square feet. Every effort has been made in the design to assure that it presents the least aesthetic obstruction to the residential or hospital settings. Its low profile is designed to take advantage of the existing topography while its access patterns are consistent with the existing use of the surrounding streets. Set-backs and landscaping together with the additional open space generated by removal of the Russell House, are designed to relate this structure to adjacent neighborhood and Hospital development.

In addition to this garage, on-site surface parking will be retained for 135 cars affording the total of 440 parking spaces by 1985.

At the conclusion of the construction and renovation project, the Russell House will be removed. The resulting open space will be used for essential on-site access to and from the parking garage and the emergency service. Restored and landscaped open space will complement the new construction by enhancing its apparent set-back from the facing neighborhood.

Forum Deals With Allergies Nov. 18 At Jenks Center

"You and Your Allergies" is the title of a forum to be held Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 7:45 p.m. at the Jenks Senior Center, 109 Skillings rd.

Dr. Catherine L. O'Brien, of Winchester, and Dr. William Franklin, of Boston, will sit on the panel moderated by Doris Scheff. The evening is sponsored by the New England Chapter of the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America.

Dr. O'Brien and Dr. Franklin will discuss the nature, symptoms and treatment of such common allergic diseases as hay fever, hives, eczema and asthma. They will also answer any audience questions. The correct use of all types of inhalators will be demonstrated. Recommended diets and other educational material will be available.

Today nearly 38 million Americans suffer from common allergic disorders. In addition, allergic disorders may aggravate the condition of countless patients with heart, lung, or liver disorders and other diseases.

The New England Chapter of the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America is a public service organization founded by a group of physicians and laypersons to increase public awareness and knowledge concerning allergic diseases. A hotline is in operation to provide assistance to individuals and families seeking information on service available within New England.

The forum is open to the public free of charge.

For additional information, please contact Mrs. Leo H. Daley of Winchester, who serves as coordinator of forums for the foundation.

Big Business

Thinking of investing? Then there are some publications you might look at when you visit the Business Table in the reference room at the Library.

One of them is "Standard & Poor's Industry Surveys". This will give you descriptive material about productivity possibilities in an industry as well as graphs on market action, sales, income, etc.

In the field of electronic data processing, this publication forecasts that "Data processing is at the threshold of a new era...computer systems and technological developments for the 1980's should fall into a great variety of patterns...new computers will be more evolutionary in nature in the early 1980's but far more revolutionary in the late 1980's and 1990's."

The United States, for instance, is expected to ship world-wide in 1980 16 1/2 billion dollars worth of general purpose computers. The value of these shipments could rise to over 20 billion dollars worth in 1984.

This publication also takes into account in its survey of this particular industry what is going on in other countries which might affect the U. S. market. What about the development of the computer products in Japan? There have been predictions that the Japanese by 1990 could overtake 18 percent of the U.S. computer market.

If you are looking for information about mutual funds, you might glance at "Investment Companies, 1980" put out by the Wiesenberger Financial Services. It is an annual compendium, giving a wide range of information on investment companies. It gives statistical history, a mention of special services, officers, etc. Interestingly enough, in looking through the graphs of investment returns, it appears that mutual funds did not do so well in the mid 1970's.

Thinking of municipal bonds? "Moody's Analytical Overview of 25 Leading U.S. Cities", published by Moody's Investors Service, Inc., has a general rating as to credit, an analysis of economic and social factors, governmental factors, and so forth. Several cities got a triple "A" rating, but no so Boston.

These are only a few of the publications which could be of assistance to the investor. Don't forget "The Wall Street Journal", which not only focuses on tax reports and what's new in business, finance, and world-wide news, but also on the new fashionable trends of the times.

One of its latest items for Nov. 5 was what millions of women read avidly: historical romances.

Engineering Firm Opens New Office

Aberjona Engineering, Inc. opened its Winchester office last week with a housewarming for fellow Winchester business and professional people.

John M. Looney, P.E. of Winthrop street, lifelong resident of Winchester and Alan A. Vitukevich, P.E. of Melrose, are the principals of this structural engineering firm.

They selected the top floor of the old Masonic building at 1 Mount Vernon st. because their experience in recycling old buildings allowed them to see the potential of this building for recycled office space.

Looney, a graduate of Tufts University and Northeastern Graduate School has been a structural engineer for several local firms including Richard J. Donovan of Winchester and, most recently, was chief engineer and associate with the Boston architectural firm of Childs, Bertman, Tseckares and Cassendino. Looney is also a Townmeeting Member and member of the Conservation Commission.

Vitukevich, a graduate of Northeastern University has been a structural engineer for several local firms including Richard J. Donovan and, most recently, with the Cambridge firm of Simpson, Gumpertz and Heger, Inc.

Recent work of the firm includes: Twelve buildings at Fernald Site School in Wallham, recycling the old Salvi Ford building in North Cambridge, "This Old House" on Channel 2 and Woodex of New England, a company producing wood pellets for a new type of fuel from timber waste products.

Newcomers Slate Coffee Nov. 20

Winchester Newcomers Club invites all new residents and Club members to their monthly coffee to be held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church (Church and Dix streets) Nov. 20 from 10-11:30 a.m. in the church meeting hall. Babysitting will be available in the church nursery for a nominal fee.

TITLE INSURANCE

Title Insurance spares the buyer from parting with his purchase money and then discovering a faulty condition of the title.

Public records that affect titles are not always completely accurate. For instance, there may be errors or omissions in recording deeds or mortgages, assessments and judgments. These, or other defects, can crop up affecting or even voiding the title. Title insurance allows the buyer to breathe easier. It assures him that he has clear title to the property.

However, title insurance protects only against undisclosed defects, not those known.

At the time the policy is issued. But by calling attention to them, it places the burden of their removal upon the seller, depending on the terms of the contract.

There is only a one-time premium — paid when the policy is issued. The coverage continues as long as you or your heirs hold title to the property.

In all your real estate needs — buying — selling & rentals — appraisals — consultation — please phone or drop in at:

Lynch Students Entertained By Opera Company

Lynch School students were among those who were introduced to opera by the company Young Audiences of Boston. The Company talked to the children about opera in general and explained how stories are told through song and of the different ways in which the music dramatizes particular scenes.

The children enjoyed the audience participation when they were able to perform with the Company scenes including Wonder Woman and Superman.

The group demonstrated the various "voices" used in song and the excitement it brings to portray feelings in a story whether it is done in English or in any other language.

Obituaries

Catherine Kennedy

Catherine A. Kennedy, 61, of 31 Sargent rd., died Nov. 6 in Winchester Hospital from myocardial infarction.

Born in Winchester June 19, 1919, she was a life-long resident of the town. Educated at St. Mary's School, she was a member of the Class of 1939. A bookkeeper for 20 years with the Industrial Heating and Piping Company in Reading, she was for the past two years employed by DeStefano Studios in Woburn. A member of St. Mary's Church and of the church's Ladies Sodality, she was active in ceramics in Stoneham.

She was the daughter of the late Judge Patrick J. and Mary A. Kennedy.

Survivors include a sister, Mary G. Kennedy of Winchester.

The funeral was Monday at Lane Funeral Home followed by a Mass in St. Mary's Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery in Woburn.

Memorial donations may be made to the Winchester Hospital Fund at 41 Highland ave.

Arrangements by Lane Funeral Home.

Viola Smith

Viola F. Forshner Smith, 80, of 75 Middlesex st., died Nov. 10 in St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton following a long illness.

Born in Winthrop and a former Medford resident, she was a resident of Winchester for 40 years. She was a member of the Winchester Senior Citizens Association.

She was the wife of the late Herbert W. Smith.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. William (Beverly) Ryerson of Winchester and three grandchildren.

The funeral is today at 11 a.m. at the Robert J. Costello Funeral Home with the Rev. Louis R. Beckwith of the First Baptist Church in Medford officiating. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery in Everett.

Donations in her memory may be made to the St. Elizabeth's Hospital Foundation care of Renal Research, 159 Washington st., Brighton.

Arrangements by Robert J. Costello Funeral Home.

Joseph Cullinane

Joseph R. Cullinane, 54, of 200 Swanton st., died Nov. 10 in Choate Hospital in Woburn from myocardial infarction.

Born in Everett and a 1944 graduate of Medford High School, he was a Winchester resident for 25 years.

The former owner of the Humpty Dumpty Sandwich Restaurant in Medford and the Splendid Lunch Restaurant in Winchester, he was a former steward at the Medford Boat Club. Formerly employed at the R.D. Maxwell Company Machine Shop, he was for the past five years maintenance supervisor with the Winchester Housing Authority. He was a member of the Winchester Council of the Knights of Columbus.

He was the son of Mrs. Helen G. Brine Cullinane.

Survivors include a son, Joseph J. Cullinane of Woburn; two daughters, Karen A. Flynn and Dianne M. Cullinane, both of Woburn and two grandchildren.

The funeral will be today at 9:15 a.m. from the Lane Funeral Home followed by a Mass in St. Mary's Church at 10 a.m.

Burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to the American Heart Association, 112 Cypress st., Brookline.

Arrangements by Lane Funeral Home.

Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and deep appreciation to our friends and neighbors who by their words of consolation and acts of kindness helped to lighten the burden of our recent sorrow.

For the number of floral tributes, memorials, spiritual bouquets and sympathy cards we are grateful.

The Family of the late Babe Mullen

The Winchester Ecumenical Association is sponsoring the OXFAM Day of Fast again this year for the entire community.

On Thursday, Nov. 20, individuals and families are asked to fast the entire day and to donate to the OXFAM's relief efforts the money that they would have

Beamis Appointed To Medical Staff At Lahey Clinic

Dr. John F. Beamis, Jr. has been appointed to the Associate Medical Staff in the Department of Internal Medicine at the Lahey Clinic. He is practicing in the Section of Pulmonary Medicine.

A former medical resident at Lahey Clinic, Dr. Beamis graduated from the University of Notre Dame in Indiana, in 1968, and received his M.D. degree from the University of Vermont in 1970.

He was an intern at Charity Hospital of Louisiana, Tulane Division and served a residency at the New England Deaconess Hospital in Internal Medicine.

Additionally, Dr. Beamis was a Fellow in Pulmonary Diseases at Lahey Clinic and Deaconess Hospital in 1974 and the Naval Regional Medical Center, San Diego in 1977.

Dr. Beamis spent two years as the staff internist at the U.S. Naval Branch Clinic, Sasebo, Japan, and, for the past two years has been head of the Chest Medicine Branch and Director of the Cardiopulmonary Laboratory, Department of Internal Medicine, at the Naval Regional Medical Center in Oakland, Calif.

He is a member of the American and California Thoracic Societies, the American College of Physicians and is a Fellow of the American College of Chest Physicians.

On Nov. 24, the Lahey Clinic will relocate to the Lahey Clinic Medical Center in Burlington, where it will expand its capabilities for ambulatory care and provide inpatient care, as well. Adjacent to the Burlington Mall and Route 128, the seven-story complex houses a large outpatient care center.

spent on food that day. The fast day will conclude with the breaking of the fast at a community celebration to be held at the Parish of the Epiphany at 70 Church st., at 6:30 p.m.

Persons and families planning to participate are asked to bring with them both their OXFAM offering and bread, cheese or juice to share with others as the day's fast is broken. The program for the celebration is being planned by representatives from the various religious groups which comprise the Association, including Roman Catholic and Protestant Churches and the Jewish Community Association.

OXFAM is a private, non-denominational relief program, which has been on the forefront of relief efforts around the world for two decades.

In Cambodia, it has been the coordinator for a consortium of some twenty private and religious relief agencies.

While OXFAM continues its concern for the situation in Cambodia, it is focussing its attention this year upon the plight of twenty million people threatened with famine this year in the area generally referred to as the Horn of Africa.

OXFAM does not just supply immediate relief in the form of foodstuffs and clothing, but stresses projects among the people to improve crop and livestock production, distribution and marketing. Because of its non-demonstrational characteristics, as well as its record of humane concern, it has been deemed by the W.E.A. as an agency which can elicit the support of people of various religious convictions.

Individual religious groups are encouraged by the Ecumenical Association to stimulate interest in the OXFAM Day of Fast within their own settings.

Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church, for example, is sponsoring a sale of home-made bread for raising money for OXFAM and to raise to conscious awareness the need and purpose of OXFAM's relief efforts.

A film strip is available describing the work of OXFAM in Cambodia for religious and civic groups preparing to participate in the fast.

Contact W.E.A.'s Secretary, the Reverend David Purdy (729-9813) if your group would be interested in using the film-strip.

Jenks Senior Center

109 Skillings Road,
Winchester, Massachusetts 01890
Telephone (617) 729-2111

The Winchester Seniors Association and the Council on Aging are holding a reception for Sara Dillon at the Jenks Senior Center on November 16 from 12 noon to 2 p.m. Sara has served as a very able program administrator for three years. Her resignation leaves a great void at the Jenks Senior Center. The public is invited.

In order to provide adequately for refreshments, those who plan to attend are asked to call the Center, 729-2111, to make a reservation.

The Winchester Seniors Association will hold a Mini Fair on Dec. 13 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Snack Bar will be open all day. Delicious home-cooked food will be served.

The following tables provide opportunities for last minute Christmas shopping: Polly McGuigan, Gift Shoppe; Dot Cullen, Jewelry; Ruth Thompson, Holiday; Helen Murphy, Women's Boutique; Ken Cullen, Men's Boutique; May Hambly, Knit Goods; Norm and Betty Reed, Claxton Fruit Cakes; Snack Bar, Randy and Rena Kazazian.

There will be two valuable prizes to go to the holders of the lucky numbers. A large crocheted afghan, 54" x 84", with black background is highlighted by 500 colorful designs. This handiwork was donated by Peggy Barrows. The second item is a large Christmas wreath of pine cones and other artistic decorations donated by Claire Donohoe. These will be raffled off on the afternoon of the day of the fair.

Tickets for these gifts are now on sale at the desk of the Jenks Senior Center.

Nurse Open House

Registered nurses can learn about work benefits and continuing education units during Sancta Maria Hospital's open house on Nov. 16 from 2 to 5 and Nov. 18 from 12 to 6.

Wine, cheese, hospital tours and informal meetings with clinical coordinators will be featured at the hospital at 799 Concord ave., Cambridge. At 3 p.m. each day a professional talk will be given.

Lecture Deals With School Problems Nov. 20

At 11 a.m. the phone rings. Mother receives a call from school. Johnny is sick and wants to go home. This incident is not unusual. Johnny has left school 11 five times in the past month.

Physical illness is not the problem for Johnny. He does not like school and uses sickness to avoid school.

"Children give many indications that they don't want to go to school", says Mary SanMartino, Director of the Lexington branch of Mystic Valley Mental Health Center Association, Inc. "Some children are sick in the morning or have a headache; others are sent home from school; while many children act out in the classroom."

Parents of children who resist going to school face difficult decisions on how to handle this situation. SanMartino thinks a firm, but supportive position is needed. Parents should encourage children to go to school if the child is not sick; although a mother's sympathy and empathy may interfere with needed firmness.

Why children have a difficult time accepting school varies. A four or five-year-old, fearful and away from mother for the first time, finds the separation difficult. Other children may feel rejected when they are sent to school and mother or father is home with a sibling.

Illness or stress in the family may also encourage children to want to stay at home while an upsetting event at school with peers or a teacher discourages a child from liking school.

Reluctance to attend school can be stopped if caught early. Often it is hard for a parent to intervene and be consistent with a child because of the parents own feelings.

To help parents explore "What To Do When Your Child Doesn't Want To Go To School" Mystic Valley Mental Health Center Association, Inc. is sponsoring a free lecture on Thursday night, Nov. 20 from 7:30-8:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart Church, Follen Road, Lexington. SanMartino, branch director and social worker, will be the speaker.

Mystic Valley Mental Health Center Association, Inc. is a private non-profit agency which serves the towns of Lexington, Arlington, Winchester, Wilmington, Burlington and Woburn.

Business Problems
The Institute for Small Business Concerns at Middlesex Community College will give a seminar on "Problem Clinic for Small Business Operators" Nov. 21.

A Day In The Life Of Winchester

On Monday, Nov. 10, eight Boston University photojournalism students came to town to record on film a day in the life of our town. They captured the normal, the abnormal and everything in between. The photo essay continues on page 17.

A DAY IN — People of all ages were busy doing all sorts of things here in Winchester on Monday, November 10. Michael John Geljookian (left) started his day and life out at Winchester Hospital at 1:14 p.m., the new son of John and Nancy Geljookian of North Reading. Dozens of senior citizens, meanwhile, spent a large part of the day literally swinging — the pair below got into the act at the Jenks Center's regular square dance session. Kids, naturally, spend much of their day in school. Elias Tiliakos (bottom right), 6, of 9 Eaton st., worked hard in Miss Baranti's first grade class at the Lincoln School. All day Monday, as every day, Winchester was monitored by the police department. Sergeant Angelo Amico (upper right) kept his eye and ear on the town for the department late that night. Sgt. Amico wasn't the only one busy Monday night, however. A familiar sight on any night in downtown Winchester are the occasional carloads of cruising and drinking youths (above), a group of whom stopped for gas in the Center and posed enthusiastically for The Star. For an hour-by-hour photographic account of Monday, November 10 in Winchester, see pages 17-19.

Meeting Okays Bartlett Move

By RICHARD McSWEENEY

After lengthy and often fruitless debate since the Spring Town Meeting, the Bartlett School was finally given the okay to move from the Wyman to the Parkhurst School next summer.

And the predicted problems of what to do with the Wyman School was easily and quickly resolved when Town Meeting last week authorized the Selectmen and the Alternative School Use Committee to solicit condominium proposals for the Church street property. The condominium conversion received near unanimous support of the Wyman neighborhood.

So just when everything appeared settled a misunderstanding over wording in the lease between the Bartlett School and the town has surfaced.

Under a draft Selectman Chairman Wade Welch thought had been informally agreed to by both sides, the Bartlett would have a five-year lease for the Parkhurst building with a five-year renewal option subject to the approval of the Board of Selectmen.

When he told Town Meeting that's what the anticipated deal would include, Bartlett Attorney Robert Graves informed him he had a totally different understanding of the agreement.

Graves said his understanding of the lease agreement, which has yet to be executed, was that Bartlett would have the sole authority to decide whether to renew the lease after five years and that the Selectmen did not have power of approval.

"It's something we have to work out," Graves said. "The details of the terms have not been agreed to but I don't anticipate there being any problems."

Welch expressed total surprise at Graves' understanding of the lease. "My understanding was that after five years the Selectmen could throw them (Bartlett) out if they were a lousy tenant," Welch said. "I don't know where we missed connections but Bob (Graves) apparently disagreed. But I have to tell you, I was honestly surprised. I didn't think there was anything to negotiate and that's still (Selectmen approval) what I'm going to work for."

Other terms of the draft agreement that both sides apparently agree to are that the rent will start at $16,000 for the first year and increase by $2,000 each year until 1986. If the lease is renewed the rent would be determined by using $24,000 as a base and adding the cost of living increase for Aug. 1, 1986.

Also, Bartlett will not be able to sublease the building without approval of the Selectmen and maintenance and repairs except for major structural changes (roof, walls, heating) will be the responsibility of the Bartlett School.

Assuming the differences can be

Town Meeting To Handle Cuts

The final say on where $648,000 in budget reductions made necessary by Proposition 2.5 will be made will be in the hands of Town Meeting and not the Selectmen and other town boards.

Town Meeting ordered that the Selectmen come back on Dec. 4 with a list of recommended budget cuts for their approval, over the objections of the Selectmen and against the advice of State Rep. Sherman "Whip" Saltmarsh.

"Our policy is going to be to reduce expenditures by $650,000," Selectman Chairman Wade Welch said at last week's session. "We are going to reduce our expenditures. We are not going to run this town in the red."

Saltmarsh agreed that the faster the town decided where the cuts would be made, the better off it would be. "I urge you to leave it up to the selectmen and the respective boards. It's well intentioned (motion to give Town Meeting the final say) but it's going to open a real can of worms," he said.

The $648,000 in cuts is the figure Town Comptroller Alphonse Faggiano has calculated to be the impact of the reduction in the auto excise tax that goes into effect Dec. 4. Under Prop. 2.5, the excise tax is reduced from $66 per thousand to $25 per thousand.

Welch asked that the Selectmen and other necessary town boards be allowed to make the reductions on their own. Town Meeting disagreed.

An amendment offered by David Mortensen, 6 Alesworth ave., changed the wording of the article from allowing the Selectmen to "initiate policy and

Neighbors, Hospital Clash

Winchester Hospital officials and residents living in the area surrounding the Highland Avenue facility squared off Thursday night at a public hearing sponsored by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health (MDPH). Winchester Hospital Neighbors (WHN) a group organized in August which plans to fight the proposal for a $19 million renovation project at the facility sited economic, environmental and marketing considerations as reasons behind their opposition to the project.

WHN chairperson Margaret A. McCarthy said that while the group agrees that the hospital should upgrade medical services, it opposes the construction of a parking garage, board and conference room and assembly hall. Calling the proposal to build a parking garage the "most outrageous economic aspect" of the plan, McCarthy said the price tag of the structure, set now at $1.8 million but expected to rise to from $2.6 to $2.8 million by 1985, was excessive.

She said the garage would eliminate 140 existing parking spaces leaving a net gain of 163 spaces.

SARAH DILLON HONORED—Sarah Dillon, the former director of the Jenks Senior Center who left recently after more than three years in that post, was honored at a reception Sunday at the Center. The Center, the Seniors Association and the Council on Aging said Dillon had made the Center "one of, if not the finest organization of its kind in the state." worked out, the fate of the vacant schools has been resolved. The Bartlett to Parkhurst move received the support of the Selectmen, the Finance Committee and most of the Parkhurst neighborhood.

William Caci, a Parkhurst neighborhood resident who has pushed for condominiums or single-family house lots on the site, complained that the lease was not specific enough and offered three amendments intended to be included in any lease agreement.

The three amendments were all defeated by Town Meeting voters. One called for a change in the rent structure that would put the rent at no less than 75 percent of the fair market value of the building and grounds.

The second requested a clear delineation of uses of the building to prevent the future expansion of the Bartlett school to possibly a high school, junior college or regular college and to limit the hours of operation.

The final amendment asked that the lease be reduced from 10 years to four years.

Both Welch and Finance Committee Chairman Robert Frank opposed the amendments and urged approval of the Bartlett to Parkhurst move. Both men asserted that the private Kindergarten through Grade Eight school was an asset to the town and that it had near unanimous support of the neighborhood. "If you like the Bartlett School and you think the neighborhood views carry great weight then I urge you most respectfully to vote for the article," Welch told the meeting.

Frank argued that the sale of the Parkhurst for $150,000 to develop nine single-family house lots would not generate significantly more income for the town than moving Bartlett into the building.

He maintained that nine lots sold at $135,000 each would generate about $30,000 in tax revenues for the town. But after school costs for children in the nine homes and community services for the homes were added up the total annual revenue to the town would be closer to $15,000-$18,000.

By having Bartlett lease the property, the town could hang onto the building and have the school available should the birth rate reverse itself in the future.

He pointed out that in 1970 there were 5,500 students in the Winchester school system and now that was reduced to just 3,770.

"You cannot say whether 15 years from now there will be 5,500 kids in the school system," Frank said. "It's too hard to predict 10, 15, 20 years down the road what the enrollment will be and you would be fooling yourself if you thought you could. On balance, I think it's the wise thing to protect ourselves against the things we can't anticipate."

Caci argued in vain that the rent Bartlett pays the town is still too low. "The Bartlett School is an asset to the community and I'd like to see it stay here," Caci said. "But I'd just like to see them pay their fair share."

Frank disagreed. "Getting top dollar for the property is not the most important thing right now," he repeated.

The Wyman neighborhood residents, meanwhile, came to a quick agreement on what they thought should be done with the Wyman School. Meeting the night before the Town Meeting, the neighborhood voted 31-3 to convert the property into condominiums.

An amendment asking for solicitation of bids for both condominium conversion and multi-family rental development was defeated.

Re-Use Committee Chairman Charles Tseckares said because of financial reasons it would not be reasonable to convert the property into apartments based on his experiences in converting the Washington School into condominiums.

For it to be a feasible project for a developer, he would have to charge as much as $950 rent to make money on the deal, Tseckares said.

Another suggestion that the Wyman School be considered for a youth center or community center was also rejected.

FinCom member Helen Philliou said because of Prop. 2.5 her earlier proposal to transform the school into a community center that would include a day care center as well as facilities for the elderly and the youth was now unfeasible.

"I saw it as a way to get the most people of all kinds into the building. But as much as I wanted to be creative, it's just not the time," she added. She explained that although a similar set-up was now working successfully in Concord, that facility took five years to become self-sufficient.

The Re-Use Committee will now use the same procedure on soliciting bids for the Wyman condo conversion and hope to have a recommendation ready for Spring Town Meeting.

Committee, Parents Debate Athlete Program

Parents of Winchester High School athletes with complaints about the program should ask the coach to address the problem and if they aren't satisfied with his response, bring the matter to Athletic Director William Colella's attention.

That was the primary message delivered to a group of about 30 onlookers at the School Committee's meeting last week that dealt with the philosophy of sports at Winchester High School.

The two-hour long session addressed various issues including how sports are selected, how coaches are selected, how letters are awarded and what is the general philosophy in Winchester.

But the most talked about subject proved to be what parents should do if they are not pleased or have questions about the program their child is participating in.

"There is a fear of reprisal because of complaints by parents against their kids. It does happen. At least people think so," said School Committee member Mary Jean Weylman.

"I don't buy that and I'll tell you why," Colella answered. "If I heard a parent went to a coach (with a complaint) and then wasn't giving that boy or girl a chance and I seriously believed that then he would probably have trouble getting recommended again," he said, explaining that coaching jobs are one-year appointments with annual evaluations of the staff by Colella.

"I would not like to think that any of my coaches would take advantage of any child because a parent approached them," Colella added.

Weylman remained unconvinced. "It's a fact of life. They (parents) are definitely hesitant."

One parent in the audience, Daniel Serieka of Lincoln street, insisted it was a parents' responsibility to approach the coach or Colella if there were any problems. He explained that he once had differences with a coach of his child and when he went to him, "the reaction to me was positive. A parent has to take responsibility. If you don't have the courage of your convictions then I don't think you should sit back and criticize," he added.

School Committee member Constance Papas asked Colella about "word of mouth" complaints of the coaching staff at the high school.

"There seems to be a general dissatisfaction with the coaching in Winchester. I don't know whether it's valid or not. It's a word of mouth attitude. If you say your coaches are as good as you think they are then I say you've got to do a little better selling job. Not to me but to the public," Papas said. "I can't do anything unless people come to me with the criticisms," Colella replied.

The other primary area of discussion centered around the philosophy adhered to at WHS, concerning the importance of winning and levels of participation.

Colella said at the freshmen, sophomore and junior varsity level the goal is to get everybody to play. Period.

"At the subvarsity level all should play as much as possible. And the games I attend I try to make sure that is followed. We don't try to win championships at the freshmen or JV level," Colella said.

"But at the varsity level it's a different situation. Our philosophy is to play the best players with substituting only as the need or situation dictates. It can be very difficult for the person who doesn't play," he concluded.

And that led to the question of what the goals are for the coaches. Is there a win-at-any-cost philosophy at Winchester High School?

"The primary goal of any coach is to teach good sportsmanship but certainly at the varsity level it's to win those games. But not at all costs," he said.

Colella, citing the success of the athletic program that last year had Winchester ranked ninth among the 55 Division 1 schools, said the yearly evaluation process insured that good coaches remained and that poor ones eventually get dismissed.

"We don't really judge coaches on their win-loss record. We have some coaches who have not had as much success as other coaches but are very good coaches," Colella said.

Robbery Suspect Waives Cause Hearing

The man charged in connection with an August armed robbery at a Washington street convenience store waived his probable cause hearing in Woburn District Court last Wednesday and will go directly to the Grand Jury for indictment.

Patrick O'Connor, 32, formerly of Arlington, also faces charges of armed robbery and receiving stolen property on warrants issued in Acton, Lexington, Arlington and Reading, according to Lt. Andrew Crawford of the Winchester Police Department.

Winchester Police arrested O'Connor on the day of the robbery but he failed to appear in court on Aug. 18. He was picked up last week by Brookline Police and was held in lieu of $500 cash or $5,000 surety bond.

Police said O'Connor had turned himself in to the Veteran's Hospital in Bedford. He was picked up by the Brookline squad following his release from the hospital.

O'Connor is charged in connection with the Aug. 8 armed robbery at the Cumberland Farms convenience store.

Crawford said he hadn't been notified as to a date when the Grand Jury would rule on the matter.

In other police action, a 20-year-old Arlington man, charged in connection with a number of traffic and vehicle related incidents on Cambridge street July 25 has been sentenced to the Billerica House of Correction.

Scott Manley of 65 Broadway, Arlington, received three month sentences on each of the following charges: operating under the influence of alcohol, operating a motor vehicle after the revocation of license and leaving the scene of two property damage accidents.

In addition, Manley was fined $25 for operating an unregistered and uninsured vehicle and received a 10-day House of Corrections sentence on a charge of attaching plates assigned to another vehicle.

Crawford said Manley came to trial Nov. 6 in Woburn District Court. He said Manley had filed an appeal.

Michael Wise of Georges road received a six-month sentence suspended for 18 months on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon (an automobile) in connection with a March 11 incident.

Wise originally came to trial Oct. 28 and was sentenced Nov. 11. He had initially appealed that ruling but has subsequently withdrawn that action.

The Apple School, 380 Concord ave., Belmont, is collecting food and clothing for needy families for Thanksgiving. Clothing will be distributed by the Boston Indian Council. Food will be given to the Boston Food Pantry for distribution.

Contributions may be left at the school from 9-4 weekdays until Nov. 26.

Dillon Honored At Jenks' Center

The Jenks Senior Center held a reception Sunday to honor Sara Dillon, the former director of the Center who left recently after more than three years in that position.

Dozens of Center members, town residents and officials gathered to bid a "sad and reluctant" farewell to the person who played such a large role in making the Center "one of, if not the finest, organization of its kind in the state," according to the organization's November newsletter.

That issue of the newsletter contained a front page farewell to Sara Dillon. The following are excerpts from that farewell:

"The time has come to say a reluctant farewell to Sara, our able and much loved Administrator since September of 1977. It is a sad goodbye; she became a friend to many of us and we will miss her. Sara's moving to the 'green pastures' of an exciting job in Watertown and will work for LIFELINE SYSTEMS, a hospital and senior-related program which is newly born in this area and in which she will attempt to broaden the hospital and home use of a mechanical device by means of which a person using a small unit can signal for help in emergency—a marvelous program, and we wish her well."

"On a personal level, we have all found Sara to be a kind, compassionate person, with a remarkable empathy for all ages, particularly the elderly. Her enormous enthusiasm in her job and her skill in crisis intervention and in counseling are known to many of us. Perhaps less well known is the amount of time, far beyond her working day, that she gave freely when others were in need—weekends, evenings, even Sundays, if there was a need, Sara was there. Working in concert with the Outreach Group and the Mystic Valley Mental Health, she spent many hours, even days, in crisis situations involving personal problems of deep concern to her working on single or family problems, and followed through until a solution was found. Her selfless concern for others was always much in evidence, and her sunny disposition often laced with humor, is well known to us all. Sara is an extremely well-balanced, well organized person, bright, perceptive, and a fine listener. Over and beyond her duties as Administrator, she also pursued personal contacts with many other senior organizations and their administrators throughout our area, learning much from each and benefiting the Jenks Senior Center with the "know-how" she gained.

"Among the achievements Sara felt happiest to have contributed to were our now flourishing Widowed-to-Widowed Group, a supportive group for the bereaved, and, after countless hours of work with and through the Council on Aging, the recently signed contract with Minuteman Home Care Corp., which will enable our seniors to obtain legal aid and home care, among other services, when needed. She also spent much time, along with others, in bringing Meals-on-Wheels to our town, and had she stayed longer, would have ardently pursued moderate-income housing for our senior citizens, which is one of her deep concerns."

"Sara, we will find you hard to replace, and we all wish you success and happiness in your future. We're sad that it won't be spent with US! God bless you!"

Dillon was born in New York but moved to Winchester at the age of eight and graduated from Winchester High School in 1969. After graduating magna cum laude from UMass in 1974, she joined the Winchester Recreation Department where she organized recreational programs for some 3,000 seniors.

Fund Winchester's Future Committee Exceeds Goal

Winchester has set a national precedent and last week state and local officials gathered to recognize the accomplishment.

At a reception at the Knights of Columbus hall, the Winchester Chamber of Commerce and its Fund Winchester's Future Committee thanked the more than 250 individuals and businesses who contributed time or financial support for a town Economic Development Coordinator.

The campaign to raise $16,600 in private donations to match an equivalent commitment of town funds for the coordinator marked the first time such a position has been funded equally by the public and private sectors, according to Boston Internal Revenue Service officials.

The campaign was phenomenally successful. After less than four months, the committee raised more than $20,000.

Christmas Tea Set Dec. 8 At Gifford Hall

Members and their guests will enjoy a Christmas tea arranged by Mrs. Ralph Hatch, Chairman of Finance, and Mrs. Howard Chase, Jr., Chairman of Membership, Monday, Dec. 8 at 1 p.m. in Gifford Hall — CMUM Church.

Committee members assisting are Mrs. Salvatore Scalesse, Mrs. Richard Sheppard, Mrs. Langdon Wyllie, Mrs. Everett Goss, Mrs. Joseph Burgatti and Mrs. Gerald Mosher.

Mrs. William Sorenson, First Vice Pres., will introduce "Mr. and Mrs. Music" (Mary and James Alfred) who will entertain on the marimba and piano duo with familiar solo and duo melodies of the Yuletide Season.

Chamber Executive Vice President Rita Spence said the surplus over and above the $16,600 is in the bank earning interest and will be used to offset administrative expenses as well as to help staff the coordinator's office.

Chamber President Robert Nickerson praised the committee for "a fantastic job." Committee Co-chairman Neal Harte told the group that the $20,000 raised by the committee came almost equally from business men and private citizens. Of 221 contributors, 106 were not businessmen or Chamber members. "That kind of commitment shows a real concern on the part of all as to where we are headed as a town," said Harte.

The other Committee Co-Chairman, Marcia Saltmarsh, turned over a letter of commitment for $16,600 to Selectman Wade Welch and FinCom Chairman Robert Frank. She also said a committee of six — three appointed by the town manager and three from the Chamber and residents — will recruit candidates for the coordinator's position and hopefully hire someone by January 1.

State Senator Samuel Rotondi told the group that "business and government can no longer throw stones at one another."

"Never before have we needed a partnership like this (between the public and private sectors) so much," said Rotondi.

The Chamber's Committee began the campaign in July. The need for comprehensive economic development was recognized by the town as far back as the 1960s, but it was not until the spring 1980 Town Meeting that Winchester actually allocated money provided the Chamber of Commerce could raise the remaining half of the funds.

"We suspected we could be setting a precedent," said Spence. "It wasn't till we were filing for Fund Winchester's Future tax-exempt status that the Internal Revenue Service informed us that this was a national first."

Trail Club Completes Fall Season At Social

Winchester Trails members recently completed a busy fall season with a Sunday social at the home of President Louise Ahearn.

The Winchester Trails volunteers accomplished several different things in the past few months, including various nature walks and the publication of two new pamphlets.

During October, more than 200 Winchester school children participated in tours of Smith Pond, Long Pond and the Nike Site as part of their science curriculum.

In addition, Winchester Trails guides led three "family walks" in the fall; this year, groups toured Locke Farm, Smith Pond, and the Middlesex Fells. The Locke Farm area has only recently been included as a conservation site, after improvements by Tim Howard of Boy Scout Troop 503. A newly acquired grant to the Winchester Conservation Commission offers the opportunity to further improve the lovely Locke Farm site for greater public appreciation.

In addition, Winchester Trails volunteers have recently published two new pamphlets, "An Introduction to Winchester Trails" as available at no charge at the display in the Public Library. A newly revised guide to Long Pond is now available for 10 cents at Henderson's Stationery and at the Town Engineer's Office in the Town Hall.

Preparations will continue through the winter for the public activities scheduled to resume in the spring. New members are welcome. More information is available at the Winchester Trails display near the main desk in the library.

McCall Parents Talk Instruction During Meeting

The McCall Parents' Association Board met recently to discuss a newly designed plan for instrumental instruction at the Junior High.

President Alice McCarter introduced Corie Nichols and Sandy Thompson, who explained their plans for a pilot program of instrumental instruction, which will serve to gauge the public response to this type of opportunity.

The McCall Board members voted to sponsor this pilot program, which has been endorsed by Music Director Burton Cowgill and the entire music staff of the Winchester school system.

Scheduled to begin in February, the program will provide qualified instructors for both private lessons and ensembles.

According to McCall Principal Bob Fitzgerald, practice and study space will be available at McCall for the weekly lessons. This pilot program has been developed through the efforts of Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Thompson, Winchester administration, and Ellen Powers of the Belmont Music School.

Mrs. Nichols will report back to the McCall Board in the spring about the community response to this pilot program. If this initial program is well received, there will be serious discussion about expanding it next fall to include more instructors.

Anyone interested in more information in this musical instruction program may call Corie Nichols (729-7446) or Sandy Thompson (729-8063).

"That computes to nearly $17,000 per parking space," McCarthy told those at the hearing.

McCarthy cited an increase in traffic in the area, the potential of increased crime, air and noise pollution and visual considerations as environmental problems created by the proposal.

The WIN head also said that other hospitals in the area, such as the Lahey Clinic and the proposed facility at the Choate-Symmes would provide care for many of the areas Winchester Hospital would serve.

"It is time for the public to view the health care industry as just that: an industry and a multi-billion dollar one at that. Its facilities are plants. As such, they no longer belong in residential neighborhoods. Now, this is not to suggest that neighborhood hospital plants be removed, only that they be contained."

McCarthy pointed out that while the current total price tag for the proposal stood at $19 million, that cost is expected to rise to between $26-$28 million by the scheduled completion date in 1985.

Calling plans for construction and renovation a way to strengthen health care in Winchester, hospital officials pointed out there had been no renovations at the hospital since 1962.

Hospital President Jack Hunter said, "Since 1962, the hospital hasn't had any new facilities or renovated. All we want to do is maintain what we already have. We're not introducing any new services."

D. Reid Wheeldon, chairman of the hospital's board of directors agreed, saying plans to upgrade the facility were needed in order to provide adequate health care for town residents.

The proposal also drew support from Dr. Richard Stiles, senior president of the hospital's medical staff, Selectman Michael Saraco and residents of Stoneham and Reading.

The proposal also drew support from residents in the area surrounding the hospital.

Attorney Edward Hicks was one of those residents, saying, "I think it would be a misconception if someone came actions" to "recommend policy and actions" for Town Meeting to vote on concerning necessary budget reductions.

"There will be political considerations in town to whatever decision is made and by whomever made it," Mortensen said, urging that Town Meeting have the major role in deciding where cuts are made.

Two services that have been rumored to be high on the list is the Mini-Bus and garbage collection. School and town officials met last week to begin preparing recommendations and will continue to work on recommendations until the Dec. 4 Town Meeting.

Welch argued against Mortensen's motion, saying that as public officials the Selectmen and other town boards were entrusted to make such decisions. By having Town Meeting approval of any cuts the final decisions will take longer and leave the town with less flexibility in the long run on where cuts are made.

away from this hearing feeling there was a substantial number of majority of neighbors opposed to this application.

Steve Sauter, an analyst with the MDPH said an analysis of the hearing and a decision on the hospital's application to the MDPH wouldn't come until late spring or early summer.

The hospital's proposal must be reviewed by the MDPH and the Health Planning Council for Greater Boston, an advisory group funded by the federal government.

department heads in town and school officials had been asked to examine their budget in hopes of eliminating projected expenditures in order to make up the shortfall.

Groux told Selectmen he did not want to use expected reversions to make up the loss but wanted officials to look instead to services which can be eliminated.

Department heads are expected to make their reports to Groux Monday.

Groux said other methods to make up the shortfall might include an increase in fees and service charges currently in existence.

Selectmen Saraco agreed with Groux concerning the use of reversions in making up the loss.

"It's like writing a bum check," Saraco told his colleagues.

Selectman Williams asked that the board write State Sen. Sam Rotondi and State Rep. Sherman "Whip" Saltmarsh

Beacon Hill Roll Call

the measures. Some legislators are suggesting the governor reconvene the convention if and when he orders the lawmakers into session to deal with the MBTA crisis.

"Beacon Hill Roll" records local legislators' votes on seven key issues.

Pay Hikes (H 3289) - ConCon approved 109-72, an amendment prohibiting legislators from voting themselves a pay raise unless an election comes between the date of approval and the date it takes effect. The amendment also requires that pay raises must be set only "by open vote in both branches," and prohibits legislators from tying their salaries to those of any state employees. Supporters, noting that voters rejected the Halloween pay raises by a 9 to 1 margin in the November election, argued the measure protects the public's right to know by requiring a roll call vote on any hikes. They pointed out it also prohibits legislators from hiking their own salaries by allowing them only to approve hikes for the next elected legislature. Some opponents said the bill is poorly drawn and ill-conceived. They said it prevents hiking the salaries of a sitting legislature no matter how right or necessary it may be. Many contended the 9 to 1 vote against the Halloween hike was more a vote against the method used, and was not a mandate for this amendment. (A "Yea" vote is for the amendment. A "Nay" vote is against it).

Saltmarsh voted for the amendment.

Rotondi voted against the amendment.

Transit Notes

Every two weeks, this column will bring you concise, timely information about the Winchester Community Transit system - the minibus.

It will tell of changes to the system, and give tips on how to use the bus. Significant changes are about to be made to Community Transit including: discount ticket books, reduction of midday service, and new service to the Burlington Mall.

Through this forum, the Winchester Transit Advisory Committee will clarify these changes in the next few weeks.

The Transit Committee welcomes comments regarding the service from all residents. Now that Proposition 2 1/2 has passed and town spending must be reduced, it is especially important that we hear your suggestions regarding the minibus service and opinions about its future.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For 100 Years

Steven Austin: The Woman, The Number And A Familiar Face

There were flashing lights in the floor, and the table, a sanded wooden disk mounted on a metal barrel, was too far away from the stage to offer a clear view of the band.

The people I was with abandoned me early for a spot closer to the players so I waited at the table charged with the mission of holding on to the stools which squatted around the table.

The waitresses, dressed in calf-length black satin and black stockings, weaved their way through the crowd, looking from a distance like Ingrid Bergman did in all the movies she made in the 40s.

One of them stopped at my table and, after offering me her "please-tip-big" smile, took my order and disappeared again into the smoke and lights and noise.

When she brought the drink and I'd paid her, I watched the dancers, loose-limbed, unaffected. In the crowd, I was able to pick out one or two of my companions but they were too involved in the music to attempt catching their attention.

I didn't notice her until she sat down, a short, just-this-side-of-heavy woman with closely-cropped black hair.

"I was just telling my friends," she said, indicating a group directly behind her with her hand, "that you remind me of someone I knew very well."

"Do I?" I said.

She ran her fingers through her almost crew-cut hair-do. Sharp, black fangs of hair escaped between each digit but fell quickly into place again when she removed her hand.

"Yes," she said, "the resemblance is uncanny."

I saw it coming then; saw it as clearly as I did the drink in front of me but the crowd was too close to the table to allow anything like a graceful escape.

"We were very close. I haven't seen him for some time."

I smiled, pretended to be preoccupied with my drink and waited for her to talk again.

"I was just wondering how I could talk to you," she said. "I mean, I don't usually come to bars and just start talking to strange men." Her smile was even but I couldn't get a clear reading on whether it was genuine.

She introduced herself, explaining she was a graduate student in psychology at a local university. Then she didn't say anything for a while, losing herself instead to the music. She sat at the table for a long time and when my friends returned, she leaned toward me and whispered, "Will you take me home."

I tried to be non-committal. "I'm with some other people," I explained. I can't remember a time when I have ever been more uncomfortable.

"All right," she said. She was looking over my shoulder now. "But take my number anyway. You never can tell, right?"

I took the number, written on a napkin and put it in my pocket. "Call me," she said. "I think we'd get along real well."

I smiled at her over my shoulder as we left.

In the parking lot, someone asked me who the woman was. I said I didn't know. Anne or something.

When we got to the car, I dropped the napkin into the plastic trash bag on the door handle.

"She certainly seemed interested in you," one of my friends said.

"It's his soft Southern face," another said. He is an unmerciful tease.

Looking at his reflection in the rear view mirror, I said, "Oh, I see. It was my face."

"Sure it was."

I didn't bother telling him I saw the woman move on to more receptive ground as we were leaving.

Cut Recreation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As a result of Proposition 2½, Winchester must cut its budgets by $650,000. A Town Meeting will be held December 4 to reduce budgets, and I would like to suggest to the Town Meeting members that serious consideration be given to cutting our excessive recreation budget. This budget (No. 3200) has been going up in leaps and bounds, and is now $125,808.

Kenneth Cereghino, our present Recreation Director, receives a salary of $446 per week. His assistant, Chris Clark, receives $231 per week, and the secretary receives $101 per week for eighteen hours work.

A substantial amount of money can be saved by reducing the recreation budget to a summer program. There is duplication of programs between the Recreation Department and the School Department, so eliminating the winter Recreation Department program will not adversely affect Winchester's youngsters. At a time when many major corporations and all municipalities must operate on austerity budgets, eliminating duplicate services shouldn't be too painful for Winchester.

In addition to holding the position of Director of Recreation, Cereghino is also Vice President of Recreation Resources, Inc., of Natick. The other members of his private outfit are: Michael J. Rourke (President), Lawrence Crowley (Consultant), and Lawrence Gaine (Consultant). It is very interesting to me to find that Recreation Resources promotional material is readily available in Winchester. I keep wondering whether or not Mr. Cereghino's private consulting service is a promotional program on the part of our Recreation Director at the taxpayer's expense.

Of course, seeing as how Mr. Cereghino can move so easily to private consulting, the taxpayers can be relieved that cutting the recreation budget will not deprive the Recreation Director of a job.

Correction

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Last Thursday I had a recipe in your special recipe edition (which by the way was delightful). I did not realize when I submitted mine that no commercial names would be printed. I had used Miracle Whip in mine and it was printed as salad dressing. This apparently has caused quite a bit of confusion as I have been hearing from people that think they are supposed to use the type of dressing that goes on a tossed salad, such as French, Italian, etc. This would be a disaster!

I shudder to think of people using this and wasting expensive ingredients — plus getting angry with the Star and with me! Would it be possible to insert some sort of "correction" in this week's paper explaining that the salad dressing would be of the "mayonnaise type" dressing not the bottled liquid dressing. It makes a great deal of difference!

If you have a question on this, do feel free to call me at 729-3216. I hate to think of your readers getting into trouble by a misunderstanding.

Katherine Platzzoeder

P.S. My recipe was titled Chicken Casserole Deluxe.

Building Lauded

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It is inconceivable that Town Meeting members would turn down the proposal for a new $1.5 million medical building. The objection of neighbors concerned about bringing the Cross st. traffic to 45 percent of its capacity hardly outweighs the benefits of this much needed tax income.

How many of the Cross st. residents voted for proposition 2½?

You can't have it both ways folks!

Loan Defended

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I can't resist responding to Rupert Kughin's letter entitled "Loan Blasted", because half truths are too commonly accepted in our country and shouldn't be allowed to go unanswered.

What he doesn't mention is that if Ex-Im Bank and The Overseas Private Investment Corporation were involved in the combined amount of $496 million, then U.S. exports of goods and services would also have to have been involved to at least an equivalent amount.

U.S. exports provide jobs to Americans, provide profits to American industry, help keep the dollar strong and tend to restrain inflationary forces.

The Ex-Im Bank, and OPIC, support exports by financing these exports at rates competitive with similar organizations of other countries. It is often Ex-Im Bank financing that wins the deal for American industry over competing offers from The British, the French, or the Japanese.

I'm not familiar with the details of the Kama River project, but considering the long time required for such a plant to become operational, it was probably put together in the days of detente during the Nixon or Ford administrations.

Ex-Im Bank, being a creature of the U.S. government, does reflect the politics of the day.

Obviously the Afghanistan invasion can only be condemned, and the politics of detente seem naive and foolish today. But to blame Ex-Im and OPIC for transporting Russian troops to Kabul seems a bit farfetched.

payer group. These hearings are necessary and useful to all parties concerned because they afford private citizens an opportunity to express their personal views on matters of public interest and they provide the Hospital officials with an equal opportunity to explain their actions and decisions. We welcome these hearings and we reasonably expect that others will be held before any final decision on the application is made. We do not regard any such hearing as a forum to be used in an attempt to convert those who are opposed to our plans; personal views held by opponents do not readily lend themselves to easy conversion. However, we do seek to carry on a reasonable dialogue with those who disagree with us and trust that if they do not come away convinced, at least they may come away better informed.

Perhaps all too often, one fact continues to elude many of those who view the Hospital's plan to renovate and build as either unnecessary or too expensive.

A Hospital's sole reason-for-being is unique; no other institution in the community has a similar role.

The hospital exists for only one reason-to preserve life. All our knowledge, our expertise and our actions are directed toward this end. Yet, if we do this well while, at the same time, keeping a personal touch in the care of our patients, we develop a reputation and more and more people come to us for care. But, as the number of patients increases, our ability to care for them and still retain our concern for the individual will diminish if we continue to be hampered by a lack of space for beds, for the diagnostic medical equipment, for patient education and treatment — all essential elements of quality patient care — and by a 1980 demand for parking space that was designed to accommodate a need valid two decades ago.

Were we a mediocre hospital with a mediocre reputation, we would not have to be concerned with problems of space, of room for growth, of keeping our physical facilities up to date. On the contrary, we would undoubtedly have to concern ourselves chiefly with the problem of staying open. Fortunately, as we view it and as our patients view it, that is not the case with Winchester Hospital.

No business can continue to meet an increasing need for its product without expanding its physical plant, for growth is only the outward evidence of a healthy, viable institution and is in keeping with the tradition of American business.

In adopting our plan for renovation and new construction we do so with a deep sense of responsibility for the trust passed down to us by a group of far-sighted Winchester women when they founded this Hospital 68 years ago. We believe that we have an obligation to keep our hospital modern and up to today's standards if we are to provide for the health care of those generations that will follow us.

We do not dare do less.

Football And The Extended Family

By MARY CRESSE

It's a bit corny, actually. Rah rah Sachem spirit and all, seeing the family, calling the friends. Hurdled one leaves the house, promising to return in time to greet the relatives and attend the one meal where everyone eats at once, talks at once.

Even at 8:30, Manchester shows signs of "an expected 20,000 for the Turkey Day classic" as the paper so often puts it. One must park halfway down the Parkway while continually watching for groups of teenagers and middle-aged, devoted parents toting football cushions and thermoses.

While waiting in line, for the blue stub signifying that "you were there", one spots old acquaintances across the Parkway and exchanges half-surprised greetings with those who are there for the same reason.

And it has begun, one realizes. Oh, no, not the game, that's another hour away, yet. The meeting, talking, socializing has begun.

The fourth Thursday in November is supposed to be strictly for families, but who says "families" have to be blood-related?

If a family spirit, a spirit of "It's good to see you", "what have you been doing?", a spirit of remembrance of that senior year in high school, a spirit of a day without cares, a comfortably pervading spirit which fills the parking lot of the old high school which prepares one for Thanksgiving day, then one knows that the Sachems will win, maybe not by numbers, but with, you guessed it, with spirit.

Course the game, the center of the atmosphere, is the focal point of any appraisal of the town, and can provide a forum for those orange and black Tanner band members who are followed by the ever-present pep squad shouting something like Winchester S....

Admittedly, this can ruin a peaceful feeling, reminding one that the "family" feeling may not last longer than the twenty-four hours of Nov. 27.

One picks his way through the crowds among a stream of hellos to a row in the stands serving as a perfect lookout for both the game and other spectators.

But somehow, it's more enjoyable to walk around and visit, look at the scoreboard every now and then, and run up to the side of the hill adjacent to the stands every time an important play comes up.

With the deafening cheer signifying the end of the game, one knows that, for just a few hours, he has captured a true family attitude within the boundaries of Knowlton Field.

When one leaves, he hears either "we'll get them next year" or Allright! We're going to the Super Bowl!

And one also knows that no matter the outcome of the '81 season or the '82 season, everyone will be back.

The Slow-Down

By TERRY MAROTTA

I've been trying for a year now to be a runner.

Along about the first week in November of 1979, when the world's attention was riveted on the American embassy in Tehran, I went out and bought my gear.

I got up mornings at 5:45 and by 6:00 the Hood truck and I had pretty much covered Everett ave. (We all do Everett ave., we runners; I've yet to find someone who doesn't.)

I ran in ten degree weather. I ran through the spongy month of April. I ran on the muggiest dog-day mornings when gills would have served better than lungs.

And I kept waiting to like it, to be able to talk at social gatherings about the sense of exhilaration, the moment when the punishing pain turns to pleasure and a profound meditative peace envelops you. It hasn't happened yet.

I've gone from running a respectable five mornings a week to a miserable one. Now I can recognize a flagging momentum as well as the next guy. Patrick Caddell doesn't have to take me aside to break the bad news: I'm losing this one. It looks like running is about to join vegetarianism and the keeping of tropical fish on the dusty closet shelf of abandoned pursuits.

This apparent failure has really been bothering me. It's hard to accept the fact that a universally acclaimed and healthful regimen is dying the death of a baloney sausage in your hands. I've been getting more and more edgy: if running goes, I ask myself, what will follow? Will I begin neglecting my sit-ups? eating Twinkles? smoking cigarettes?

Phantasms like these have been plaguing me for a month. The question dogs me wherever I go. Why am I unable to run anymore, to build it in and make it stick?

Well, the answer came to me yesterday.

Running is the last thing I need in my life right now. I'm no sedentary office worker breathing air-conditioned dust motes forty hours a week. I spend my days running already, up and down three flights of stairs, usually under a mountain of folded laundry. I bend over tiny orthopedic shoe laces; I haul thirty-pound children in and out of cars. I don't need to pick up the pace. I need to slow it down.

I've decided, therefore, to make dawdling my new hobby. And the gurus of this fine art, it turns out, the Jim Fixxs and the Bill Rodger of dawdling, live right under my own roof.

Children are expert dawdlers.

★Slow-Down

A little kid unmolested by cattle-driving parents, drinks in every detail of her surroundings; there's a new bird's nest under the eaves; a tree on Bacon street is growing a wonderful cheezy beard of fungus; the lady at the checkout counter had a band-aid on her finger. It's all observed, all duly recorded.

My one-year-old can get 15 minutes of entertainment out of a tube of Chapstick. She removes the cap and ponders its circularity; digs out a little of the stuff and rubs it experimentally in her hair; considers the idea of the cylinder; puts the cap back on and attempts screwing motions; hides it on herself and meditates on object permanence; considers the nature of three-dimensional reality. By the end of the session, for all I know, she's made the thing stand as a paradigm for the created world....she surely understands Chapstick in a way I never will. And it's because she's in no hurry.

Living at a slower pace gives rise to reflection, and reflection is something we could all do with a little more of. We're not meant to run in desperate little circles all our waking hours like a hamster on his treadmill. Our ancestors watched the sun go down every night and looked for Orion to appear. They sat around; they talked to each other.

It's what I mean to do more of from now on.

I may still get up mornings at 5:45. It's nice to be out of the house, to greet the day. It's nice to see the stately church spires of our town in the gathering light.

But I'm leaving the running to others. Let the government run on; let the bills run up; let time run out. There's enough running in the world as it is. I'm seceding from the movement.

So look for me out there next

First Snow Storm Causes Few Problems

The season's first snow hit the area this week without causing any major problems.

Richard White, of the Town Manager's office, said no unusual problems with the approximate three-inch snowfall. He added that Public Works crews started at 4 a.m. on Tuesday to get an early start clearing the streets but added besides that everything was as usual.

A police spokesman said all was quiet with a few wires down.

Schools in Winchester were closed for the day, as was the case with most area schools.

art with children

by diane j munini

(This is the first of a weekly series of columns on developmental arts activities for children by Diane Munini, a local integrated Arts specialist.)

It may not be "over the river and through the woods to grandmother's house we go," but Thanksgiving 1980 will include many of the traditions of and preparations for the Thanksgivings of yesteryear. Where will we celebrate Thanksgiving? Which family traditions will we continue? What recipes will we use in preparing the holiday meal? Who will make the pies... cook the turkey... carve the turkey... do the dishes... and how can we best capture the spirit of the day, the spirit of Thanksgiving?

Children, too, are anticipating and preparing for Thanksgiving this month. In schools, many children are learning about the first New England Thanksgiving in 1621 when the Pilgrims and Indians shared their plentiful harvest in Plymouth, Massachusetts. Children are also making grocery bag Indian vests, Indian headbands, Pilgrim hats and collars, cranberry relish, corn-meal bread and Indian pudding. They are learning Pilgrim and Indian Thanksgiving traditions and are sharing in the joy of creating their own Thanksgiving traditions.

The following home or classroom art activity helps children continue the tradition of creating something to be shared with people important to them and provides children with an opportunity to express their own unique reasons for being thankful.

A Paper Bag Turkey With 'I'm Thankful' Stuffing

Why: To reinforce children's eye-hand coordination while expressing individual reasons for being thankful.

What You Need: A brown lunch bag, scrap newspaper, 9" x 12" art paper, construction paper (brown, yellow, red and orange), pencil, magic marker, stapler, cardboard and scissors.

How To Begin: Pre-cut cardboard patterns of the turkey head, tail feathers and feet. Have the child:

A. Trace the patterns onto construction paper and cut: 1 brown turkey head, 2 yellow tail feathers, 2 red tail feathers, 2 orange tail feathers, 2 brown feet.

B. Fold art paper into quarters and cut into four pieces. On each piece draw a picture of something to be thankful for. Write words next to the picture that describe it, e.g. "my family," "my friends," "good food," etc.

C. Stuff the turkey with small pieces of crumpled newspaper and the four refolded "Why I'm Thankful" pictures.

D. Fold, then staple the turkey head onto the open end of the stuffed lunch bag turkey. Be careful to staple the turkey head in such a manner that the contents of the turkey are accessible without tearing the finished turkey.

E. Staple the feet and tail feathers onto the turkey body.

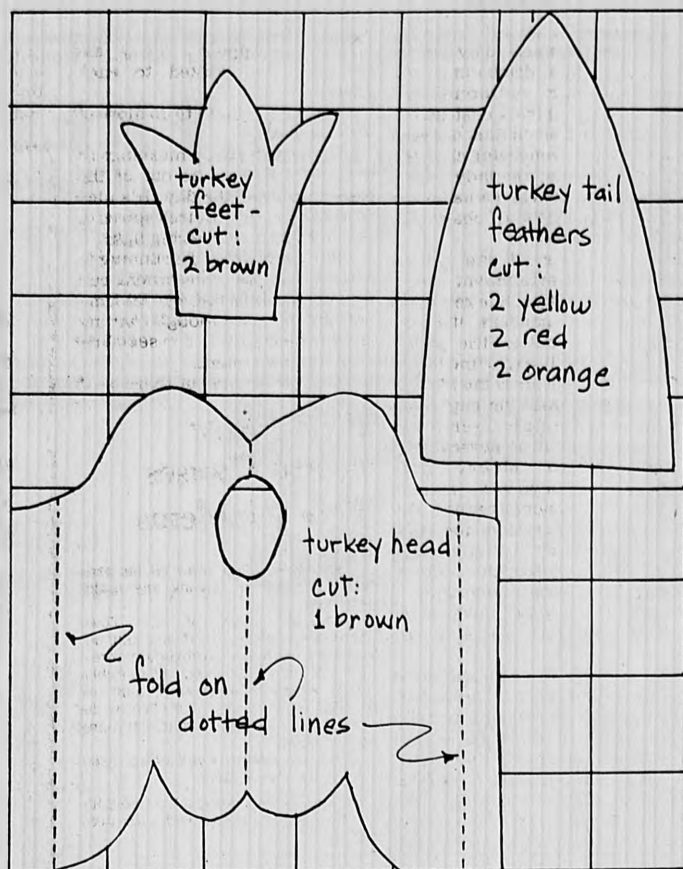

F. With a magic marker add eye and beak details and feather details on the turkey body.

And Continue: Before sharing in a family or classroom Thanksgiving celebration have the child open the Paper Bag Turkey With "Why I'm Thankful" stuffing and share the illustrations and his or her reasons for being thankful this Thanksgiving 1980.

Art Association Sponsors Fair Nov. 22

The Winchester Art Association will sponsor a Mini-Art and Crafts Fair Saturday, Nov. 22 at the Unitarian Church on Main St. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and there will be no admission charged.

Kathleen Indigaro and Diane Pearson, co-chairwomen of the event, have lined up a variety of displays with early Christmas shopping in mind.

The Fair will feature oil, watercolor and acrylic paintings, drawings, photographs, calligraphy, decoupage, stained glass and portraits sketched on the spot.

Jewelry, dolls and stuffed toys, wood accessories, pottery, decorative ornaments and sculpture will also be on display.

All work is for sale with no items over $50. Local artists and craftspeople will be on hand to sell and discuss their specialties.

Sachemettes Beat The Jinx This Time; Advance To The Semi-Finals...

EVERYTHING CAME UP ROSES — Sachemettes Laura Schromm (left) and Jean Powers whoop it up after 2-1 win over Foxboro Saturday.

It took a questionable call by the official, some tremendous defensive plays in the fourth quarter but the Sachemette soccer team finally won themselves a state tournament quarterfinal game.

By topping a stubborn and physical Foxboro team 2-1 Saturday at the Dean Junior College Field in Franklin Saturday afternoon, the Sachemettes advanced to the semi-finals for the first time in their three-year existence.

Obviously, it wasn't easy. "Foxboro was an incredible team. They just refused to slow down," Winchester Coach Chris Scanlon remarked afterwards. "They were extremely aggressive and simply took us out of our game. We got knocked out and banged around so much in the first quarter that we were shaken by it for the rest of the game. We started passing as soon as we got the ball."

But the Sachemettes rebounded enough in the second quarter to score both their goals but it was the game-winner that was the talk of the game afterwards by both coaches.

With the score knotted at one, Winchester's Kim Donlon broke in down the right side and raced Foxboro goalie Ellen Corliss to the ball about 10 feet in front of the net. Both arrived simultaneously and fell in a heap.

When the dust had cleared a penalty had been called on Corliss and Ann Porell was lined up for the free kick.

She calmly approached the ball and drilled a blur past Corliss about two feet off the ground into the left corner of the net. Corliss never moved and it wouldn't have mattered if she did.

Afterwards, Scanlon admitted that the call surprised him. "I never expected it even if the call was correct. Anytime the goalie comes out and there's contact like that they usually get the benefit of the doubt," he said.

After an even third quarter Foxboro shifted into overdrive and put on relentless pressure in the final quarter. To no avail.

Twice Goalie Kate MacCarthy was knocked down out of position and left an open net. Twice, once each by fullbacks Prudy Horne and Karen Feldmann, the Sachemettes turned back Foxboro scorers. It was a tremendous individual defensive display by the entire squad, a group that was simply exhausted.

"Our top girls got real tired but I couldn't substitute because of the pressure situation," Scanlon said afterwards, grudgingly admitting that Foxboro's aggressive, physical play wore down the Sachemettes. "And you can bet we'll have to be ready for more of it. Concord saw it and I'm sure they'll remember," he warned.

Winchester battles Concord in the semi-final round at MIT this afternoon. Foxboro jumped out to a 1-0 lead 3:53 into the game as Kathy Murphy pushed one past MacCarthy.

But Winchester's Carol Donahoe

'I never expected it even if the call was correct.

Anytime the goalie comes out and there's contact like that, they usually get the benefit of the doubt.'

—Coach Chris Scanlon

Chris Scanlon

brought the Sachemettes back quickly. She whipped a high shot from the top of the penalty area past Corliss to the top left corner to tie it at 13:24 of the second quarter.

That set up the Porell blast, one of the few times she and her two high scoring mates ever threatened. Her, Donlon and Andrea deMars were shackled by superb defensive efforts from start to finish.

"They had our top girls marked," Scanlon said after the game. "Ann Porell and Andrea, there was someone with them the whole game." Except for one penalty shot that probably should not have been called. But it was Porell made it clear to everyone why she breezed to the league scoring title.

... As Sachems Whip Beverly

By JULIE DERRY

Nothing could hold back the Sachems on this day.

Not Beverly and not the fact Beverly had beaten them 3-0 last year in the same tournament — one found earlier.

Not Astroturf in cleats and definitely not Astroturf in sneakers.

No, the Sachems were confident that they were the better team and although it wouldn't be easy, would win.

And it was undoubtedly this confidence that helped them win the North Region quarterfinal game against Beverly, 4-0 last Saturday at Boston University.

"They were what we thought — fast and rough," said Winchester Coach Gene Bouley.

Although Bouley had been worried about playing on Astroturf, he thinks in the end it helped his team a great deal. Goalie Mark Steranka played his best game of the season on the rubber mat.

"I could tell while we were warming up that he (Steranka) loved the Astroturf. He was diving all over the place. I knew he'd do well," said Bouley.

The score of the game, 4-0, is deceiving. After a goal by Neil Frink in the first quarter, the Sachems didn't score again until the end of the fourth quarter.

"It was too long to that second goal," Bouley laughed. "I thought for sure Paul (Williamson) would score on that breakaway, but the goalie (Bob Whalen) got it. It was too bad."

Williamson charged in alone on the Beverly goal in the third quarter but couldn't get it past the goalie.

Frink's goal early in the first quarter was a beauty. Even the referee kept saying he'd never seen a goal like it.

"The first goal was lucky — very lucky. But we'll take it," Bouley said.

Frink scored unassisted by dribbling down the right side of the field and booting it from the far corner of the field, high in the air. The ball crossed in front of the goal in the air and dropped into the far left corner of the net.

Then with 3:08 left the Sachems exploded. Scott Bowen brought the ball up the right wing and passed to David Suvak. Suvak passed it on to Williamson who dribbled toward the goal, shot and notched the second goal of the game.

Eighty seconds later, Suvak and Williamson teamed up again to score. Suvak again set up Williamson with a pass from the right corner of the field. Williamson bounced the ball off his thigh into the goal.

Then, keeping the heat on in the closing seconds, Doug Oram scored after taking an excellent pass from Matt Groux.

Despite the four goals, the Sachems wouldn't have won without Steranka's effort. Goalie Beverly had plenty of shots on goal but Steranka turned them all away.

On one charge, a Beverly forward

The Fourth Quarter: A Tale Of 2 Teams

It was a fourth quarter definitely designed to induce heart failure.

For fingernail biters it was a fourth quarter that required a year's abstinence if anything was to be left when the dust cleared.

And for those who cherish living dangerously, it was a fourth quarter of joyfully epic proportions.

And fittingly enough, both teams were clubs that had been regular tournament participants the past three years and had failed frustratingly each and every time.

It was a match-up of teams that were constant winners during the regular seasons and baffled losers in post-season play. Anyone familiar with the history of Winchester and Foxboro girls' soccer just knew when they met it had to end the way it did Saturday afternoon at Dean Junior College.

That the Sachemettes withstood an awesome fourth quarter Foxboro barrage to emerge a 2-1 winner and advanced to the semi-finals for the first time in their three-year history was nice. Unless, of course, one was faint of heart.

Standing on the sidelines halfway through the final quarter, Winchester Coach Chris Scanlon watched shot after Foxboro shot narrowly miss its mark.

Holding his head, he pleaded for mercy from apparently more superior beings. "God," he said, peering upward, "I'm dying a thousand deaths here."

A moment later Winchester goalie Kate MacCarthy leaped high toward the left corner of the net and at the last possible instant batted away a potentially tying goal.

Shortly after that, with MacCarthy on the ground and out of position, fullback Karen Feldmann kicked away - yes, at the last possible minute again - another shot earmarked for the vacant goal. Earlier, fullback Prudy Horne had made the same play to prevent the tying goal, yet again.

Afterwards, Scanlon was magnanimous in victory.

"Obviously there's a luck factor involved in this type of situation," he said. "But your top players have got to make those plays and we had a lot of top players do their job."

Sachems Tune Up For Turkey Day With Blasting Of Rockets

By RICHARD McSWEENEY

Winchester Coach Manny Marshall stood in his office, hunched over like he was the quarterback ready to take the snap. He took the imaginary snap turned right and then completely around and started heading down the imaginary left side of the line, stopped and pitched it to the imaginary halfback.

"Last year we did that on the first play and there was nobody there. Nobody. Touchdown. We get the ball back and do the exact same play. (He goes through the same motions again) Same thing. Touchdown," Marshall said.

Reading Coach Jack White remembered it this year. "Coaches are funny like that," Marshall explained. And so against the Sachems last Saturday the Rockets were ready. As soon as quarterback Itch Fennell started sliding down the line on option plays, the ends and corners flared to the outside.

The holes inside were immense. And Gary Errico took advantage of one midway through the second quarter with the Sachems trailing 7-6. He cut it up inside and blazed his way for 63 yards and his 13th touchdown of the season to put Winchester on top for good. The Sachems went on to a easy 35-7 triumph that pushed its record to 7-2.

"We finally played the way we're capable of," a relieved Marshall said afterwards, referring to the two-game losing streak the Sachems possessed going into the match-up with 1-8 Reading.

"After the last two we were kind of down. But the defense played just super."

And the offense didn't play bad either.

Errico had his best game since he trampled over Wakefield, scoring three touchdowns (14 on the season) and rushing for 173 yards on just 14 carries. He also added a 17-yard pass completion to tight end Ken Jacobson.

Fennell rushed for 41 yards on just five carries and completed four of six passes for 70 yards and a touchdown.

The Sachems started quickly against the Rockets as Mark Mieciche picked off a Bob Macaluso pass at the Reading 44 and returned it to the 11. Errico notched TD number one five plays later (Bruce Campbell missed the point after) to put Winchester up 6-0.

But minutes into the second quarter Errico fumbled and the hosts had the ball at the Winchester 24. Rocket running back Pete Michelin ran it in from the one and with Bob Angelo's point after the Sachems trailed.

Errico then exploded for a 63-yard punt to put the Sachems back on top. 14-0 after back-up quarterback Tim Mahon hit fullback Dave Criscione for the two-point conversion.

Then just before the close of the half two series decided the ballgame.

First, the Rockets' Macaluso picked off a Fennell pass to set up the hosts with a first down at the Winchester 39. But four plays later Reading fumbled on a fourth and one and turned it over at the Winchester 29.

It then took all of six plays for the Sachems to march 71 yards for the score, a seven-yard pass from Fennell to Steve Costello to up the count to 21-7. Key play in the drive was a 19-yard keeper by Fennell that he cut up inside the sweep-conscious ends for a big first down.

The second half was like second halves from games one through six as the Sachems rolled to scores on their first two possessions to put it out of reach.

Errico culminated a 76-yard, 18-play drive with a five-yard touchdown burst. After a Reading punt the Sachems drove 56 yards in three plays for the score. The first play was a 42-yard completion from Fennell to Errico. Two plays later Costello ran it in from the 10 to close out the scoring and allow Marshall to send in the subs for the fourth quarter.

Afterwards, Marshall was relaxing for the first time in a couple of weeks. With Woburn on the horizon for a friendly Thanksgiving Day encounter he felt the team really needed the victory over Reading.

"We really needed to win this game like we did for Thanksgiving. And it had to be like it was."

PeeWee AA's Rally To Tie Lowell, 5-5

The Winchester PeeWee AA Team came roaring back from a two-goal hole in the third period to tie Lowell, 5-5 on Saturday in Middlesex Youth Hockey League play at the Burlington Ice Palace.

Stickouts were Pete "Ripper" Regan with two goals and an assist, Mike "Whacker" White, who led the comeback and Captain Brian "Bang" Griffin, who got the tie with thirty-six seconds left.

Regan was on early in the first period when he busted out on the left side and unloaded a real screamer to the left corner. Assists went to Nick Geannaris and Derek Binding.

In the second period it was a pair by the Tough Two of Greg Winn early and Regan late. Winn went into the action in front and put it away after Griffin and Regan set it up. Regan did it again with David Butt and White leading him - he tied it up and uncorked it from 20 feet out for the score.

The comeback kids, Pete Cole and Griffin, did it in the third period rally. First, Cole took a lead from Winn and Geannaris and stuck home a backhand. Then it was Griffin with his size 100 heart just before the door closed - he jammed it in from heavy hitting in front as White and Binding led him.

It was due to a lot of credible play this comeback tie happened, notably goalie Jim Chute, forwards Marc Todisco and Suki Chung along with blueliners, Scott Paine, Anthony Cucinatti and Billy Coppins.

The Winchester Pee Wee AA Team exploded Saturday for their first win, a real bust out 11-4 romp over Malden. Alternate Captain Chris "Go" Giso with three goals and three assists, Captain Brian "Bang" Griffin with two goals and four assists and Pete "Ripper" Regan with three goals and two assists were the big guns.

Glynn (7th), Runners Impress In States

By PETER DELGRECO

"A ninth place finish (as a team) in the state meet is very commendable. If everyone ran, we could have been fifth or sixth." Those were the sentiments expressed by the Girls' Cross Country Coach, Joe Cantillon after the Sachemettes did indeed finish ninth in a meet against the toughest teams in the state.

Several variables: injuries, weather, and experience, played a part in the squad's performance. Lauren Fryklund and Pam Brickley, two of the three captains, were sidelined for this important meet. The weather, last Saturday at Franklin Park in Boston, could have been best described as fairly brisk. Most of the runners were not thrilled by this fact. Also, many of the racers had never competed in a race of this size and quality. About 170 of the proven best runners in the state were entered in the meet.

The Sachemettes had qualified for this race by taking second place in the EMass meet the week before. Many runners whose teams did not qualify were able to compete in the race as individuals representing their own teams. This was the case with the eventual winner, Lesley Welch, from Peabody.

Winchester's Laurie Glynn sprinted to seventh place with a time of 18:30. She started quickly and recorded a 5:15 first mile. This left her in fourth place behind sisters Lesley and Lisa Welch, and Thayer Plante of Cambridge. At the two-mile mark, Glynn had dropped to seventh place, and that's where she ended up. She averaged 6:10 per mile on the three mile course. Although Glynn was a fair distance behind the winner, she is only a freshman with three more years, and three more chances to take the top spot in this annual race.

The rest of the runners must not be overlooked, though. Cantillon said, "The team deserves credit," as it was a unified team effort in the strong showing.

Senior tri-captain Mary Boland placed 61st. Her time of 19:49 was close to a minute faster than it was the previous week. "I felt terrible and almost stopped, but I ended up with my best time," she said.

Jean Senna notched 86th place. She finished with a time of 20:04. Senna is part of the "Good nucleus coming back next year," Cantillon said.

Eileen Conley got off to a slow start but still managed a 115th place showing, in at 21:01. Conley was one of four Sachemettes to be named Middlesex League All-Stars recently. Glynn, Boland and Fryklund were the others, and Senna was awarded Honorable Mention.

Sandy Jordan was right behind Conley with a time of 21:19. Cantillon is hoping that next year, Jordan will be even more productive.

Winchester was well behind the eventual winner, Bishop Fenwick. But Cantillon promises another "solid team" for next year.

St. E's Hoop Registration Tomorrow

Registration for St. Eulalia's Boys Intramural Basketball Program will take place Nov. 21 from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in Manion Hall. All boys ages 8-12 are eligible to play. There is a registration fee of $15 per boy.

The program will open on Dec. 7 at 3 p.m. in the McCall Junior High School Gym with a clinic to be put on by the Winchester High School Varsity Basketball coaching staff.

BATTLES ILLNESS—Senior Tri-Captain Mary Boland finished second on the team and 61st overall at the All State Meet Saturday at Franklin Park. Laurie Glynn was the highest Winchester finisher (7th) and the team finished an impressive ninth. (Staff Photo by Bill Baron)

Intramural Hockey Starts Dec. 5

Winchester Youth Hockey starts its Intramural or "within town" league Dec. 5th at 5 p.m. at the USA Rink in Winchester. The sessions will run from 5 to 7:30 p.m. on the following basis:

5 p.m. - 6 p.m. - boys six through nine
6:10 p.m. - 8:30 p.m. - boys 10 through 14.

The first three weeks will be given to clinic and instruction and scrimmages. Thereafter teams will be selected based upon age, size and skill level and each team will play each week in the league on an "equal" ice time basis.

Please report 30 minutes prior to ice time for registration and a deposit will be expected for the season.

Goalies will participate at a reduced fee level and equipment provided for those boys without it.

Any questions may be directed to Edward Sanford, Kevin Nolan, Alan Ross or William Coppins.

★ Teams

Both coaches were skeptical about a second quarter penalty called on Foxboro goalie Ellen Corliss that gave Ann Porell a free kick (a shot that Corliss still hasn't seen) for the winning goal. But both refused to let it spoil what had been simply a magnificent game.

"In the fourth quarter we did absolutely everything but put it in. I feel tough for the girls. We have nine seniors that have played all four years. Twice we've lost in the quarters and twice in the semis. And always just like this. We'd dominate the last quarter and lose by one goal," Medeiros shrugged.

As a number of his players sat on the bench sobbing openly, Foxboro Coach John Medeiros tried to search for the justice in it all.

"It was a terrific game between two terrific teams," Medeiros said afterwards. "The penalty shot call was a little, ah, shaky but we just couldn't put it in in that fourth quarter..."

Sports, Sports, Sports!!!

Insanity is coming to Boston on the 22nd and 23rd of November. Those are the dates of The Greater Boston Sport Collectables Convention, the first major, weekend long convention of its kind ever held in eastern New England.

The convention, which will be held at the Howard Johnson's Hotel 57, Park Square, Boston, will feature 100 tables of sports items of every size, shape, kind and price. These items will be up for sale, or trade, by collector-dealers from as far away as Florida, Michigan, and Arkansas.

The convention will also feature very special guest, "Smokey Joe" Wood, the last living pre-WW1 star player.

Frosh Soccer Team Finishes 10-1
By Bill Derry
In their debut season at Winchester High, the freshman boys' soccer team compiled a 10-1 record that was good enough to earn them a tie for first place in their division.
During the first half of their 11 game schedule, the ninth grade team cruised to a 6-0 record, while outscoring their opponents by a whopping 43-6. A balanced

Sachemette Swimmers Complete Best Season In Nine Years
By Mary Cresse
There could have been 13 meets, but no more contests that Coach Vin Palumbo Sr. and son Vinny could have been more proud of. Granted, if Lexington hadn't been around maybe the perfect 13-0 could have been attained, but all considered who could complain?
The expected culmination of the season's efforts was supposed to be the State Meet held last week at Boston College, but Palumbo's swimmers didn't fare as well as he had hoped.
"They really did a much better job during the season. Their times were not their best. And the water at BC was a little too cold, and I think that might have hurt them a little."
McCann, however, placed 12th in the 200 individual medley by pulling in to a 2:25.4, certainly not her PBT, which is a 2:22.
The freestyle relay also pulled themselves into a number 12 position, as P. K. Porter, Carol Schneller, Lynn Van Ummersen and Sheryl Powers landed in nearly eight seconds slower than their personal best.
Again, Palumbo states he knows that the team had an off day, but is still slightly unsure of the cause of it.
"Maybe the diet we put them on wasn't good for preparing them, maybe the post-season practices weren't right for them. Usually you peak at the States, and I think we might have peaked early this year, probably at the Sectionals. They were the real climax of the season."
And considering how well everyone did at the Sectionals, the season fell nothing short of impressive.
"I've coached the team nine years, and this is the best season I've had."
Lexington was clearly the destructive factor of the season, and, according to Palumbo, there was nothing any one could really do about it.
"They were just a better and stronger team, and they deserved to win."
But against the powerful Minutemen, Palumbo wouldn't let up, and gave Lexington one of the best struggles in a long while. Thus at least Winchester made its presence known, and one of the many pleasing factors concerning the emergence of the Sachemette powerhouse was their victories over teams that had previously washed them away.
Marblehead, for instance, had so beaten WHS two years ago that a turnaround could have been reasonably considered next to impossible. But again a victory.
Belmont was another team that was supposed to wash away the Sachemettes. Not only did WHS walk away with the contest, the squad pulled themselves to a clear win by nearly 20 points.

Bedford, sporting a line of potential state contenders, fell to the strokes of the Sachemettes in the same manner everyone else did: by a surrender to the relays and the freestyle events.
One of Palumbo's largest advantages is the ages of his team members. McCann, for instance, who went to the Sectionals and States, is still only a freshman, as is Powers, an extremely strong freestyler, and diver Bowen.
Liz Porras, one of the most talented flyers on the team, is only a sophomore with two more years to go, probably to both the States and the Sectionals. Tracy Caulfield is another strong freestyler who will join Porras for the next two seasons.
And then, the "Big Three", still juniors, Porter, Van Ummersen, and Schneller will provide all the freestyle strength Palumbo will need for a while.
With seniors Julie DeCarlo, Gulino, Cheryl Fazio, Heidi Lane, Marybeth Fennell, Anne Donahue, and Susan Spiller, leaving Palumbo will have a difficult time replacing them.
But if Palumbo continues to have as much luck with the institution of the four-year high school, maybe next year's record will jump to a 13-0.

The Booters

As the Star went to press it had yet to be decided when or where the Winchester-Billerica (boys) semi-final match would be held after the snow-out Tuesday. The girls semi-final match was tentatively rescheduled for today at 2:15 at MIT against Concord.

Soccer Notebook

Four Winchester boys were named by Middlesex League coaches to the All League team recently. Another pair were given honorable mention status.

Named to the All League squad was forward Paul Williamson, halfbacks Neil Frink and Jim Fallon and fullback Brian Donnellan. Honorable Mentions were forward David Suvak and goalie Mark Steranka.

The Boston Globe caused quite the flack in local soccer circles Sunday when they reported that Beverly had topped Winchester, 4-0. Oops.

And line of the week to Foxboro Coach John Medeiros during the girls' match Saturday in Franklin. After watching mercurial Winchester Coach Chris Scanlon scream at the officials, Medeiros decided he'd give it a try. After giving the customary, "ah, come on Ref," Medeiros turned to the sidelines, shrugged and remarked, "Well, I might as well give it a try." Go get 'em, coach.

★ Boys

headed the ball high into the goal but Steranka grabbed it at the last second. Minutes later Beverly charged again but Steranka again leaped high and caught the ball.

Steranka reserved two of his best saves for the third quarter when the game was still on the line. One shot he caught while on his knees. The other was a shot that Laszlo Von Lazar booted into the air and hopefully behind the net. But it went straight up in the air and a Beverly forward was stationed right in front of the net ready to head it in. As he jumped up to head the ball, Steranka also leaped, snatching the ball seconds before the Beverly forward would have touched the ball.

"No doubt about it — he played a super game," Bouley said afterwards. Mark is our MVP. He made saves all day long and didn't make a mistake."

The tension built in the fourth quarter with pressure on the Winchester defense. Beverly kept the ball towards that end of the field the first half of the quarter, while the score remained 1-0.

The Sachems then brought the ball down the field. Kevin Sargent passed to Eric Lowenstein, who crossed to Williamson in front of the net. Williamson headed the ball, but it went out the end of the field.

On the next play, Beverly charged again. Brian Donnellan saved the ball this time by booting it out. He built up his speed running so that after he booted the ball, he slipped, and was down on the ground for several minutes.

Bouley said he had hurt a muscle in his back by his shoulder. Prior to the game, Brian has to take it easy and get well — I need him," said Bouley.

Winchester put pressure on the Beverly defense after that, with several attempts on goal.

On the next play, Beverly threw the ball in and Lowenstein received it and passed up to Williamson, who shot. The goalie saved it.

On charge down the field, Bowen dribbled down the right side and passed to David Suvak, who shot. Again Whalen, saved the ball.

Neil Frink charged the net soon afterwards, having received the ball from Donnellan, but his shot went wide.

The Sachems were scheduled to play their next game, the semi-finals, against Billerica on Tuesday night at the Conley Stadium in Lowell. However, the snow caused the game to be postponed.

Unless the snow melts by Thursday afternoon, the Sachems will be playing on astroturf again, probably at Boston University. The game will probably be played Thursday or Friday, but no definite date has been set yet.

Cosmos Whip

Woburn To Finish Unbeaten

The Cosmos wrapped up an undefeated season last week with a trouncing of Woburn to finish at 10-0.

The Cosmos outscored their opposition 48-8 to breeze to a first place finish. The tremendous defense was led by Matt Williams, Jay Rice, Matt Layden and goalkeeper David Kofmann.

The midfielders, David Swanson, John Serika, Michael Ducharme, Ed Mueller and Dennis Clark succeeded in setting up forwards Robert Anderson, Scott Kerrigan, Andy Laats and Ricky Suvak.

With the undefeated season behind them, the Cosmos are now faced with another task. This Saturday and Sunday teams from around the state will be coming to Winchester for tournament play. The quarterfinals will be held Saturday starting at 9 a.m. for the under 14-year-olds at Leonard Field and at Ginn Field for the under 12-year-olds. The semi-finals and finals will be held Sunday at the same locations.

A Day In The Life Of Winchester

6-8 A.M.

THE FIRST HOURS—Monday, like most days in Winchester, start slowly and quietly. While the rest of the town is either still dreaming or just getting started, John Flynn of West Roxbury (upper right), the Wonderbread man, makes his delivery to Purity Supreme. Not long thereafter, dozens of Winchester residents, like the early bird in the upper right picture, begin making their way to the train platform for the ride into Boston. And beginning at 5 a.m., Louis Best (lower right) is on the streets helping Winchester get off to a clean start in his DPW street cleaner. While Best is one of few residents on the streets that early, he isn't the only one. At that hour, even a slow, easy-going pooch can stroll across Church St. with little or no concern for traffic. (Photos by Kate Freedman)

8-10 A.M.

10-noon

THINGS GET MOVING—By 10 a.m., Winchester's day is well underway. Even the youngsters (above right) at the day care center at the First Congregational Church are cranked up and full of vim and vigor. The Police and Fire Departments (top and bottom left) have long since gotten their early chores out of the way and are ready for whatever the day may bring. (Photos by Robert Weston)

COMING HOME—Route 93 is a familiar path for many Winchesterites as they went their way to and from work in Boston each day. A several second exposure (above) captures the stream of traffic out of Boston. Not much later, a goodly number of Winchesterites headed for the high school and another session of the Fall Town Meeting presided over by John Sullivan (right).

8 - Midnight

(Photos by Neal Hamberg)

THE END — Some Winchesterites ended their day by getting ready for a special beginning. Several dozen expectant mothers and fathers, including Frank and Deborah Tronello (right), attended a special class at the Washington school sponsored by the Winchester Hospital. And after almost everyone had gone to bed, firefighter Peter Skerry (above) kept the midnight oil burning at the fire station. Soon almost all of the lights of Winchester had disappeared except for the spotlight on the steeple of the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church.

Boston Edison answers frequently asked questions:

"What does foreign oil have to do with my electric bills?"

Last year, more than 90% of the oil we used to make your electricity had to be imported from other countries. At a ridiculously high cost.

Selectmen's Notes

Cagan Appointed

Board of Health Director Bob Cagan has been appointed Hazardous Waste Coordinator for Winchester. Selectmen made that appointment at a meeting Nov. 12. The vote to have Cagan fill that position was unanimous.

Hurley Member

Maria Hurley has been appointed to the town's Bicycle Study Committee. Her appointment came on a unanimous vote of Selectmen Nov. 12.

Cable Television

Continental Cable Television Company will take what Selectmen Chairman Wade Welch termed "neighborhood soundings" on plans to lease a two-family house at 898 Main st. for location of business and technical facilities.

At a meeting of Selectmen Nov. 12, the company's regional manager Jeff Carroll told the board the firm was "very serious" about leasing the Main street structure.

Carroll said service to the area would begin in early spring or late summer of 1981, prior to the company's Sept. 15 deadline.

Carroll explained the company has laid 2,700 feet of underground cable.

A report concerning the reaction of neighbors to the location of the facilities on Main street is expected Monday night.

Berndt Plans

Berndt Realty, owners of the Parkview Apartments, which have begun the conversion to condominiums, has notified Selectmen they will lower the age qualification for elderly residents to 65.

That notification came at a Selectmen's meeting Nov. 12.

Berndt had agreed to let elderly residents remain in their units at the 318-unit project without increases barring cost of living increases following a meeting with Selectmen and residents at the complex in October.

Vacancies Eyed

Selectmen interviewed Sally Patton and Stephen J. Contons for vacancies on the recently created Council on Youth Monday.

The Council, created by Town Meeting members last spring, is an 11-member body composed of students, Selectmen and citizens.

Selectman Alan Macdonald represents the board on the Council.

Medical Plan

Selectmen will consider offering town employees a medical plan provided by the Lahey Clinic Health Maintenance Organization at a meeting Dec. 8.

Officials of the Lahey HMO met with the board Monday to discuss the plan.

Town Meeting

Four Percent Cap

Town Meeting voters overwhelmingly voted to override the state-mandated four percent spending cap by $314,600 in Thursday's meeting.

The excess appropriations were $109,305 for compliance with the cherry sheet's final figures, $138,405 for wage settlements, $63,290 for the high school roof, $4,000 energy costs and $6,000 for Holton Street Study Committee.

Both the Selectmen and the Finance Committee supported the override, which requires a two-thirds vote by Town Meeting for approval. The vote was 100-12.

Linnane Gift

An article sponsored by the Board of Library Trustees asking the town to vote to accept as a gift the final payment from the estate of Mary Linnane for the Winchester Public Library was indefinitely postponed.

You shouldn't have to stick your neck out for more than a couple bucks to get a great turkey platter.

A serving platter big enough to hold a Thanksgiving turkey would normally cost a lot of money.

But this week at The Crate and Barrel Warehouse Store, a platter that big will only cost $24.95 instead of the regular $42.00.

This Rothman platter is not only inexpensive, it's also beautiful. The creamy stoneware surface is brought to life with charming hand painted designs.

And if you have more dinner guests arriving for Thanksgiving than you have dinner plates, you'll also find Franciscan "Kaleidoscope" plates for just $1.95 instead of the regular $6.50 at The Crate and Barrel Warehouse Store.

The Crate and Barrel Warehouse Store. It's something else to be thankful for next week.

Selling Words

"Christmas won't be Christmas without presents," grumbled Jo in the opening line of "Little Women".

Then, as now, the fact holds whether the present be for Hanukkah, Christmas or a birthday. Fortunate will be the child when a book is included in the gifts. Books bring pleasure not only on "the day," but for many hours, days and years thereafter.

Following are just a few of the many good books available for children.

The staff of the Junior Library will be happy to make additional suggestions of books in specific fields, new editions of classics, or special titles for that special child for that special occasion.

Graham - "Wind in the Willows", illus. by Michael Hague. A newly illustrated edition of an old favorite, being the story of the escapades of four animal friends.

Blume - "Superfudge". It is always good news when another Judy Blume appears!

Bondi - "Paddington Takes the Test". Further misadventures of the ever popular English bear.

Hoffman - "The Nutcracker", illus. by Kay Choro. Countless children have seen or will see the ballet. This is a book to be shared by the whole family.

Moore - "The Night Before Christmas", illus. by DePaola. A well-known poem now set in a New England town with the illustrator's own house and quilts as models.

Schwartz - "Flapdoodle". Pure nonsense from American folklore - word plays, visual jokes and riddles, ridiculous poems, and much more.

McCord - "Speak Up". David McCord is still writing - thankfully! Here are 50 more poems to delight one and all.

Nash - "Custard and Company", illus. by Quentin Blake. A light-hearted collection of poetry by the incomparable Mr. Nash, appropriately illustrated by the incomparable Mr. Blake.

Siegel - "An Eye on the World". A biography of the renowned photographer Margaret Bourke-White, with many of her photographs. Macaulay - "Unbuilding". The fictional account of the dismantling and removal of the Empire State Building. A worthy companion to his other books that have been so popular with children.

Weitzman - "My Backyard History Book". Activities and projects demonstrate that learning about the past begins at home. Other books in this Brown Paper School series should also be considered.

Hazzard Will Conduct Berklee Band On Dec. 8

Berklee College of Music History and Analysis Dept. Chairman Peter Hazzard, a resident of 20 Myrtle st., will conduct the Berklee Concert Band in its Annual Holiday Concert Dec. 8 at 8:15 p.m. in the Berklee Performance Center.

A composer, Hazzard has written over fifty major works for a range of instrumental and vocal groupings, and was recently lauded for his music lecture on "Composition for the Twentieth Century Concert Band," which he presented at Berklee.

As Conductor of the Berklee Concert Band, Hazzard has acted as Musical Director of compositions by nearly every major composer and arranger, in diverse styles and idioms, from classical to Broadway show tunes. This concert marks a commencement of his fifth year as the Band's Conductor.

Hazzard teaches Composition, Theory and Music History at Berklee.

EnKa Exchange Open Wednesday

The EnKa Exchange at 736 Main st. is providing bargains in slightly-used clothing and accessories. The shop is open for business from 10-4 and 7:30-9:30 on Wednesdays and Fridays.

Friday hours are 10-1.

If selling items is what you have in mind, the Exchange also provides this service. Good used clothing, in style and in season can provide the seller with a fifty-percent return.

Take-in of clothes is Wednesdays each week.

It makes sense to save again.

For years, the federal government literally discouraged saving by taxing every penny of interest earned. And for years, bankers and savers alike complained loud and often. Well, Congress finally heard us. Beginning in 1981, interest earned on savings will be exempt in the amount of $200 for individual filing and $400 for joint returns. We strongly encourage you to take advantage of this significant new tax incentive. For your own benefit and for ours. Because the more money you save, the more money we can make available for mortgages. That's good for homebuyers and good for the economy. Tax relief for savers. It's a welcome relief for everyone.

Shop Sale At Hospital Slated Dec. 5

"From a .25 cent candy bar up to a gold necklace, people will find something to please the palate, the pocketbook, and the eye."

Freda Goldstein, chairman of the Lawrence Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Gift Shop, and Frances Schutzberg, of 15 Central st., treasurer of the Gift Shop, are speaking about the shop and its sale from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday, Dec. 5. The sale will be held in the lobby of the hospital, 170 Governors ave., Medford.

One table will have gourmet food-stuffs, another plants; other robes, gowns and sets; there will be Christmas cards, ornaments, and other items.

Fortnightly Plans Singing

For the 57th year, The Fortnightly will sponsor Christmas Eve carol singing on the Winchester Common Dec. 24 at 7 p.m.

Mrs. David Ewing is supervising the music arrangements. Mrs. Ralph Carlisle is chairman of The Fortnightly committee in charge of the event. Song books are supplied by the John Hancock Insurance Company.

The public is invited to share in this Yuletide traditional singing of Christmas carols accompanied by the Winchester High School Band under the lighted Christmas tree.

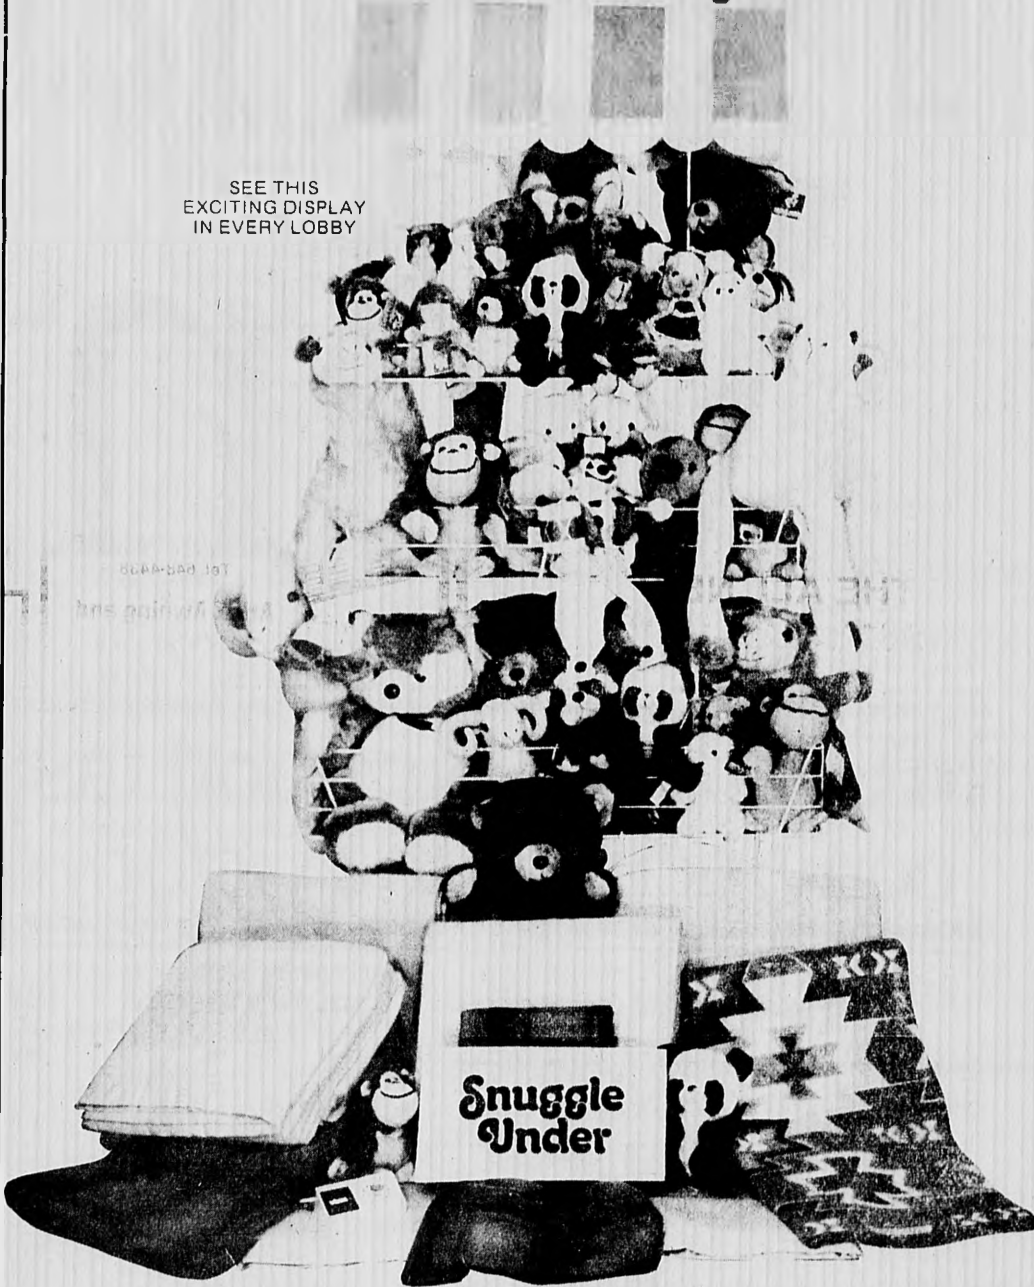

This occasion will be one of the events for The Fortnightly as it celebrates its 100th Birthday this year.

Merit: Runaway Winner.

MERIT low tar/good taste combination earns convincing 3 to 1 victory over high tar leaders.

There's a low tar cigarette that's challenging high tar smoking — and winning.

The cigarette: MERIT.

High Tars Suffer Setback.

Nationwide smoker research documents that smokers prefer MERIT.

Blind Taste Tests: In tests where brand identity was concealed, a significant majority of smokers rated the taste of low tar MERIT as good as — or better than — leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Smoker Preference: Among the 95% of smokers stating a preference, the MERIT low tar/good taste combination was favored 3 to 1 over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed!

Long-Term Satisfaction: In the latest survey of former high tar smokers who have switched to MERIT, 9 out of 10 reported they continue to enjoy smoking, are glad they switched, and reported MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried!

MERIT is the proven alternative to high tar smoking. And you can taste it.

National Computer Show

The second annual Northeast Computer Show will be held at Boston's Hynes Auditorium Nov. 20 through Nov. 23. The show's hours are 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, and 11 a.m. through 6 p.m. on Sunday. The show is open to the public, and the cost of admission is $5 for adults, $2 for children under 12 and infants are free.

The exposition is the largest public computer show in the country, with close to five hundred exhibits and displays covering one hundred thousand square feet of space. Over 50 million dollars worth of electronic and computerized equipment will be at the show.

Companies exhibiting in the four day show are coming from as far away as Taipei, and attendees will be flying in from all over the United States, Germany, Japan, South Africa and Australia. Over 40,000 will attend the show.

The show features computers for industry, scientific and engineering applications, small to large business systems, government, education, and computers for home and personal use. Computers costing $150 to $250,000, including mini and micro computers, data and word processing equipment, telecommunications, office machines, electronic typewriters, peripheral equipment and services will be there. In addition, there will be robots, computerized video games, computer art and computerized music for people who don't know a program from a memory disk.

In addition to computers, the show will include all types of high-tech gadgetry, such as a 12-foot in-diameter satellite television dish for receiving programming distributed by cable TV.

REAL ESTATE

by Ann Blackham

WHO ARE THE BUYERS?

Basically, there are three classes of people who look at homes. The first kind is in a hurry to move. They may have been transferred or already sold their present home or just want to make a quick decision.

The second kind has no sense of urgency. They are looking for a real bargain. They think that by buying directly from an owner they can save the commission, or worse, they want to find someone who is desperate to sell and buy the home for thousands of dollars under fair market value.

The third kind will never buy. They can't afford to or just don't want to—but they enjoy looking at homes for a pastime.

Studies show that 86 percent of classified home sale ads are run by REALTORS. This means that the second and third groups of non-buyers will be compressed into viewing only 14 percent of the ads. If you're serious about selling your home instead of just showing it, doesn't it make sense to list it with a REALTOR?

'Learning Through Art' Used In Local Schools

Winchester is one of four districts this year to adopt the DeCordova Museum's "Learning through Art" project. Fifth grade teachers in Winchester are using "learning through Art" lessons which integrate art history into the social studies curriculum.

The DeCordova lessons cover Native American Art, Architecture, Black Art and Crafts of the Industrial Revolutionary period, among other topics, and relate visual material of social studies concepts.

According to Lana Branton, project director, LTA aims to present art as part of the daily life and achievement of human-kind rather than as a specialized activity, separate from society's vital functions.

Seven Winchester teachers, Sarah Bloomer, Steve Heckley, Carol Lynch, Marguerite Maserian, E.T. McDonough, Catherine Sheridan and Paula Tranchita attended an intensive one-week workshop at the DeCordova Museum, located in Lincoln, taught by Lana Branton and Ursula Pitman. The course covered aesthetic awareness exercises, formal analysis of art, art history, and specific techniques for integrating art history into the social studies curriculum. This school year Branton will come once a month to Sheridan's class at the Lynch School to present a LTA lesson.

The other teachers will observe the lesson, then present it to their own class. Grant funds pay for administration of the project and each school district pays for materials which include lesson plans, slides and books.

The person responsible for bringing the program to the attention of Winchester educators is Betty Wolsky, 18 Oxford st. An educator at the museum, she approached Ambrose Principal Robert Forrest with the information and he consequently brought it to the attention of the administration.

Summer workshops were then started for teachers interested in using the program and the procedure was started in Winchester schools this fall.

Obituaries

Kathryn Ross

Kathryn Mary Ross, 53, of 540 Washington st., died Nov. 13 in her home following a long illness.

Born in Arlington and educated in the Winchester school system, she was a town resident for fifty years. She was secretary of the Winchester Fire Department until her retirement due to illness in 1978.

She was the wife of C. William Ross. Survivors include seven children: Lauren Ross, Joanne Ross, Robert Ross and Peter Ross, all of Winchester; Kim McDonald of Woburn; Kathy Colgate of Billerica and Clinton Ross of Ipswich. She was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Honey Murray of Longmeadow and the sister of Elizabeth LeMesurier of Canada; Marilyn Kunze of Tewksbury and William Murray of Longmeadow. She is also survived by two grandchildren.

The services are private at the request of the family.

Arrangements by the Robert J. Costello Funeral Home.

Arthur Reardon officiating. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

Jean Everett

Jean M. McGrath Everett, 53, of 52 Todd Pond rd., Lincoln, formerly of Winchester, died Nov. 18 in Massachusetts General Hospital following an illness of a few months.

Born in Winchester Oct. 28, 1927, she was a town resident for 45 years and a Lincoln resident for eight years. Educated in Winchester schools and a graduate of the Winchester High School Class of 1945, she was a 1947 graduate of Mt. Ida College in Newton. Previously employed by the General Electric Corporation in Boston, she was administrative assistant at the Miltre Corporation in Bedford. She was a member of the Lincoln Garden Club and did volunteer work at both Winchester Hospital and the Veteran's Hospital in Bedford for several years.

She was the daughter of the late Harry A. and Julia C. Coakley McGrath. She was the wife of Robert R. Everett of Lincoln.

Survivors include a sister, Claire McGrath McDonald of Winchester; five aunts, Mary Flynn and Ann Coakley of West Roxbury; Mildred O'Keefe of Scituate; Lillian Tansey of Wakefield and Helen Guild of Cambridge and several nieces and nephews.

Visiting will be today from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. at Lane Funeral Home.

The funeral will be Friday at 9:15 a.m. at the Lane Funeral Home followed by a Mass in St. Mary's Church at 10 a.m. Burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Donations in her memory may be made to the Cox Center, Blossom street, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston.

Arrangements by Lane Funeral Home.

Mrs. Howard Chase Honored Recently

A large number of friends and co-workers of the Winchester Hospital gathered at The Town Lyne House in Lynnfield Nov. 6 to honor Mrs. Howard E. Chase Jr. (Florence) on her retirement.

Mrs. Chase worked for a number of years as a volunteer before becoming an employee of the hospital in 1967. She always took great pride in her association with The Winchester Hospital, as she was one of its first babies and over the years has been happy to have numbered among the hospital family. A native of Winchester and a life long resident, she is the wife of Howard E. Chase, Jr., Director of Veteran Services for the Town of Winchester. They reside at 160 Forest Street. They are the parents of a daughter, Mrs. Richard C. Rice (Marsha) and a son, Robert H. Chase and a granddaughter Wendy Jeanne Rice.

Mrs. William Twohig (Alice) and Mrs. Kevin Sullivan (Arlene) took charge of the arrangements and Miss Joy Draper, Supervisor of the Switchboard-Information Department, where Mrs. Chase worked, acted as Mistress of Ceremonies. A lovely floral arrangement centered by a telephone and laden with money, a gift of her many friends, graced the head table. All other tables had pretty floral arrangements which were a gift of Jack Kean of Kean Florist together with a beautiful orchid corsage for Mrs. Chase.

An exquisite meal and the warmest of good fellowship filled the bill for the evening. A very fitting book, "This Is Your Life at Winchester Hospital" was among the presentations, with a promise of all pictures taken at the Retirement Party to be added. She also received a Gold Telephone Charm to be added to her bracelet of memories.

Holiday Bazaar

Set For Dec. 5
At Area Hospital

On Friday, Dec. 5, the New England Rehabilitation Hospital Volunteer Association will have its annual Christmas Bazaar at the Hospital.

A group of volunteers known as the "Busy Bees" have been preparing for this event. They have Christmas decorations and many hand-knit and crocheted articles.

There will also be tables of jewelry, gift items, plants, stuffed animals and baked goods.

Mrs. Albert D. Maggioli of Winchester is general chairman.

Mary Jacobs Will Draw Sketches Sat.

Mary Waters Jacobs will be drawing charcoal sketches at the Arts and Crafts Mini Fair to be held Saturday at the Unitarian Church between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The Fair is being sponsored by the Winchester Art Association. All forms of arts and crafts work will be available to purchase. Nothing will be priced over $50.

Auditions To Begin For Co-Op Theatre

Cooperative Theatre for Children is pleased to announce that this year's presentation will be an adaptation of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

The Cooperative Theatre seeks to provide children with an opportunity to learn the different aspects of theatre arts. Last year's production was "Charlotte's Web."

Children in grades four through six are invited to audition on Dec. 1 and Dec. 2, at the First Congregational Church at 3 p.m.

Rehearsals will be scheduled for Monday and Tuesday afternoons during January, February and March. Attendance is required for all rehearsals. The production will be presented on the weekends of March 21 and March 28.

Tuition will be charged. For further information please call Pamela Meserve at 729-4694.

The play will be directed by Cathy Alexander. Musical direction will be provided by Carole Davidson. Pamela Meserve will design the costumes and Doreen Deluca will design the sets.

Travel Along with

MAVIS

Airlines compete among themselves to determine their dependability. Thankfully for the air traveler, this aspect of punctuality is monitored by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The CAB measures dependability by checking how close an airline meets its published schedule. It rates dependability each month over the 200 most heavily traveled routes in the country. The CAB defines "on time" as an arrival within 15 minutes of its scheduled without cancellation. Using this system of measuring dependability, a traveler may make a choice of airline partly based upon this factor.

It's fun to plan your own trip whether that be a winter skiing vacation or not, but travel is a very complicated business today. It is much easier and safer to call on a qualified travel consultant. At McGRATH TRAVEL SERVICE, 14 Ealon Ave., Woburn, 925-0600 we recognize that it is the client who comes first and we do our best to see that you travel in comfort. Open: Mon., Fri., 9-5, Sat. and evenings by appt.

TRAVEL TIP:
Your travel agent can easily arrange flights and hotel accommodations for your ski holiday. Up to date snow reports are available from several airlines.

Local Students Attend Gathering At Mt. Holyoke

Several Winchester High School students recently attended "Bring a Daughter Day" at Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley.

This day is held annually to acquaint prospective students and daughters of alumnae, in particular, with the school. The program includes a tour of the campus, an opportunity to visit departments of special interest, luncheon in one of the dormitories and a panel discussion by undergraduates about various aspects of student life.

Althea Shirley, Alumnae Admissions Representative for the Winchester Mount Holyoke Club, along with two other members of the club, Deborah Hall and Nancy Cunningham, were the "mother" hostesses.

Their guests were Laura Cunningham, Nancy Lane, Lynn Morris, Betsy Thomas and Melanie Melzar of Winchester High School and Rosemarie Gilgun from Woburn High School.

At present, eight Winchester girls are students at Mount Holyoke.

St. Mary's Group Slates Festival At School Hall

On Monday, Nov. 24 at 8 p.m. the St. Mary's School Parents Association will hold their annual Turkey Festival in the School Hall.

Turkeys will be awarded, as well as fruitcakes, cider, vegetable baskets, chocolates and wine. Refreshments will be served during the evening. Proceeds from this event will benefit St. Mary's School.

Tune-Up Time
Winchester's Police Chief, John McHugh, recently referred to today's high cost of owning and operating an automobile and observed that engine tune-ups have become a major concern to American motorists, both in terms of conservation and safety.

"At this time of year," the Chief added, "the best way to winterize your car is to take it to your dealer or a reputable service station with instructions to take care of everything that has anything to do with keeping your car running and moving during adverse weather in the months ahead."

Instead of the usual grease job and oil change, a complete engine check-up and an inspection from fan belt to tailpipe, may be in order, according to Chief McHugh.

"Yet the sweetest running, most fuel efficient engine in town," he continued, "can't move you far if your wheels are spinning on snow or ice because the tread has disappeared from old tires, or you haven't had the foresight to install snow tires or studded tires (where permitted). And there's no time like now to put a set of tire chains and other emergency equipment in your car trunk."

Other items that should be safely serviced by a mechanic for dependable starts and sure going should include radiator anti-freeze and windshield washer solutions, the electrical system including the battery, brakes and exhaust system. All worn or defective parts in all systems should be replaced.

What Your Turkey Is Stuffed With

By STEVEN JONES

Think Thanksgiving and you think turkey.

A Thanksgiving without turkey would be like a day without sunshine. Or a meal without wine.

Sometimes, however, days without sunshine and meals without wine aren't so bad. And, given the condition of the modern Thanksgiving turkey, some celebrants might be considering chicken this year.

Yes, the old Turkey Day turkey has changed.

Today's gobble has not spent his growing years wandering around a farmyard, gobbling up healthy insects or kernels of corn scattered about by a lovely farmer's wife. No sir, today's turkey, pumped full of everything from emulsifiers to sugar, has more in common with a chemist than a farmer.

What you feast on tomorrow will be a far cry from what your grandmother

Saraco, Groux Clash Over Salt

By STEVEN AUSTIN

What it boiled down to was a question of approach.

Upset over the purchase of 305 tons of salt by Town Manager Tom Groux Nov. 19, seven days after Selectmen voted to put an immediate freeze on all non-essential purchases, Selectman Michael Saraco said while he "had no motions to make" concerning the purchase, he wanted "some answers."

Groux, in response to Saraco's question said he would have bought the salt, to be used in snow removal "with or without the directive" concerning the freezing of purchases.

"Salt is certainly essential," Groux said. "I would not consider a freeze on (the purchase) of salt to fall under the board's purview at this particular time."

Groux has been serving as acting Department of Public Works since the departure of former director Walter Tonaszuck in October to take a similar position in Lexington.

Saraco said the town had 703 tons of salt on hand as of the first of the year. The town used 13 tons of the stuff to clear streets during last week's storm, Saraco said.

He said the town was under a contract which held the price at $26 per ton through April of next year. He also pointed out the town could get delivery of the stuff within 24-hours of placing the order.

Groux, who was absent Nov. 12 when the vote to freeze all non-essential purchases was taken, said had he been present he would have suggested the board address the subject of vacancies and non-essential services in its efforts to trim $650,000 in shortfall in auto excise taxes due to the passage of Proposition 2.5.

Purchases, Groux said, make up only approximately 20 percent of the town budget, with the remainder coming in personal services and salaries.

"To freeze purchases is to address a very small section of the total budget," Groux told Selectmen.

The cost of the salt Groux said, was "approximately $7,800 out of a $50,000 appropriation" for snow and ice removal.

"I'm not going to buy another table shaker of salt until our reserves are low," Groux told Selectmen.

Saraco, however, remained unmoved. "I think the Town Manager is covering somebody," Saraco said. "Some place along the line, there was a foul-up."

Groux countered by taking responsibility for the purchase of the salt.

Saying the purchase was "not flying in the face of the board or exercising

Signed Agreements Will Be Affected By Prop. 2½

Signed contracts with teachers, policemen and town employees are likely to be affected by the passage three weeks ago of Proposition 2.5, according to town and school officials.

Winchester faces trimming approximately $650,000 from the current fiscal year budget due to a short-fall created in the town's auto excise tax by 2.5.

"Any substantial cut can have at least a peripheral effect on collective bargaining agreements," according to Town Counsel Douglas Randall. Since the $650,000 figure represents 3.5 percent of the net operating budget, Randall explained, "you can't deal with a figure that large without running the risk of some impact on these agreements."

Town Manager Tom Groux agreed, saying he'd met with the leaders of the four unions concerning the effect of 2.5 on negotiated agreements.

Groux said he had asked the unions to examine contracts for "areas where we might jointly renegotiate."

"We may end up infringing" on negotiated agreements, Groux said.

The School Committee met in executive session for more than three hours Monday night with School Superintendent William MacDonald to discuss potential cuts.

School Committee member Sandra Rodgers said afterwards that the committee was hopeful that the cuts could be made without violating the recently agreed to two-year pact, but admitted that it could be difficult.

"We'll be looking at any accounts and all accounts where we wouldn't run into contractual problems but if we have a mandate from Town Meeting to cut then we wouldn't have any alternatives," she said.

Rodgers added that the immediate cuts made necessary because of the excise reductions would pale in comparison to cuts that will have to be made in next year's budget.

"I think the thing that was clear to us from the last meeting was that when we come around to next year the cuts are going to be severe."

Although nothing concrete was decided upon, Rodgers said some of the areas that the committee looked at very closely included programs from the revolving account (community use of schools, summer school, etc.) and substitute teachers.

Programs from the revolving account "will have to be able to sustain themselves," Rodgers said. She added that the committee discussed the possibility of not using substitutes the first day a teacher was out.

MacDonald was not so optimistic that the cuts, especially in next year's budget could be made without impacting the contract language.

"A good many of them that will be made will be painful but not a violation, instead a curtailment of services. But that certainly doesn't mean all of them," MacDonald said.

Winchester Education Association President Steve Gorrie was hopeful that the committee wouldn't go back on the contract agreement under any cir-

Cocaine Charge Filed

A 17-year-old Winchester youth has been charged with possession of cocaine and will face that charge Nov. 30 in Woburn District Court.

Vincent Marquardo of 1 Windsong lane was charged with possession of cocaine Saturday after police investigated a vehicle in which he was sitting for double parking on Skillings road.

According to police reports, Marquardo was with three other companions. The three were issued a verbal warning concerning the possession of alcohol in a motor vehicle.

Reports said a search of Marquardo revealed three empty envelopes, a silver tube with a white residue and a fourth envelope containing what appears to be cocaine.

Marquardo was arraigned in court Monday and will return next Monday to face the possession charge. According to Police Inspector Bill Nash, authorities plan to have the substance found in Marquardo's possession analyzed.

In other action, a 25-year-old Pilgrim drive man has been sentenced to a year in the Billerica House of Correction in connection with a breaking and entering at a Bigelow ave. residence.

Nicholas Aufiero was sentenced to the House of Corrections Monday in Woburn District Court. He had been charged in connection with a breaking and entering in which jewelry, candlesticks and a stereo receiver were taken. Nash told The Star Monday none of those items has been recovered.

Police are also looking into the theft of more than $1,000 worth of calculators from the King-Seelye Thermos Company at 37 East St.

The thefts, which police believe occurred between 5:15 and 7:10 p.m. Nov. 18, included five printing and display calculators valued at a total of $1,044, a calculator valued at $40 and a clock valued at $150.

Legislature Reverses Traditional 'T' Support

"The only way to stop patronage is to make the issue so incredibly public in nature that politicians are afraid to go to the cookie jar anymore."—Rotondi

Sen. Sam Rotondi of Winchester says he thinks that the vote on Proposition 2.5, in particular, and articulated concern by the public about MBTA employees, the system itself and the money running out led the traditionally supportive legislature into a reverse role.

It caused the House to vote for strong management rights and against current union rights. However, while passing those amendments, the complete reorganization package was defeated.

While saying that the MBTA Advisory Board has been the most responsible in relation to MBTA spending, Rotondi is not opposed to giving the board a decreased role if the monetary burden of the "T" on the cities and towns were lessened. He questions what incentive the board would have to continue to be so responsive on MBTA spending if its members pay less.

On the question of who will pay for the additional money needed to keep the system running through the calendar year, Rotondi says he will vote to have the state pay. The answer comes right away, he says, when one looks at the specific and restricted property tax which the communities rely on and the ability of the state to derive revenue increases through broad-based revenue taxes such as sales and corporate taxes.

Despite the $412 million budget which the MBTA has submitted to the Advisory Board for 1981, Rotondi thinks that the system could decrease spending if a strong management rights package were passed by the legislature.

Management could make better use of the personnel if management rights were voted, he says. The problem with the Governor's use of emergency powers is that, although it keeps the system running, it is without reform. That keeps the same sickness alive and the same issues will come up next year, he says.

Rotondi says politicians have to keep their hands out of the system. "The only way to stop patronage is to make the issue so incredibly public in nature that politicians are afraid to go to the cookie jar anymore," he says.

Rotondi expects the Supreme Judicial Court to find that the Governor should not have used his emergency powers to take over the system, but he feels that the Governor had no alternative when the legislature did not act. If the court rules against the Governor, Rotondi says this will put pressure back on the legislature to act immediately.

Rotondi does not see anything happening unless reforms of the system are voted. If local aid were sought as the source for the "T" aid, Rotondi says it would have to be done through a new transportation package which calls for state takeover of express service. That

Athletics Feel 2½ Squeeze

The Winchester High School athletic program felt the first effects of Proposition 2.5 this week when the School Committee voted to leave vacant the position of trainer and will consider dropping girls' gymnastics.

The committee followed Personnel Director Diane Hall's recommendation that the position of winter and spring trainer, scheduled to be filled by Donna M. Gildersleeve, be left vacant because it was a "supportive position."

The position cost $1,165 per season. "I'm not at all pleased that we can't have a trainer but in these times people are asking us to cut," said School Committee member Roger Bauman.

School Superintendent William MacDonald also expressed regret that the position could not be afforded, calling it a detriment to the program.

"Frankly, I think it will leave an extremely big void," he said. The committee voted 5-1 (Sandra Rodgers opposed) to delay the appointment of Pamela Ruto as girls' varsity gymnastic coach until their next meeting Monday night.

Hall and MacDonald had recommended that Ruto be appointed to the position that pays $1,341 because the team was set to begin competition after poor judgment," Groux said he had no plans to "come back to Selectmen with policy decisions."

Saraco drew support from Selectman Edward F. O'Connell, who said he would have felt more "comfortable" had Groux returned to the board before buying the suit.

"We could have well deferred this procurement until after the Town Meeting Dec. 4," O'Connell explained. Countering arguments by Groux concerning difficulty in obtaining suit during the blizzard two years ago, O'Connell said, "the situation of two years ago does not pertain to the winter of 1980-81."

"The Town Manager is responsible for making purchases," Groux told the board. "We're talking about a judgment here. I don't think the Selectmen want the Town Manager to approach the board with all operational questions."

Saraco said that while he didn't want to get involved in the daily operations of the town, "we were not in dire need of suit."

Selectmen John Williams characterized the discussion as "an honest difference of opinion."

"It may not have been politick to buy it at this time," Williams said.

Groux drew support from Selectmen Chairman Wade Welch, who said he believed the purchase was "an operational decision within the guidelines of the policy" set forth by Selectmen.

"I will not second guess your operational decisions," Welch told Groux.

Again, a question of approach emerged, with Saraco looking toward freezing non-essential purchases while Groux advocates an examination of vacancies and non-essential services.

"That's where the money is," Groux said.

Town Meeting will reconvene Dec. 4 to examine the means to make up the shortfall.

cumstances. "Both sides negotiated the contract in good faith and I certainly hope the School Committee can stand firm on a contract bargained in good faith. We would have to go back to the bargaining table if things were going to be changed (in the contract language)."

Gorrie said he would like to see Town Meeting use any available free cash for such purposes if necessary.

"I hope the town could use some of that free cash so there wouldn't be any major upheavals or disruptions," Gorrie said. "That money is supposed to be used in emergency situations. It's our feeling that this is an emergency so let's use some of it."

Selectmen and school officials are currently gearing up in forming a plan of attack for making cuts mandated by 2.5.

Selectmen also held an executive session Monday night concerning the possible impact of the measure on union contracts.

Town Meeting has adjourned until Dec. 4 at which time necessary cuts in dealing with the measure will be considered.

Town Meeting Moderator John Sullivan met with Selectmen Monday to outline the "mechanics" of dealing with 2.5.

According to Sullivan, Town Meeting can consider making necessary reductions two ways Dec. 4.

First, Town Meeting could make necessary reductions from funds appropriated during Spring Town Meeting. Such reductions could be made under Article 36 of this Fall's Town Meeting warrant, Sullivan explained. Any reductions, the moderator said, would have to be made from money still available in appropriated funds.

He suggested that Town Comptroller Al Faggiano and department heads meet to provide information on making reductions in this area.

Since no reductions may be made in appropriations approved during this month's Fall Town Meeting, Sullivan said a two-thirds vote would be required to bring any appropriation back to the floor for reconsideration.

Under this plan, any reconsideration of any collective bargaining agreement would be "entirely in order."

Town Meeting voted Nov. 3, 126 favoring, five opposing, to approve teacher, police and town employee contracts calling for a total of $571,228 in appropriations and transfers.

Of that amount, appropriations account for $138,405 while $432,822 are transfers.

Under the terms of the three-year police pact, salaries increase six and three-quarters percent during the first and second years and seven percent in year three.

During the first year, a minimum salary for a patrolman would be $15,415. Second year minimum salary for patrolmen would be $16,456 while the third-year salary for a patrolman would begin at $17,608.

The police pact also provides a night shift differential of $1 per shift and will cost the town a total of $7,540.

The rate paid officers for extra duty will be $9.50 in the first year, $10 in year two and $10.50 in year three.

Officers will have to work four hours after midnight before time-and-a-half payments begin rather than three hours, the period required under the old agreement.

The contract signed by the Town Employees Association provides a 55 cents per hour increase for all classifications in the hourly wage category during the first year.

That same increase is provided, in year two of the agreement.

After working seven days in a higher classification, a town employee receives a 25 cents per hour raise.

Other terms in the town employees contract establish a six-month probationary period for new workers and set new policies concerning personal and sick leave days.

Language which reduces the time for filing grievances, appeals and arbitration was also included in the employee pact.

Under the terms of the teachers agreement, increases of seven and one-quarter percent are provided in each of the two years covered by the pact.

Under the terms of the agreement, teachers who are laid-off now have a specific recall procedure which has the last teacher laid-off the first called back to the job.

The School Committee retains control of the Reduction in Force (RIF) procedure that allows tenured teachers to be laid-off because of declining enrollment.

would reduce the obligation of the communities from the current 50 percent of the deficit or $20.5 million for the rest of the year to $9 million. The solution is not simple, he says, but he thinks this is better.

Thanksgiving and it would be unfair to the 26 girls who have gone out for the sport.

"We have made league commitments that should be honored," MacDonald told the committee.

But committee member Constance Papas was unimpressed. "We have a lot of commitments but very little leeway where we're going to cut," she said. "I'm certainly supportive of sports but I don't think it's prudent to spend any money until we're certain of the cuts. We talk about cutting $500 here and $1,000 there and here we're talking about $2,000," she said.

The committee will make a final decision at Monday night's meeting.

Selectmen's Notes

Washington School

Selectmen Monday delayed action on giving Winchester Hospital a six-month notice to vacate the Washington School building until the end of Town Meeting.

Town Meeting approved the development of the structure as an 18-unit condominium during Fall Town Meeting.

In responding to the Codman Company, a Boston-based developer that will handle the construction and development of the site, Selectman Edward F. O'Connell said he would like to wait until the present Town Meeting dissolves before notifying the Hospital to leave the building.

Codman offered $305,000 for the structure and was selected over three other developers by Selectmen in October following a recommendation by the School Re-Use Committee.

The vote to okay Codman as the developer followed an agreement concerning a developers' control clause. That agreement was reached after Selectmen Chairman Wade Welch said he would not support any developer who inserted such a clause.

Under the terms of that agreement, Codman would give up one seat on the three-member board of directors when 50 percent of the units or 16 are sold. Codman will give up a second seat, thus relinquishing control of the project to buyers. The agreement was based on this formula or a one-year basis, which ever comes first.

Currently, Winchester Hospital is a six-month, tenant-at-will user of the building.

Lahey Medical Plan

Selectmen will vote Dec. 8 on whether to offer town employees the Lahey Health Maintenance Organization plan after that plan drew fire Monday from area doctors.

The Winchester Star

The Winchester Star (USPS 688-020) is published weekly by Century Publications, Inc., 4 Water St., Arlington, MA 02174 (643-7900). Second class postage paid at Boston, MA. Annual subscription rate is $11.00 ($15.00 out of county); single copy price is 35¢. Editorial and sales office is at 3 Church St., Winchester, MA 01890 (729-8100). Postmaster: Send address change to The Winchester Star, 4 Water St., Arlington, MA 02174.

Dr. Tom Mulvaney of Winchester Hospital called the plan expensive and characterized it as one which would "capture" patients from the Highland Avenue facility.

Selectmen heard a presentation Nov. 17 by Lahey Clinic HMO officials.

Appointments Made

Selectmen voted Monday to appoint five members to the Wyman Neighborhood Study Committee.

Daniel Kenney, Ginger Kenney, Norman Simons, Paul E. Mason and Judith C. Wiegand were appointed to the study group which will consider the possible uses of the structure when the Bartlett moves to the Parkhurst school next August.

The vote to appoint the five was split with Selectmen Alan Macdonald, Michael Saraco and John Williams favoring the motion, Selectman Edward F. O'Connell voting present and Chairman Wade Welch voting against.

Welch based his objections on having a husband and wife, in this case the Kenneses, serving on the same committee.

Welch said his nay vote was based on "principle."

Cable TV

Selectmen want the Continental Cable Television Company to continue their search for office and studio space, concentrating that search on Winchester's downtown area.

The company had reported to Selectmen Nov. 17 they were prepared to lease a two-family house on Canal street for the use as an office and studio.

Cable Television Advisory Committee member Laurence Worthen said his committee has recently met with the company. Worthen, following the advice of Chairman Wade Welch, said he would ask the company to, in Welch's words "continue their exploration of alternative sites."

The Canal street location has drawn support from Selectman Michael Saraco, who called the location of the office and studio "an improvement in that particular neighborhood."

Selectman John Williams emphasized the board was not trying to make the location of the office and the studio difficult for the company.

"It is not our intention to throw-up obstacles," Williams said. "We just want them (Continental) to pursue this with vigor."

Capital Planning Board

Selectmen have asked residents interested in filling a number of vacancies on various town boards to contact them.

Currently, Selectmen are attempting to fill a vacancy on the town's Capital Planning Board.

Art Blooms For Elderly At Home

"Arts in Bloom" describes an original theater piece performed at the Winchester Convalescent and Nursing Home last Thursday.

The Yoga and Creativity Workshop group from the Jenks Center introduced themselves by name and by brief movements depicting whatever art form they enjoyed most: Polly Keppler, flower arranging; Florence Hritzay, singing; Audrey DeMaio, Tai Chi; Violet Myrvagnis, Eurhythmy; Annette Riley, dancing; Margaret Leader, square dancing; and Isabelle Crawford, needlepoint.

Then to the music of Pachelbel's "Canon" they expressed these arts in interacting movement patterns. Then the theme was carried out into the audience where each person was interviewed about his/her favorite art form.

Before this theater piece participants led the audience in yoga exercises to stretch and strengthen the whole body, including the cardio-pulmonary system. Some of the participants worked in standing positions and on floor mats, while others sat on chairs to show easier exercises with similar benefits that those in wheelchairs could follow. After a "Moon Song" of positive affirmations by Norman Keene playing Debussy's

"Clair de Lune", the active yoga ended with relaxed deep breathing for everyone.

A strong disco beat brought a definite change of pace as Annette Riley and Ellen Murphy led volunteers in a fast moving routine.

This demonstration ended the series of Yoga and Creativity workshops, but Yoga exercises will continue on Monday mornings from 10 to 11 at the Jenks Center, using the tape recording of a master teacher, Ruth Bender. All past and current participants are invited to come.

Social Worker Named

Sondra Swartz, an intern social worker from the School of Social Work at Boston University, has joined the staff of the foster care program at St. Anne's School, Arlington Heights.

She brings with her a background of many years of camp counseling in Vermont while in high school. After graduating from Kenyon College in Ohio, she has worked at Coolidge House in Boston, a half-way house for ex-convicts.

Miss Swartz will be involved in group work by co-leading the training sessions for prospective foster parents.

Holiday Plans Listed

With the Christmas season just around the corner, churches and social groups in Winchester are gearing up to bring the joy of the holiday to residents.

There are a number of bazaars, sales and singing activities scheduled. What follows is a list of those activities.

The Lynch School Parents Association has scheduled a Holiday Bazaar Dec. 5, from 7-9 p.m., at the school.

Santa will visit the Muroco School Christmas Bazaar Dec. 6 from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Among the items offered at this bazaar are baked goods, Christmas decorations, grabs, plants and a white elephant table.

The Fortnightly Club is celebrating its 57th year of existence by sponsoring Christmas carols on the Common Dec. 24 at 7 p.m. The Winchester High School Band will accompany the singers under a lighted Christmas tree.

Winchester resident Peter Hazzard of the Berklee College of Music will conduct the Berklee Concert Band at the annual holiday concert Dec. 8 at 8:15 p.m. at the Berklee Performance Center.

A shop sale at the Gift Shop of the Lawrence Memorial Hospital Dec. 5 from 9 a.m. through 9 p.m. Among the items offered are gourmet foods, plants, gowns and robes. Christmas decorations will also be available.

A holiday bazaar is set for Dec. 5 at the New England Rehabilitation Hospital.

2nd Teen Forum Slated Dec. 31 At Town Hospital

Because of the interest shown in its October forum for teenage questions, Winchester Hospital will sponsor a second Open Forum for Teens Wednesday, Dec. 31, at Winchester High School from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Peter J. Rotolo, M.D., gynecologist;
Andrew D. Guthrie, Jr., M.D.,
pediatrician, and Dr. Edward T. Heck, psychologist, all members of the medical staff of Winchester Hospital, will answer any questions which teenagers may ask.
The questions may be written, and no signature is required.

Pat Skehan, community health education coordinator, who will moderate the meeting, said, "Because teenagers have told us that they have a more personal exchange with panel members when there are no adults present, we will honor their feelings, and hold this meeting open to teenagers only."

Volunteer and treasurer of the Association.

One of the largest tables will be home-baked goods in charge of Mrs. Pearl Goldman of Lexington.

Many of the volunteers, and others, have been busy all year in knitting and making hand-crafted items for the Christmas sale.

Among those active for the day-long event are Mrs. Elizabeth Rayner,

Minuteman Home Care Has Money Available

Minuteman Home Care Corporation
(MHCC) has $30,000 in Title III-B Older American Act funds available to community agencies and organizations. The Area Agency Advisory Council of MHCC has selected five areas to be addressed in proposals for these funds:

1. Planning the development of a second Adult Day Health Center to serve the western part of the MHCC planning and service area;
2. Development of senior centers in towns which lack these facilities;
3. Training for MHCC staff on issues related to mental health and the elderly;
4. Coordination of energy-related resources available to low income elders;
5. Development of model projects:
new approaches to dealing with issues of aging, particularly those aimed at improving attitudes of different age groups about the aging process;

The Title III funds will be allocated to community groups through a two-step process. The first step in the process is the submission of a letter of intent which expresses the group's interest in performing one of the funded services, according to John Paul Marosy, MHCC

executive director.

The second step will be the completion of a formal application which will be sent to each agency that sends in a letter of intent.

Each grantee must provide 25 percent in-kind match in the form of donated space, staff time, or other contributions.
Applications must be submitted to MHCC on Nov. 28. Programs accepted for funding will begin on Jan. 1 for a 12-month grant period.

MHCC staff is available to assist any group that wants to submit a proposal.
Services provided through Title III grants will be available to residents of participating communities in the Minuteman Area: Acton, Arlington,
Bedford, Boxborough, Burlington,
Carlisle, Concord, Harvard, Lexington,
Lincoln, Littleton, Maynard, Stow,
Wilmington, Winchester and Woburn.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For 100 Years

Steven Austin:

The Shots, The Book, Lincoln And The Artist

When he opened the grate on top of the stove, a red shower of sparks flew up toward his face. Squinting past them, he dropped more wood into the fire, replaced the grate and returned to his chair and his story.

"No one's ever shot at me before," he said, looking toward the stove. "It's a pretty frightening feeling."

At thirty, Arnie has managed to combine the best components of romanticism, pragmatism and cynicism. We sit together in the evenings sometimes and listening to him, I am always sure he has a great deal to teach me.

He visited Washington D.C. last week where he made some wonderful photographs of the Lincoln Memorial and was robbed at gunpoint.

"My friend and I stood there and looked at the gun," he said. "I've known him for years, since we were children and I think that's what saved us. Knowing one another, I mean."

He seemed a good deal less shaken than I imagined someone who'd been fired on would be.

"We never said anything to one another. I just remember running suddenly and knowing my friend would run too. We didn't even have to think about it. We just broke into a gallop at the same time."

Arnie uses a Deerdorff camera, one of those lovely, old relics in a varnished wooden box. He had it with him when he was robbed.

I saw it in his living room when he told me the story.

"We were running and I heard the shots, two of them, and that made us bend our backs more and run faster."

He returned later and found the camera sitting where he had left it.

"I've been thinking a lot about life since the shooting," he said. He smiled then, one of those rare smiles that masks something like understanding and a clearer vision.

He left Washington by train the next day, taking with him his camera and photographs, a selection of Lincoln's speeches and a copy of Hemingway's "A Moveable Feast."

Reading Hemingway on the train, he came to a decision.

"It's like he said," Arnie said, looking at the book on the table. "I'm young and healthy and I have my art." He shifted his gaze from the book to the camera. "So what if I don't have a lot of money."

He once packed the Deerdorff on his back up a mountain to photograph a waterfall. During the climb up, he broke a lens. He improvised with a piece of wax paper and the photo he returned with was so lovely it sucked at your breath when you looked at it.

The room had grown warm under the fire. Looking at the stove, I could see slits of fire through the slotted door at the front.

"Between the book and the shots and Lincoln's speeches, I've learned something," he said. "Something about art and about myself."

He smiled that understanding smile again.

The heat radiated off the stove in waves and looking across the room at him, I saw that his decision was final. He had come to realize he was what his friends had known him to be all along, an artist.

"The Question"

by RUSS KENDALL
Special To The Star

"Do you love me?"

The question came gently, quietly tucked into the postscript of a letter from Pennsylvania. I trembled ever so slightly as I slid the slip of paper back into its envelope.

I like you, I care for you, I need your support, I... "Do you love me?"

I thought about it. I was five the first time anyone asked me. It was a warm and sunny California afternoon. My mother and I were ready to board an American Airlines jet destined for Logan Airport. As we reached the threshold of the airplane she dropped down to one knee and through a tear-washed facade asked me "The Question." I hugged her in affirmation and stepped onboard. Left behind was the father I would never know.

In the next decade or so I heard many variations of The Question, some not a question at all; "If you love me you won't do that" or "I wouldn't spank you if I didn't love you."

You know the kind.

But I didn't hear "It" again until I was fifteen and ready, really ready, to leave home. There were words and tears, and when the last door slammed I was dragging my knapsack across the front lawn. I made my big mistake when I looked back and saw my mother and step-father standing on the doorstep, eyes pleading, and heard her, once again, ask "The Question."

The last time I heard it I was eighteen.

She was a beautiful girl with long brown hair, soft innocent eyes, and a love for the outdoors. We cried sweet tears as I held her and whispered "yes, forever" over and over again. Today she and her husband live in Colorado, somewhere. It was the last time I heard it, that is, until now.

"Do you love me?"

Somewhere between the dramatic exits, and the tears, and the disappointments lies the answer. But I still believe in love, and I believe that no matter how much anguish is cast among us in its name it is still the most positive force in the world. So once again, though maybe a little hesitantly this time, I answer.

Yes.

November: No Poor Relation

By TERRY MAROTTA

November is a month greatly undervalued in most circles.

It occupies an odd niche in our calendar, sandwiched between the blaze of October's foliage and December's gaudy march toward Christmas.

It's regarded as poor relation, somehow - old Uncle Homer with his frayed cuffs and shiny pants-seat.

Even brides shy away from November.

True, it is more barren than most other months. There are no leaves to be seen, except on folks' lawns. The lawns themselves take on a terrible equality in death; my neighbor's once springy emerald turf looks little better now than my own willy-nilly mix of crabgrass and dandelion.

And there are those bleak dawns, when all warmth and light seem forever banished from the earth.

But November must be seen for what it is, and not in relation, say, to incomparable September or lacy May.

The month has an austere beauty of its own. It is not merely a pause between seasons, but a small season in itself, and one worth giving thanks for.

Consider its colors. On sunny days, the sky is so deeply azure as to seem almost artificial, the product of Kodachrome and lens filters on a tourist's postcard. Place against that blue the warm bronze of the oak leaves. There is no drabness here.

The quality of light itself is tinged with amber. Even shining on an early snowfall, the light couldn't be mistaken for January's. Winter sun is thin and bluish, the color of skimmed milk; the sun of November, by contrast, is heavy cream. It is the tone of light in a Vermeer still-life, the kind with prosperous kitchens and bowlful of apples. You feel you can almost touch this light, skim off a handful and drink it.

Bare limbs against the sky create a delicate filigreed effect as in a meticulous pen-and-ink drawing. Seen through the intricate webbing of the branches, the firmament becomes a vast window of leaded glass.

My own house takes on a new grandeur. The shingles have shed their rustling jacket of ivy now, highlighting the contours of turret and chimney beneath. July's riot of curling fern fronds crinkle in brown rigor mortis, exposing the foundation. The house seems to stand higher now, no longer anchored by growing things to the earth. It looks like a stately old ship waiting to be moved out of dry-dock. At night I can hear it lift and begin to sail through the wind into winter.

I love November for images such as these. I love it, too for its lack of artifice. I am what I appear to be, it rustles, a month of slow decay. I am dying, but I am doing it gracefully. My death will grant you much that is beautiful on these short afternoons.

And even now, half a year away from the return of the vernal warmth, the magnolia buds sleep swaddled in their cocoons.

Letters From Readers

Bus Defended

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Cancelling the Minibus service is neither an effective nor rational response to Prop 2½. Killing the minibus would save the town only $30,000 of the $650,000 cutback needed this fiscal year. True, $80,000 is budgeted for minibus expenses for January through next June. However, most of this money would be returned to the town in the form of MBTA subsidies, farebox revenues and gasoline savings. As do all 79 cities and towns in the MBTA district, Winchester pays a share of MBTA costs - about $400,000 per year. However, as long as Winchester runs its own system, $60,000 is returned annually to the town to defray its minibus expenses.

So, if the minibus is cancelled, the town loses this significant revenue source forever - $30,000 for the second half of this fiscal year alone. Farebox revenues are estimated to be $18,000 for January thru June - deposited directly into the Town treasury. Finally, gasoline for the busses was budgeted at an estimated cost of $1.50 per gallon. Since gasoline should remain well below this price for the next six months, about $3,000 will be saved during that period. Subtracting MBTA subsidies, fare revenue, & gas savings from the $80,000 minibus budget yields net cost to the town - $30,000.

That $30,000 will "buy" roughly 60,000 rides for Winchester people during this coming winter and spring - seniors to the Jenks Center, youth to their activities, commuters to the train station, shoppers to downtown. Annually, 120,000 people ride Winchester Community Transit, yet the net cost is a very small part of the Town budget. Of every $10 the Town spends, only 3 cents go to the minibus.

Though cancelling our town's transit system would reduce town spending by very little, the minibus budget can and should be cut as should all other expenditures. The required $650,000 cut represents a 3 ½ percent reduction. The minibus budget can be cut by that much without affecting its services. Certain operational changes for the cost of gasoline, and eliminating the handicapped van (now stalled by MBTA - union litigation) would save $8,000, 5 percent of the $162,000 appropriations for this year. Winchester Community Transit is willing to make its share of the necessary cuts and more, but cancelling the minibus altogether is "throwing out the baby with the bath water."

Several significant changes to the Community Transit System are about to be made which should improve service and reduce cost to the town further. These changes should be given a chance to work - to demonstrate the system's full potential for efficiency and usefulness. These changes include

- Reducing the number of busses used during the mid-day period during which fewer people ride. This efficiency improvement is scheduled to start December 8.

- Discount ticket books to boost ridership will be available December 1.

- Service to Burlington and Caldor Malls will commence January 6. This service should raise system ridership and revenue considerably and may well turn a profit.

The system should be allowed to continue operating at least to the end of the fiscal year. That way, the effects of these changes can be measured and the long-run value of the minibus can be properly assessed. At that time too, Winchester's long-term financial picture will be much clearer and may not be as bleak as it seems in this moment of confusion. However, if the minibus is cancelled now, it will not rise again should the fiscal squeeze loosen. The MBTA is not likely to reinstate its subsidy. Without that money, the minibus would cost the town twice as much as it does now. Too, the able volunteers whose efforts brought the minibus into being and who have worked to run it since are not likely to find the enthusiasm needed for a renewed commitment.

The fate of the minibus system will be decided by Town Meeting on December 4. Past Town Meetings have always approved the minibus by wide margins. But times have changed and all expenditures will be reassessed in light of Prop 2½. Minibus service will continue only if it is apparent to elected officials and town meeting members that their constituents want it and are still willing to pay for it. If you think the minibus budget should be cut, but not cut out, make your views known. Only you can save the minibus.

Old And Young

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I have been asked by many of our town's people to keep writing these small pieces. I will try not to whine, but the stories I hear from a good many nice people are really sad.

I am not writing about our quiet elderly now. I am writing about our many families who go to the super markets with what they think is enough cash and are embarrassed when the checkout girl gives them the total. They do not have it.

No wonder we have so many people under stress today. I also think our present President did his best and was an honest man. At least he didn't go on fancy vacations all the time and kept us out of war, which is every mother's wish.

Hope everyone has a nice Thanksgiving and will help those who are less fortunate.

Not Art

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Congratulations on your new column "Art With Children". By giving Ms. Munini a public forum you have succeeded in setting Art Education back 50 years. I know our schools have progressed beyond cut out turkeys.

This type of activity is detrimental to children's creative expression. By copying a predigested idea children cannot develop their own talent, but are forced to accept an adult stereotype concept.

It is your right to publish instructions for a paper bag turkey, but let's not call it Art.

Workers Thanked

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Republican Headquarters at 10 Mt. Vernon st. was staffed by 74 men and women, filling two-hour shifts during the two-week period preceding the election.

I wish to thank each one who answered my call for help in that one important election time activity. All those who cooperated in any way can feel that they had a small part in the Republican victory which ensued.

Moving Up On Thanksgiving

By MARY CRESSE

She used to fling olives at me, usually after the turkey and before the pumpkin pie. Back in the old days, when Sis and I were devout groupies of Bunny and Mr. Greenjeans, flinging black olives across the broccoli was my sister's favorite Thanksgiving activity.

If she wasn't somewhat painfully (yet always unobtrusively) being pinched in the arm and warned "now behave, Lady Jane", she would often receive a cold stare from the "adult table," whereupon she would petulantly toss the brussel sprouts, one by one, into the mint jelly (which no one ever ate anyway, save my mother), and slink under the table cloth until only a page boy blonde cap was visible.

Bang, bang, bang. The olives rolled off the table. The brussel sprouts shook in their mushy green gel. The giblets were in-ching... in-ching, in-ching... "OOOowwww!"

My sister's head, with a few hairs missing, suddenly reappeared.

Ah, the memories of the "kiddie table."

The last pit stop for the mashed potatoes and the dark meat, the gathering of the 13 and unders, is and always will be the object of minor scorn. Even when the lucky teenager has graduated to the "big table," he vows he will never return.

Well, let me tell you something. There's a certain 17-year-old who sits at the table closest to the kitchen, usually seated across from a certain 18-year-old who long ago gave up the habit of impaling cauliflower with carrot sticks.

It's not that Auntie Gert and Uncle Eb from Poughkeepsie are boring or anything. It's just that...well, the 13 and unders seem to be comfortable where they are since they've been there for so long. And so what if no one was thirteen after 1978?

There's also a tad less formality at the bedsheet-covered bridge table. No one notices (or really cares) if you happened to misjudge the plate, and if your skirt has dried ketchup on the front. You can even finish early and sneak into the back to see how the pies are doing. (Somebody has to see if they're done).

And at the "serious table," one approaching college, leaving college, or entering into a new career must field innumerable questions from the audience.

"So where do you want to go?" "Umm, right now it's between Oral Roberts University and MacDonald's Hamburger College. I really like religious Home-Ec, y'know."

"Have you thought of a major?"

"I thought Advanced Bowling might be nice. I'd like to minor in candlepins."

"What would you like to do for a career, dear?"

"Actually, Gram, I'd like to be a field reporter for Masters and Johnson."

"Oh, that's nice. They're the ones who make Q-tips, right?"

"Yes, Gram." She wonders why I'm smiling.

"Don't do that to your grandmother," Dad laughs. Yeah, Dad. Sure, Dad. I turn around. My bridge table is gone. That's it. Thanksgiving is over for me.

Arlington Boys Club Offers Swimming

The Arlington Boys Club is offering two new aquatic programs. The new Family Swim takes place every Friday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The other new program concerns youth between the ages of 12 and 17 who have never taken formalized swim instructions. We are pleased to present a (But there's still the pumpkin pie.) No wait, not yet. I have to find the whipped cream.

After all, I'm a growing girl. I'm only 13 years old. (Ahem).

Learning Handicap Barriers

Betty Newell is an old hand at getting around Winchester in a wheelchair.

Confined to it for the past eight years, she is adept at maneuvering this electrical vehicle. It is powered by two twelve volt batteries she recharges nightly in her apartment in the housing for the elderly and handicapped on Palmer street.

Last week, Betty showed twenty-seven fourth, fifth, and sixth grade Girl Scouts from Lincoln School just how she does it. Betty equipped the girls with maps of Winchester and troop leader Nancy Goodwin directed each of four patrols off to different sections of the downtown on a handicap hike.

The girls could not walk anywhere a wheelchair would not go, and found themselves in the street a good deal of the time, skirting traffic.

Doubling back many times was a necessity, when obstacles such as these got in their way; lack of curb cut or ramp at intersections, cars blocking existing ramps, cars blocking sidewalks or narrow sidewalks, accesses or sidewalks not cleared of snow.

Betty's not just a good driver, she amazed the girls with a memory bank full of which routes are and are not accessible to her, and a computer-quick talent for determining how to overcome these many obstacles most of us negotiate with ease. The leaders too were impressed with her persistence in successfully attempting to travel in her wheelchair to Star Market and to visit friends at Woburn Four Corners.

Betty was invited to Troop 482's meeting as part of badge work they are completing in two areas. Requirements for a Foot Traveler badge include a two mile walk, hiking a trail or open park with compass and maps, making some hiking equipment, planning proper dress for the weather, and learning safety rules for walking alone or in groups.

The second area is the Active Citizen badge, which involves choosing an issue that is important in your community and; collecting and reading articles about it, listening to someone discuss it, learning both sides of the issue, taking a stand, and making something to show how you feel about it that may have some impact on what your community should do about it.

Having Betty's experiences shared with them helped the troop in both these areas. In mapping a wheel chair route through their community the girls were taking part in a trail building aspect of the Foot Traveler badge, and for their Active Citizen badge they found an issue - the new patio-block-effect sidewalk along Thompson Street.

Betty has difficulty in navigating the new style sidewalk because it slopes, and its many cracks throw her chair off balance if the wheels catch them the wrong way.

The troop is considering asking the Department of Public Works the reasons behind the change in new sidewalks, and whether or not handicapped persons or others the change might affect have been consulted.

A HIKE — Betty Newell (center above) led Girl Scout Troop 482 on a "Handicap Hike" last Wednesday. On the left, Betty goes over a map of Winchester with troop members prior to the start of the hike.

When both sides of the issue have been determined, the girls will consider where they stand, and if there are enough people who feel as Betty does that the change is not for the good, these young active citizens may take on city hall. There must be a badge for that.

Transit Tips

Beginning Dec. 8, the minibuses will run less frequently during the mid-day period from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Demand for service during these hours does not justify the operation of vehicles at 30-minute intervals. As a result, in order to cut costs and improve efficiency, the system will operate two buses instead of three during this period.

This change means a bus will service each route about every forty-five minutes. During the hours of 7 a.m. - 9 a.m. and after 2:30 p.m., buses will be on the current half hour schedule.

The new CT brochure which contains information concerning these changes and a new schedule will be available during the week of Dec. 1. The brochure will be distributed to the Minibus drivers, the Town Hall and local mercantile establishments.

Watch for our next column which will explain our discount ticket books and service to the Burlington Mall.

If you have any questions or comments, call the CT Coordinator at 729-4748.

Intramurals Examined

The McCall Parents' Association Board heard recently from James Maconochie about the current status of the intramurals program at the junior high.

Maconochie, a Social Studies teacher at McCall, oversees the intramurals program with the aid of Jan Dolan, Physical Education Director, and 12 faculty advisors. The entire student population at McCall is divided into 12 teams, according to their home rooms.

Parker Co-Editor

David Parker, a senior at Phillips Academy, Andover, is co-editor-in-chief of the school newspaper, the Phillipian, at the co-educational, independent secondary school, known as Andover.

He was recently selected as a Washington intern. He will be one of a small group of students from Andover and Exeter who will spend the spring term in Washington, D.C., under supervision, working in the offices of U.S. Congressmen and Senators.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parker of Hancock st.

He also is a member of the Blue Key Society, a senior leadership group. He is a member of the Andover Varsity Nordic Ski team and is on the junior varsity soccer team.

Before coming to Andover two years ago, he was a student at the Winchester High School.

Each child is notified in home room of the upcoming date of his respective team's competition. Thus far, the intramurals program has included coed teams for flag football, soccer, chess, checkers, volleyball, and ping pong. Scheduled every day after school, from 2:30 to approximately 3:40, the intramurals program has attracted from 25 to 75 junior high students daily.

Maconochie reported that the faculty advisors and he are constantly monitoring the success of the new intramurals system. In an effort to attract more students on a regular basis, they are planning to expand the variety of activities scheduled. During the winter months, such diverse activities as photography, ping pong, checkers, basketball, floor hockey, and possibly a school magazine will be available. A new student intramurals council has been organized to help plan the program and to report back to the various teams during the biweekly home room period. A suitable trophy will be awarded to the highest scoring team at the end of the athletic competition.

The intramurals program at McCall Junior High was first developed by Principal Bob Fitzgerald and P.E. Director Jan Dolan in an effort to provide after-school athletic activities now that inter-scholastic sports at the junior high level have been eliminated. As the school year progresses, it is hoped that more students will take advantage of the wide range of activities being offered at McCall.

Winchester Public Library

Alfred Kazin and other distinguished literary critics were interviewed recently on the Dick Cavett television show. What they talked about, of course, were books. They also had a few comments about television, libraries and the spirit of the times.

Whatever difference of opinion they had on authors (they had good things to say about Saul Bellow, Joyce Carol Oates, and Doris Lessing), somehow the world of today is lacking in depth — television merely relays information, the New York Public Library is closed on Thursday, an unthinkable and ominous portent, and that cynicism and a feeling of hopelessness pervades the intellectual milieu.

It appears that technology is making a mess of human affairs: it has brought in a distortion to values and culture, putting things askew.

Let us, however, be thankful we have libraries. They are really nothing new. Great libraries were found in the ancient civilization of Sumeria as long ago as 2700 BC contained all types of ancient Mesopotamian literature. The discovery of these texts was of great importance in the deciphering of cuneiform sign tablets, the ancient books of that region. One such tablet recounts the Sumerian story of the Flood, 2000-1500 BC, or thereabouts.

In the Far East, the ancient Chinese had a deep respect for learning and libraries were established for use by scholars, royalty, and aristocrats. The libraries helped advance and preserve Chinese learning. In India, there were great libraries at Nalanda and Takhasila universities, which were destroyed during the Moslem invasions. But their great epics like the Ramayana were preserved by the southern kings, who protected the scholars.

In Europe during the Middle Ages, there was mass illiteracy. Monasteries preserved classical literature. Books were preserved for the exclusive use of the clergy. But the invention of the printed book in the fifteenth century changed all that. In the first fifty years following, ten million books, comprising forty thousand titles, appeared in Europe. This wide dissemination made possible the Renaissance.

Now in the 20th century, approaching the 21st, we have information science.

Association Eyes Local Libraries At Program Dec. 2

The Community Schools Association will present their next program on the Elementary School Libraries of Winchester.

All interested parties are welcome to attend on Tuesday, Dec. 2, at Muraco School.

A panel of four speakers will examine the functioning and staffing of the elementary school libraries.

Jack Rudolf, Director of Library Services for seven years, will provide the history of the library services. Nancy Atkins, Winchester High School Librarian for five years and formerly an elementary school librarian for three years, will focus on the functional aspects of libraries.

Nancy Goodwin and Mike Redding, both certified librarians, will address the use of volunteers. Nancy Goodwin is the Community Schools Association Library Chairperson and Co-Chairperson for Lincoln School Library. Mike Redding is the Co-ordinator of School Volunteers in Boston.

Coffee will be served at 9:15 and the program will begin at 9:30. A question and answer period will be open to the public after the panel discussion.

Fall Is Backache Time

By John Kennedy
Community Relations Department
Winchester Hospital

Throughout the community, autumn translates into a time for work around the house and yard, putting up storm windows, fixing gutters, raking leaves and chopping wood.

For many, this concentrated effort to secure our homes before winter comes whistling round the house causes us to come down with a temporary case of annoying back pain.

Dr. Barry Dorn, an orthopedic surgeon at Winchester Hospital, explains that a lot of the back problems people suffer as a result of seasonal hard work can come from a simple misunderstanding of the effects of strenuous exercise.

"People do a minimum amount of exercise throughout the year, then suddenly they have a burst of activity that might last a day or two, during which time they flop into a chair again immediately after the work is finished. You should treat this kind of strenuous work as if you were competing in an athletic contest — do some stretching exercises a few days before tackling the chores and then, when you're finished for the day, have a cool down period where you either do a few more stretches, take a hot bath, apply moist heat, lie down or massage those strained muscles. No athlete goes out onto the field without conditioning and, neither should the weekend handyman," he said.

Barbara Reed, Winchester Hospital's director of physical therapy explains that, "It's not just an old wife's tale — the expression of feeling a change of weather in our bones. There are pressure receptors in bones which are affected by changes in barometric readings. If the weather is cold and damp, our muscles can tighten and go into spasm. Working up a sweat in cold weather, likewise, can put muscles under increased stress and encourage the straining cycle."

Dr. Dorn, who along with Reed, participates in a multidisciplinary back and neck pain program for outpatients, conducted each Thursday at Winchester Hospital's physical therapy unit, emphasizes that, "As we age, our spine muscles normally tighten, while our stomach and buttock muscles loosen, leaving us susceptible to back trouble caused by improper lifting and exertion. Exercise can help correct this natural aging effect by strengthening those loose muscles and allowing them to be used more when lifting and stretching. One key point to remember is to always try to keep your center of gravity, in other words, the stomach area, close to the ground when lifting a heavy object. Also, get your knees into it and allow the leg muscles to take some of the strain off the back."

In looking at some of the autumnal activities whose effect on our backs may still be felt long after the first snow falls, it should be remembered that for —

Raking leaves — According to Barbara Reed, this is an area where back injuries are common. "Twisting and bending at the same time — otherwise known as flexion — is a very easy way to aggravate or cause straining on the lower back," says Reed. "Try using your arms more when raking and avoid twisting your back too much. When lifting heavy bags of leaves, pick them up from a crouching position — getting your leg muscles involved — and carry the bags with both hands up close to your body."

Chopping wood — "Because it's a fairly fluid kind of motion involving swinging the arms from a high arch, chopping wood doesn't cause that many back injuries," says Dr. Dorn. "Try not to overextend your back and, let your whole body get involved in the effort. The main back problems which can come from chopping wood occurs when the ax gets stuck in a log and you strain your back trying to dislodge the wood."

Lifting storm windows — "When lifting any object, get close to it before bending your knees to pick it up," says Reed. "Remember, when raising a window, bend your knees and push with all your muscles rather than just pulling and putting pressure on your back."

By being prepared and aware of problems before they develop, we can all finish those seasonal jobs around the house with a minimum of pain and discomfort.

Rotondi To File Jury System Bill

State Sen. Sam Rotondi will refile the new jury selection system bill in the upcoming General Court Session.

This legislation would extend the system instituted in Middlesex County in 1978 to the entire state.

"The success of the Middlesex selection system in cost efficiency and juror utilization over the past two years makes it clear that this proposal's time has come," Rotondi said.

"Not only is this system more economical (Middlesex's average juror cost per day is approximately $7 compared to roughly $16-$17 in other counties). The old system contained too many exemptions from jury service, thus depriving the trial system of well balanced juries. The new system has very few exemptions," he said.

Under the Middlesex model, it does not matter if you are registered to vote, only that you are eligible to register. Jury exemptions are limited to inability to speak or understand English, people under 18, certain felons, certain persons who are physically or mentally disabled, persons who are no longer a county resident and people who have fulfilled jury duty within the last three years.

Rotondi noted that the new jury selection system has received strong endorsements in judicial circles. The Associated Industries of Massachusetts also has given support to the Middlesex prototype because under the new system jurors are not committed to serve for a 30-day term and, therefore, are not away from their jobs for extended periods of time. Under the new system, jurors will serve for only one day or the duration of one trial.

"Through the use of computers, Middlesex has been able to fine tune the utilization of jurors. As a result, 95 percent of all those called complete their obligation in three days or less. 82 percent in only one day. Presently, in Middlesex 50 percent of all those called are actually used in trial situations. Because industry pays the cost of wage reimbursement for the first three days of jury duty, the potential savings to the state's taxpayers are enormous," Rotondi said.

Revaluation Of Property Continues

Richard Mirick, who is overseeing the revaluation process in Winchester for Patten Appraisal Associates, insists his job is one of the most misunderstood in town.

"We are appraisers. We are not the assessors. We just want to do our job and leave," Mirick said.

What the job is to appraise the value of the house, inside and out. The job of setting the new equalized value of the properties is done by the town's Board of Assessors.

Under a state-wide mandated program, all communities must be at 100 percent of fair market value. The project is expected to be completed next summer and the new values will be used for next fall's tax bills. The last town-wide revaluation was done in 1968.

The company's three field workers are currently going house to house in the northeast corner of town and are expected to continue working in that area for at least another week to 10 days.

When the field workers find nobody home the first time around they leave a doorknob hanger asking that the resident call the Assessors office for an appointment.

If a resident refuses to allow his property to be inspected - and he may - then the new values will be based on estimates by the appraisers from looking at the outside of the house.

But more importantly, Mirick maintained, by refusing to allow inside inspection the homeowner forfeits his right of formal appeal if he feels he has been over-assessed.

All field workers will have photo identifications but residents with any questions are urged to call the Assessors office for verification.

No More Games – Booters Eliminated

Sachems Blanked By Billerica, 1-0

By JULIE DERRY

Even though the immediate feeling was one of great disappointment and even failure, Winchester Coach Gene Bouley reminded his team how far they had come. Not just in the number of tournament games, although that was an accomplishment in itself, but how far they had come as a team. Especially a team who was predicted as having little, if any defense at the start of the season.

"Remember, you played the highest seeded team in the tournament and you stayed with them the entire game. You did a good job...They just happened to get that kind of fluke goal which won them the game," Bouley told his team after their loss to Billerica in the semi-finals of the North Regionals Friday night at Boston University.

The "fluke" goal Bouley is referring to was scored by Billerica in the first quarter and proved to be the game winner.

Billerica charged the Winchester net and took several shots, all saved by goalie Mark Sterenka. On the final boot towards the goal, Sterenka grabbed the ball in front of the net, but the ball, slippery from the wet field, slipped out of his arms and rolled back towards the goal.

Fullback Lazlo Von Lazar tried to boot the ball out of the goal. However, after he kicked the ball it deflected off the goal post and barely rolled over the goal line, giving Billerica their only goal. Billerica forward Jim Elwood was credited with the goal.

"I've been coaching for 17 years and this is the farthest my team has ever gotten," said Bouley later, proving that this year's varsity squad was one of the most talented yet. And that's quite an honor considering the talented players Bouley has had on previous teams.

The Sachems 20-2-3 record for the season is equally as impressive as their standing in the states. The fact that six players from Bouley's varsity squad made the all star team is nothing to be ashamed of either. Those placed on the "A" team include the tri-captains Brian Donnellan, Jimmy Fallon, and Neil Frink, as well as junior Paul Williamson. Those chosen for the "B" team include goalie Mark Sterenka, a junior, and forward David Suvak, also a junior.

Bouley was pleased with his player's accomplishments, but also realized their weaknesses. "Did you see the two teams out there before us - Needham and Wellesley? They were both better than us. There wasn't a man on the field for either team who couldn't play solid soccer," said Bouley, referring to the game played before the Winchester-Billerica one. When asked if he felt his team was weak in many areas, Bouley replied, "No, we have some good, strong players. But..."

Perhaps it was this "but" Coach Bouley was referring to that contributed to their loss or maybe Billerica's - incredible defense, or maybe it was just the lousy conditions...or a combination of all three.

Although the field had been cleared of snow, the astroturf had retained a lot of the water making it especially slippery for the players. The ball too, became heavy and soaked with water, making it harder to boot or to throw the ball.

Though the first quarter was played with the ball down at both goals, Billerica seemed to dominate the field. Their fullbacks, easily several of the largest and most powerful in the league, were impenetrable. They managed to stop every breakaway the Sachems had.

Twice Jimmy Fallon and Paul Williamson teamed up to shoot on goal. Each time, Fallon crossed the ball to Williamson at the center of the field. Williamson headed it, but to no avail. Billerica fullbacks Tim McCaffrey and Fred Glavine let neither shot get past them.

This proved to be true throughout the game, as many of the Sachems attempts on goal were stopped by Billerica's defense.

During the second quarter, the Sachems started off strong with several good shots on goal. Neil Frink took the first shot unassisted.

Afterwards Scott Bowen received the ball on the wing and passed to Frink in the center. Frink booted the ball up to Williamson who shot, but the ball was saved by the goalie.

Minutes later Winchester charged again. This time Frink dribbled the ball in and passed to Williamson who again shot, but Billerica's McCaffrey booted the ball down the field.

Billerica came back with several close shots on goal. The Sachem defense, however, prevented any shot from scoring.

Another shot, taken by Billerica fullback John Ellis, went inches wide of the goal.

Minutes later, Ellis shot again with what looked like a sure goal, but Sterenka easily made the save.

Another Billerica forward followed with a close shot, also saved by Sterenka. This time the ball was shot in the lower right corner of the net, but Sterenka dived across the goal and made the catch.

Despite Billerica's many shots on net, the Sachem defense kept Billerica to only one goal for the game. Although the Sachems lost, they played a strong game, challenging Billerica both offensively and defensively.

'Fate,' Concord Halt Sachemettes

By RICHARD McSWEENEY

On paper Concord-Carlisle had seemed like the perfect opponent. Although they were the defending state champs, the Sachemette soccer team had dominated Concord in their first match-up at Leonard Field by a 3-0 count.

A couple of weeks later at Concord, the defending champs were lucky to escape with a no decision as rain halted the game at halftime. Although it was scoreless at the half, the Sachemettes had once again toyed with their highly acclaimed opponents.

So here we are, six weeks later, and the 1980 state champion is none other than Concord-Carlisle. Again.

What happened?

"Fate," said Winchester Coach Chris Scanlon after Concord rallied to eliminate the Sachemettes, 2-1 Friday afternoon in Scituate in the semi-finals. Concord went on to top Bridgewater-Raynham in the championship game, 3-0 to win their second consecutive state title.

"It was fate. The fate of not playing them in that other (the second that was rained out) game that really helped them and really hurt us. If we had beat them we might have eliminated them from the tournament..."

But Concord also contributed to depriving Winchester of a state title and Scanlon conceded his admiration for champs.

"You've got to give the Concord girls a lot of credit," Scanlon admitted. "It's the mark of a great team to be able to rebound and put it back together again. We won the first half and they won the second half. In fact, actually the third quarter was pretty even. They just took the game away from us."

And the champs took it away by scoring two fourth quarter goals after Winchester's Judy Clinton had split the Concord defense midway through the second quarter and blasted one home from about 10 yards away.

But the second half, or more accurately the fourth quarter, was a different story as the champs showed why they were the champs.

Concord's Ann Davidson tied it up just seconds into the final quarter after breaking in alone on goalie Kate McCarthy and knocking home one to the bottom left corner.

Then with about 12 minutes left, she duplicated the feat and the champs held on to take the 2-1 win.

If there was one difference between the success Winchester had in holding off Foxboro one round earlier in the fourth quarter and not being able to do the same against Concord, one could certainly point to the absence of fullback Karen Feldmann.

The senior defensive wizard missed the Concord match because of illness and anyone who saw her performance against Foxboro knows how important her absence was.

"We were one quarter away from going to the finals. Concord beat Bridgewater 3-0. That tells me we would have done the same," Scanlon said afterwards.

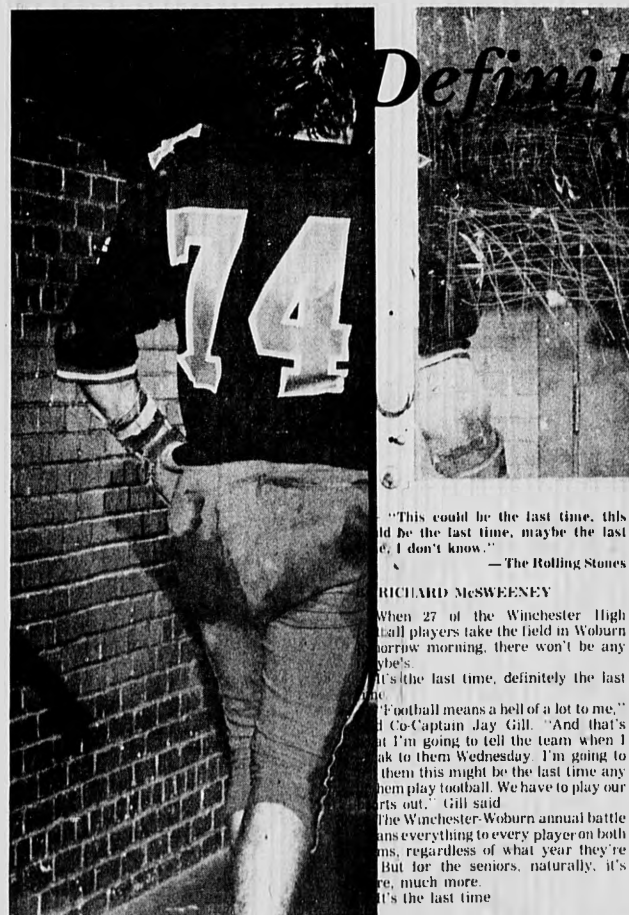

Despite the disappointing finish, Scanlon was more than proud of his troops. For the third consecutive season, which of course accounts for every season of girls' soccer in Winchester, the

Definitely The Last Time For 27 Sachems

THE LAST TIME—For Jay Gill and 26 other senior football players who will play their final game in a Winchester uniform tomorrow morning in the 75th match-up between Winchester and Woburn. (Staff Photo by Noreen Murphy)

"I wish it wouldn't end. I hate to think about it. It's just kind of sad," said halfback Gary Errico, who has simply been the force on offense that has made this team win 15 of 19 games over the past two years.

The 5-9, 185 pounder made the big switch from last year's quarterback to this year's halfback. He's always been in the middle of any offensive thrusts the Sachems have made the past two seasons. When he hasn't been there, the team has suffered, no question.

Any problems making the switch? Sure, he just gained 476 yards his first two games and since has scored 14 touchdowns despite missing one and a half games.

"My individual high point was the first game," Errico said, referring to the opener this year when he gained 266 yards and scored three touchdowns against Somerville. "There was really nothing to compare to. I definitely think it (moving him to halfback) was the right thing to do," he says with a laugh.

Like for just about everybody else on the team, Lexington was the high point of this season. The 19-7 triumph over what apparently is the best team in the league. But the low point of his career was last Thanksgiving when a Superbowl berth was on the line.

"That was the low point. We really felt bad after that. We felt we had outplayed them but the score didn't show that. We had good teams the last two years but I just wish we could have been number one. All the seniors, we haven't beaten Woburn. Ever. From Pop Warner to freshman on up. We talk about it in the lockerroom a lot. We really want to beat them.

'I'll never forget that game as long as I live. We were up 15-0 in the first half. I'll never forget that game. If we win that game we go to the Superbowl. We feel they took something away from us.'

—Jay Gill on last year's 22-15 loss to Woburn.

"I'd like to go out winning. It sure would make it better for the rest of our senior year."

For center Rich Beal, it signifies the end of friendships that carried well beyond the football field.

"With all you do together as a team, working with one another for a couple of days, you carry the friendships beyond football. It (football) taught me a lot I can carry off the field. Things like loyalty, discipline and those things are important no matter what you do. I think I've learned a lot," Beal said.

As center, Beal cherishes the Lexington game this year more than any other and it's easy to understand why. It was he and the other linemen that had to face the likes of 260-pound tackle Justin Beckett and 235-pound Tom Fernandes.

"Beating Lexington was great. We knew after we beat them that they wouldn't lose again. It's just too bad we couldn't have kept winning. Even after Watertown (the first loss) we still had a shot at the league if we won the rest of our games but then we buried ourselves against Burlington. If Lexington beat Woburn and Watertown beat Burlington then we could have tied for the league title. But there were just too many ifs."

Beal said he would like to play some football in college but that depends on where he goes. "If I went to a Division III New England school then I'd like to but if I go to a Division I school, well, I don't think so," he laughed.

But for now his mind is - surprise - on tomorrow. "You put so much work together all year. You've got to figure that probably the majority of us won't be putting the pads on again," Beal said.

End Doug Goodlatte has been dreaming about this game.

"This is the last time we'll all be playing together and we've never beaten Woburn. I moved here in the eighth grade (from Miami, Fla.) but some of these guys have been playing since the sixth grade.

"We dream about these guys. I dream about (Ron) Hobby in the open field...preparing for this game is the easiest to get ready for, just thinking about Hobby, Cirilo and those characters."

Goodlatte thinks the Watertown defeat ruined this season. "When we went into the season we wanted to win the Superbowl and we thought we could. Then we were 6-0 and then Watertown...that bus ride home I just kept thinking about it."

Like the others, Goodlatte named the Lexington triumph as the high point. Maybe.

"Yeah, the Lexington game was the high point this year. Except for Woburn. We'll be ready for the game this year," he said.

Perhaps nobody wants to win tomorrow's game more than Jay Gill

This year's Watertown game hurt, the Burlington debacle after that hurt a little more but nothing compares to last year's 22-15 loss to the eventual Superbowl champs.

"I'll never forget that game as long as I live. We were up 13-0 in the first half. I'll never forget that game. If we win that game we go to the Superbowl. We feel that they took something away from us," Gill, who has played both ways all year, said.

"My biggest regret this year is the Watertown game. And what I regret is that we lost the game because we weren't ready for them. We're ready for Woburn."

The offense, Gill said, had its best practice all season this week. Everything is clicking. The Sachems are ready. Jay Gill is ready. The seniors are ready.

Most of us seniors have been playing together all our lives. This is the closest team I've ever been on as far as the seniors. We've always had good records. We always came out surprising people. I think this year the seniors did a hell of a job. I'm going to miss it. I'm really going to miss it," he insisted.

But more than anything else, he wants to go out beating Woburn.

"I think we had a hell of a year. Every kid remembers last year and how it ended. We're going to play our hearts out and we've said how much this game means to us. The juniors have another year."

Gill continued talking about the Lexington win, how he prefers playing defense to offense, how slow the season went, how all of a sudden the end is near. Too near.

"I wish we had another 10 games to go."

Other seniors ending their high school playing days are, Tim Mahon, Ron Amadeo, Chuck Adelsberger, Dave

The Rivalry

The Sachems will be out to break a two-game Thanksgiving Day losing streak when they meet Woburn for the 75th time tomorrow morning in Woburn. The Tanners have won the last two (22-15 last year and 20-12 in 1978) and four of the last six Thanksgiving Day battles between the league's oldest rivals.

The overall record shows Winchester holding a 38-27-9 edge in the series over Woburn. The two teams first met in 1891.

Since Manny Marshall took over as Winchester coach in 1967, the Sachems have compiled an 8-5 record against the Tanners, including wins in six of the first seven meetings.

Sachemettes have yet to lose a regular season league game.

But after failing to make the state finals for the third straight year, the Sachemettes held their poise, despite the fact that it was the final try for some of the leaders of this club.

Leading scorers Ann Porell and Andrea deMars have finished their high school careers. Defensive stalwarts Prudy Horne and Feldmann also played their last high school game. Goalie Kate McCarthy, gone. Carol Donahoe, Clinton and Jeanne Powers, gone.

"But you know, after the Concord game our girls came off the field with tears in their eyes but without my even saying so they just started cheering Concord and went and shook their hands. Talk about a class act. I was just really proud of all of them," Scanlon said.

"I'm not even going to think about next year," Scanlon continued. "This was the most talented team I've had, girl for girl. You just don't go out and replace an Ann Porell or Andrea deMars."

Not that next year should bring a drastic drop in Winchester's fortunes. The freshmen and junior varsity teams both had tremendous seasons. Backup goalies Julie Sullivan and freshman surprise Amy Peluso will be back to present a strength in goal. Maria Montuori and Kim Donlon will be just juniors. This team will be good, "but we'll certainly have a different look," Scanlon said.

For now, however, Scanlon is content to enjoy the successes of this team and relax for awhile, something Scanlon is most definitely not prone to do during the season.

"To tell the truth, I'm just relieved that it's over. Doing the little things, making sure you keep the girls on edge. It's just brutal," Scanlon sighed.

Other seniors closing out their WHS career were Alison McPhail, Joanne Maloney, Leslie Nasson and Mara Reece.

Niles Nelson Orono Team State Champs

Niles Nelson, former Winchester High School football player and later captain of the University of Maine football team recently completed another very successful season as coach at Orono (Maine) High School.

This team broke the record this year for winning 38 consecutive games and concluded the season with a state championship in his class.

PeeWee AA's Rally To Beat Lexington-Bedford By 6-5

The Winchester Pee Wee AA Team won a close game, 6-5 over Lexington-Bedford by coming back from a tie early in the third period with three big goals. Alternate Captain Chris Giso was really flying and with two goals and three assists was a leader along with Captain Brian Griffin with two assists and two third period goals including number six, the game winner!

Derek Binding threw the switch early in the first period when he flew in over the blue line and blasted a bullet in the upper right hand corner. Peter Regan with great corner play got the other first period red light when he roared down the left side off a Giso-Griffin feed and unloaded a blast in the right corner.

Giso cranked up for two in a row when first he came out of his zone with "flaps up" and crashed in off the right wing and let fly with a real cannon shell — the outlets were Jim Chute in goal and Griffin. Nick Geannaris and Anthony Cucinatti paired up next to send Giso through the slot and Chris jammed it home on the way through.

The big third period goals came off the stick of Griffin from heavy going in front. At the seven minute mark Griffin was parked at the doorstep as Binding passed to Giso who jammed a shot off the stick of Griffin — score! The wrap up winner was Griffin again when he slashed through the slot off assists from Giso and Regan and slammed it in.

Winchester - Woburn Preview On WITS

Winchester and Woburn football fans can listen to the coaches predictions on WITS radio tomorrow morning.

The station, 1510 AM, is broadcasting a Thanksgiving Day football special starting at 6 a.m. and running through the traditional 10 a.m. kick-off time.

Winchester Coach Manny Marshall and Woburn Coach Peter Sullivan were both interviewed for the approximate 15-minute long segment on the Schem-Tamer tilt.

A WITS spokesman said he guessed the Winchester-Woburn interviews would be on at about 9 a.m.

Kathy Driscoll Leading Scorer

Winchester's Kathy Driscoll, a sophomore at Plymouth State College, was the leading scorer for the Panthers — soccer team this fall.

The center forward tallied 14 goals and seven assists to pace the Panthers to the best record ever, 12-2-1.

Moving the puck well on defense was Bill Coppins while skating particularly well were Marc Todisco, Dave Butt and Sukjong Chung. Faring well in the heavy action were Greg Winn and Peter Cote.

Intramural Hockey Starts Dec. 5

Winchester Youth Hockey starts its Intramural or "within town" league Dec. 5 at 5 p.m. at the USA Rink in Winchester. The sessions will run from 5 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on the following basis: 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. boys six thru nine, 6:10 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. boys 10 thru 14.

The first three weeks will be given to clinic-instruction and scrimmages. Thereafter teams will be selected based upon age, size and skill level and each team will play each week in the league on an "equal" ice time basis.

Please report thirty minutes prior to ice time for registration: a $25 deposit will be expected for the season.

Goalies will participate at a reduced fee level and equipment provided for those boys without it.

Any questions may be directed to Edward Sanford, Kevin Nolan, Alan Ross or William Coppins.

Bill Rogers Paces Bridgton Football Team

Winchester High School graduate Bill Rogers helped lead Bridgton Academy (Maine) to a 4-2-1 record this season.

Rogers played strong safety and ended the year with 24 tackles, making him one of the leading defenders in the secondary.

The postgraduate preparatory school has a schedule of college freshman and sub-varsity teams. Rogers is the son of Mrs. Roberta Lee Rogers.

K Of C Show At McCall

McCall Junior High School will be the place to be Dec. 12 when Roy Radin's Vaudeville '80, featuring such singing greats as The Marvellettes and the The Drifters, comedy acts like Donna Jean Young and the indescribable, ah, presence of Tiny Tim comes to Winchester.

The show, being sponsored by the Knights of Columbus to benefit the Retarded Children's Fund, will also feature the talents of George Savalas, of Kojak fame, Loretta Long, best known as Susan on Sesame Street, The Serendipity Singers and the Ink Spots.

Radin is a veteran producer of vaudeville shows, having previously put together groups which included the likes of entertainers George Jessel, Milton Berle, Morey Amsterdam, The Kingston Trio and Pat Paulsen.

The group appearing at McCall include performers who have been headliners as far back as 1938.

The Ink Spots first hit the recording scene in 1938 and some of their biggest hits include, "If I Didn't Care", "Paper Doll" and "I'll Never Smile Again."

The Drifters have also been around the music scene for a few years, with their first hit recording, "There Goes My Baby", gaining them recognition in 1959.

Vocational School Plans Visit For Area Students

Guidance personnel from Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational High School will be visiting the junior high schools in Winchester to talk with potential student applicants.

Winchester students considering application for admission to Northeast's freshman class next fall will be given an opportunity to obtain information from the regional school counselors during three visits.

The counselors will visit Winchester schools on the following schedule: McCall Junior High, Dec. 4 at 9:40 a.m.; St. Mary's, Dec. 4 at 10:00 a.m.

Church Slates Thanksgiving Service

A special Thanksgiving service will be offered on Nov. 27 at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 114 Church st.

Scriptures selected for the occasion point to Christ Jesus' example of gratitude as something deeply felt and lived day by day in healing, regeneration, and brotherhood.

Related passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, the denominational textbook, will be read by Eleonora M. Spanjaard and include the statement: "Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech."

A familiar passage from Psalms, "O come, let us sing unto the Lord... Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms. For the Lord is a great God" — along with other selections from the Old and New Testaments — will be read by Mary E. Holdsworth.

The 10 a.m. annual service also includes hymns, prayers, and a time for church members to express gratitude for God's goodness and care.

Health Board To Meet Dec. 3

The Mystic Valley Mental Health and Retardation Area Board will hold its regular monthly meeting Dec. 3 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington.

The Board is composed of citizens appointed by the Commissioner of Mental Health from the towns of Arlington, Burlington, Lexington, Wilmington, Winchester and the city of Woburn.

Members of the Regional Quality Assurance Team will speak to the members about changes in their procedures. Mystic Valley area programs will be visited by Quality Assurance in January and February.

The Board will also hear from Dr. Cristina Banas about the new way in which emergency services have been organized.

The Bird: It Has More In Common With Chemists Than With Farmers

★Turkey

feasted on generations ago. On the outside the present day bird looks appealing enough but that's about as far as it goes. Under the skin of the commercial bird is a "whole nuther story."

Commercial turkeys have become big business with companies such as Swift, Armour and Norbest (the three largest American turkey processors) selling a combined total of up to 800 million pounds of turkey per season. The competition is tough among the big three which account for more than 90 percent of all turkeys sold in the U.S., and new gimmicks are often being introduced, often to the detriment of the consumer.

The biggest pitch, and the most widespread sham, to appear in the last decade is the self-basting "butterball" turkey.

Supposedly, this marvel turkey will baste itself in butter.

There is, however, no butter in the butterball turkey. Not a drop!

In the place of butter, companies inject a basting solution consisting of vegetable oils (soybean and/or coconut), water, salt, emulsifiers and artificial butter flavor. The only ingredient close to butter is the butter flavoring.

That is only the tip of the iceberg. Most gobblers are raised in cramped pens and are denied the exercise that is essential to their healthy development. This results in a fat content in whole turkeys ranging as high as 16 percent by weight. The proper level of fat in a turkey should be between 5 percent and 8 percent.

And how many consumers know that with commercial turkeys they are often purchasing water at turkey prices. That's right, water. The big processors purposely let the dead turkeys sit in vats of water, resulting in a substantial rise in the weight of each carcass.

Legally, each turkey for sale in a store may contain 6 percent to 7 percent more water than an unprepared bird, the rationale being that some water is absorbed as each dinner-to-be is cleaned.

The facts are considerably different, however. Very little water is absorbed during cleaning. In fact, most water that is not actually injected with the basting solution is absorbed as the bird sits in the standing tanks of chilled water. Gobblers may absorb up to 25 percent water when left standing.

Ordinarily, it wouldn't matter how much water is absorbed into the turkey because the water would normally drain away in the shipping process — if nothing further were added to the bird. Such is not the case. Processors don't mind selling water at 90 cents per pound and so, to keep the water inside the turkey's body, they inject additives such as sodium phosphate, which bind the water to the bird.

The sodium phosphate merely joins a long list of additives including artificial colorings and flavorings, antioxidants, sodium, sugar....

People with high blood pressure and others on sodium-restricted diets, should be aware that studies have found up to 200 Mg. of salt in 3½ oz. servings of some turkeys. Most findings for salt averaged between 75 and 100 mg.

And some diabetics may have to add turkey to the list of foods they cannot eat, as some turkeys contain sugar in the form of corn-syrup solids. Fortunately, all products containing sugar must indicate this on the label, even if percentages are not divulged.

The old-fashioned turkey is obviously no longer, replaced instead with a chemical-laden second cousin.

The laws, as far as turkeys are concerned, have taken a Thanksgiving vacation. Most are as much a joke as the butterball turkey.

In 1968, the Poultry Products Act was passed to insure that all poultry sold in the U.S. meets a uniform standard of wholesomeness. The key word is "wholesomeness." The act is not much more specific than that.

The grade marking you see conspicuously stamped on the turkey's packaging is there because the bird passed a federal beauty contest. Inspectors look for an absence of exterior discoloration and skin tears, but completely disregard the interior quality and makeup of the meat to be eaten.

Turkey processors also have the option of not putting the assigned grade on the packaging. If turkeys of a certain processor are judged lower than grade A, the processor may simply omit the grade.

Furthermore, as there are 26 diseases common to man and fowl, it might seem appropriate that some regulation exist to ensure that no processed birds are contaminated. Wrong. There is no routine bacteriological monitoring of turkeys.

The result of this lack of regular inspection is that isolated outbreaks of salmonella poisoning occur during the holiday season. Salmonella is a microorganism which can sometimes survive the sanitizing and freezing processes which turkeys go through.

Most people can throw off an attack of salmonella poisoning, but it has been known to be fatal or very sickening to older people and young children. To destroy any salmonella bacteria in a turkey carcass, roast the bird at 185 degrees or above.

While the quality of many turkeys has fallen, there has been one positive side effect. A small number of shops have sprung up which sell organically-grown turkeys as an alternative.

These all-natural birds come from companies which raise the birds organically and are being sold inconspicuously in some health stores and supermarkets.

Those stores advertise their product as organic, hormone-free, soybean fed poultry, all of which means that no water, or sodium phosphate, sugar or anything else has been added to the meat.

"You taste one of these turkeys!" said one aficionado, "and you'll never want to eat anything else."

And so, while there is the old-fashioned alternative, most Americans tomorrow will be eating its chemical cousin. Of course, they probably will also be eating processed pumpkin pie, frozen peas instant mashed potatoes, preservative-laden cranberry sauce and canned carrots.

So maybe we have a new symbol, a modern version of the Thanksgiving dinner. The question might be: What's next?

... If You Must Eat It, Keep Portion Small

By JOHN KENNEDY
Community Relations Department
Winchester Hospital

"Overeating at Thanksgiving dinner is an American tradition that's gotten way out of line," says Dick Desrochers, Food Service director at Winchester Hospital. "Despite popular opinion, it really is possible to enjoy the holiday without sacrificing your waistline and overall health in process."

We all love to annually sit down at the dinner table on the last Thursday in November and commemorate the deprivation of our Pilgrim forefathers by eating as much and as fast as possible.

With this spirit behind us, the remnants of our Thanksgiving eating binge may often linger with us longer than the carcass of the turkey in the refrigerator. Nevertheless, there are a few basic common sense points to consider before we plunk ourselves down, fork in hand, to do battle with the drumsticks, gravy, sweet potatoes and pumpkin pie.

"Our usual Thanksgiving meal is fairly heavily weighted in the line of starch," Desrochers says. "As a result, it's a good idea to try to balance this with several dishes from the other food groups." If you're having stuffing with your turkey — and who doesn't — it may be a good idea to cut back on one of the potato items, or, even better, replace the spuds with a green vegetable, squash or carrots.

Another factor to consider at Thanksgiving is the amount of time you devote to your meal. "It's a good idea," says Winchester Hospital dietician Fran Lawrence, "to spread your dinner out over several hours — so you're not taking in so much food all at once." A glass of wine is also a welcome addition to the Thanksgiving meal and adds to the glow as well as helping the digestive process. You should be able to give yourself some time to digest between courses and know when to stop eating when you've had enough. Instead of a big dessert following a filling meal, it's often good to substitute seasonal fruits, nuts or cheese as a final course.

If you have a persistent health problem, like heart or gall bladder trouble, you should be especially aware of the kinds of food you're eating and the amount of calories they contain. Winchester Hospital often sees a noticeable increase in patients with diet related problems occurring after holiday related food debauches.

Careful food preparation is another area that should be considered when talking turkey at the holidays. Never leave the Thanksgiving bird out too long for after dinner pickings in order to eliminate the possibility of food borne bacteria.

On the same subject, it is also wise to prepare and cook turkey stuffing in a separate pan to reduce any chance for the spread of this bacteria. Always cook the turkey and stuffing at the advised oven temperatures and, after dinner, if the turkey's been served stuffed, remove the leftover stuffing and store it separately in the refrigerator.

One of the best ways to avoid that "stuffed" feeling yourself after dinner is to engage in a brief bit of light exercise. A brisk ten minute walk is the best prescription here. The proverbial "breath of fresh air" definitely adds to the enjoyment of the day, and is a good deterrent to the unhealthy temptation of lying down for a nap, with drowsy eyes focused loosely on the t.v.'s afternoon football game.

Though Thanksgiving is a time for families, fun and food, with common sense and good eating habits, the holiday can also be a time for health.

Or Then 'Again Try An Alternative

Are you tired of turkey? We begin to look forward to the big bird somewhere around October when the fall harvest of pumpkins, squashes and cranberries titillates our taste buds as we anticipate Thanksgiving.

We shoot our bolt on that last Thursday in November with a table that should rightly be called a groaning board.

Then, with Christmas shopping, decorating, parties and all the other preparations for the season, we give little thought to a Christmas feast that could be a shade different.

Not only is it traditional to present the turkey with all its trimmings, it's easier.

But, really, a crown roast of pork or lamb, stuffed in the center with its own ground meat, nuts and cranberries and decorated with spiced apples on each point, is not difficult to fix.

A German sauerbraten marinated in ginger snaps, an English standing roast of beef accompanied by Yorkshire pudding, a French breast of veal stuffed with ground pork, rice and olives may require a little more time, but each is well worth the effort.

Recipes for all these treats are available in any good basic cookbook.

For those whose families would go into shock without the traditional turkey and trimmings, throw them a curve on appetizer or dessert.

Try an elegant, light cream of watercress soup (canned chicken broth, watercress put through a food processor and a dash of nutmeg), a molded pate of beef, pork and liver, or a quiche made with Edam cheese and sliced tomatoes.

And, for that last sweet course, dispense with the pie and turn your pumpkin into a cinnamon-perfumed brandied flan (custard) or stack miniature cream puffs into a pyramid held together and drizzled with caramel syrup.

Surprise the family, a little or a lot — they just might love you for it.

Christmas Gift Ideas

By Diane J. Munini

People who do holiday shopping for children generally look for items such as toys, games and books which are educational, entertaining, novel and timely. Is the gift educational? (Will it offer a new challenge to the child or will it provide practice for a skill the child has already learned?) Is it entertaining? (Will it bring joy by encouraging the child's active participation?) Is it novel? (Will it be unique or will it be added to a collection of similar toys?) Is it timely? (Will a winter coaster be more suitable than a spring skateboard?)

The following toys, games and books are holiday shopping for children suggestions which are appropriate for ages two through eight-year-old children and have been found to be educational, entertaining, novel and timely. But most of all, these toys, games and books make maximum use of "kid power" or a child's imagination to create a child's own internal combustion by learning through doing.

Program Offers Foster Care

Eric needs a home. He is going on four and is enrolled full-time day in school, and he needs an emotionally secure and loving foster home.

Eric is one of the people whom the Cambridge Family and Children's Service, which includes Arlington and Winchester, tries to help through its Specialized Home Care Program.

This is a foster care program funded by the Mass. Dept. of Mental Health to place mentally retarded persons in homes in six Mystic Valley area communities.

Social worker Eva Robinson says that one person is in a Winchester foster home, while in Arlington the agency is working with people who have remained with their own families, so-called biological support cases.

The work of her program is to prevent institutionalization.

In Eric's case, he has been diagnosed as being developmentally delayed. He understands, but he does not speak yet. He is well-coordinated, but he is not toilet-trained and he repeats certain actions.

In school he receives training and help in speech, self-help skills and pre-school activities. Now he needs the consistent and loving care of a family since the relatives he was living with can no longer give him the attention he needs.

Eric is just one of the clients who has been chosen for the program through Dept. of Mental Health screening. Ms. Robinson says that the ages range from children to adults, some from Fernald School and some from the community.

Residents interested in the program can contact Ms. Robinson at 894-4300, x261.

Meeting Looks At Medical Record Transcription

On Nov. 6, a planning meeting was held at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford, relative to formation of a local chapter of the American Association for Medical Transcription.

Representatives from eight area hospitals and transcription services attended the meeting which was conducted by Patricia Morrow, Chapter Coordinator.

The preliminary work necessary for chapter formation was begun and is continuing, in committee, to be reported on at the follow-up meeting in January. A tentative date is set for the Informational Seminar to be held locally in the spring of 1981.

AAMT is a young organization, coming on the scene in February of 1978, in Modesto, California, and now having a membership, nationally and in Canada, of close to four thousand.

Transcription is the most recent division of medical records to be organized and recognized by such groups as the American Medical Association.

For further information, medical transcriptionists may reach Patricia Morrow, Supervisor, Medical Transcription, at Winchester Hospital.

Garden Club Sets Greens Sale For Crawford Church

The Winchester Home and Garden Club announces its annual Greens Sale and Lunch on Wednesday, Dec. 3 from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church. Mrs. Elaine Delaney is in charge of luncheon tickets.

Features of the sale are fresh wreaths both decorated or plain, sprays, plants and other Christmas decorations. This year a White Elephant table is planned with Christmas decorations and other things. Members have been having work meetings all fall at the home of Woodie Jewell preparing for this sale.

Mrs. Alice Keating, president of the Club, will be assisted by the following committees: Margie Lamar and Lillian Hutzenlaub—white elephant and plants; Lucille Grassi and Polly Keppler—greens table; Grace Dignam—luncheon.

Dr. Wilson Guest Preacher At First Congregational

The Rev. Arthur E. Wilson was guest preacher on Forefathers Sunday, Nov. 23, at the First Congregational Church. His topic was "We Also Are Forefathers." Formerly pastor of the Beneficent Church (UCC) in Providence, R.I., Dr. Wilson served as interim minister of the First Congregational Church from the fall of 1970 through the spring of 1971. He is currently the president of the Congregational Christian Historical Society.

Dr. Wilson holds honorary degrees from Brown University and the University of Maine. He was a delegate from the Congregational Christian Church to the World Council of Churches from 1954-1960. He had a year's interim in Adelaide, Australia.

In 1967 he received the Roger Williams "Man of the Year" award from the Providence Chamber of Commerce. He is the author of "Paddy Wilson's Meeting House," "Weybasset Bridge," and "Churches of Foster, R.I."

Aging Problems Examined At Local Hospital

Stating that "within the next generation, 50 percent of the nation will be over 50 years old," Mrs. Elizabeth Kenney, director of social services at Winchester Hospital, spoke on the emotional aspects of dealing with the elderly at a seminar on "Aging Relatives" sponsored recently by Winchester Hospital.

"Because of improved sanitation, better public and private health care, better nutrition, people are living longer, healthier lives, and today, for the first time, two generations of retired people are living together," said Mrs. Kenney. A large percentage of those over 80 live happy lives and "can do for themselves."

Jonathan L. Adler, M.D., member of Winchester Hospital's medical staff, discussed the physical aspects of the aged, and noted that of his patients who are over 90 years old, "several of them still walk to my office." Dr. Adler discussed ailments to which elderly people are prone, but painted a positive picture of old age. He said, "The ability to figure things out remains almost to the end."

Mrs. Kenney reinforced this fact by saying, "A person's cognition improves with age. Life experience counts." She also said, "The quality of old age depends on the bonds established when we are young."

A question and answer period followed the seminar during which the audience asked questions concerning their own aging parents, and how and where to contact resources.

Susan Hale Marries Joseph Marino Jr.

Susan Louise Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Hale, Lexington and Joseph Edward Marino, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Marino, 93 Church St., were married, Saturday, Oct. 25 at St. James Episcopal Church in Cambridge.

The Reverend Russell Way officiated at the ceremony and was assisted by Father Mark Sheehan of St. Mary's Church in Winchester.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of beaded white chiffon trimmed with Alencon lace with chapel train and fingertip veil.

Allen Hale, the bride's sister, was Maid of Honor. Bridesmaids were Deborah Gallagher, Lexington, Deborah Cohen, Burlington, Janet Quilty, Waltham, Christine Marino, Winchester, and Valerie Warner, Groveland.

Vincent Marino, the groom's brother, was best man and the ushers were Robert and Thomas Marino, Theodore von Rosenvinge, III, Richard Farese and John Morse.

A reception was held at the Hillview Country Club, North Reading.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Lexington High School and attended Burdett School, graduating in 1978.

The groom is a graduate of Newman Preparatory School and is currently attending Northeastern University.

Following a trip to Disneyworld and Key West, the couple will reside in Reading.

Following a wedding trip to the Poconos, the couple will live in Winchester.

Tree-Trimming Can Be A Lot Of Fun

Tree-trimming — one of the pleasant traditional activities that impart to the Christmas season a feeling of family togetherness.

Armed with a bowl of freshly-popped popcorn, and another of eggnog flavored with nutmeg, tree-trimmers will get to work, taking pride in their activity.

Whether the tree is natural or artificial, six feet tall or perhaps two feet, it engenders the same feeling of warmth and happiness that characterizes Christmas.

Ornaments range from strings of bright lights to garlands of popcorn and cranberries to family heirlooms handed down from generation to generation.

Well traveled people may take pride in the wide variety of countries represented on their tree, a veritable U.N. Foodlovers may opt to make their tree edible — hanging little chocolate balls and bells covered in bright-colored foil, and homebaked gingerbread cookies in a myriad of shapes.

Gandy canes can be hung from the tree's branches by their crooks, or can be grouped in miniature Christmas stockings. Miniature stockings can also be used and hand small bottles of booze from the tree.

And, with edible ornaments, there's one further advantage — when it comes to taking down the tree, after Christmas, you can make a last party of it — eating what comes off the tree, with glee.

Susan Kajander To Marry In Maine Ceremony In Spring

Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Kajander of Winchester announce the engagement of their daughter Susan to Scott Condon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Condon of Kennebunk Beach, Maine and Del Ray Beach, Florida. Susan is granddaughter of Mrs. Robert F. Lybeck of Winchester and Kennebunkport.

Miss Kajander, who holds a B.A. from the University of Massachusetts and a masters in education from Salem State College, is employed at the Arundel Wharf in Kennebunkport.

Condon, the owner of Allison's Restaurant in Kennebunkport, is an alumnus of Governor Dummer Academy in Byfield and the University of Southern Maine.

A spring wedding in Kennebunkport is planned.

WHS Students Teach English

A group of 50 Winchester High School students have volunteered to participate in a Max Ed program involving two sessions of training in the teaching of English as a second language.

The students will be available to help non-English speaking students on a tutorial basis in both the elementary and secondary schools, during the school day and after school, and they will be eligible for Max Ed credit. Anyone interested in using a high school volunteer should contact Diane Boettcher, Max Ed Coordinator at the high school.

Through the high school Max Ed program forty other students are experiencing a wide variety of career possibilities by spending three hours per week at their community placement.

Cindy Howland, Leslie Kents, Michael Indigaro and Steven Myers are viewing the political system by working at the offices of Senator Sam Rotondi, Congressman Edward Markey and Lt. Governor Thomas O'Neill.

Kay Samoiloff is learning about the world of hairdressing at Philip Salon while Mary McGillicuddy helps with law research at the office of Marino and Hoyt.

Nancy Shannon and Jeanne Brenton are seeing an overview of business in Winchester by working in the office of the Chamber of Commerce. Laura Consalves is trying out the retailing business at Topsy Turvey and Angela Tavilla is working at Computer Fulfillment. Julie Berberian is gaining an overview of marketing techniques through her work with the College Marketing Group.

In the health field there are a wide variety of placements. At Winchester Hospital Robin Hill and Juanita doCouto are exploring Respiratory Therapy; Lisa Zirkel is working with Physical Therapy and Ellen Wilfert and Valerie Ewing are in the lab. Kathy Corkery volunteers in the emergency room and Nancy Costello and Karla Roemer are assisting in dentist's offices in Winchester - Dr. O'Donnell and Dr. Reed.

Architecture is always a popular field and Blair Bradley and Alex Johnson are working with architect Alan Schoenegge. Nancy Kawa is assisting movement therapist Noreen Arcari in the after school gymnastics program. Lorna Murray is learning about baking at Salvy's Bakery and Julie Derry is involved in sports writing with the Winchester Star.

At the local elementary schools, high school Max Ed students are assisting in a variety of ways. Amy Fitzgerald, Danny McDonough, Amy Maxwell and Robert Tolentino work with special needs students while Sarah Hunter, Kristen Johnson and Theresa Allston tutor individuals or work with small classroom groups.

St. Mary's is hosting its first Max Ed student, Mary DeCologero who assists in the kindergarten. Marilyn Evangelista is interested in pursuing a secretarial career and she is learning the ropes first-hand through her work at the Winchester Public Schools administrative offices.

Through the Max Ed program students are gaining a knowledge of computers and data processing by working with Art Sarno, at the high school. Eric Law, Mara Reece and Julie Maher help write programs and run jobs used by departments in the school.

Any interested student can participate in the high school Max Ed program by getting in touch with Diane Boettcher, Max Ed Coordinator

The Kaanapali Beach Resort spreads along fabulous Kaanapali Beach at the foot of the verdant West Maui Mountains in Hawaii. The view from Kaanapali stretches across the blue Pacific waters to the cloud-fringed islands of Lanai and Molokai. The four major hotels and three resort condominium apartments are anchored to the splendid beach, yet separated and given breathing room by the rolling greens of the golf courses and linked by colorful jilneys. Kaanapali is a vacation in itself, and the center for exciting exploration of the rest of Maui, the most Hawaiian island of all.

McGRATH TRAVEL SERVICE, 14 Eaton Ave., Woburn, 935-0600 appreciates our clients business and we try to serve you every way we can. Whether that includes a glorious vacation to Hawaii or a business trip to the West Coast feel free to talk over your plans with us. Hours: Mon. - Fri. 9-5, Sat. and evenings by appl.

TRAVEL TIP:
Tropical waters offer easy swimming and great snorkeling. Bring your own equipment, or rent when you arrive.

Books

The Very Hungry Caterpillar Book by Eric Carle — A book which tells what a hungry caterpillar eats, and how it becomes a butterfly. This book enriches number and food concepts and provides many possibilities for creative dramatics or "pretending" with children.

A to Z Picture Book by Gyo Fujikawa — This book illustrates objects and emotions which begin with each letter of the alphabet. Excellent book for expanding children's picture vocabularies and beginning letter skills.

Circles, Triangles and Squares by Tana Hoban — By showing photographs of circles, triangles and squares in everyday objects, this book expands children's awareness of shapes in their environment.

Goodnight Owl by Pat Hutchins — A book which introduces birds and animals in the woods. A wonderful book to enrich memory skills, sound repetition and sound-to-object matching skills.

Cricktor by Tomi Ungerer — A story about a boa constrictor who was helpful in capturing a robber. Excellent for activities which demonstrate how lines can be made into shapes and letters.

Eye-Hand Coordination Ideas . . .

to expand children's opportunities to touch and to create

Toys and Games

Colorforms, Lego blocks, painting and coloring materials, playdough, stencil books, Lincoln logs, dot-to-dot books, paper folding, tinker toys, scissors, paste and collage materials, sewing cards, tracing paper, clay and blocks.

Lite Brite (Hasbro Industries, Inc.) — A toy which reinforces eye-hand coordination and color matching skills.

Tuff Stuff Alphabet Blocks (Mattel Pre-School) — Three dimensional letter blocks which promote spatial awareness and letter concepts.

Etch-A-Sketch (Ohio Art) — A toy which focuses on directionality of lines.

Books

Harold and the Purple Crayon by Crockett Johnson — A book which illustrates Harold's imaginary world. Excellent for children to finger trace.

Great Thumbprint Drawing Book and Big Green Drawing Book by Ed Emberley — Provide opportunities for children to create pictures by copying shapes and designs.

Designs for Coloring by Ruth Heller — A book which encourages children to create their own color patterns.

Best Rainy Day Book Ever by Richard Scarry — A book which provides opportunities for children to cut, color and paste.

Beacon Hill Roll Call

THE SENATE — The Senate spent a lot of its time last week waiting for the House to send over for action an approved version of a measure funding and reforming the MBTA. Since the House rejected the package, the Senate never received anything for consideration. The Senate, however, did hold a roll call on the Constitutional Convention.

CON-CON — Senate refused 18-9, to reconsider its earlier vote rejecting an order to reconvene the ConCon to act on several pending constitutional amendments. Supporters of reconvening argued the order would allow action on the key proposals still pending, and pointed out the House had already agreed to meet in joint session. Opponents argued that a majority of legislators had already voted to adjourn the session many days ago, after it had taken initial action on the proposals. They noted this action was the will of the majority, and was not forced upon legislators by the leadership.

Sen. Samuel Rotondi voted against the amendment.

Obituaries

Kenneth Gurney

Kenneth W. Gurney, 62, of 12 Hallmark Gardens, Burlington, formerly of Winchester and Arlington, died Nov. 20 in Emerson Hospital in Concord of myocardial infarction.

Born in Winchester Jan. 29, 1918, he was a resident of town for 20 years, an Arlington resident for 25 years and a Burlington resident for eight years. A graduate of the Winchester High School Class of 1937 and of the Springfield College Class of 1941, he was a retired Lt. Col in the Air Force, and a pilot who won the Distinguished Flying Cross during World War II. He was the retired assistant treasurer of the City Bank in Boston where he worked for 12 years until retiring in 1977.

He was the husband of Kathryn Sullivan Gurney of Burlington.

Survivors include a daughter, Judith G. Duffy of Erie, Pa.; a son, Kenneth W. Gurney Jr. of Boca Raton, Fla.; a brother, Franklin W. Gurney of Jacksonville, Fla.; a sister, Madeline G. Fosetta of Flemington, N.J. and two grandchildren.

The funeral was Monday conducted by the Rev. Walter Davis of the First Congregational Church. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to the American Heart Association, 112 Cypress st., Brookline.

Arrangements by Lane Funeral Home.

Cornelia Schenler

Cornelia E. Schenler, 87, of 51 Salisbury st., died Nov. 18 in the Aberjona Nursing Home.

Born in St. Louis, Mo., she was a resident of Winchester for seven years.

Survivors include a daughter, Norma R. Erskine of Winchester; a sister, Rosalia Snow of Canyon City, Colo.; two grandsons, Scott A. Erskine of Richmond, Va. and William Thomas Erskine of Providence, R.I. and four great grandsons.

The funeral will be in Canyon City, Colo. Burial will be in Canyon City, Colo. Arrangements by Norris Funeral Home.

Andrew Amato

Andrew J. Amato, 68, died recently in his home in Winchester.

He was a cartoonist who worked with Al Capp for more than 43 years, helping to develop the Li'l Abner comic strip.

A Boston native, a World War II veteran and an attendant of the Massachusetts College of Art and the Vesper George School of Art, he was the son of Grace Dellaria Amato of Winchester and the late Andrew Amato.

Survivors include one brother, John Amato of Winchester and two sisters, Mrs. Richard (Josephine) Dugdon and Rose Amato of Winchester.

A funeral Mass was said in St. Mary's and burial was in the Oak Grove Cemetery in Medford.

Carmela D'Agostino

Carmela (Piemonte) D'Agostino, 77, died in her home, 4 Pepper Hill dr. Thursday, Nov. 6.

She had been a resident of Winchester for the past five years. A former resident of Somerville for 47 years, she was born in Boston. Mrs. D'Agostino was a member of St. Eulalia's her parish church, Women's Guild and Prayer Group, The Guild for the Italian Home for Children, a member of the Association of the Miraculous Medal.

Wife of the late Benedetto D'Agostino, she is survived by seven children, Constance A. Piccione of Winchester, Anne Massaro of Stoneham, William of Medford, Mary Gill of Winchester, Frances Ducharme of Winchester, Dr. Ralph Benedict of Winchester, Lucille Murray of Medford and the late Ralph and 18 grandchildren and the late Marie Camille, a sister Rose of Somerville, two brothers Michael of Somerville and Gabriel of West Roxbury and the late Clara and Margaret. Hundreds of relatives and friends stood in line to say their last respects to Mrs. D'Agostino in the Langone Funeral Home in Boston.

On Nov. 10 a Requiem Mass was said for Mrs. D'Agostino in St. Benedict's Church in Somerville by Monsignor Hogan.

At times Monsignor referred to Mrs. D'Agostino as 'Mother' because that was what she was personified since she became a mother 51 years ago - that was her career, that of being a mother as God meant a mother to be, a woman of great dignity.

An excerpt from his eulogy Monsignor said that he had known Mrs. D'Agostino for many years and she was a beautiful woman and that he taught learned from her, learned by the lovely life she lived. She was a gentle, lovely and wise woman, and what she did, she did quietly and always generously.

If her children could live their lives as she had, if they could follow her example, then their lives too would be a success, as hers was.

Con-celebrating the mass was Father Flaherty.

She was buried in St. Michaels Cemetery Boston where her late son is and her late husband who died four months and 23 days before.

Memorial donations may be sent to the Italian Home for Children, 1125 Center Street, Jamaica Plain.

John Shields

John J. Shields, 72, of 79 Oak st., died Nov. 18 in Boston City Hospital of myocardial infarction.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, he was a resident of Winchester for 40 years. A rigger, he was a retired employee of the Boston Naval Shipyard where he worked for 25 years prior to his retirement in 1972. He was a past president of the Dad's Club at the Lincoln School, a Town Meeting member for 10 years, active in Lincoln School activities and active in the Catholic Labor Guild in Boston.

He was the husband of Anna DeLuca Shields of Winchester.

He is survived by two daughters, Ellen Della Grotte of Winchester and Gloria Novella of Newton, Conn.; two sons, William Shields of Winchester and Anthony Shields of Billerica and 12 grandchildren.

The funeral was Nov. 21 at 8:15 p.m. followed by a Mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 a.m. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to the Labor Guild School of Industrial Relations, 761 Harrison ave., Boston.

Arrangements by Lane Funeral Home.

Bridget Hernon

Bridget Hernon, 72, of Falmouth and Del Ray Beach, Fla., formerly of 12 Everett ave., died Nov. 22 at the Royal Mergansett Nursing Home in Falmouth.

Born on Aran Island, County Galway, Ireland, she was a resident of Winchester for 30 years. She was housekeeper for the Dunbar Shanklin family on Everett avenue for over 30 years. She was a member of St. Mary's Church and the Ladies Sodality of St. Mary's Church.

She was the daughter of the late Patrick and Bridget Dirrane Hernon.

Survivors include a sister, Mary Hernon of Aran Island, County Galway, Ireland; a brother, Michael Hernon of Aran Island, County Galway, Ireland; an aunt, Ellen Gill of Norwood; a niece, Maura Brett of Queens, N.Y.; three cousins, Ellen Baker of Norwood, Joseph Gill of Rosindale and Francis Gill of Avon and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral was Tuesday. A Mass followed in St. Mary's Church. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Donations in her memory may be made to the charity of your choice.

Arrangements by Lane Funeral Home.

Child Abuse Help

There is a self-help group for parents with child abuse problems called Parents Anonymous. In this group, much like the better-known groups for alcoholics, people who need want help can meet weekly and anonymously.

Mystic Valley does not have an active chapter. Parents seeking help are referred to other chapters. Immediate help is available through the Parental Stress Line at 1-800-632-8188.

The lack of a sponsor is the reason that the local group is not meeting. According to Mystic Valley Council for Children community representative Francine Crystal, the role of the sponsor, who is a volunteer, is to support and assist the group's chairperson, a parent-leader chosen by the group.

When the chapter is organized it will be on a no-fee, no-dues basis. Babysitting and transportation subsidy will be provided. The chapter's aim will be to re-channel destructive attitudes and actions into constructive, loving parenting.

Parents or potential sponsors who are interested in forming a Mystic Valley chapter of Parents' Anonymous should get in touch with Ms. Crystal at the Council for Children office at 729-4350.

Thanking God together.

Ever since the Pilgrims, Thanksgiving has been a day to thank God for His blessings. Sometimes joining others in gratitude can mean even more. We'd love to have you join us in giving thanks to God this week. Our Thanksgiving Day services include Bible readings and passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy; testimonies of gratitude by members of the congregation; and singing of hymns. No collections are taken.

Would you be free to come? (And you can bring your family, too.)

Play A "Savage" Success

by Peggy Hallisey
Special To The Star:
Last Friday and Saturday evening, the Winchester High School dramatic society wowed their audience with their warm-hearted production of John Patrick's, "The Curious Savage."

Directed by JoAnn Stevens, this hilarious comedy must be ranked as one of the best ever presented by Curtain and Cue.

The cleverly written play deals with the story of wealthy Ethel P. Savage. Her three children are so furious with the way she is spending her money, that they have her committed to a home for the mentally ill. Their plan is to get mother out of the way and gain control of her 10 million dollars.

Lisa Hirschhorn in the lead role of Mrs. Savage was positively delightful. From the moment she stepped on stage as the sweet, little, blue-haired old lady with the wicked twinkle in her eyes, she had the audience wrapped around her little finger. It was impossible not to be tickled as she methodically brought her avaricious children to their knees. A junior, Lisa has appeared in three productions thus far at W.H.S. She has proven that she has it all: tremendous talent, dedication and a magnetic stage personality.

Mrs. Savage outwits her children by hiding her millions. The terrible trio unites to search for it. Brian Milauskas, as son Titus is great fun to watch as greed slowly transforms him from a handsome, in-charge Senator to an apoplectic near-basket case. He has the audience howling with laughter by the time he is finally reduced to raging against a mental patient who hasn't conversed with anyone in twenty years.

Brother Samuel, the Judge, though not as nasty as his siblings, is none the less heartily cheered when he appears on stage with his arm in a sling.

Of the three, it is chic sister Lily Belle who is the most obnoxious. Valerie Kolligian showed great comedic talent as she moved, fought, and reacted marvelously in character. Her timing was great! She was in fact so loathsome that we all would have liked to have had her picture for our dashboards.

The play is set in a private mental home called The Cloisters. In Mrs. Savage's wing, there are five other patients. She finds them "enchanting" and grows to love them all, as do we. Florence, played well by Sarah Hunter, seems the most normal. However at the very moment we find ourselves wondering what she is doing there, she introduces a plastic doll to Mrs. Savage as her five year old son.

Dan Schutzbeg, as Hannibal the two-note violinist, evoked laughter again and again. Whether blissfully flipping playing cards into the air or playing his violin, he delighted us as he has done consistently in past performances.

A newcomer to the W.H.S. stage, freshman Pilar Pittas played with vim and vigor. She handled her character's rapid changes of mood masterfully and wasted no time endearing herself to the audience. She deserves special praise for handling an unexpected fall from a chair on Saturday evening with professional aplomb.

The saddest and most touching of the patients is Jeffrey, a gifted pianist who is convinced he is physically deformed. Kevin Merritt played this character with great sensitivity, never allowing him to become maudlin.

As the dumpy, crazy lady who so hates the world that she refuses to speak, Melissa Eugley brought shrieks of laughter from the audience. In the first act, Melissa turned a missed light cue into a brilliant comedic bit of 101 ways to attack a light switch. Just watching her shuffle across the stage proved side-splitting for the audience. Her face was so expressive that she managed to overlay the intelligent connivings going on in her head onto her very simple-minded looking face. The thoughts she flashed us were funnier than a thousand words.

Running interference for Mrs. Savage with her family was the head of staff at The Cloisters, Dr. Emmett. Played with true feeling by talented senior Peter Gittleman, the kindly doctor was the voice of reason in a mad world. Ably assisting Dr. Emmett is nurse, Miss Willie. Margie Johnson was excellent as the serene, engaging nurse. Her serious role, as well as those of Gittleman and Merritt gave the needed dramatic balance to this comedy. With remarkable stage presence, Margie played the beautiful, very human heroine of the story. She saved the millions in bonds and gave us all a lesson in what it means to love.

From the beginning to end, this Curtain and Cue production of The Curious Savage was terrific. Congratulations and thanks to cast and crew!

Bomb Threat Results In Evacuation

A telephone bomb threat last Tuesday resulted in the evacuation of a Washington street firm, according to reports at the Winchester Fire Department.

Robert Hawley, plant superintendent at the J.H. Winn Co. told police he received a call from a male last Tuesday that said a bomb had been placed in the facility.

Following an evacuation of the building, police searched the area and found nothing. Employees were allowed to return to work following the search.

Local Man Escapes Injury In Car Crash

A 19-year-old local man escaped serious injury Sunday afternoon when his car went out of control on the Mystic Valley Parkway and knocked down a light pole.

Michael F. O'Leary, 3 Quigley Ct., lost control of his car when he reached down to pick up a hairbrush, an MDC Police spokesman said. The accident occurred across from Winchester Field shortly after noon.

He was taken to Winchester Hospital by the Fire Department ambulance where he was treated and released.

Heck Address Depression During The Holidays Nov. 19

Dr. Edward T. Heck, psychologist, spoke on "Depression and Holiday Blues" at a meeting sponsored by Winchester Hospital on Nov. 19.

He explained various natural elements which influence a person's mood including length of daylight, phases of the moon, barometric pressure and weather conditions, all of which affect how a person feels.

Dr. Heck, referring to "the Babylonian in all of us," showed how some aspects of the rites of ancient people are still present in celebrations today, and why these rites were held.

There are people who are more vulnerable to holiday blues than others, according to Dr. Heck who also stressed that most people do not experience depression, and that it is natural to enjoy holidays.

He concluded his talk with a list of suggestions to help people avoid feeling down.

The December meeting of the Winchester Literature Group will be held on Thursday, Dec. 4 at 9:15 a.m. at the home of Luciana Bares, 68 Fletcher St. Mary Shelley's Frankenstein will be discussed.

Mini Fair

Plans for the Winchester Seniors Association Mini Fair are well under way at the Jenks Senior Center. On Dec. 13, the fair will be in progress from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Snack Bar will be open all day, serving some home-made delicacies.

Purchases can be made from the following tables: Gift Shoppe Men's Boutique, Women's Boutique, Holiday, Jewelry, Knit Goods, and the famous Claxton Fruit Cakes to add a sparkle to the Christmas dinner.
